SIR,—In consequence of what I have heard from reliable authority, I believe that several of the "Wise Guys" who visited the above show were very much concerned over the downfall of my Palace winning Lesser-Redpoll, "Kruger," and squealed some in consequence. Therefore, in justice to the bird in question, I am proud to say he has never been defeated by a bird of his own species, and I desire to state for all these visitors who were so foolishly led to believe otherwise that "Kruger" was not exhibited at Battersea, as I was particularly anxious for him to have a stiffer task at Newcastle, where he was awarded 2nd prize in a mixed class. At the moment of writing I do not know whether he was beaten by a Lesser-Redpoll, as if he was I must heartily congratulate the fortunate owner. Of course, I do not wish to imply that "Kruger" is unbeatable, as I have known champions 1st one week and cardless the next; also there are many queer things happen in these days of keen competition. Finally, the Redpoll that was exhibited at the late Battersea Show was only one of my secondraters, and I state this without being unkind or in any way sarcastic to those gentlemen who had birds above him. Further, I was fully satisfied with the judge's award. In conclusion, I plead with those "guys" who put this silly rumour about this show, the next time they are looking over a Redpoll class where I am exhibiting, to please wait till the mist or London fog passes away. With best wishes for the continued prosperity of CAGE BIRDS.

The sensational clear Greenfinch-Canary Mule, 1st at Clapham and "wrongclassed" at Plymouth, belonging to Mr. A. Shallam (Cardiff) and the wing-marked Goldfinch-Canary 2nd prize at Clapham for Mr. H. E. Arnold (Bournemouth).

When are Mules Not Mules?

SIR,—Doctors differ, we all know; and so, it seems, do judges of Mules. The Clear Greenfinch Canary 1st prize at Clapham Show meets with a very different reception at Plymouth Show, where it gets "wrong classed." I should like to ask whether the 1st prize dark Mule at Clapham Show (and said to be a cinnamon Greenfinch-Canary) was not a cinnamon-feathered Canary purely and simply? I know that I heard well-known Mule experts at Clapham say that it showed no sign at all of being a mule. Curiously enough, this bird also came from Wales. What have exhibitors to say?

CURIOUS.

Ten Guineas Paid for a Young Canary.

SIR,—I was pleased to hear of Mr. Humphries' success with his unflighted Yellow Norwich, but there is nothing extraordinary about £10 10s. being paid for it, as I believe this is often exceeded. I have been informed that Mr. Collings, of Devonport, has sold more than one bird above that price during the last five years, and the writer saw a telegram offering Mr. J. Veale, of Paignton, £10 for his noted unflighted Yellow cock "Torbay;" so it will be seen that a good Norwich is worth at least £10. "DEVONIAN."

The Belgian Canary Problem.

SIR,—In your issue of October 15, I notice "Yellow Belgian's" letter anent judging Belgian crosses for the prize pure bird. The judge is surely competent to place the bird first that is showing most Belgian. "Yellow Belgian" says it is the craze for big Belgians that has caused the judges to ignore the pure bird. I cannot see eye to eye here with "Yellow Belgian." As far as I have seen, the judges put first the bird with most substance through the heart, with a good reach of neck; and the bigger the bird, the more dollars it costs. One good, big Belgian is worth a cage full of small ones; that is my experience. "Yellow Belgian" might cross one of these big, thick crosses with his small Belgians, and I am certain he will improve his stock to win. I shall take "Yellow Belgian" back 40 years, when Forfarshire was full of good Belgians. At that time a Belgian was considered small if not 9 inches long. I shall bring "Yellow Belgian" to 20 years ago, when the late Mr. George Coupar (Kirkcaldy) went over to Antwerp. The Belgians Mr. Coupar brought home were big birds. Mr. Barclay, of Broughty Ferry, also brought home birds of big size. The Belgian to-day, in my opinion, is "run to seed," and I hope judges will put the birds first that show most Belgian points, and when two are the same, the big one must win. That's my placing of Belgians. All Belgian, Scotch Fancy, and even Norwich Canaries without the thickness through the chest, are only "whistling Canaries."

Testing Birds at the City of Glasgow Show.

SIR,—When visiting the above show last Saturday, I was very much surprised to see the winning Foreign Goldie in so poor a condition, which I learned was caused by the judge testing it as to its blaze being genuine. The bird when I saw it was almost blind in one eye through some of the acid which, it is alleged, Mr. Pettigrew had used to test it with. This is the same judge who tested Messrs. Duncan and Logan's Mules at the Paisley New Year Show a few years ago, and who I thought had got a lesson then to leave birds alone when judging them. The torture these birds had to go through is still fresh on many a fancier's memory; and if any of your readers were at the above show on Saturday they can bear me out when I say that the bird in question (the Goldfinch) appeared to be suffering great agony.

Hybrids at Australian Shows.

SIR,—I should like to let CAGE BIRDS' readers know that there are some persevering hybrid breeders out here in Victoria (Australia). In the report of the Victorian Canary Society Show, published in your paper of the 30th July, your correspondent tries to make out that hybrids in our shows are now a rarity, but it is to be hoped that our Finch and Australian enthusiasts will give this branch of the hobby most attention. Perhaps it is through ignorance he writes as he does. The Victorian Canary Society gives no encouragement to hybrid-breedors. At the show before last I had a couple of hybrids, one between a Parson Finch and Nutmeg Finch, and another between a Zebra Finch and a Silberbill (African); the judge wrong-classed one, and the other he left cardless. I should think they are a rarity at this particular show. And yet their judge ignores rare hybrids. They take some getting, as English breeders well know. I intended writing some time ago in reference to this bad judgment, but as it has come up again in print, I thought it time to contradict the statement. One of these hybrids I entered in another show under a different judge and was awarded 1st and spl; the judge in this instance hadn't got the "common or garden" Greenfinch-Canary in his eye.

FAIR CRITICISM.

The Dulwich O.S. Scandal.

Weary Show Manager Says he is Bankrupt.

SIR,—I have had my attention called to a letter signed by C. Young, in your last issue, wherein my name is mentioned. The suggestion that I have kept my mouth shut re the cash received and expended on the last show is erroneous. Had his interest in the show allowed him to read my letter in your columns shortly after the show took place, he would have been well aware that a balance-sheet was prepared by me; how many attended to adopt the same, the cause of the deficit, and how the society stood (as he terms it). Since then, owing to my removal to the North for several months, and having resigned, I can give no information respecting the D.O.S., not having been in touch with it. A friend of mine, however, has informed me they are practically non est, and as blood cannot be drawn from a stone, I should advise friend Young (and others) if he is not prepared to pull the society together again to cease troubling himself about the D.O.S., and keep my name out of print. Having lost my business and everything I possessed through an unfortunate speculation, I cannot keep dipping my hand in my pocket for an endless postage account to answer any correspondence anent the 1909 show.

G. F. WOOLHOUSE.

The Cage Bird Union and Its Future.

What of the Crystal Palace Show?

SIR,—The C.B.U. can never know where trouble is to come from; indeed, they ought always to be on the lookout for trouble, and they should benefit by their experience in the case of the Dulwich O.S. and make it a rule that in future every authorized show sends the secretary of the union a schedule when issuing schedules to the Fancy. They would thereby avoid the undignified and unsatisfactory position they are now in re the Dulwich O.S. Show. Perhaps your correspondent, C. Young (a member of the Dulwich O.S.) could send Mr. Lythgoe the required schedule. I think Mr. Lythgoe should reconsider the "missionary" question; it would be time enough to say non possumus after he has done what he can.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

SIR,—I see by CAGE BIRDS that several non-Cage Bird Union Societies are boasting of very large entries. The reason to my mind is not far to seek. The fact of Cage Bird Union members being debarred lets in a lot of exhibitors who think it their only chance of getting a win, knowing as they do that many leading exhibitors have to withhold their entries. But for the Crystal Palace Cage Bird Show Committee to place a barrier in the way to so many regular exhibitors at their show is to my mind shameful, seeing they call it the "Great National" Cage Bird Show. I trust they will make it clear in their advertisements that competition is confined to those outside the jurisdiction of the Cage Bird Union, as this is what it really means. The result of this barrier will make a win at the Palace of less importance than at such a show, shall I say, as Plymouth, which was in reality open to all comers. As there is such a large number of societies affiliated to the C.B.U., I trust to see a similar arrangement between them and the London Federation as there is between the former and the Yorkshire Union. Why not? I notice one writer complains of CAGE BIRDS creating a "scare" through opening its columns to the discussion of a most important and vital question. I was pleased to see that CAGE BIRDS woke up the Fancy, and I trust the result will end so that C.B.U. members can show at the London shows, and more especially the Crystal Palace.

"DEVONIAN."

Is a "Black and Brown" Hawfinch Rare?

SIR,—I have this year handreared two Hawfinches. They have now finished moulting. One is moulted out all right, and the other I find is moulted black with brown spots. I am not able to distinguish the bib on account of the bird being so black. I should be pleased to know through your valuable paper, CAGE BIRDS, if any fancier has ever had (or moulted), a bird similar?

F. J. EVANS.

Strange Case of Imposition Upon the Public.

SIR,—I hope you will allow me to intrude on your space in reference to my postcard addressed to Mr. Rudd, and published in CAGE BIRDS of October 8, page 209. All's well that end's well. It has brought the guilty party to light. My son assures me that the advertisement was sent in from Mr. L. Adams, High Street, Folkestone, and that the wrong use of Mr. Rudd's name was not authorised by Carvell, of Canterbury. I am satisfied that this is true, as there is no need for him to sell his birds under a false description; and as Mr. Rudd is a most important and respected customer of mine, I want this little matter put right.

HENRY CARVELL, SEN.

The "McLean Cup" at the Glasgow City Show.

SIR,—I was present at the City of Glasgow show, and saw the judging for the "McLean Cup." Each judge brought out what he considered his best exhibit in the respective sections. Now, what I want to complain of is this: Mr. Pettigrew brought out a splendid specimen of a light Mule (Twite-Canary), and was congratulated by many fanciers on his selection, but he retorted that it was only a farce—his bringing forward a bird—as the Canary men were bound to outvote him; which proved correct, as he was outvoted at the first time of asking. Now, the Canary judges ought to have agreed among themselves ere Mr. Pettigrew brought forward his Mule; then it would have been a just and fair fight amongst them. I hope to see this mode of procedure adopted another year, when a true representation will be arrived at. Under the present method it is only a mockery, as the Canary judges have two strings to their bow by capturing the cup and the special for runner-up.

J. MCDONALD.

British Goldfinches at Glasgow City Show.

SIR,—I consider I have just cause to complain regarding the judging of British Goldfinches at the City of Glasgow Show. I entered two birds in this class, one of outstanding quality. The judge in selecting the prize-winners, put this bird at the head of the list, being far and away the best in the class. But something took Mr. Bald, and he consulted Mr. Pettigrew, and the bird was pronounced to be a German, or some other foreigner. On learning the facts I spoke to Mr. Bald on the subject, and he stated the bird was a foreign one. Now the facts of the case are, the bird is a genuine Britisher, having been bought at Stonehouse Show last year by Mr. Moon, in the presence of Mr. Dunlop. It was judged by Mr. Marlin, of Hamilton. The only thing that could lead up to this was the Finch has never moulted, and still retains its clear bill and bright plumage. It does not reflect much credit on the members of this old society to put men forward who are not capable of knowing a British Finch from a foreign one. To prove that my Finch is a genuine British bird, I am willing to send it free of all charges to the care of your Mr. Weston, for him to see and to put before other experts, and let them say if it at all resembles any other than a Britisher. I may state I was able to secure evidence to show that the Finch was the one bought at Stonehouse. All to no effect. It is not for the value of the prize I complain, but to be accused of showing a Finch that was not as entered. Heaven forbid I should descend to such meanness. But one thing I will say, in all time to come I refrain from entering birds where their names appear as judges.

Red Mites and How to Trap Them.

SIR,—Many are the little devices for the elimination of red mites. They do not like paraffin. The best trap I have yet found is to get a shallow vessel of any kind that will pass through the cage door. Fill same with water. At night put it in cage just under where bird usually perches for the night. In the morning you will find a goodly number of your little enemies drowned. Any person having all his cages of one size only might with advantage have a tin sand-tray and fill same with water at night. That mode would catch all the more. I would like some person to try the above and report result in CAGE BIRDS.

The Midland Counties Yorkshire C.C. Patronage.

SIR,—I am sorry to say that on account of pressure of business Mr. A. Paddock has been forced to give up the secretaryship of the Midland Counties Yorkshire C.C. From the same cause the business of the club has fallen a little into arrears. Mr. W. Andrews, of West Bromwich, and I have taken over the secretarial duties. We have still one more show to allot our patronage to in the champion section. I shall be pleased to hear from secretaries who have not as yet fixed up their classes who will give the six classes according to our classification. I may say that the shows receiving our patronage last season had grand support from our members, and I trust they will do so this season. The shows already granted our patronage are: Crewe, October 14, champion and novice; Wolverhampton, October 28, champion and novice; West Bromwich, November 16, champion and novice; Coventry, November 19, champion; Birmingham, November 30, champion and novice. The remaining show for the champion section I will notify later.

Do Novice Birds Get Fair Play in the Yorkshire Union?

SIR,—"Is it a blot on the Yorkshire Union?" I say most decidedly "yes," and as big as you like to put it. But the blot must not be put on the Y.U., but upon the shoulders, not only of novices who voted for the limit rule, but more so upon those who abstained from voting. What on earth were those novices doing who voted for this limit of five guineas on their birds? Are their winners not equally as good in a class of over 20 birds as the champions? Ten chances to one, the very persons who claimed these birds are champions (probably one who does not breed his own winners, but relies on these novices classes to secure them). Supposing we turn the tables by putting a five-guinea limit on the "champion" birds; how many birds of the right sort would you get in a class? In making a five-guinea limit, were the Y.U. thinking solely of "drawing" the novices' best birds "just for show"; or were they thinking of getting birds for persons with deep pockets on the cheap? By agreeing to the limit rule, does not a novice see that he is binding himself down to the depletion of his stock if he exhibits a really fine bird? Has it not been written down in CAGE BIRDS and in books by the best of writers and breeders that a novice (or anyone else) must on no account part with his best birds if he wants to make headway? Are they not taking the very butter off their bread by agreeing to this limit rule? Therefore my advice to the novices in the Y.U. is that they make a clearance of this rule, by substituting one that gives them fair play. Seeing that a good many members did not vote, I call it nothing more or less than nonsense, or as "A Sympathetic Champion" says, "Rotten." Would it not be to the interests of the Y.U. to make a hard and fast rule that there must be a two-thirds majority before any rule should be allowed to stand? As regards "Do the novices get fair play?" I, this time, say "No." Therefore, by all means, novices, join hands and have Rule 42 obliterated or altered to such an extent that there will be no limit and no danger to your "splendid birds." The number of novice birds claimed at Bradford and other shows ought to be conclusive enough that there are birds in novice classes that would put many a champion stud in the shade. Under such circumstances, my advice to novices with the "Bradford stuff" is to keep their birds at home while there are such harsh rules, and to exhibit them when the opportunity occurs—i.e., where there is no limit. Five guineas looks and sounds nice (especially when they jingle); but five guineas would not buy that same bird if a novice or anybody else wanted it at the next show, if shown in champion classes! I hope novices of the Y.U. will take this matter up in a business-like manner and settle it once and for all. Lastly, I am very pleased indeed that one champion has been courageous enough (and rightly so) to bring this to light.

E. R. EVERETT.

Several Letters unavoidably held over.

THE SHOW SEASON.

Full reports of the following shows appeared in last week's issue of CAGE BIRDS:

Admiral Duncan (Nottingham), Battersea, Bolton, Buckhaven, Coventry Godiva, Crewe, Denton, Darlington C. and B.B.F.A., Eastbourne, Edinburgh Combined, Edinburgh Southern, Frome F.A., Johnstone, King's Lynn, Laisterdyke, Leamington Spa, Leeds, Lochgelly, Morpeth, Northampton Good Intent, Norwich Amateur, Nottingham Permanent O.S., Oldham, Pelton Fell, Plymouth (Western Counties O.S.), and Torquay—26 in all.

Under the White Rose.

WAKEFIELD SOCIETY held a very successful members' show on Saturday last. The society is making good progress in more ways than one; the birds they are putting down are a great improvement on those of, say, two years ago, and the membership is increasing to an appreciable extent, due, no doubt, to the hard work put in by the whole of the members.

THE Yorkshire Union open fixture for last week-end took place at that renowned battle-ground, Bradford West. All classes were well filled, and the birds reached the high order of merit generally associated with this fixture. No Norwich cinnamon marks or green marks were provided for in the open section (they not having been successful in obtaining the patronages), and this made the show look somewhat meagre to the annual visitor, but the management undoubtedly acted wisely in not catering for them when the competitions were elsewhere.

STILL another example of the railway treatment! A bird in a properly-made travelling-case was despatched from Leeds to the Bradford West Show at 4.30 on the Friday evening, but up to 5 p.m. on the Saturday nothing had been heard of it, although in the meantime several journeys had been made to the station in search of it. Really, it should have arrived not later than the Friday evening. Three hours at least should suffice for the distance. The bird could have walked it in less time.

"STRAIGHT 'UN."

Notes from Erin.

NEXT week the show season will commence in right down earnest, when the fight will begin for the valuable cups presented by the specialists clubs. The moult over here seems to be very much prolonged this season, as many birds from the later neste are not yet ready for the fray and will not be ready for some weeks.

IT is regretable to find a show held this week handicapped so much for want of entries; no doubt this is due to late moult. Another regretable feature this season is the absence of the Norwich. What is wrong? Surely we are not going to let this favourite bird lose ground? At the show mentioned the classes for this variety had to be cancelled wholesale!

I AM pleased to state that the first open show of the Derry Club will be held in that city on December 6, and we all hope to see this one of the best shows held in Ireland this year, which will encourage the hard working committee.

IT is with much regret that I learn that Mr. Geddis, the courteous and energetic secretary of the Larne C.B.S., has severed his connection with this club. Mr. Geddis is well known to many of us, and we all know how well he performed his duties last year.

A FEW societies this season are decreasing in membership, I understand, and the cause of the decrease apparently is not known. Exhibitors, although they have come forward with, or intend giving, a good entry, yet have failed to forward their annual club subscriptions. Why? I discussed this matter some few days ago with one of our most prominent exhibitors, and he gave it as his opinion that it was due to specials this year presented by a few clubs being "not worth troubling about." Can it be true?

I HAVE just received a schedule from the Yorkshire, etc., Society, and this club no doubt deserves every credit for the manner in which it caters for the Fancy.

SOME few days ago, a prominent and respected member of the Dundalk C.B.S. in conversation told me that this club has close on 100 members, and that this year they intend giving every encouragement for exhibitors to become members. The club has obtained the patronage of the specialist clubs, and a great list of specials for competition. The schedules are now being printed. The annual subscription to the club is only 2s. 6d., which entitles to free admission to hall at any time, as well as to the privilege of competing for the numerous special prizes. Mr. H. W. Battye will officiate as judge.

AT Banbridge C.B.S. show, held on November 10 and 11, Mr. J. Kean (Edinburgh), Mr. A. Hirst (Accrington), and Mr. J. Galway (Belfast), will officiate as judges. There is a good classification (50 classes) for cage birds.

"CLOSED RING."

A Black Bullfinch.

The following cutting, taken from the "Edinburgh Evening News," may be of interest to your readers who are Hybrid breeders, writes Mr. Jas. Wallace, and it would be interesting to have their opinions on the matter of giving too much hemp seed:—"A cock Bullfinch belonging to a Jedburgh bird fancier has this season moulted jet black, with the exception of a few dingy brown feathers on the under part of the breast. The bird was "limed" in a glen on Jedwater three years ago, and has been in possession of its present owner since. Though rare, such a change of plumage in the case of Bullfinches is not unknown, and is generally attributed to a too liberal diet of hemp seed."

PRIZE MONEY PAID.

Morpeth; King's Lynn; Portsmouth; Wellingborough; Battersea; Crewe; Eastbourne; Broughty Ferry; Coventry Godiva; Forfar.

A little over twelve months ago I was shown a copy of your paper, CAGE BIRDS; since then I have taken it weekly, and like it so much that Fridays seem longer apart than weekly paydays. I have ten Roller Canaries, six of which I have bred myself, and I am told by a dealer friend that they are beauties.—F. P. SIMM (Wigan).

"Bird Notes"—the journal of the Foreign Bird Club—for October, as usual, affords capital reading. The series of articles by Mr. H. Willford, Mr. Philip Gosse, Mr. W. T. Page, Mr. A. Sutcliffe, Capt. G. A. Perreau, and Dr. E. Hopkinson, are continued; Mr. W. A. Green writes on a visit which members of the Belfast National Field Club paid to Lady Dunleath's Ballywater Park; and Mr. Chas. Harris (of Messrs. De Von and Co., Ltd.), tells readers how he brought home the Humming Bird, which was described and illustrated in a recent issue of CAGE BIRDS. There are also a number of interesting photographs in this issue.

The October issue of the "Avicultural Magazine" is specially interesting in that it completes volume 1 of the Third Series, and contains an index to the articles, etc., published during the twelve months. The coloured frontispiece is again a magnificent specimen of Mr. H. Goodchild's handiwork; it depicts a pair of Pretri's Tanagers, notes on the species being supplied by the Editor, Mr. J. Lewis Bonhote. Mr. R. B. Woosnam writes on the "Pearl Spotted Owl"; Mr. C. Barnby Smith contributes "Further notes on Rock Ptarmigan"; and the Editor "Notes from the Zoological Gardens." There is also other readable matter.

Club Reports.

BRADFORD EAST O.S.

Members' judging competition, held Oct. 18. Two money prizes given. Good attendance of members, twelve of whom took part. Result: Mr. W. Turner, 1st prize; and Mr. A. Wilkinson, 2nd, with 34 and 27 points respectively.—H. HILL, Sec.

WOOD GREEN F. AND F.A.

At meeting held Headquarters, 11th Oct., Mr. W. Shakespeare gave us a Canary washing exhibition, also answering several questions. Mr. S. also judged our table show of Canaries, and awarded the club special to Mr. Clay for best in show, the exhibit being a Crest. The best thanks were given Mr. Shakespeare. Club specials won during year were distributed, also prize money was paid to winners at last young stock show.—WM. G. BRUCE, Sec.

GREAT HARWOOD & DIS. C.B.S.

Social and dance held in St. John's Schoolroom, Oct. 8th. It turned out a great success, making a profit of £2 17s. for us. A very pleasant evening was spent. Mr. W. T. Mottinson recited. We hope in future to have a few more attractions to draw members together, and to have a substantial balance in hand for an open show next year. I hope fanciers in the surrounding districts will join and help cultivate the Cage Bird Fancy, which is declining somewhat in our town.—W. T. MATTINSON, Sec.

YORKSHIRE C.C. OF SCOTLAND.

Meeting held October 18th, Duncan's Restaurant, Glasgow. Washing exhibition by the president, Mr. R. B. Gibb, was given. Afterwards a friendly discussion was entered into on the various methods adopted by Mr. Gibb. The principal business regarded the non-fed class at Ayr Show being allowed to count in points for club specials. Decided, that all classes other than selling classes at shows under club patronage be allowed to count for all specials. Novices should please note that three nominated birds only at each show will be allowed to count for gold medal, presented by Dr. C. Syson. Meeting terminated with a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Gibb. Four new members were accepted—Messrs. W. Cochrane and W. Simpson (Glasgow), and W. Sanderson and G. Crighton (Partick).—F. BOWMAN, Sec.

ILFORD F. AND F.S.

Special general meeting, held White Horse Hotel, Oct. 17th, Mr. J. Smith in chair. The resignation of Mr. Drew as secretary was accepted, and Messrs. Priestman and Lant appointed joint secretaries pro. tem. Report of young stock show was read; the show proved a financial success, though the attendance was poor, owing probably to lack of advertising. Prize money and specials were presented. A sub-committee was appointed for the joint (Stratford and Ilford) annual show, 10th December, at Ilford. It is hoped members, both old and new, will rally round the newly appointed secretaries and assist them to make the annual show a record one. Applications for membership, and all communications should, in future, be addressed to the hon. secretary at 56, Sunnyside Road, Ilford.—PRIESTMAN AND LANT, Secs.

GATESHEAD AND DIST. C.B.S.

Meeting, Oct. 12, Mr. Almond in chair. Mr. Curry's motion to rescind minute relating to novices and their transfers into other classes was carried by 11 votes, none against. Mr. Parker (Newcastle) was admitted a member. Correspondence read relating to specials and patronage of specialist clubs. Re the resignation of our esteemed secretary, Mr. Taylor, it was with regret we had to accept his resignation, as in him we have found a true friend and fancier, always willing to do his best for the society. We hope we may still have his support as a member among us. Mr. Taylor received the thanks of the members for his past services. Messrs. A. Holden (present assist. sec.) and W. Curry (late joint sec. Newcastle) were then elected to fill the office as joint secretaries. All letters in connection with our society should be addressed to us at 35, Rodsley Avenue, Gateshead. We hope members will rally round us.—A. HOLDEN (late Assist. Sec.).

LANCASHIRE AND LIZARD F.A.

Special meeting held at Oldham October 15th, a large number of members being present. Correspondence was gone through from several societies, one item being judge for Lancashires and Lizards at Nottingham Show. The secretary's action in deciding upon Messrs. Heath (Lancashires) and Dewar (Lizards) was confirmed. A discussion was entered into regarding having club show at Hyde, but no definite time was arrived at, the matter being left in Mr. Stansfield's hands to see Mr. White and report at next meeting, at Rochdale Show, November 5th. Mr. J. Garner gives 2s. 6d. best Lancashire, and Mr. J. Rukin silver medal best Lizard shown by a novice, at Nottingham, previous medal winners barred. Mr. J. Vickers gives 2s. 6d. best Lancashire at Rochdale. These specials open to L. and L.F.A. members only. Decided, that our best thanks be given to Mr. T. White (Hyde) for two handsome specials given. Our specialist shows now are:—Manchester (judge, Mr. J. Swalwell); Rochdale Good Intent (judge, Mr. W. Hardy); Nottingham (judges, Messrs. Heath and Dewar); L.C.B.A. (judge, Mr. J. Robson, for Lancs. and Lizards); and Scottish National, for Lizards only. Hearty vote of thanks to the chairman, Mr. J. Garner. Brought meeting to a close. Will all members showing Lizards please note there is no restriction this year on number of birds nominated for Ramsden's special by each member.—JOHN RUKIN, Hon. Sec.

Presentation to a Well-known Crest Fancier.

Mr. W. E. Greeves, of Wrentham, the well-known judge and breeder of the Crested Canary, was the recipient of a handsome present on October 13. The following account is from the "East Anglian Daily Times":

A meeting of the Wrentham and District Horticultural Society was held at the Eagle Hotel, when a presentation was made to Mr. W. E. Greeves, the indefatigable hon. secretary, consisting of an office chair, silver salver, and case of pipes. Sir Thomas Gooch, Bart., presided. There were also present most of the local tradesmen and leading residents.—Sir Thomas said it gave him the utmost pleasure to make the presentation on behalf of the committee, as a slight recognition of the excellent services rendered by Mr. Greeves to the Society.

Mr. Greeves, in acknowledging the gifts, expressed his sincere thanks, and said that as a rule it was not very difficult for him to say anything, but he had been taken entirely unawares on this occasion. Whatever he had done for the Society had been done with a good spirit; but it was impossible for one man to carry out the duties of the secretaryship unless he had the co-operation of the Committee, amongst whom they had some very hearty workers, whose help he considered a great honour.

Mr. Rootham said although this presentation had been made by the Horticultural Society, they could not overlook the work done generally by Mr. Greeves in the parish, and had the matter been extended to the parishioners they would no doubt have been inundated with subscriptions.

The Young Naturalist.

Prizes of 1s. and two of 6d. each will be given weekly for the best three anecdotes about birds written on postcards. Competitors must be under sixteen years of age, and state whence stories are taken. Two stars indicate the Winning Contribution: one star the runners up.

*A "Cock-bird" That Lays.

My friend has a lovely Canary that sings beautifully. A little while ago he lent it to his friend as a "cock" bird to put with a hen Canary in a breeding cage. After a few days, instead of the hen bird building a nest and laying, the supposed cock bird built a nest and laid two eggs, to the amusement of all.—Sent by Willie Wallis (age 13), 5, Mansard Terrace, Dartmouth, Devon.

*A Tame Bullie.

Father has a hen Bullfinch which is very tame. She will take all kinds of seeds, etc., from our hands. Every morning when I feed the Canaries (we have about 40), I put my fingers between the wires of her cage. When Bullie bites them I give her a sunflower seed. Another thing Bullie likes is a bath. When given one she will get on to the edge and run round the bath several times before getting in. When Bullie does get in she splashes all about the cage.—Sent by Walter Scholfield (age 13), 87, Bramford Road, Ipswich.

* * "Our Bob."

One morning as I was looking through the window I saw a Robin. It looked so hungry that I put out some crumbs for it. The next day it came again. On the third morning my father put a mealworm inside the aviary, left the door open, and went away. "Bob" flew in after the worm, and when we saw that he intended to stay we closed the door. After that we tried to give him a worm out of our fingers. He became so tame that he would take a mealworm out of our hands, but he would not take anything which was not alive. In the spring we let him out, but he still came all through the cold days to be fed, and if we offered him a worm he would come into the house for it.—Sent by Minnie Green (age 14), 14, King Street, Leek, Staffs.

Singing Contests.

SHEFFIELD.

Weekly Linnet singing contest, Oct. 23rd, when 12 birds competed. 1, 2, Lummey, 89 secs., 51 secs.; 3, Worrall, 38 secs.; Williamson, 34 secs.; Worrall, 29 secs.; Palfyreman, 28 secs. Oct. 30th, n general meeting, to arrange big contest on Whit-Monday next, and to pay contributions.—J. GRUNDY.

GLASGOW.

City of Glasgow Linnet S.C. contest held at Mr. Muir's, Saltmarket. Winners: 1st, McMillan; 2nd, Ross; 3, Moulden. Contest on Saturday as usual; judge, A. Moffat.—A. MOFFAT, Sec.

LEEDS.

Newtown Linnet F.A., usual weekly contest held Prince Albert Hotel, Cambridge Street, Oct. 23, when 21 birds sang. Result: 1, 2, Mrs. Bland; 3, Green. Judged to perfection by Messrs. A. Binns and J. Smith.—A. TURNER, Hon. Sec.

Leeds Linnet F.A., usual quality singing contest, held King's Head, Shannon Street, Oct. 22. 1, Madden; 2, Turner; 3, shared by Hollingsworth and Stead. Judges, Messrs. Wilson Naylor and W. Naylor. Also Oct. 23, when 24 birds entered. Result: 1, 2, Bland; 3, Stead; 4, Butler. Judges, Messrs. Wilson Naylor, C. Cooper, and W. Naylor.—WM. SISSONS, Hon. Sec.

"Cage Birds" 154 Fleet Street, London, E.C.

The City of Glasgow O.A. puts another admirable exhibition to its credit.

The fifty-seventh annual exhibition of the Glasgow O.A. was held in the Drill Hall, Stirling Road, on October 21st and 22nd. There was a really grand entry, and taken all over the fixture proved a huge success.

The President, Mr. D. Bluck (who is a keen follower of the Scotch Fancy Canary) was full of energy, being here, there, and everywhere, ably controlling the grand mass of exhibits and exhibitors. He is eminently qualified for taking the lead, and he acquitted himself on this occasion with great credit. Mr. Marlin, the vice-president, is a splendid follower; he has a rare grip of the other sections, and spared no effort in carrying out his part. Mr. McDonald, the well-known secretary, who on this occasion had the entire secretarial duties in hand, had everything well-arranged, and he was ably seconded by an energetic committee, comprising the following: Messrs. McIlwain, McLauchlin, Jardine, Malcolmson, A. Roulstone, Hutchieson, Jarvie, Aitkenhead, Gray, McLellan, McFarlane, Gibb, Chalmers, Anderson, Renfrew, Bennett, Thuw, Drysdale, McMillan, Hannah, Nairn, Buchanan, Johnstone, McInness, and J. Roulstone. The auditors were Messrs Aitkenhead and Thom, who we hope will have the pleasure of declaring a good balance on the right side. The show was certainly well patronized by visitors from all parts. It was quite inspiring to witness the enthusiasm of the management, who did their utmost to live up to their reputation as the leading cage bird exhibition in Scotland. The presence of so many visitors would be an encouragement to those who devoted so much time and attention to the birds under their care.

The "Bird o' Circle."

The quality in the Scotch Fancy section was superior throughout. Mr. Dalgleish's yellow cock, which distinguished itself at the Derby meeting in the early part of the season, led off. He has greatly improved, and is beyond doubt the best yellow cock that has appeared for many years. He won the prizes for best young cock and that for best Scotch Fancy in the hall. Mr. McLennan, of Edinburgh, had an exceptionally meritorious team entered, and was very successful. The judges, who did their work well, were: For the Scotch Fancy Canaries, Messrs. Fulton (Partick), Park (Govan), Ward (Glasgow), Hannay (Dumfries), Dalgleish (Leith), and Carlow (Falkirk); and for Belgians, Messrs. Fulton and Carlow.

We had the pleasure of conversing with Messrs. Hogg (Oakley), Thornton (Edinburgh), Dunn (Dunfermline), Roger, Lees, Park, Moore, McAdam, Ronaldson, Neil, Nairn, Renfrew, M'Clure, Baillie, Trail, Muir, McLennan, Smith, Paton, Maxwell, and Mr. Brown (late of London, who has taken up his abode in Duns). Each fancier had his own tale to tell of successes, disappointments, and failures, and what would have happened had they only managed to preserve particular birds! They all hope to do better next year, and it is this spirit which keeps the Fancy alive.

The Norwich Plainhead section was the best seen at this event for some years. Entries came up well, totalling 370, which gives an average of 17 per class over the 22 classes provided. And the quality all round was well up to standard. Special mention must be made of the yellow variegated hen exhibited by that young fancier, Mr. D. Graham (Glasgow), which cleverly captured the special for best Norwich Plainhead, and was runner-up for the "McLean cup." This bird is worth going a long distance to see, and we congratulate the owner of such a treasure. Several birds changed bands, notably the winning yellow cock (claimed at £5 5s.), and the winning buff cock (claimed at £4 4s.). It was pleasing to note the splendid turn out in the four classes provided for non-fed birds—66 in four classes—and it is to be hoped other shows will follow the example set by this society. With but one or two exceptions, the awards in this section of the show (which were made by Messrs. A. G. Cameron and A. McFarlane) were well received.

Although not numerous, the birds in the Crest and Crest-bred section acquitted themselves well, and the judge, Mr. McLay, who ably officiated, would have something to do before he got them to his liking. Some really grand birds were staged here, chief among them being the "McLean cup" winner, a magnificent dark Crested hen, put down by that well-known fancier, Mr. J. Hector, of Aberdeen. The hen is a perfect "eye-opener," and its cage was surrounded at all time by admirers.

The McLean Cup Winner.

Yorkshires were again well represented by all the local fanciers of this variety. And to see the fanciers handling them, the variety seems to be "taking on" here to a considerable extent. Type was very good throughout all the classes, and the quality of feather seems to be also one of the points which fanciers of this breed are trying to improve. Mr. J. B. Paterson (Ayr), a well-known breeder of Yorks., was successful in winning the special for best Yorkshire, with a charming yellow hen. She possesses grand substance, without being cumbersome, and a well-drawn body, and she is of good style. A very near approach to a pure white Yorkshire was on exhibition, sent in by Dr. Syson (Dennistoun, Glasgow). This bird attracted a good deal of attention, and one fancier was overheard to say he could do with a few of the sort for Mule breeding. The "Any Other Variety Canary" class contained some very good Norwich Cinnamons of lovely colour and feather. The Border Fancy section this time came out well; there was an entry of 213. For quality they were well ahead of last season's lot, and some really choice ones were staged. Mr. H. Bennet, the well-known breeder of this variety, put down a few "eye-openers"; his buff cock had 1st and Border Fancy Club medal and his buff foul cock bird were greatly admired. In the yellow cock class the same fancier scored with his five-year-old champion; very few exhibition birds can show such a run of success. The yellow hens were again headed, as last year, by Mr. James Hamilton's well-known winner. She is better developed in body this season, and seems like "holding her own" for some time to come. Buff hens were a strong class, and must have taken some picking out. The winner is a very stylish one of good quality and carriage. Even marks were a very fine lot all through, the winner being a nice eye-balanced buff. The birds in the Uneven classes were well up to the usual as regards the quality which is generally to be seen in these classes. Fouls and Greens also had their share of praise for type and feather, and some of them were difficult to separate for merit. Mr. Mossie (Annbank) judged the yellows, and Mr. Haddow (Hamilton) the buffs; both gave pretty general satisfaction throughout.

The Mules, British, and Foreign birds were very good, some extra fine ones being out, and most of the classes were keenly contested. Unfortunately, in the dark Goldfinch Mule class, two birds were disqualified for alleged faking. Sales in these sections were numerous, showing that British birds, etc., have a firm hold with Scotch exhibitors. We were pleased to see Ireland represented, and the Irish birds also made themselves known, winning in the British Goldie and dark Greenie Mule classes. Light Mules were a shade down in numbers; the specimens on view, however, were good. All the Finch classes were splendid, and the Buntings present in good variety. Foreigners were well up to the usual standard, the Goldfinch class being a good one. Messrs. Bald and Pettigrew judged, the former taking the even numbers, and this being Mr. Bald's first experience as judge, the creditable manner in which he selected the winners speaks volumes for his ability. The awards on the whole were well received.

ASHFORD.

Cage birds are always a poor section at Ashford, and they will in future, possibly, be absent from the schedule. The hall in which show is held is not good for our section, and this doubtless is the reason why the Ashford committee appeal in vain for support. At the show held on Oct. 20th and 21st, only 24 exhibits were entered. Mr. C. A. House judged.

NOR. YELL. (6): 1, Taylor, very neat and shapely, capital col. and feather; 2, Kilby, rare good bird, not yet tightened up; 3, Ward, nice col. and feather, more finely drawn; r, Gibbs; vhc, Ellis; hc, Mitchell. BUFF (5): 1, Ellis, very neat and chubby, good col. and meal; 2, Ward, nice shape, lovely feather, not so warm; 3, Taylor, good stamp, but seemed to be feeling the cold damp air; r, Kilby; vhc, Gibbs. TKD. EAST BOWLING AND DIS. B.F.A.

Sixth members' show, held Oct. 22, St. John's School. Entry, 89 birds, amongst them being some real gems. Mr. T. Bennett judged, and his awards were well received. Leaders in both competitions are having to do their best to hold their positions, as very few points divide them, and very keen fights are sure to take place at the next two shows. Messrs. Clarke, Gledhill, and Bleazard in open section, and Messrs. Calloway, Padgett, and Booth in novice section, were the principal point winners.

CITY & COUNTY OF PERTH O.A

Annual members' show, held recently. Entries were up to the average and some very good birds were forward. The Norwich members' bowl was won by Mr. J. Milne (Nentyle) with a beauty of a buff hen, which will make a few "sit up" this season. The young Crest cup was won by Mr. T. B. Gray (Cupar Angus), and the crest-bred cup by Mr. J. Stratton (Methven). The City members will have to buck up and not let the County men monopolise the "pots" to such an extent another year. Mr. Gollan Hyslop (Stirling) judged, and gave general satisfaction. The secretary, Mr. J. Kerr, had everything in a forward state, and the hall was a great improvement on previous years, a splendid light being got on all sides.

SHEFFIELD C.B.S.

Members' show, held Oct. 22, in Friends' Meeting Room, Leeds Road, Attercliffe. President, Mr. A. Bradshaw; vice-pres., Mr. T. Hemmings; treas Mr. W. Oxley—a trio of very courteous and enthusiastic fanciers. Messrs. H. Lindsay and A. Hobson, the worthy secretaries, are to be highly complimented upon the manner in which they officiated. Both worked like Trojans, and kept the ball rolling in fine style. Staging was of a very neat description. Praise is also due to the stewards, Messrs. Lindsay and H. E. Wilkinson (Stocksbridge). Mr. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield) judged. Special for best in show, Mr. G. Moore; second best, Mr. F. Elliott.

Another Tyneside Triumph.

Magnificent Show at Newcastle.

Considerable curiosity has been evinced throughout the country as to what would be the result of the Newcastle Cage Bird Society's fifth annual show, held on October 21st and 22nd, in view of the fact that the show was not held under C.B.U. rules. Northern fanciers in general had no doubt as to the result, despite the dismal warnings of several C.B.U. enthusiasts. That the Society achieved a huge success there can be no doubt. It was a most magnificent affair. The venue was again the Cambridge Drill Hall, one of the most suitable halls in the country for such a great show. Entries came up splendidly, and reached the grand total of 1,600, about the same number as last year, the only difference, if any, being a slight decrease in members' entries, owing to the poor breeding season that has been generally experienced in the North, and also to the fact that money is scarcely so plentiful as it might be, on account of the disastrous lock-out in the shipbuilding trades. Several alterations were made in the arrangements, as compared with last year, one special feature being the forming of passage ways in the long rows of staging, enabling visitors to cross from one side of the hall to the other without having to travel the whole length of the rows. This was a feature of the Scottish National Show, and we are glad to see that the large English societies are adopting it, for it is really a great advantage to everybody, visitors and show officials alike. The staging at Newcastle is a treat, with the exhibits three tiers high, at just the right height to enable visitors to feast their eyes on the galaxy of beauty provided for them. Everything was in perfect order, each section being kept by itself, large "plates" at the top indicating what the sections were.

Better than Ever.

The management at Newcastle has always been noted for its efficiency, but with all due respect to the previous officials, we are bound to say that on the present occasion it was better than ever. Mr. T. C. Crawhall is, in our opinion, an ideal secretary, and his facility in getting through with his work is really amazing. Everything was done with the utmost precision, the result being that not the slightest hitch occurred. Despite his arduous duties, Mr. Crawhall always found time to attend to the wants of anyone who required his services, and there is no doubt that it is his courteous manner, combined with his sterling qualities as a fancier, that makes him such a favourite with Northern fanciers. Mr. J. G. Hutchinson, the popular secretary of the Northern Crest Club, acted as show manager, and in his case, too, the arrangements were superb. Mr. Hutchinson's past experience as joint secretary of the Society, enabled him to attend to his duties in the most perfect manner, and his services were continually in request, and always most courteously given. These two gentlemen were ably supported by a hard-working body of fanciers, headed by the chairman, Mr. John Currah (who we noticed was continually keeping a fatherly eye upon the arrangements); vice-chairman, Mr. J. Sheppard; and treasurer, Mr. Tom Robson, the committee consisting of Messrs. J. E. Atkinson, J. Bertram, J. Coutts, Coxon, Coltman, Chapman, Dowson, Ellis, Grieve, Holden, J. Little, J. McKenzie, G. W. McPartling, J. Macdonald, J. Milne, C. G. Petterson, M. C. Potts, W. Scott, J. W. Reed, A. Storey, T. Taylor, R. Tindale, E. White, G. B. Vanner, and R. Young. With such a body of able fanciers, it is scarcely to be wondered that the show was such a grand success. The exhibition was opened by Sir Walter Plummer, who in a fine speech, expressed his great admiration at the magnificence of the show, and hoped that the society and the Fancy in general would prosper.

Young Crest Distinguishes Itself.

Coming to the exhibits themselves, it would be hardly fair to single out any particular section as standing out by itself. Practically all were good, both in numbers and quality, the only classes that were not supported so well as they might have been being those for Scotch Fancies. Crests came up fairly well, averaging just over ten per class, and in this section was found the winner of the Newcastle Bowl for the best young bird in the show, and also Hindhaugh's special of £1 1s. for the best bird in show, both honours going to Mr. J. L. Martin with a grand young wing marked dark Crest, with a crest of practically perfect shape and tremendous density. The fact that this bird won the special for best bird in show over such magnificent exhibits as "King of Kings" (Armstrongs') and "King Edward VII." (Taylor's) stamp it at once as a bird of exceptional merit. Although it has not the same spread as Mr. Armstrong's bird, it excels it in the beautiful dome shape of the crest, and many fanciers thought that if a finger were pressed on the head of Mr. Martin's bird it would not be far short of the spread of even "King of Kings." Mr. Martin also secured the diploma for best team of four birds, and medals for best novice Crest and Crest-bred. Really a great performance for a novice. Some grand Crests were also put down by Messrs. Currah and Son and Dobson and Son, the last-named exhibiting a young Crest of wonderful merit. In the Crest-breds, Mr. Bewick's well-known "Duchess" again secured premier honours, the same exhibitor also winning the Northern Crest special for the best young Crest-bred, with a really wonderful youngster.

Yorkshires were a grand lot, averaging just about fourteen per class in the eighteen classes provided for them. These classes were under the patronage of the Northern Yorks C.C., the Yorks C.C., National Green-Marked Y.C., and the Cinnamon-Marked Y.C.C., and, as may be expected, they made a really wonderful display, quite a show by themselves. Honours were pretty equally divided, none of the clubs having a preponderance of wins over the others, and the advance made by breeders of this variety in the North reflects great credit upon the Northern Yorks. Club. In this section was found the winner of the "Kate Haggie" Challenge Cup for best bird shown by a member of the Newcastle Society (open or members' classes), the Bowl winner decharred, the honour going to Mr. Ralph Hutler Jarrow) with a grand young yell. Sp. for best Yorks. went to Mr. F. Allen with a most typical youngster, while Mr. Joe Thomas won the special for best Green-marked Yorks., the novice special going to Mr. D. E. Kent with a very fine Buff cock. Lizards made a really wonderful display and were quite a feature of the show, these beautiful birds attracting much admiration and attention from visitors. Just fancy, 16 Lizards in each class, and scarcely a bad one amongst them. Some of those out of the tickets will be heard of again. This section was under the patronage of the Northern Lizard C.C., and the result reflects great credit upon the members, and no doubt the grand entry would gladden the heart of the hard-working secretary, Mr. G. Davidson. Special for best Lizard went to Mr. John Rukin, with a gem of a Clear-cap Gold.

In the Norwich section entries came up splendidly, averaging 17 per class in 12 classes, and although taken all through they were scarcely so level a lot as we have seen, they made a really fine display, type, quality, and colour predominating, and birds a trifle coarse in feather and slack behind were kept in their proper places, the winners being practically all birds excelling in Norwich properties. Special for best Nor. went to Messrs. Greenwood and Pickles with an unflighted Buff hen, while Mr. J. B. Creighton was successful in securing Sandiford's medal for hottest-fed bird. Cinnamons were a very level lot, and averaged 10 per class in four classes, Mrs. F. E. Deacon and Messrs. Godley and Dormer securing most of the prizes, Mr. Dormer winning the special for best in section with a splendid yellow.

Favorites from Scotland.

The Scotch Fancy section, although not a heavy one, contained some real tip-top specimens. Mr. Thos. Chapman's rare team was most successful; he won special for best with a monster of a Buff foul cock. This bird was closely pressed by another champion shown by Mr. Thomson. The "Scotsmen" all over proved to be of a better standard than anything exhibited at any former show, and we were pleased to see a host of visitors taking a deep interest in them. Borders came next, and oh! what a treat was here for the lovers of the "wee gem"—the finest collection ever seen at any of the Newcastle shows. The teams of Scotland came up against those of the home breeders. A few "eye-openers" came out and caused quite a sensation and flurry amongst the noted breeders, who are keen on a good one and not afraid of a price. A few of the winners changed hands at a handsome figure, amongst them the 1st clear Buff cock, 1st evenly-marked Yellow hen—this hen is one of the finest out for eye markings, and was greatly admired. A few very tempting offers were made to Mr. Montgomery for this winning Yellow cock, but he refused all. This being his first win, naturally he is a proud gentleman, beating, as he did, Mr. McKenzie's well-known Scottish National and Selkirk medal-winning Yellow foul. The Buffs contained the cream, and here both the open and novice medal winners were found, the former in a beautiful clear Buff hen, shown by Mr. H. Bennet, turned out in the pink of condition; and the second in a Buff hen, shown by Mr. Denholm, which also was greatly admired. We were sorry to see a mistake in the catalogue, neither of the above exhibitors being credited with these wins; the judge's attention being called to this, he had matters put right. The Border has undoubtedly taken on in this district, and to get near their classes was like going to hear Harry Lauder—nothing for it but stand your turn.

Oh! these Mules.

The Mule, British and Foreign sections were quite a feature of the show. Not only had we rarity, but quantity and quality. Messrs. Duncan and Logan had a team of three Mules out, and each secured a 1st; they also accounted for the special for best in section. Such magnificent specimens we rarely see sent out of one room. British were strong in numbers, and the quality extra good. Great interest was taken in a grand Chough—like marble—also the winning Song Thrush and Redstart, staged "in the pink." A notable exhibit was a pale lavender-coloured hen Greenfinch, which we thought, after the N.B.E. and M. Club decision in the case of a similar bird at Gateshead a few years ago, in fairness to the other exhibits, ought to have "taken a back seat." In the Foreigners were scarcely to be found two alike—a marvellous collection of rarities seldom brought together, especially in Northumberland. The only discordant note sounded was the "wrong classing" of the sensational "Mule" of Mr. MacPartling's, a supposed clear Greenie-Canary. We had this bird minutely noted, and failed to trace one iota of Mule blood in it; in fact, to the contrary, it leans to the Canary to such an extent as to show a nice pair of pink eyes—surely impossible to acquire in a Mule. Although we regret to say so, we saw no other course left for Mr. Dewar to adopt but to mark it "w.c."

The attendance of visitors was very large, and during the afternoon of the second day the hall, large as it is, was practically crowded, and we were very pleased to see so many well-known fanciers from different parts of the country. The judges were:—Mr. J. H. Roe (Norwich and Lizards), Mr. J. S. Clarke (Cinnamons and Crests), Mr. J. Bailey (Yorkshires), Mr. J. Patterson (Scotch Fancy and Borders), and Mr. J. F. Dewar (Mules, British and Foreign).

BURTON-ON-TRENT.

Annual show, Burton-on-Trent C.B.S., held Octoher 22, Victoria Hall, High Street. The Hall is a most excellent place for a show of this kind, being well lighted by day and by night. The birds were splendidly staged. Entries were hardly so good as at previous shows; this is hard to understand, as fanciers can always rest assured their birds have been well cared for at Burton. The two secretaries, Messrs. Elliott and Wood, have the job at their fingers' ends, and are well backed up hy a capital band of stewards, all fanciers who understand the wants of the birds. The Chairman, Dr. Dockerty, also gives valuable services. We were greatly disappointed to find all the Foreign bird classes cancelled, as they have always been such a grand show at Burton, and have drawn a good "gate." Norwich were a capital lot, both in quality and number. Yorkslires included some grand birds from one or two noted fanciers. Britishers came off well in the Goldfinch and Bullfinch classes, and the Softbill class contained some very rare specimens. Mr. J. Robson judged.

FORFAR.

First annual show of the Forfar and Dist. C.B. Improvement Society held October 22, Reid Hall. The hall is well lighted, free from draughtiness, and commodious, which gave the visitors an ample opportunity of viewing the exhibits with comfort. From some reason not apparent the entries did not come up so well as one would expect, but what was wanting in numbers was made up for in quality, some tip-top exhibits being staged. In the Norwich classes there were some rare but ones of the proper type, Mr. G. Mitchell winning the Bowman rose-bowl for best Norwich (shown by a member). The Scott Cup for best Border was won by Mr. J. Craig. Mr. W. Grewer makes an ideal secretary and treasurer, being most courteous and obliging to all. Committee: Mr. J. Bowman (president), Mr. J. Stevenson (vice-president), Messrs. G. Shepherd, G. Nicoll, J. Campbell, J. Fyfe, J. Laird, Jno. Grewer, Jas. Grewer, P. Taylor, D. Kydd, P. Kennedy, P. Falconer, and H. Y. Bowman. The judges were: for Norwich, Mr. W. B. Mackie (Aberdeen); for Borders, Mr. H. Wilson (Bannockburn); and for Mules, British, etc., Mr. R. V. Raine (Cathcart). Their awards gave every satisfaction; there was very little grumbling heard.

WORTHING.

Worthing F.A. show held Oct. 12th and 13th in the Literary Institute, Montague Street, an ideal place for a cage bird show. The show as usual, was a credit to its members, with Alderman W. Walter (chairman), Mr. H. Yate (hon. sec.), Messrs. Cheepman, H. Hopper, G. Stubbs, and A. Williams (stewards) at the helm. Yorkshires were a nice, even lot, and two sets of winners could easily have been selected. Norwich were good. Goldfinches, too, were a fine lot, and the British A.O.S. were a nice even class. Mrs. Brown won special for fresh-caught Bullie, Miss Goodman that for best cage-moulted Bullie, and Mr. Williams the Fyfield Memorial. Mr. Penfold judged, his awards being well received.

WOOLWICH & PLUMSTEAD C.B.S

Very successful members' show held Trinity Schools, Beresford-street, Woolwich, October 22nd. The show was arranged primarily for the younger members, and right well they availed themselves of the opportunity. The entrance fee was only 3d., and one-third of the fees went to the society. Entries totalled about 120, of which two-thirds were in the novice section. Mr. J. Hazell judged, and his awards were well received. The novice members asked numerous questions, which the judge answered. Owing to the illness of Mr. Dibley, one of the joint secretaries, Mr. Meades had all the work on his own shoulders. He carried out his duties admirably. Mr. Meades won special for best Canary, and Mr. Dibley that for best Canary in novice section. An excellent concert was given during the evening under the direction of Mr. Hartland, our chairman. The bird bred from a hen Mule and cock Canary was on show, and it certainly appeared to be what the breeder stated it was.

BANKFOOT AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Fourth members' show in connection with this year's competition held Oct. 15th, Bankfoot Schools. Good entry, 102 birds being staged. Mr. F. Allen judged, and gave every satisfaction. Leaders in the competition are now putting on top pressure, and a keen fight is sure to take place before end of season, as very few points separate the first few. Mr. G. Hudson won cup for most points, with four highest birds, Messrs. C. Hardaker and F. Gelder tied for second most points, and Mr. B. Wilman 3rd. Special for best cock, Mr. F. Gelder; that for best hen, Mr. J. Taylor.

LEITH O.S.

Leith O.S. 51st annual show, held in Junction Road Church Hall, October 22. It proved one of the finest in the history of the society. Entries totalled 578, exceeding last year's total by a 100. The quality was above the average, and some grand birds were staged. Winner of the Provost Smith Challenge Cup, Mr. Adam with a buff pied hen. The Border Fancy and B.F.C.C. medal were won by Mr. George Brown (the sec.). British bird special awarded to Mr. J. Colbron for his Linnet. Mr. J. M. Millar secured the special for best Mule with a fine Goldfinch Canary. The hall in which the show was held proved quite inadequate for the crowd of visitors. Provost Smith was in attendance, and presented the principal prizes at the close. The following gentlemen officiated as judges: For Scotch Fancies, Messrs. D. Caldwell and J. Pringle; for Norwich, Mr. A. Chalmers; for Border Fancy, Mr. J. Thomson; and for British birds, Mr. P. Pettigrew. The management was in the capable hands of the sec., Mr. Geo. Brown, to whom most of the credit for the success of the show is undoubtedly due.

HANLEY.

Fifth annual exhibition of the Hanley and Dist. C.B.S. was held October 20th, at the Albion Hotel. The entries totalled well up to 500. The Yorkshires and Norwich were a fine lot, and the Mules and Hybrids were clinking birds. Many winners met here. The hon. sec., Mr. B. Peake, had the birds well staged, and showed he knew his business well; his committee, Messrs. Robinson, Lawton, Llewellyn, Williamson, Lowndes, Brough, Wild, Bates, Dunn, Evans, Cooke, and Pygott, ably assisted in the feeding of the birds, and the management of the show. Mr. W. Mundell (Bradford) placed the cards.

METROPOLITAN C.B.A.

The members of the Metropolitan C.B.A. held their first show of the season October 22, at the new headquarters, the All Saints' Parochial Hall, Battersea Park. The Rector (the Rev. T. Hill) has kindly lent the hall and adjoining committee room for shows and meetings, and it would he difficult to find any building in London better suited. The hall is large, comfortable, and well lighted, both by day and night, and by careful staging quite a thousand birds could easily be benched. The show was well up to the standard, both in numbers and quality; in fact, we are inclined to think there has been a considerable advance in merit, especially in the novice section of both Norwich, Yorkshire, and Borders. Mr. G. Denham's yell. Nor. cock and yell. hen were especially noticeable. The champion Norwich section was practically a "walk over" for Mr. F. J. Martin, though he was closely pressed by some fine exhibits sent by Mrs. Lovegrove, notably her grand cl. yell., first at Battersea. Mr. McGregor's fine buff hen (vhc) was not in the best of trim, or would have run winner in hen class very hard. The champion Yorks. classes contained some very typical specimens. Mr. Mabey's cl. yell. cock made a good fight with Mr. Martin's yell. Norwich for sp for best bird in show. The centre of attraction was the keen competition in the novice Yorkshires, many birds in which would not disgrace some open shows. Mr. Hall's winner in yell. cocks is a grand bird, and Mr. F. King's buff cock is a beauty. Mr. F. Tebb's team also contained birds of high quality. Mrs. McGregor annexed the spl. for best Border with a sweet buff cock. Mrs. Thynne, also sent some good birds, which were unfortunately n bit out of condition. British birds were not very numerous but some good Goldies were exhibited by Messrs. Slade and Marsh. The management was all that could be desired, and the exhibits were quickly benched and attended to by Messrs. Martin, Tebbs, McGregor, Burgess, Hall, etc. Mr. G. Harwood is secretary, and well carries out his duties. Among the visitors were many fanciers from other societies, while the Rector frequently visited the show during the day and took a keen interest in the competition. Tea was dispensed during the afternoon, and the show took on quite a special character. Mr. H. Norman judged.

BRADFORD (West).

Annual exhibition of the Bradford West C.H.A. was held Oct. 22nd, Whetley Lane Schools, Girlington, under the rules of the Yorkshire Union and the patronages of the Y.C.C. and the Y.C.B.B. and M.C. The room is a fine one for a show, having plenty of space, and being lofty and well lighted. The officials are quite up to date in show management, and all worked well together. Mr. F. Western was at their head as secretary; he had charge of affairs, ably assisted by Mr. J. Stirk (asst. sec.), Mr. W. A. Cowgill (president), Messrs. Smith, Greaves, Crabtree, Bennett, Mountain, Maill, and Whitley as stewards, and Mr. J. Clark doorkeeper. Prize money was paid out during the afternoon, and birds from a distance were got off in nice time. The classification was not quite as liberal as usual, the patronages of several of the specialist clubs going elsewhere. Entries came up well—441 in 26 classes, an average of 17 per class. The novice classes were responsible for this high figure, their ten classes containing no less than 224 birds—over 22 per class. Britishers did not come up so well, but the birds were a really nice lot, and added greatly to the interest of the show. Mr. J. N. Harrison (Belper) judged all over, and found the competition very keen.

BODMIN.

Bodmin and Dist. F.A. eighth annual exhibition held Market House, October 19th. In previous years the show has been confined to members of Bodmin and district, but this year the cage bird section was thrown open. No doubt entries would have been more, but unfortunately clashed with the Western Counties great show at Plymouth. Only 62 were staged, but quality was a fair average, and some good specimens were staged. British birds, although few, included some excellent specimens. Special for best bird in show was won by the Hon. Constance Agar-Robartes. Silver cup confined to members won by Mr. C. Lobb. The president is Councillor H. Liddell, the chairman Mr. A. E. Jago, the treasurer Mr. S. Hore, and the secretary Mr. E. Harris (a really capital sec.), and a more fancier-like or obliging set of officials it would be difficult to find. Mr. C. H. Toy (Truro) judged.

PORTSMOUTH.

Portsmouth C.H.S. held their first annual show Oct. 20 and 21. There was a good entry, and a large muster of fanciers. This should prove a leading fixture in the south. The Memorial Hall, in which the show took place, is an ideal one for the purpose, being free from draught and having a good top light. The Secs., Messrs. King and Joiner, had everything in excellent order, and it was no trouble to find exhibits. They were ably assisted by an excellent committee, consisting of Messrs. T. Jackson, C. Lean, W. Lavis, W. J. Collin, H. J. Lockhart, W. Smith, J. W. Parkes, and H. Ninness. Mr. J. Robson judged.

CHIRNSIDE AND DISTRICT Y.B.S.

The thirteenth annual show of the Chirnside and District Young Bird Society was held on Oct. 13th, in beautiful weather. This is by far the most successful show they have yet had, both in numbers and quality, the Border section competition being exceptionally keen. The President (Mr. Fortune) was in attendance. Messrs. Patterson and Shell, the secretaries, had everything well in hand, and were backed up by a willing band of helpers. The judge, Mr. John Tait (Galashiels) placed the awards to the entire satisfaction of all.

KELTY & BLAIRADAM.

Annual show of the Kelty and Blairadam C.B.A. held October 22nd. Taken all over it was a good one. Unfortunately, entries were down about 150 on last year's, but as there were two other large shows in Scotland on this date the executive are to be congratulated on the collection got together. Scotch Fancies were a choice selection, although somewhat few in numbers; they were carefully judged by Mr. Wright, who seemed to be happy in his selection. Here was found the challenge cup winner, the property of Mr. Fotheringham. Borders were a good show, some well-known studs being represented; here the judge had a heavy task in separating the winners. The best in section, belonging to Mr. Smart, accounted for the Border Fancy Club medal, while Mr. Peters won the gold medal (confined to Fife). Mr. McAdam judged. Crests and Crest-breds were a grand lot, and were carefully handled by Mr. Moreland. The Plain-heads, taken all over, were also good; Mr. Watson judged here. Yorkshires and the A.O.V. birds were a grand all-round selection. The Foreigners and Britishers were well up in both numbers and quality. Mr. Goodfellow judged these classes, as Mr. Ward (the British Bird judge) could not unfortunately attend. The awards of all the judges were well received. The show was held in the Co-operative Hall—an ideal place. The management is large, and is composed of real workers; every care was taken of the exhibits. The secretarial duties were again in the capable hands of Mr. Ford, and he proved equal to the occasion, having everything in apple-pie order. He was ably assisted by the worthy treasurer, Mr. McConville, the genial president, Mr. Stenhouse, and the popular vice-president, Mr. Fotheringham, whin were also busy attending to the wants of exhibits and exhibitors. The stewards also, and the committee rendered valuable help. The show was well patronised.

The Canary Classes.

SCOT. FCY., CL., ETC. CK. Rochdale's Grand Display of Lancashires and Greens.

The Type Question Brings About a Sensation.

The sensational feature of the 30th show of the Rochdale O.C., which was held in the Town Hall on October 21st and 22nd, was the putting down of several Lancs. for showing Norwich properties. It will be remembered that last season there was much discussion in our columns relative to one of the winning birds at this fixture. The Lancashire Canary Association decided that this season all judges officiating at shows at which their patronage was given should be instructed by the secretary to pass all birds showing Norwich properties, so as to ensure that nothing but pure-bred Lancashires headed the lists. At Rochdale last Friday Mr. House passed two birds belonging to the veteran of the Fancy, Mr. R. Barrass, and Mr. E. T. Turner (one of the latter-day fanciers) respectively. Both of the birds are well-known winners, in fact the former secured the leading position in the same class last year under Mr. House. The incident was the talk of the show. The question is indeed a knotty one, and needs settling one way or the other. It resolves itself into this: Are birds to be judged strictly to the standard or not?

Local Specialities.

Rochdale is the one show of the year so far as the "Giants of the Fancy" are concerned, and this year they had the nice total of 122. Taking them as a whole, the old birds were hardly up to the average, the entry possibly being affected by the knowledge that the L.C.A. had passed the resolution mentioned above, and also by the fact that many birds are not yet fit; but what the old ones lacked was fully compensated for in the wonderful quality of the youngsters. We have never seen such length and substance in birds of the current year as was to be seen in those at Rochdale last week. Individual sensational birds we have seen, but never so many which were young giants indeed. A most pleasing feature of the section was the number of prizes taken by the younger end of the Fancy, and the absence of complete dominancy by one fancier of the leading positions. It is too much to hope that the introduction of new fanciers may be the means of reviving interest in this grand old breed. Mr. Barrass had particularly hard luck, as in addition to his buff Coppy being passed, as stated above, his ticked yellow Coppy, one of the best of the breed ever staged, would have romped home had Mr. House not discovered that it was blind in one eye. Mr. E. T. Turner, who looks like taking the position so long held by that good fancier, the late Ben Turner, staged a magnificent team of birds, shown in splendid condition.

Lizards were not up to Rochdale form, either in numbers or quality, and we missed the names of several of the old hands, whilst there seem to be no new ones to take their place. Yorkshires made a nice show, so far as merit is concerned, but the numbers were not up to the average. Yorkshire exhibitors of to-day have so many inducements held out to them at home that unless there is something very tempting in the way of specials or club patronage they prefer to perform only in the county of broad acres. Mr. Battye handled the section with his accustomed care, and there was not much chance for grumbling at his awards. Messrs. Binns, Wilkinson, Richmond, Schofield, Robertshaw, Radley, and Faulkner each staged a grand team. Crests, as usual, were few in number, but of very high class. Some of the exhibits in the Norwich Plainheads looked like balls of living fire, so hot were they in colour. Mr. Battye, however, did not sacrifice type and quality for the sake of colour, and good chubby well-balanced birds were those selected for leading honours. Mr. Davies put down a splendid team, and bad quite a field day.

A Mule Puzzle.

Greens enjoyed the patronage of the Green Canary Association, and a really wonderful lot of exhibits were staged. The winners in the Yorkshire and Border classes could have well held their own with their lighter-bred brethren, and though the same may not be said of the Norwich type greens, one is able to record the pleasing fact that much advance is being made by them in the matter of feather and type. All the leaders in the Green classes were of very high quality, and, as will be seen by the awards, no one stud predominated, but the honours were widely distributed. Mules and British were but a ghost of what we have seen at Rochdale, the classes being very meagrely supported, although we must say some very smart exhibits were on view. There was considerable discussion as to the parentage of Messrs. Tams and Son's Mule. The class was for Canary Mules, but the prevailing opinion seemed to be that this bird is a British hybrid. On this occasion the whole Foreign section had to be "scratched," notwithstanding the fact that the fixture was under the Foreign Bird Club patronage.

No show in the kingdom is better managed than Rochdale, and all that careful thought and experience can suggest for the benefit of exhibits and exhibitors is done by the executive. It has three grand old stalwarts at its head in Messrs. John Naden (chairman), Levi Butterworth (vice-chairman), and Robert Barrass (treasurer), and under their direction the committee worked hard and well. Mr. R. Blincoe, who has only quite recently taken over the secretaryship, is possessed of qualities which should carry him a long way, and make him a worthy successor of the many good men and true who have served the "Rochda' bird chaps" in the years that are gone. An important factor in connection with Rochdale Show is the refreshment stall, managed by the wives of the members, and to them are due the thanks of all, for without them Rochdale would have a hard struggle for existence. The judges were Mr. C. A. House (Lancs., Liz., Crests and Greens; Mr. H. W. Battye (the remainder)

Special winners: Gold medal, classes 38 to 46, Mr. P. Clayton; ditto, classes 46 to 49, Mr. Jas. Johnston; members', for most points, 1, E. T. Turner; 2, R. Barrass; 3, R. Blincoe. The Rochdale O.C. cup was won by Mr. R. Blincoe.

Mr. C. A. House's Classes.

LANCS. COPPY, YELL. (7): 1, 3, hc, Turner, grand length and carriage of body, plenty of feather, cl. centre, and nice spread; 3rd, very nicely formed Coppy, good length and carriage, not so stout in body; 2, Lee, very long body, stands well up on legs, hardly so massive, nice spread, shorter frontal; 4, Garner, well spread Coppy, plenty of feather, shorter body; vhc, Naden; c, Barrass. BUFF (5): 1, Garner, well centred and nicely spread coppy, grand length of feather and plenty of it; 2, Swalwell, nice spread, good carriage and length, not so well shown; 3, Turner, nice length and spread of coppy, shorter in body; No. 3, Barrass, No. 4, Turner, very massive bodies with tremendous feather, both carry heavy drooping coppies, were passed as showing Norwich properties. P.H., YELL. (9): 1, 2, Naden, great length of body with grand carriage, plenty of long broad feather, plenty of lash on a broad flat scowling skull; 2nd, great length of feather, well lashed, good shaped skull, massive body, hardly so long, good style; 3, Lowe, very massive in body, plenty of feather, good skull properties, not so long on leg; 4, Oldham, nice shaped skull, great length and style, not so much substance; vhc, Garner; hc, Vickers; c, Turner. BUFF (9): 1, Whitehead, broad flat skull with heavy lash and good scowling appearance, long well-carried body, plenty of feather; 2, Collinge, great length of body which is well carried, stands firmly and well on good long legs, plenty of lash, hardly so stout in frontal or neck; 3, Turner, immense head and neck, grand width and length of feather, shorter on leg, and therefore does not get up so well; 4, McConaghey, very similar to 3rd in all respects; vhc, Barrass; hc, Vickers; c, Lee. TKD. COPPY YELL. (12): 1, Turner, great length and substance of body, with abundance of feather, droops somewhat too much in front, but runs into neck at back, one of those birds which make a judge say 1st or nothing; 2, Garner, rare length and carriage of body, plenty of feather, hardly so massive, well spread coppy; 3, Oldham, good long stylish body, plenty of feather, coppy nicely spread, but not so long; 4, hc, Lowe, stylish, shapely, well feathered body, not so much front; vhc, Adams; c, Fitton: No. 11, Barrass, the best bird in the class by a long way, was found to be blind in the left eye. BUFF (13): 1, Barrass, very long, massive, well shaped body, covered with abundance of feather, nicely centred, beavily feathered coppy; 2, Adams, massive and well feathered body, but shorter on leg, and less length of body, good shaped coppy; 3, West, capital length and carriage of body, plenty of feather, shapely, but shorter feathered coppy; 4, Lee, plenty of feather, big, wide, well spread coppy, but shows a twist; vhc, Oldham; hc, Laycock; c, Lowe. P.H., YELL. (7): 1, Barrass, very massive with plenty of length both of body and feather, well lashed, good shaped skull; 2, Adams, large heavily feathered body, well lashed, but not such a scowling skull; 3, Lowe, stout in body with plenty of feather, hardly so erect in carriage; 4, Hordern, splendid length, shape, and carriage of body, but lighter in build, and not so well lashed; vhc, Laycock; hc, Vickers; c, Garner. BUFF (9): 1, vhc, Laycock, very massive, flat, scowling skull, heavily lashed, great substance and length of body; 2, Barrass, splendid body for feather, length and carriage, well lashed skull, hardly so wide in front; 3, Lowe, rare length and carriage of body, plenty of feather, heavy lashing, not so flat in skull; 4, c, Garner, long, heavily feathered body, good lash, not so wide in skull; hc, West. HEN, COPPY (10): 1, McConaghey, very handsome yell., great width of spread, without droop, rare length of body carried on strong long legs which gives her rare carriage; 2, Laycock, tkd. buff, very massive and heavily feathered body, good length and width of head feather, not so flat in coppy; 3, Barrass, tkd. buff, capital body, plenty of feather, good style, nice frontal, pinched at back of coppy; 4, Turner, heavily feathered tkd. buff, good shaped coppy, shorter body; vhc, Garner; hc, Hordern; c, Whitehead. P.H. (9): 1, Barrass, yell., massive broad flat skull, great substance and length of body, splendid carriage, abundance of feather, plenty of body; 2, Fitton, plenty of substance and length of body, but set on shorter legs, and is therefore not so stylish, grand feather, not so wide in skull; 3, Oldham, yell., very long well carried body, but not so stout, flat, scowling, well lashed skull; 4, hc, c, Entwisle, very stout massive buff, shorter on legs, plenty of feather; vhc, Beattie; No. 3, Ridyard, was passed as showing too much Norwich, being short and round in body, and not flat in skull. BRED 1910, COPPY (20): 1, 4, hc, c, Turner, 1st one of the best yellows ever seen, a giant indeed, tremendous length and substance of body, covered with a wealth of feather, large, well centred, nicely spread coppy; 4th, yell., wonderful length and style, capital feather, splendidly-fronted coppy, nipped in at back; 2, Laycock, slashing buff, rare length and substance of body, grand carriage, stout, well lashed skull; 3, Beattie, buff, great length and substance of both body and feather, well lashed, but horned at back, rare style; vhc, Lee; this was about the best class of young birds ever staged. P.H. Budgerigars and Cockatiels.

By C. P. ARTHUR. Price 6d., post free.

The breeding of Budgerigars and Cockatoos is recognised as one of the most profitable and pleasure-giving sides of foreign bird-keeping. In this practical handbook an eminent authority and highly successful breeder gives very full details upon How to Keep, Feed, Breed, Tame, & Teach to Talk.

The Stock Book.

Our Invaluable "Breeding Room Register." By G. E. WESTON, price 6d., post free 7d.

A well-known fancier has said of it:—"It makes bird breeding easy." It simplifies the operations in the bird-room, and makes it possible for everyone to breed his birds as they should be bred—keep account of their strong and weak points. It contains both Pedigree, Breeding, Young Bird, and Show Registers of simple and unique character, in addition to useful account pages, and many invaluable "Hints for Emergencies."

Live Bird Labels.

For use when despatching live birds on journeys by rail, etc., printed in red ink and gummed on back. The simplest, neatest, and best on the market, 24, 3d.; 50, 6d.; 100, 1/-, post free; printed up with fancier's name and address at foot, at the following low rate:—100, 2/-; 250, 2/6; 500, 3/6.

CELEBRITIES OF THE CURRENT SEASON.

F CARL, Publisher, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-ides of either buyers or sellers In all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insisted upon.

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or, if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

IMPORTANT NOTE.—Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertiser, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

Headlines or Footlines 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/6 according to size.

Small prepaid advertisements of a general nature and not connected in any way with the Cage Bird Trade are inserted at the rate of ½d. per word throughout. Minimum 12 words 6d.

Advertisements must in all cases bear the bona fide name and address of the advertiser, and no advertisement will be inserted if addressed to a receiving office, or similar place of call.

PREPAID ADVERTISEMENTS

UNDISPLAYED.—6d. for the first eighteen words. One Halfpenny per Word for each word over eighteen. MINIMUM, 18 words 6d.

Postal Orders must be sent as far as possible. All moneys should be made payable to F. CARL.

The Proprietor reserves the right to refuse any advertisement, or to cancel any advertisement ordered for a series, at any time, without assigning any reason for so doing.

Advertisements close Tuesdays first post in each week, and should be sent to the Advertisement Manager, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London. Terms for Display Advertisements on application.

are a number of letters from persons who have actually tried my appliances. If you take into consideration the fact that these letters are not what I say, but what my customers say, I think you will agree with me that they say far more for my goods than I could ever say myself. For years past I have publicly invited all intending purchasers to have any of my goods on approval, test them side by side with similar articles from elsewhere, and if mine are not far better value, smash them up, and I will refund every penny of your money. Never yet has an article been broken up, nor have I received a grumble from anyone; but, on the other hand, I have received hundreds of letters saying that my goods were far superior to others, and that there was no comparison between them. I send everything on approval, either cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and refund money in full if entire satisfaction is not given. Clap nets, made from ¾in. mesh, genuine thread netting, 3 yards long, 5½ft. deep, 4ft. fly, 4/- pair, ditto 4 yards, 5/-, 5 yards 6/-, 6 yards 7/-, 7yds. 8/-, 8yds. 9/-, 9yds. 10/-, 10yds 11/- per pair. Please note: My clap nets consist of two uets to the pair, and are fitted up complete with hemp lines, birch poles, ash pegs, and everything required for immediate use. Self-acting spring net traps, 24in. long by 18in. wide, 1/- ditto, 18 by 14in., 9d. each. These traps are entirely different to all others on the market; they can be baited for hard and softbills at same time, and call bird can be used inside them if required. Will catch and hold any bird, from Wren to Rook, and so simple a child can set them. Batfolding Sparrow nets, fitted on 15ft. bamboo poles, 5/6, ditto 17ft. poles 6/-, ditto 19ft. poles 6/6 complete. Loose thread netting, as used in above nets (made specially for bird netting, not second-hand fishing-nets), ¾in. mesh, 7ft. deep, 3d. yard, ditto 9ft. deep, 4d. yard, ditto 12ft. deep 5d. yard, all post free. Real Japanese birdlime, guaranteed absolutely strongest lime made, ½lb. 6d., ¼lb. 10d., 1lb. 1/6, sample 3d., all post free. This lime contains a secret chemical known only to the makers, which makes the lime hold in all weathers, even in the rain, and enables it to leave birds' feathers quite clean. Just the thing for the damp November fogs. Single trap cages, 6d. each, double ditto 1/- each, treble ditto 1/3 each, all with separate compartment for call bird. Patent self-setting and self-acting trap cages (reg. No. 23,927), guaranteed to automatically reset immediately each bird is caught, 1/6 each. Italian hemp pull lines, specially spun, free from snarl or back twist, 68 yards long, 1/4 each, post free. Brace swivels, 3 3d., 12 6d., post free. Round or square topped call cages, all-wire tops and wood bottoms, 4d. each, 6 1/9, 12 3/-. Thousands of other articles required by catchers kept in stock. Send stamp for full printed list, which also gives hints on net making. The following letters are entirely unsolicited, and I offer £50 to any man that can prove I have ever asked for a testimonial:—

"Over Road, Willingham, October 29th.—Sir,—Received net and trap safely, and am well pleased with same. Please send following.—Yours, G. Lack."

"Coaltown of Balgonic, Fifeshire, October 27th.—Sir,—Please send another ½lb. lime. Last I had from you was best I ever had; not one bird got off.—Yours, T. Gilmour." "4, Castle Place, Scarborough, October 27th.—Sir,—Please send another pound birdlime. I caught over 200 birds with last I had from you.—Yours, W. Whitehead." "53, Liverpool Road, South Birkdale, October 20th.—Sir,—Bird lime to hand; it is grand stuff.—Yours, R. Makinson." 5, Archer Terrace, Plymouth, October 20th.—Sir,—Received clap net, and am very pleased with it.—Yours, C. Hoskin." "42, Lower Gloster Street, Dublin.—Sir,—Received clap nets safely, and am very well pleased with them. I got some lime from elsewhere and it was no good; it wouldn't hold a fly. Please send 1lb. of yours.—Yours, S. Wilson." "5, Clades Court, Fore Street, Exmouth, October 18th.—Sir,—Received net, and am very well pleased with it. Tbat is how I like to see a man deal, honest and straight. Please send following.—Yours, C. Richards."

"The Bowyer House, Denham, Uxbridge, October 12th.—Sir,—Clap nets I find from you are in every way satisfactory.—Yours, A. Thomas." "45, Dean Road, Cadishead, near Manchester.—Sir,—Please send following netting and lines. I have heard a lot of catchers talk of your goods, and the way they praise you is something to be proud of.—Yours, J. O'Hare." "Norton Road, Pelsall, near Walsall, October 10th.—Sir,—Please send following. The bird lime is extra good, and best I ever had.—Yours, J. Fallon." "25, Cromwell Road, Rushden.—Sir,—Please send following. The netting I had from you three years ago is as good as ever. I caught over 300 Goldfinches, besides dozens of other birds, with it last year, and still got it in use.—Yours, H. Kirby." "13, Carter Lane, Whitchaven.—Sir,—Your bird lime is best we have had for many years; your nets, also, are the best on the market.—Yours, G. Martin." "26, The Green, Wordsley, Staffs.—Sir,—Your netting and lime is best I ever saw. I am very pleased with them. I had a pair nets from ——, but I had to get out of them; they were made of that thick netting, and the stave poles were like broomstails; they showed so much on the ground.—Yours, T. Madeley." Later, Mr. Madeley again writes: "Please send following. I am very proud of your netting and pull line, as it has given every satisfaction." "21, Kitchener Street, York, October 25th.—Sir,—Clap nets give every satisfaction. They work a treat, and I find them best I ever used.—Yours, T. Buckle." The men employed by me are all practical net knitters, and also experienced catchers as well, and so know exactly what is required for successful catching. You might as well try to catch birds with a pair of curtains as some of the nets on the market. Absolutely every professional catcher of note buys his appliances from me, and you must admit that they know where to get the best from. Send stamp for price list, and compare with others.

FROM THIS DAY

forth with every wild bird I sell I shall send a signed guarantee that the bird has not been recently caught within the meaning of the Wild Birds Protection Acts, so that birds purchased from me may be kept in any part of British Isles, whether protected by the Act or not, and in addition to this I shall also send a signed declaration agreeing to indemnify all purchasers against any expeuse whatsoever arising from any prosecution and conviction for keepiug the bird in any protected area. A copy of this guarantee and indemnity form has been sent to the Editor of "Cage Birds," and should any sceptical person doubt my bona-fides in this matter, I am willing to place any reasonable amount of money in the Editor's hands. I have an enormous stock of genuine Worcestershire cock Goldfinches at 1/6 each, three 4/-, six 7/-, twelve 12/-, specially selected larger cocks for show, muling, or singing, and guaranteed in song, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 9/-, twelve 17/-; few extra special exhibition specimens, with clear cut square blaze, good size, correct tanning and mooning, etc., and fit for keenest competition, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; hen Goldfinches 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 4/-; splendid lot netted cock Siskins, all in pink of condition, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6, twelve 15/-, exhibition specimens, with full bib, correct lacing, and clear cut jet cap, 3/- 4/-, and 5/-, each; grand cock Bullfinches, in superb condition, 1/6 and 2/- each; exhibition specimens 3/- each; hen Bullfinches 1/- and 1/6 each. I also have sixty genuine hand-reared, finger-tame German hen Bullfinches, all in grand feather, will feed from fingers and allow anyone to fondle them, price 4/- and 5/- each. These are the ideal birds for breeding the rare Bullie hybrids from; exceptionally large lot of inland country caught cock brown Linnets, all guaranteed nut brown backs, rose-red breasts, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; specially picked large cocks for muling or contest singing, and warranted now in song, 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6; exhibition specimens, very large, correct type, and exquisite pencilling, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; cock Chaffinches 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; exhibition specimens 1/- each; cock Greenfinches 6d. each, three 1/-, six 1/6; exhibition specimens 1/- each; grand lot of the giant Mealy Redpolls, 1/0, 2/-, and 2/6 each; few special exhibition specimens 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; Lesser Redpolls 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-, twelve 3/6; exhibition specimens 1/- each, cock Skylarks, all big, bold, plump cocks, not half hens, 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-. Few very steady birds, guaranteed in song, 1/-, 1/6, and 2/- each; hand-reared cock Jay, linger tame, chattering, and whistling, all day, extraordinary good mimic, and sure to make a champion, 6/-; special travelling cages 3d. extra. All birds sent on approval as usual, cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and if they fail to prove entirely satisfactory only have to be returned and back comes the whole of your money. Exhibitors please note: I handle more English birds than any man alive, but do not exhibit birds, therefore all exhibition specimens are for disposal, none being kept back until they have won, and then sold at an exorbitant price. I rarely mention it in my advt., but hardly a show passes but what one or more of the birds I have supplied winning there. Just two letters given here to prove my statement. "114, Rosslyn Street, Gallatown, Kirkcaldy, Oct. 18. —Sir,—I see you advertising Siskins. I have one just now which has done a lot of winning, including Scottish National, Dunfermline, Bathgate, and many other places, but I was beat last week with a bird you supplied to a Buckhaven fancier. Please send me two champions, etc.—Yours, J. Mitchelson." "Durham Ox Hotel, Northallerton, Oct. 13. Sir,—One of the Goldfinches you sold me got vhe at Crystal Palace, first time out. Mr. Mays wrote me offering to buy him. I afterwards parted with him to Mr. Weston, of "Cage Birds" fame. I believe he did a lot of winning with him last year. I was told he was first at City of Glasgow last year. Please pick out following. Yours, C. Hutchinson." Kindly note both birds were sold by me at advertising prices, thus showing I act up to advt. Please note the Siberian Goldfinches reach me middle of November and no dealer will get the pick from me until I have taken out what I want for my retail customers. Price of exhibition specimens is 10/- each, and I am now booking orders for them, strictly in rotation. See Appliances and also Roller Canary column.

HARRY ALLEN, THE ORIGINAL.

Prizes my birds have won: A few prizes won by Fox and Thompson in 1908 with Linnets: Peterboro' 1st, 4th, and vhc, Bolton 2nd Linnet and 2nd Goldfinch, York 1st Linnet, 1st and 2nd Goldfinches, Bramley 1st and 3rd Linnet, 1st and 2nd Goldfinch, Morcambe 1st Linnet, 2nd Goldfinch, Middlesboro' 2nd Linnet, 1st Goldfinch, Hull 3rd, 4th and vhc Linnet, 2nd Goldfinch; the above are what I sold to Messrs. Fox and Thompson, who are a credit to the Fancy, thus showing the quality of my birds. Goldfinches like the above were prize winners, full colour, ready at once for the bench, 4/6, with show cage 6/6; Linnets, real Norwich type, the largest in England, ready at once for the bench, 2/-, with show cage 4/6; Bullfinches, the largest in England, ready at once for the show bench, there prize-winners are 3/-, with cage 5/-; Greenfinches, very large birds, with grand square heads, very rich colour, winners, 1/6, with show cage 3/6; very large cock Chaffinches, the right sort, prize-winners, with show cage, 4/-; very large Yellownbuntings, the right sort, sure prize-winers, with show cage 4/-; all the above are splendid birds, and are ready at once for the show bench. Birds for singing and muling, real English Peartree cock Goldfinches, the largest in England, singing hard indoors or out, 2/6; a few, used to catching, 3/-, with cage 3/- and 3/6; a few large Greypates, singing grand, 2/-. I only give in to the real Siberian for size; very large cock Goldfinches for muling, 3/-; the largest cock Linnets in England, without a doubt, sure mulers, 1/6. I hold the world's record for mulers, Linnets, from the same place as the champion of the world, singing grand, 1/-; a few gems 1/6; Linnets, taught by the champion Linnet of the world, will sing anywhere, with splendid show cage, fit for any room, 2/6, 3/6, and one, cannot be beat, 5/6; splendid cock Larks, as straight as arrows, and as steady as rocks, singing daylight and gaslight, 1/-, 1/6, and a real champion, 2/6; no better in England, and with all the money that has been deposited with the Editor of this paper for 2 years and 6 months, and up to the time of writing this advt. not one single bird has been returned to me. Is there any other dealer in the world can say this. This shows my good judgment and my honest way of dealing. I do not sell birds and then try to beat my customers at the same show. I have hundreds of splendid birds and cages in stock; send your orders early; all my birds are on 7 days' approval, cash or deposit. Many thanks to Scotland and Wales for their kind patronage, from Harry Allen, Bird Specialist, and Judge, City Aviaries, 40, Becket-st., Leeds.

HUMMEL ROLLERS.

Finest Rollers Imported. To speak well of the Hummel is to gild refined gold. Testimonials from customers who say the Hummel is still singing as sweetly as when purchased four, five, six, and seven years ago. All Hummels have delightful, deep, delicate bow roll, hollow roll, hollow bow roll, du pipe, hollow bell roll, grand round bass roll, vibrating hollow roll, and charming water bubble roll; one price only, 12/6; no fancy prices; Hummel hens, 3/- each; a beautiful pair of Hummels for 15/-. St. Andreasberg Rollers, 5/- and 7/6 each. Hummel Scheolmasters, 20/- each, better than can be obtained elsewhere at treble the price. Thousands of testimonials have been published by me in CAGE BIRDS from satisfied customers. I guarantee strictly honourable trading and satisfaction to all.—Varney, sole proprietor and importer of this remarkable Roller Canary. Twenty years' advertiser.—Varney, Stratford, Loudon.

HAVE YOU MISSED

my advert. from this column? The reason I have not advertised Rollers before this is because they were not in full song, and I think everyone will agree with me that it is far better to wait a few weeks and have birds thoroughly trained and in full song than to purchase half-trained birds just coming in song. I now have a huge stock of the genuine Leipzig Rollers, all 1910 bred birds, and now in full song day and gaslight, with long hollow and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, waterbubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trills, bell, harp, flute, and gong notes and jug-jug of Nightingale, and guaranteed entirely free from any harsh notes whatever, price 6/- to 7/- each; Roller hens, 3/6 couple. I also have a big stock of loud, free singing Hartz cocks, in full, vigorous song, price 4/6 each, seven for 26s. 3d. Hartz hens, 2/6 couple, 12/- dozen. All Rollers are imported direct from Leipzig, are stamped on wing, and guaranteed exactly same strain as have been sold by me with such remarkable success for years past, and as I am the sole importer of these Leipzig Rollers, no other dealer can sell one feather of these birds unless he first purchases from me. All are safely and warmly packed free of extra cost, and sent on a full week's trial either on receipt of cash or CAGE BIRDS' deposit system, and money refunded in full if every satisfaction is not given. See British Bird and Appliance columns for further adverts.

SUTCLIFFE & SON.

Our winnings in Cinnamon-marks and Green-marked Yorkshires for the past ten years exceed those of any other fancier. We have a few show birds and stock birds for sale, also a few clears, price from 15/- to 60/- a pair; approval; if not satisfied, your full money returned; stamp for reply: 1, Back Kitson-st., Windhill, Shipley, Yorks.

J. WILCOCK,

having removed to the Fountain Inn, Eccleshill, nr. Bradford, Yorkshire, I find I have a great many more birds than I can attend too, I have over 300 Yorkshires and Norwich Plainheads. I will sell 200 at half-price to effect a quick sale; come and see them for yourselves. I will send any on 3 days' approval. State what you want, and your price, and I will guarantee to give you satisfaction or your money returned.

PURE YORKSHIRES,

Direct from strains which won at Crystal Palace this last 20 years, including Mr. Bates', Mr. Binns', Mr. Blackhurst's, all big winners up to 1910. I have supplied scores of winners and can do so yet, not exhibiting this variety myself; some grand yellows and buff cocks, 6/-, 7/-, 8/-, 10/-, 12/-, 15/-, 20/- each; hens, yellows or buffs, 4/-, 5/-, 6/-, 7/-, 8/-, 10/-; matched pairs to breed winners, 12/-, 15/-, 16/-, 18/-, 20/-, 25/- pair; any on approval; full guarantee given; breeder 30 years this address: Sandiford, Canary Breeder, Preston, Lancs.

are the only variety of Canaries I have ever kept, and during the last 17 years have given them my undivided attention, therefore you can rely upon getting good value for money, also that the strain is as clear of impurities as is possible, thus getting better results with breeding from my strain than is possible with any other. Note the prices! Cocks, yellow or buff, 5/-, 6/-, 7/6, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- upwards; hens, yellow or buff, 4/-, 4/6, 5/-, 6/6, 7/6, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, upwards; pairs, properly matched to breed winners, from 10/- per pair upwards.

18 Firsts, 21 Seconds, 19 Thirds, 16 Specials.

My Yorkshires have won above, during October, in Championship Classes Open to the World. See leading Show reports, and birds I have sold are winning for their owners in all parts of the British Isles. Mr. J. R. Hyland, 15, Drumcondra Park, Dublin, writes: October 28, 1910,—I won 2nd, 3rd and commended (with three birds bred from the pair of stock birds I purchased from you last January) at the Rotunda show. I was very pleased when I saw the cards on my cages, and take this opportunity of thanking you for the straightforward treatment I received from you. Scores similar to above received from highly satisfied customers.

If you want a winner or stock birds to breed winners, place your order with the old reliable breeder and exhibitor, who breeds his own winners, and can therefore give you best satisfaction.

The following ready for immediate disposal, in Clears, Ticked or Marked. All cold-room bred and kept, and feathered like boxwood. Yorkshire yellow cocks, at 6/-, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each upwards; buff cocks at 5/6, 7/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- upwards; all on full song, and for length, style, and quality, cannot be beaten. Hens, splendid length and full of quality, yellow or buff, at 3/6, 4/6, 6/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 upwards.

Pairs, properly matched to breed winners, at 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-, 30/- per pair, honestly worth double. All on seven days' approval at my risk; cash or deposit with Editor. Travelling cages 3d. extra on all orders.

Exhibition cocks or hens, at lowest possible prices; inspection invited, or kindly state wants. Illustrated Price List post free.

SHAW'S YORKSHIRES.

Notice, if you want real good, upstanding Yorkshires, write or call, and you will see one of the finest stocks of Canarics in London, yellow cocks, in song, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6; buff cocks, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6; yellow hens, 4/-, 4/6, 5/6; buff hens, 4/-, 4/6, 5/-; these are splendid birds, in prime condition, on 6 days' approval; send the money to me or deposit it with Editor: Wm. Shaw, 97, Essex-rd., Islington, London.

WINNING YORKSHIRES

WE have now ready a few real toppers, cocks and hens, grandly fed, wonderful length, and feathered like wax. These can soon win cost; also some slashing stock birds, the finest strain in the world, having bred, sold and exhibited some of the biggest champions that have been staged for 30 years. See our winings, last Palace, where we won the championship for best Yorkshire in the show; approval, stamp, particulars: Messrs. Amblers (late of Bradford), 29, Sifton-rd., Morecambe.

It's Bound To Go!

My stock of Canaries is large, but I do not keep one kind for show and another for sale; neither do I keep a team of birds for exhibition and trade on their reputation. No! Every bird in stock (and I have one of the finest collections in Great Britain) becomes the property of the first customer who desires it, and I have no fancy prices.

Read the following:

First Prize Winner at Brisbane, Australia.

"I had a ticked Yorkshire hen from you last February, the bird arrived in Brisbane on Saturday night, was put in show on Monday, and took 1st prize. I thought you would like to know this. W. Stanley to G. Taylor."

I have the following now ready in clears, ticked, greens, Cinnamons, green marked, Cinnamon marked, etc., etc. Long, stylish Yorkshire cocks, 5/6, 7/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/- each. Grand, slim, upstanding hens, full of type and quality, 3/6, 4/6, 6/-, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each. Splendid matched pairs, sex guaranteed, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 25/-, 30/- upwards. All on seven days' approval, my risk.

Some grand specimens ready for immediate benching at reasonable prices.

Also Plainhead, Norwich, Crests, and Crest-bred, Cinnamons, Lizards, Lancashires, Border Fancies, Mules, etc., etc.

FOUND drowned, every mouse in the loft, aviary, or house. The Simpson zinc tank mouse tray catches, drawns the mouse, and re-sets in one operation. Catch over a dozen in one night, and is always set and baited. Rustless. No springs therefore no trapped fingers or injured birds. Perfectly safe in loft or aviary. Designed by practical British fancier. The most simple and effective trap ever invented. Price 1/6, carriage paid 1/9: Simpson and Son, Horsforth. Half the illness of the birds is caused by excreta from mice becoming mixed with the food, and the extermination of these pests is absolutely necessary.

OUR COLORED PLATE

A Trio of Popular Finches.

The Linnet.

Bird lovers are not all attracted by bright colours or the loud songs of birds. As a proof of this we have no more popular bird among both town and country dwellers than the Linnet. He is a little brown bird, with mottled breast and nervous manner, no yellow wings nor crimson breast, excepting during the breeding season; in fact, nothing particular about him, and yet most of us at some period of our life have had a strong desire to possess one, for he is without exception the sweetest songster of all the Finches. When caged he will sing the whole of the day; it is a brisk, cheery song, at times somewhat jerky, but individual notes are rich and full, and are never so loud as to be unpleasant.

Of all the thousands of Linnets caught each season, few of them are good enough to select as birds likely to eventually become winners upon the show bench. A genuine Linnet fancier will have in his room a dozen or so of selected birds, and as the season advances these will be gradually weeded out, some will fail in markings, others in position or type, or both. Often the most promising birds fail entirely to settle down to caged life, these are generally birds of the second or third year, and although by perseverance it is possible to get them fairly steady, one is unable to place any confidence in them, and so, very reluctantly, the experienced fancier gives them their liberty, thus saving himself a considerable amount of trouble and worry.

In a state of freedom Linnets feed almost entirely upon seeds, such as charlock, rape, teazle, grass, etc. They are exceedingly fond of thistle seeds, and I have seen flocks of them day after day scattering the down from the heads of the wild thistles growing upon the downs and the marshes in Sussex. During the month of September they visit the hop fields in Kent where they do considerable damage to the ripe hops, tearing them to pieces in their search for the seeds. Upon the cultivated land they somewhat atone for this by the good they do in disposing of quantities of dandelion, groundsel, milk thistle, hardheads, plantain and shepherds-purse.

The Twite.

The Twite, or Mountain Linnet, is a bird of the north, and is seldom met with south of the Thames. In the summer months it frequents the moors and uplands, where it may be seen perched upon the top of a heather bush, or we notice it flying from bush to bush in the manner of the Chats, for it is not at all shy. As the summer passes, these birds collect in flocks and desert the moors for the lower pasture ground, or we may see them roaming over the stubble, feeding upon the wild seeds scattered by the farm hands while collecting the harvest.

A large bird of rich colour should be procured for exhibition. He should be heavily marked all over, the breast markings being larger and more discernible than those of the Linnet. He should have a nice full head and neck, be chubby in build, and perfect in wings and claws.

Needless to say he must be exhibited in perfect feather, and be steady enough to bear handling. Care must be taken to prevent him getting too fat, which he is very liable to do, thereby spoiling the curve from throat to vent.

He should be fed and treated in the same manner as the Linnet, not forgetting a liberal supply of wild food of various kinds, when in season. He should be offered small insects and occasionally a mealworm during the spring and summer months. If he can be persuaded to take these they will add greatly to his health and condition.

The Siskin.

In selecting a bird for exhibition purposes, the three chief points to remember are size, colour, and cap. Like the majority of show birds, an exhibition specimen must be large. The species is one in which small birds predominate; consequently a good large one gains points on size alone. It is a difficult matter to select a young bird rich in colour, as they improve considerably with age; but one should be careful to see that their present plumage is pure and free from smokiness. The depth and richness will be acquired later.

In addition to size and purity of colour, there are many comparatively minor points which go to make up the perfect bird. The dark cap should be of good shape and richly laced. The little black mark under the lower mandible, called the bib, is absent, or only partly developed, in many otherwise good birds; but of course one possessing a good black well-shaped bib would naturally be a point nearer perfection. The wings should be distinctly marked, the yellow and black contrasting vividly with each other. On the sides of the body the Siskin has certain longitudinal markings, which in a good specimen should be dark and distinct, and should extend to the root of the tail, with smaller ticking round the vent and underlue. Health and high condition should be insisted upon as the bird is not a difficult subject to keep in good feather. He should be perfectly steady, and care must be taken that he is not too fat when shown, as it spoils his shape, and makes him appear out of proportion.

(The above practical paragraphs concerning the birds so beautifully depicted by Mr. H. Norman on our coloured plate of this week, are extracts from Part I. of Mr. Norman's splendid book, "The British Bird Manual," which can be sent to any reader, post free, for 1s. 1d. It contains a wealth of information, and no keeper of British birds can possibly afford to be without a copy of this work in his possession. —EDITOR "C.B.")

ROUND THE SHOWS.

HAYLE.

Annual show held in Skating Rink November 2nd and 3rd. This year the society met with great success both in the matter of entries and of quality, whilst the attendance of the general public was a good one. The society has the patronage of most of the influential gentlemen and ladies of Hayle and district, and an excellent general secretary in the person of Mr. Henry Ware, who was here, there, and everywhere, exchanging kindly greetings to visitors, and giving information to exhibitors. The committee did splendidly, while in the matter of stewards Cornwall can give a clear lead to most shows. The entries numbered 350, and the birds were excellently staged and well tended. Cup for members' team was won by Mr. Veale. Norwich made a fine show, type and quality being greatly in evidence, and Yorkshires show a continued improvement both in point of numbers and quality. Crests were not numerous, but very fine in point of merit, and there was a rattling fine class of Cinnamons. Britishers were a grand lot, and Foreign birds, though few, were very select. Mr. Cock is secretary of the cage bird section; he was unflagging in his attention from commencement to finish. The committee were in high spirits over the entry, and their esteemed chairman, Mr. Roskrow, added brightness and good temper to the proceedings by his geniality and good fellowship. On the evening of each day a concert was provided by local artistes. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged, and his awards gave general satisfaction.

DOVER.

Dover and Dis. F.A. annual show, held Nov. 2nd and 3rd. Entries came up well, considering the number of shows on same date. Norwich were a good all round lot. Yorkshires were a hot lot, especially in the hens and unflighted classes, the latter having 23 entries, and not a bad one amongst them. Mr. Lockett won 1st, spl, and two cups, Yorkshire Class, with a wonderful clear yellow, a real good one, hard to find fault with. British were a fine lot, some noted Hawfinches putting in an appearance. Messrs. Austen and Abbott make two really ideal secs., and were backed up by a hard-working committee. Mr. W. R. Miles Chichester) judged.

LONDON & PROVINCIAL.

Twenty fifth annual show of the London and Provincial O.S. (open to the County of London and members of the society) was held Nov. 2nd and 3rd, Lambeth Baths, Kennington. The entries numbered about 350, not a big entry, but the exhibits were full of interest, including, as they did, so many varieties of Canaries, some charming hybrids, and many species of both British and Foreign birds. Among the Canaries the Norwich section was well filled with some grand typical specimens. Such well known exhibitors as Messrs. Spillman, Richardson, Hodder, Martin, Howe, etc., sent in some of their best, and shared the spoils between them. The first named exhibitor's cl. buff was greatly admired. He won well in his class, besides annexing no less than three good specials. Some grand birds were also shown in the Novice section, notably by Messrs. Hyde, Hocking, Cooper, and Thomas. An interesting feature of the show was the exhibiting by Mr. Kiesel (Islington) of a white Canary, together with its two parents; the latter are only ordinary coloured Yorkshires, with pink eyes, thus showing traces of the cinnamon blood. The British and foreign bird classes made up in quality what they in some instances lacked in numbers. The Goldfinches were a good collection, many being very forward. The small insectivorous class, was perhaps the most interesting, containing as it did the Dartford Warbler (exhibited for the first time this season), and the rarely exhibited Grasshopper Warbler. Mr. W. Swaysland placed the cards in his usual careful way, and with few exceptions his awards were well received. In the Hybrid classes some old winners were well down the list, and Mrs. Askham had to put up with a "w.c." card on her lovely Canary-Bullie in the Dark Can. class, the judge having spotted him showing the white feather which somehow escaped detection in, we believe, the same class last year at this show. The exhibits were comfortably staged in the Baths, which make a very cosy showroom, having a grand top light, and being beautifully warmed. The management was in the hands of Mr. C. W. Law, who makes a good secretary. Mr. J. W. Ramsden assisted with advice and help when needed. Messrs. Crabb, Oldacres, and Day, rendered ycoman service, so that everything was quite ready when the numerous visitors arrived. The judging was in the hands of Messrs. Heath (Crests, Norwich), Mundell Foreign).

Manager. "CAGE BIRDS," 154, Fleet St., London,

There was a mistake in the catalogue of Battersea show. I was 4th and vhc in Class 22 Norwich unflighted, and not Messrs. Rorke and Lee as reported. I have been a regular reader of CAGE BIRDS for three years, and have learned a lot from same.—C. BULLEN (Bromley).

I am shortly removing to 76, Wellington Road, Handsworth, writes Mr. H. Lewis. I shall have a little over ½ of an acre of garden, and shall be able to keep a larger number of birds, also small animals, reptiles, etc.; I intend, in fact, to start a little "Zoo" in the early spring.

I was more than surprised to see the illustration by your eminent artist, Mr. Norman, of my buff Yorkshire Canary, in CAGE BIRDS. I have been a subscriber to CAGE BIRDS from the beginning, and have received much useful information from it, as well as interesting reading.—H. YEOMAN (London, S.W.).

Kindly notify that I am in not way connected with the "Shepherd" who has been so successful in the various shows during the last week or so, as my name is spelt "Sheppard," and so far my successes have been at Peterboro' and Coventry, and at Birmingham young stock show.—J. SHEPPARD (Victoria Park, Birmingham).

I must thank you for the two coloured plates you issued with CAGE BIRDS of October 22. I was delighted, too, with the gummed labels, which are splendid. I for one feel extremely thankful for the thoughtfulness and consideration that is shown from time to time in issuing CAGE BIRDS week by week.—F. WHITING (St Andrews, near Bungay).

My private address now is 19, St. James Street, writes Mr. Fred Allen, the well-known bird specialist, of Hull. It is only 50 yards from my business address, and is very convenient for visitors, as I can now take them across to hear my champion Linnet. I guarantee him to start running like a German Roller before anyone can count three.

Jas. Prentice, Esq., of Carloside, Uddingston, is presenting our society with a handsome challenge cup, to be competed for at our open show on November 26, writes Mr. S. Kilpatrick, hon. sec. of the Uddingston O.S. It is for members only. Those wishing to compete for same must join at next meeting, November 3. A gold badge will be given with this cup.

Twitterings.

Ruthin cage bird show is fixed for December 22, open to all comers, writes Mr. W. E. Williams, the sec.

We are dissolving partnership, write Messrs. Butler and Waring (Coventry). Will secretaries kindly note?

Entries extended November 8th, for Eccles Show. Do not miss this splendid classification and prize-list.—(Advt.)

Kindly note change of address from Victoria House, Low Fell, to 8, Trewhitt Road, Heaton, Newcastle-on-Tyne, writes Mr. J. E. Atkinson.

Forfar show report in the yellow Norwich hen class credits Mr. W. Hines with 3rd, whereas I won that prize.—JAMES SKINNER (Brechin).

City of Glasgow report credits Mr. Kirkwood with 4th in the Bunting class, whereas my Snow Bunting held that position.—R. V. RAINE (Cathcart).

Schedules have now been sent out for Kilmarnock show, on November 19; will anyone overlooked please send to me? writes Mr. W. Guthrie, hon. sec.

I think CAGE BIRDS gets better every year. The plates that came out a week or two ago were grand. I wish the paper every success.—F. MILES (Watergate).

The Walkden and Dis. C.B.S. intend holding their members' show on December 10th in the St. Paul's Institute, Manchester Road, writes Mr. Hy. Howard, the sec.

Your gummed labels were very useful and very acceptable, as they look nice and neat on one's seed canisters in the bird-room.—GEO. SKIRROW (Batley, Yorkshire).

Mr. Norman will judge at Portsmouth show on November 30 and December 1, in place of Mr. Dobson, who is too indisposed to officiate. Will exhibitors please note?

Rochdale show report in the unlighted buff Yorkshire class gives the winner of the 4th prize as Hurst; it should be your humble servant.—HENRY ALSTON (Liscard).

Wisbech show report states yell. Norwich reserve Keech; our bird was 2nd. Also in Norwich buffs, we were 1st and 2nd (not Hanley 1st).—KEECH AND SON (Peterborough).

Schedules have been sent out; any exhibitor not having received same please apply, writes Mr. F. C. Sims, 15, Wright Terrace, Grace Street, Barnsley, sec., Barnsley C.B.S.

We are informed that the Highgate, Hampstead, and Dis C.B.S. are holding their annual members' show at The Spencer Hall, Dartmouth, Park Hill, on November 11 and 12.

Metropolitan, C.B.A. show report contains an error. Neither of the birds exhibited by me here was shown at the Battersea open cage bird show.—MRS. LOVEGROVE (Henley-on-Thames).

J. W. Ramsden will be much obliged if secretaries of shows offering Ramsden's specials will post him a catalogue of the show, so that he may see what exhibitors have competed.—(Advt.)

On October 18 last I exported 3 pairs of Cinnamon Border Fancies, and one pair of Crests, and one Crest bred cock, to a gentleman in Oporto, Portugal.—E. R. ROBERTS (Penygroes).

Launceston Fanciers' show officials, at the request of several exhibitors, have made several new classes, writes the hon. sec., Mr. N. H. Reed. We hope they will not have to be cancelled.

I won 2nd prize in class 295 at Bristol F.A. show with a yellow ticked Yorkshire cock, it being reported "No name, 274," through being omitted from catalogue.—GEORGE THOMPSON (Cardiff).

Will Mr. J. T. Clarke, of 29, Athol Road, write me again, enclosing rest of address? I have tried the address at Newcastle, but letter has been returned "not known."—JOHN RUKIN (Rawtenstall).

Entries are very short, writes Mr. A. T. Riddles, hon. sec. of the Brighton C.B.A.; will extend to last post Saturday, November 5. Fanciers please help this, our initial venture; send on. I will classify.

Malton show, November 10, is absolutely compelled to extend entries to first post Monday, November 7th, as at the time of writing we have only 20 entries in 54 classes, writes Mr. Geo. M. Horsley, hon. sec.

The Croydon and Dis. F.A. show on November 10 is a members' show only, writes Mr. A. Hewens, the hon. sec. By every post I am, unfortunately, receiving applications for schedules from all parts of the country.

Penzance and Dis. F.A., have to extend date of entries closing to November 5th, owing to entries not averaging one per class, writes Mr. J. Pearce Sampson, hon. sec. Fanciers please help this old established show.

I must congratulate CAGE BIRDS upon the splendid report of Newcastle show. You will be sorry to hear that Mr. Hutchinson's Redstart (which was illustrated in CAGE BIRDS of Oct. 29) died at Carlisle.—J. E. ATKINSON (Newcastle).

The East Perthshire O.A. second annual show is to due to be held on November 19, in the Public Hall, Blairgowrie, writes Mr. M. Irvine, the hon. sec. I hope exhibitors will not overlook us. Entries close on November 14.

An excellent sample of wild-seed mixture reaches us from Mr. W. Allison, of Aberdeen, who is advertising it in our columns, and reports that he had a large sale of it last year. We can commend this wild-seed mixture to the notice of our readers.

A special appeal is made to the fanciers of Lutterworth and district, writes "Late Committee-man," to rally together and make a fresh start, and show that there are men in the Fancy in Lutterworth and district who can manage a society.

King's Lynn report credits Mr. Markville with 1st in the Ticked Buff hen class, whereas I won it. I received my prize money from King's Lynn, I may say, on Saturday, two days after the show, which is very smart work.—W. NICHOLS (Twickenham).

I have been a regular reader of CAGE BIRDS paper since 1904. What a difference there is between the last few weeks' copies and those of six years ago! How it has grown! And I hope it will still go on developing.—GEO. SKIRROW (Batley, Yorkshire).

Readers will regret to learn that Mr. John Fairley, sen. (Coatbridge), a most successful breeder of the Belgian Canary, is under professional care with his eyes, being threatened with blindness. We are sure his friends and well wishers hope he will have a speedy recovery.

One or two errors have crept into schedule of the Bournemouth and Dis. C.B.A., writes Mr. W. O. Brooke, the hon. sec. Classes 18 to 23 cup section, and 27 to 32 novice section, are under the patronage of the S.Y.C.C.; and in class 66 the word "first" prize has been omitted.

OBITUARY.

It is with regret that I have to announce the loss sustained by one of our hardest working members, Mr. J. Johnson, in the death of his youngest son, Alfred Johnson, writes Mr. Thomas Burton, hon. sec. of the Falmouth C.B.A. The funeral took place on October 26, at the Cemetery, Falmouth. A floral tribute was sent by the society. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Johnson in his sad loss.

Nearly 2,000 schedules have been dispatched, writes Mr. W. H. Mugford, hon. sec. of the London C.B.A. show on November 25, 26, 28. Will those who desire one kindly send me a card, when same will be forwarded? My address is 64, Stuart Road, Wimbledon, Park, N.W.

I have received a postcard from Portsmouth, writes Mr. J. Pitchford (Stoke-on-Trent), presumably in reference to my advertisement in last week's issue of CAGE BIRDS under "Foreign," but it has nothing on it except my own name and address. I am therefore unable to reply until I know who sent it.

I attribute my success as a novice to my reading of CAGE BIRDS, which I have found very helpful. I also learn to-day that I have been fortunate in obtaining a second and a fourth prize at Manchester show; this, I think, speaks volumes for the valuable information given in your columns.—H. ALSTON (Liscard).

In the Yorkshire advertisement last week of Mr. R. Wright (Leeds), our printers made it appear as though the birds were 1s. 2d. and 1s. 4d. each, whereas this was intended to read "half and quarter Belgian." We regret the error, which Mr. Wright has explained to all who enclosed stamp when writing him.

Since circulating our schedule we have received a handsome trophy from Mr. G. Dodd, Hoyal Hotel, Hamilton, writes Mr. A. Cant, sec., Hamilton (Cadzow Oaks) O.S. Our committee have arranged for this trophy to be for best bird in hall, exhibited by a member (to be won twice in succession or three times in all).

The ten-year-old House Sparrow hen exhibited at the Torbay O.S. show, belonged to Mrs. Madge, and not to Mr. P. W. Mugford, as stated by me, writes our representative. Mr. Mugford gave the bird to Mrs. Madge, in whose name it was exhibited. The Yorks-buff should read: 2nd and members' cup, Parnell and Son, and not Powell and Son.

Up to time of writing I have not received a single entry in the 12 cage bird classes of our show, on November 10, writes Mr. A. C. Pilbeam, sec. of the Luton and South Beds F.S. Consequently entries are extended to Sunday morning's post. I cannot understand this dearth of entries, as our prize money is good for a 1s. 9d. entry fee.

We are compelled to extend entries to November 7th, writes Mr. T. Bowen, secretary of the North Berks. F.S. At the time of writing we only average a few over one per class, in spite of the fact that 1,000 schedules have been distributed. Prize money is guaranteed directly after show, and there are 55 really good additional special prizes.

Owing to my having met with a serious accident and being laid up in bed, I will not be able to show any more for the present, writes Mr. F. Wyndham (Newcastle-on-Tyne). Am pleased to say that my unlighted yellow Norwich, 1st and special at Morpeth, is in the best of condition; also several are now just about ready for show under the care of my wife.

Mr. W. Gore, the well-known Birmingham dealer, forwards us a copy of an indemnity form which he sends with all British birds sold by him to private customers. This form guarantees that they have not been "recently taken within the meaning of the Act," and indemnifies the purchaser against the costs of any legal action should a conviction be made on this score.

There was a mistake in our schedule as to the Border Fancy Club's patronage, writes Mr. J. Ford, sec. of the late Kelty and Blairadam show. It should have read "Handsome medal for competition amongst members of the B.F.C.," and not of Scotland, as stated. I wish to thank the numerous competitors for their patronage, and hope to be able to secure the same and more in another year.

I was very pleased to see the picture of my yellow cock bird, 1st at the City of Glasgow show, appearing in CAGE BIRDS, of October 29. This was his first appearance on the show bench, having been bred last year by that well-known Glasgow fancier, Mr. J. Ferguson, whom I purchased him from. Having had a very successful season, I wish his new owner and CAGE BIRDS every success.—P. HOUSTON (Glasgow).

Our show will be opened by Lord Ninian Crichton Stuart on November 30, writes Mr. J. W. Dunmett, sec. of the Cardiff and Dis. C.B.S. We are looking forward to a great day this year. Also, will novice exhibitors kindly note that we have four novice Yorkshire classes, with points, specials, and class specials? I hope they will support our show. Full prize money will be paid, and there will be no cancelling or amalgamation.

From report of Castle Douglas show, it will be seen, writes our representative, that the Glasgow disqualified British Goldfinch was put first in its class. My own opinion is that it is an unmoulted (this season) British Finch. There was a fire at Ermiuenzie Farm, about 4 miles from Castle Douglas, and many of the committee-men of this show were summoned to their duty as members of the fire brigade! They would bless their luck!

Prize money at our open show, November 19, is to be paid on the sliding scale, writes Mr. J. H. Mitchell, hon. sec., Codnor Park and Dis. C.B.S. Owing to our being only a young society we cannot venture to guarantee prize money the first year. But we are hoping to do so at our next venture if fanciers in the district will give us their support. We have an ideal room, well lighted by day and night; and the show will be under the management of well-known fanciers.

Mr. W. Rudd, the enterprising fanciers' specialist, of Norwich, has just made a purchase of the complete stock of Yorkshires possessed by one of our best-known south-country fanciers, and is putting the birds on sale to his customers at exceptionally favourable prices. We have seen a letter from the late owner wherein he states that many of them are winners in keen competition at such shows as Cheltenham, Frome, Coventry, Liskeard, Tamworth, Paignton, etc.

Will the members of the Greenwich and Deptford C.B.S. kindly note that a meeting will be held November 10, in order to draw up schedule for members' show (to take the place of an open show), and that it is particularly requested that all members will endeavour to attend. Also, if members desire to continue the existence of the society will they please notify the secretary by letter or else express their views with regard to same at the above meeting.—H. R. HEARN.

FORECAST COMPETITION.

The result of our competition for forecasting the number of advertisements in this issue will be announced next week.—Editor "C.B."

The proper washing of birds is one of the most important steps to success on the show bench, and to get the best possible results great care must be exercised in the choice of the soap. We can thoroughly recommend as reliable Guy's medicated soap (specially prepared for the use of bird fanciers). Our Mr. Weston reports that he has tried some sample tablets sent us, and that he finds the soap in every way excellent. It is obtainable from Mr. John Guy, soap specialist, Runcorn.

I have had brought to me, writes Mr. Seth Radcliffe (Upper Mossley), by Mr. C. Gordon, two nests of the Song Thrush (Turdus musicus) taken from the fork of a hawthorn tree from the garden of Mr. S. Wrigley (Carrville, Mossley, near Manchester). The nests are both woven together as if they had been in course of construction at one and the same time, and to all appearance they have both been built during the spring of 1910. I send you a photo of the same (see page 322—ED. "C.B.").

Since our schedule was printed, writes Mr. H. Smith, sec., Wimbledon and Dis. C.B.S., the Mayor of Wimbledon has kindly consented to open the show. I believe ours will be the first show where the gold medal given by the London Federation will be in competition. We have the patronage of the S.N.P.C. champion section, S.Y.C.C. Champion and Novice, and National British Bird and Mule Club. In addition to a pair of carvers for most points in open classes, we are giving 7s. 6d., 5s., and 2s. 6d. for each section. I am pleased to say things look promising. Specials in schedule not allotted will be allotted at meeting on November 7, together with a few more since received.

Messrs. Spratt's Patent, Ltd., the universal providers to the dog, poultry, and cage bird fraternities, were again entrusted with the welfare of the dogs exhibited at the Kennel Club's recent three-day show at the Crystal Palace, the entries for which reached the enormous total of 3,346, and, needless to say, Messrs. Spratt's carried out their task in a manner which reflected on them great credit. The total length of the benches used amounted to nearly a mile! The stand of this well-known firm, too, was undoubtedly the most imposing feature of the show. Here were on view a multitudinous array of Spratt's foods and medicines, also four life-like models of the late King Edward's dog, "Caesar," which attracted enormous crowds of people.

The Green Canary Association's rules, standards, lists of specials, etc., together with a syllabus card for the 1910-11 season, may be had of the sec., Mr. Geo. Green, 36, Lord Nelson Street, Liverpool.

Whilst going to work on Sunday morning, October 9, I saw a pure white Sparrow in Upper Brook Street, Manchester. I have seen one before, and to me it looked very strange flying with the others.—A. E. LONG (Manchester).

May I draw the attention of exhibitors to Barnsley show on November 12, writes Mr. F. C. Sims, sec., Barnsley C.B.S. We have a splendid schedule, and 24s. per class is given in prize money, together with good sectional specials. I appeal especially to foreign bird exhibitors to give us a good entry. Mr. L. W. Wood has kindly given 10s. for most points in foreign bird class.

Included in our schedules are four non-fed classes (two Yorkshire and two Norwich), writes Mr. W. Franks, hon. sec., Southend and Southern Counties O.S. Last year we tried one class of each, and both classes stood with seven birds each, which result my committee think warrants a further trial. I appeal to those of your readers who for various reasons do not colour feed, to patronise these classes.

I should like to thank the secretary, stewards, and all concerned in the Bristol show on the prompt dispatch and the careful treatment of my birds whilst at their show, write Messrs. Edmondson and Son (Allerton). I received the birds at home on the Friday morning at 10.30; they arrived in Bradford by 7.30, which I think is excellent, taking into consideration the long journey and the many changes.

The Crested Canary Club's Handbook for 1910 is a beautifully produced one, and contains in addition to the names and addresses of the members and the club's rules, etc., a report of the annual general meeting held at the Crystal Palace last February, and the balance-sheet of the club showing cash in hand of nearly £3. The sec. is Mr. J. S. Clarke, of Sunnyside, Prospect Road, Woodford Green, Essex.

I had the honour of winning your special prize for most points open at the Crewe show, writes Mr. J. W. Lawton (Crewe). After a hard race with Mr. P. V. Williams, I won by one point. Other specials I won were: gold championship medal (third year in succession) for most points by a member at the three club shows, special for most entries, special for most points gained by a member throughout show—not bad for a novice?

It is with the greatest pleasure I write to thank you for the great assistance I have received in reading the King of all Fanciers' papers, CAGE BIRDS. It is now six years since I started taking your paper. I went to the Leeds Cage Birds Society's show, picked up a specimen copy, and from that time till now I have taken it regularly. My newsagent brings it to the works where I am employed every Friday morning, so that I can enjoy my breakfast reading my favourite paper.—T. J. BENNETT (Armley).

A silver-plated tankard will be given by Messrs. Rhodes and Hodkinson to the member of any Nottingham local society gaining most points in the British and Hybrid classes (Nos. 56 to 70), at the Nottingham open show on November 12 and 14, writes Mr. G. E. Wilkinson, the hon. sec. The following special prizes have been offered since the printing of our schedule:—"Confined to members of the L. and L.F.A.," silver medal, by Mr. J. Rukin, for best Lizard shown by a novice, not having won one previously; 2s. 6d., by Mr. J. Garner, for best Lancashire.

Record Beaten at Liverpool.

"Liverpool show over 1,200 entries; record beaten by 400.—Metcalfe." This highly satisfactory telegram reaches us from the secretary of Liverpool show just as we go to press.

Yorkshire C.C. of Ireland.

Any club desiring the patronage of the Yorkshire Canary Club of Ireland at the coming shows should apply at once for same to the hon. sec.—J. R. HYLAND, hon. sec., 15, Drumcondra Park, Dublin.

The W.B.P.A. Not Appreciated.

The "Elgin Courant" reports that at a recent meeting of the Elgin County Council "it was agreed as formerly not to make any representation in regard to the Wild Birds Protection Act, it being remarked that the operation of that Act did more harm than good."

Swansea Show.

Swansea has made arrangements with the London and North Western for special coach for exhibits leaving Euston Station, Tuesday afternoon 1.20, calling en route; also Edinburgh 10.5 (morning), Leeds 1.50, Liverpool 2.40, Manchester 3, Crewe 3.55 (afternoon). Return coaches leave Swansea with all exhibits Thursday evening, London and North traffic, 7.—(Advt.)

Echoes from "Glasgow Southern."

Surprises were the order of the day at the above show on Saturday last; the judges got the credit of it; some city show winners were far back in the tickets; the Glasgow Southern Club show looked upon as the premier show of Scotland, always attracts a crowd of fanciers and breeders; Saturday proved no exception, there being a large turn-out; many ladies were there, and some of the oldest fanciers; Mr. Fulton (Partick) claimed Mr. Montgomery's first yellow cock at £8; the second yellow cock was also claimed at £5; Secretary Fleming had all his arrangements made to perfection; in the absence of the President, Mr. McLellan, Mr. Porteous ably occupied the chair; Councillor Young in his address said he was of opinion breeders thought more of their birds than their wives, in some cases; A. Cameron Corbet, Esq., M.P., who presented the prizes to the winners, replied to the Councillor's remark, and made him sorry for his utterance!—SCOTCH FANCY.

The Art of Washing and Staging Birds.

Mr. T. D. Jackson gives some Interesting and Instructive Answers to many Ticklish Questions.

Meeting held at headquarters on Oct. 19th, a splendid muster of members being present to see Mr. T. D. Jackson give his "Washing Demonstration." Two birds were washed, and during the operation each item was thoroughly explained; and it was soon apparent that he was a past-master of the art. The drying-cage was fitted with a hot-water tank, upon which the birds were laid in their wrappings to partially dry before being placed in the drying-cage. During the process of drying Mr. Jackson was kept busy for some time answering many questions (as appended). At the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was accorded him, and many expressed their appreciation of the splendid demonstration.

Question What period should elapse before washing again?—Answer: I have washed birds weekly for five or six weeks without noticing any ill-effects.

The Use of Drying Cloths.

Don't you think that by rolling the bird in additional warm cloths it would dry much quicker?—I do not think it would dry any quicker; the bird would not be able to get any exercise, nor would it be able to shake or preen itself.

Would a Green Canary look any the better for a wash?—Yes, any bird, either Canary or British, is improved by a wash; because, if properly done, it will bring up that sheen so essential to a good show specimen.

Is the bottom of the drying-cage perforated to allow heat to pass up?—It is not perforated zinc, if that is what is meant. That is too dangerous, as a bird may get its claw in one of the holes and tear it off the foot. The bottom of the cage, just above the tank, is a light wooden frame, over which is tightly stretched a piece of thin flannelette.

Is it necessary to spray the bird after washing, or give it a bath? It is not at all necessary; personally I never do so.

Have those birds been washed before, as they seem to take it very well; or are they novices in the experience?—No; these two have never been washed before; it was the correct way in which they were held which accounted for their comparative quietness.

When do you remove them from the roll? You kept feeling them.—They need not be left in the flannels for more than ten minutes. I was feeling for the palpitation; had I not been able to feel that, I should have known there was something wrong with the bird.

Do you use borax in the water?—Yes; a little borax softens the water, but that is not necessary where one is able to get rain-water. I also use a little carbonate of soda.

Drying the Birds.

How many birds would you dry in the cage at a time?—There should not be more than four or five birds in the cage at one time; when the next is ready to go in, the first would be ready to come out.

How would you dry the birds without a drying-cage?—I should roll the bird, and lay it in front of the fire with its tail towards the heat, and when it had been there long enough I should put it in a show-cage with a piece of thin material in front, and then place it in a warm position. If there were many birds I should use a breeding-cage and cover it up as in the case of the show-cage, placing a good light in front to enable the birds to move about and so get exercise.

Sometimes a bird dies during washing and bleeds at the mouth; how do you account for this?—Though I have never experienced that misfortune, I have no doubt the bird that so suffers has been held in a wrong manner, and in its struggle has probably broken a blood vessel.

Why do you lay the birds on their backs to dry?—Being practically powerless in that position, the bird is less likely to struggle; and you thereby reduce the risk of its escaping or ruffling its feathers.

If the bird faints, do you finish washing it the same night?—I have never had a bird faint during the wash, but if I had a case, I should stop washing the bird immediately, roll it, and place it close to the fire, when I think it would soon revive. I should certainly not finish it the same night.

Would you spray a bird the same night?—No; I rarely spray a bird at all after washing.

Would you put a little sawdust in the bottom of the drying-cage?—No; a layer of flannel is far better.

Does it not wear the quality of feather to keep on washing?—No; I have never noticed it, and I do not think one could wear the quality of feather away when good soap is used.

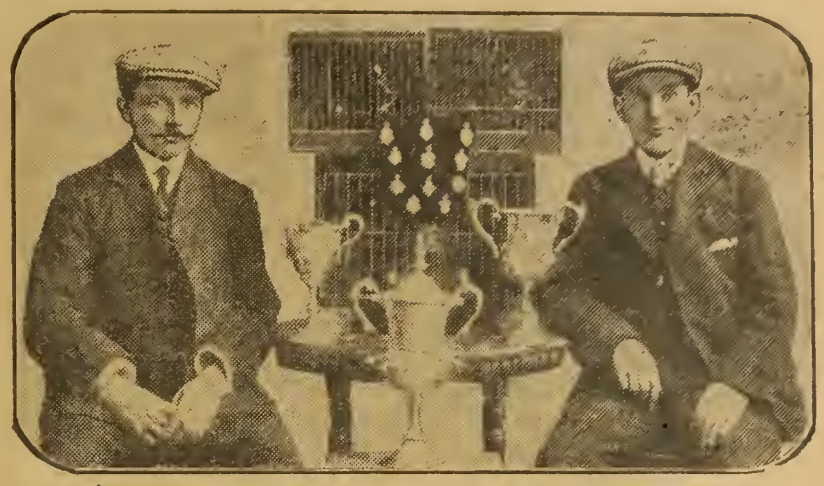
Washing the Stock Birds.

Do you wash your stock birds?—Yes, about a fortnight before I pair them up.

Do you think the brush would break the webbing of the feathers?—No, certainly not, if the right brush (camel-hair) is used, and used properly.

How many birds have you lost through washing?—None.

What temperature is the last water?—At the commencement it would be about the same as the first water, but by the time you got to it, it would be some degrees lower. Black-vented Lorikeets, Black-hooded, Grass, Barraband,



TWO OF SCOTLAND'S NOTED BRITISH BIRD EXHIBITORS.

Messrs. Millar and Eadie, Falkirk, with a few of their winning British Birds and the cups and medals they have secured at the Scottish Shows.

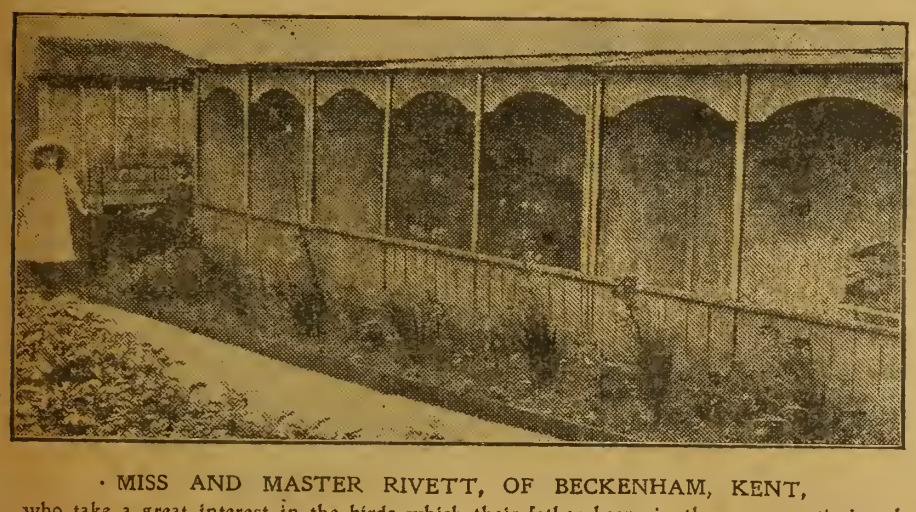
Would you enamel or paint the inside of a cage, or leave it plain?—I should not enamel or paint the inside of a drying-cage; it is better left quite plain.

Have you the dimensions of the drying-cage?—The outside measurements are 19in. by 17in. by 9in. This ended a capital discussion, which proved of great interest to all.—R. P. HARPER, Hon. Sec.

The Cage Birds of a Millionaire.

Remarkable inmates of some remarkable aviaries. English enthusiasts in foreign birds promised a sight of some startling novelties. Interview with M. Pauwels (Everberg, Belgium).

Some months ago the English Fancy was surprised by the announcement that Mr. Millsum, the well-known Swindon Foreign bird enthusiast, had given up his business and gone to Belgium to take charge of the collection of birds owned by one of the greatest aviculturists on the Continent—M. Pauwels, of Everberg. M. Pauwels has been on a visit to England, and it was recently my privilege to have several very interesting chats with him about his various hobbies. M. Pauwels is a most enthusiastic lover of live-stock, yet his birds, horses, dogs, poultry, pigeons, and rabbits are only a few of his hobbies. He is a lover of all that is beautiful in horticulture, as well as in aviculture, and at Everberg he has no less than seven different gardens—Dutch, Alpine, Winter, French, English, Japanese, and a rose garden—and near by is housed the wonderful collection of Foreign birds. The latter are grouped in no less than forty-one aviaries, and a large bird-room, nine of which are heated with hot-water pipes.



TWO YOUTHFUL ENTHUSIASTS AND THEIR SPLENDID OUTDOOR AVIARY.

MISS AND MASTER RIVETT, OF BECKENHAM, KENT, who take a great interest in the birds which their father keeps in the very practical and handsome aviary seen in the photograph.

The Breeding of Sugar Birds.

One of the aviaries, which is enclosed entirely with glass, is devoted to the breeding of Sugar Birds, and that nothing may be wanting to ensure success, a number of plants indigenous to the region from whence the Sugar Birds come are here to be found growing in tropical luxuriance. In this aviary are to be found Black-headed, Yellow-winged, Yellow-legged, and Blue Sugar Birds, all in pairs for breeding, and the aviary is fitted with all that expert knowledge and enthusiasm can devise to make the surroundings as like their natural breeding haunts as possible.

One of the special hobbies of M. Pauwels is the breeding of Parrakeets, Lorikeets, and Lories, and of these he has fifty species—in pairs—amongst the most choice being Stella, Violet-necked, and Red-crowned Lories. Green-naped and and New Zealand Parrakeets, the latter are supposed to be the only pair in Europe. At the present moment M. Pauwels has birds breeding which have never been known to breed in Europe before, and aviculturists in many lands are awaiting with interest the result of his efforts.

The aviaries contain a complete collection of every known species of Macaw, including two Hyacinthines. The Macaws are all kept on stands, so as to preserve their plumage, and it may easily be imagined what a grand display they make.

Amongst the other large birds sheltered in these wonderful places are Jays and Thrushes of all kinds, Rollers, Turacoas, Barbets, and Birds of Paradise of the rarest species. Although the large birds possess the greater attraction for M. Pauwels, he has a magnificent collection of Tanagers, Hangnests, Marsh Birds, and Mexican Buntings, whilst his collection of Finches has come from all parts of the world.

A Market for Bananas.

One aviary contains all the rarest and best of Fruit-eating Pigeons; "and prodigious," said M. Pauwels, "is the quantity of bananas which these consume." Another aviary is devoted entirely to Waders, and amongst them are Avocets, Ruffs, Oyster-catchers, Golden Plovers, and novelties from Madagascar and Senegal. M. Pauwels is very fond of his Waders, especially the Ruffs, which afford him much delight.

Needless to say, all the aviaries at Everberg are built and fitted on the most approved plans for the different kinds of birds which they shelter, and all are filled with trees, shrubs, and flowers of various kinds. M. Pauwels believes in surrounding and setting off his gems of the avicultural world with all that the horticultural world can supply to enhance their charms; art and beauty go hand in hand throughout.

Although the artistic is kept so much to the front, the practical is not forgotten, and the housing, nesting, and feeding details are all of the best, and at the back of the aviaries there is a kitchen, a store-room, a food-room, and a packing-room, whilst the bird-room, which is over the kitchen, is fitted with upwards of fifty large cages, in which are placed all new arrivals and any birds which are not suitable for the aviaries.

As to the exhibition of Foreign birds, M. Pauwels informed me that on the Continent bird shows, as they exist in England, are unknown, but even did they exist he does not think he would support them much, as he is of opinion that the risk attached to exhibiting valuable Foreign birds is too great, and that neither the gratification derived from the winning of prizes, nor the pleasure given to the public, compensates for this risk. Yielding to the wishes of some of his English friends, however, M. Pauwels is considering the possibilities of sending a team of his rarities to the next Crystal Palace Show, and amongst them will be, he hopes, the greatest rarity visitors to that great International Bird Carnival have yet seen, to wit, that most handsome bird known as the Cock of the Rock. This beautiful creature will, no doubt, if it comes, prove the sensation of the Palace Show.

M. Pauwels' stud of pigeons are housed in ten large aviaries, and are also in charge of an English fancier, Mr. Powell, formerly of Lynn; whilst another Englishman, Mr. G. B. C. Breeze, an old friend of the writer's, is manager of the poultry farm, which contains many novelties, some of which have been originated and perfected by M. Pauwels.

What M. Pauwels is doing in the way of poultry may be seen by securing a copy of THE POULTRY WORLD for September 23 last (price 1d.), which contains an article dealing with this side of the many hobbies of this esteemed Belgian gentleman.

Is it Cruel to Keep Birds in Cages?

This article, written by Mr. H. J. Fulljames, was awarded the prize of Five Pounds recently offered by CAGE BIRDS. We commend it to the notice of Mr. Bell and other self-constituted critics of the bird-keeper as a sufficient answer to their mistaken strictures.

As a bald proposition the above question admits of three separate and contradictory replies—Yes, No, and Sometimes. Let us take each answer separately, and consider its implications.

Faddists, "old women of both sexes," who never kept a bird in their lives, who refer to a bird in freedom as "a feathered denizen of the air," and to a caged bird as "an unhappy prisoner beating out its fluttering heart against the bars of its narrow cell," will asseverate, with a snap of the teeth, "Yes!" The entire knowledge of these people has been gathered from a casual glance at a bird-shop window. Now it is not to be gainsaid that a strong indictment might be framed against the hobby of bird keeping if one's vista were confined to such places as "Club Row" and its purlieus, for it is palpably in evidence thereabouts, and in other bird markets, that a deplorable amount of cruelty is inflicted upon freshly-caught British birds and newly-imported foreign birds while they are in the hands of some retailers, who are, in many cases, crassly ignorant of their requirements, and in more cases callously indifferent to their sufferings. The law is strong enough, or, if not, it should be made so, to deal with such cases without interference with the rights of humane bird keepers.

That discomfort, perilously approaching cruelty, in the minds of all kindly-disposed people, is incidental to the enormous annual traffic in cheap German Canaries is a matter of considerable notoriety. Here again there is scope for official enquiry, and no right-minded person would object to the strict enforcement of regulations framed with the purpose of minimising the discomfort of those birds while on their long journey over land and sea, or while passing through the hands of the wholesale and retail dealers to the individual customer.

It were idle, therefore, to dispute the fact that evil is existent in connection with the trade in birds, but such evil is wholly preventable. To make the sweeping assertion that the keeping of birds in cages is cruel per se is to insult the intelligence of those who find pleasure in the possession of cage birds, either as pets or as objects of observation; and to those who would, in their bigoted ignorance, return an unqualified affirmative answer to our question, and who would entirely abolish the delightful hobby of bird keeping, we would say—appoint practical bird fanciers as inspectors of bird shops, prosecute to the end every case reported by your inspectors, and you will in a single season do more good than will in a whole generation be effected by hysterical protest and by the attempted enforcement of bye-laws which vary in different counties and in their interpretations by different authorities, and which will be evaded in every possible way even after their enforcement has resulted practically in the effacement of our hobby; and ours is a hobby which, as it stands, affords innocent spare-time occupation to many thousands of working men, a fascinating study to the aviculturist, and a source of instruction and amusement to the visitors to Zoological Gardens, to public gardens where birds are kept in aviaries, and to bird shows which are so popular in their season.

The bird fancier who has entirely confined his attention to the breeding and keeping of Canaries, whether he be a dilettante breeder of a yearly nest of young, or a man of long and wide experience in this branch of the hobby of bird-keeping, will hold an opinion directly opposed to that of the fanatics above-named, and his answer to the question will be an equally emphatic "No." He knows that, with proper attention to their wants, his pets are perfectly happy in their surroundings, and have no sense whatever of being confined. Neither they nor their ancestors for generations have known what are euphemistically called "the joys of freedom," and such birds so thoroughly recognise the cage as their home that they will voluntarily return to it if by accident they have temporarily "escaped."

It is not every Canary which attains to the extreme docility shown by some individual specimens, and it is not every bird keeper who has the time or the inclination to train a pet bird, but a considerable degree of tameness may be induced in almost any bird with a little endeavour on the part of its owner, and with anything approaching an education birds may be taught to do the most surprising things, surprising, that is, if we take the view that the only object of a captive bird is to get free. A German Canary which I once possessed had, before it became my property, and when just able to feed itself, been taken in hand by a German conjurer for the purpose of being trained for employment in some of his conjuring tricks, and this bird showed an amount of intelligence which was almost beyond belief. To recite a tenth part of its accomplishments would be to go beyond the scope of this present article; its cage door was never shut, but the bird would remain inside, except when invited to come out, and would return at command. would fly about among the trees in the garden when allowed so to do, and would come to hand at any time upon its name being called; it was on terms of perfect friendship with my three Toy Terriers, either of which would kill a rat almost as big as itself.

Between such a highly-trained bird as the one above referred to and the Canary which is just a unit in the stock of a breeder who may look to his hobby to pay its expenses as well as to afford him an innocent and interesting occupation are many steps, but every bird in the possession of such a fancier would have its wants intelligently anticipated and its welfare watched with assiduous care. An assertion that cruelty attaches to the keeping of birds in this fashion bears its own refutation in its transparent absurdity. Yet there are those who would ban this branch of the hobby in their condemnation of bird keeping in general.

Let us now consider the case of the totally uninitiated person who buys a single Canary at a bird shop, an all-wire cage from the ironmonger's in which to keep it, and a penny packet of mixed seed on which to feed it. There are thousands of such people, and it is indisputable that there are hundreds of single Canaries which, even in these enlightened days, are being kept in entirely unsuitable cages, hung in entirely unsuitable positions, and fed upon entirely unsuitable food. This is due, not to want of heart, but to want of knowledge, for these uninformed owners are much distressed when they see that their birds are not thriving; and the remedy is obvious. It is, unfortunately, the case that the very existence of a "Fancy paper" is unknown to such would-be bird keepers, and it becomes a duty that devolves upon all true fanciers to introduce to these people the fact that in the present day is being published a journal entirely devoted to the interests of captive birds and their owners, and that there may be obtained from such a paper not only the rudimentary information which should be in the knowledge of everyone before he makes the attempt to keep a cage bird, but expert advice gratis in any difficulty that may arise from time to time as to the proper treatment of his pets.

Some Recent Arrivals from Abroad.

By W. E. TESCHEMAKER, B.A.

Most of the more interesting species imported during the past month or two have been of South American origin.

The Scissor-Tail.

If we were to take a Common Tern, reduce its size to about one-half, paint its back a very dark grey, and increase the length of the outer tail feathers to almost one foot, we should have a very passable imitation of this striking species. Its correct name is almost as long as its tail, for it is known to American ornithologists as the Southern Scissor-tailed Tyrant Flycatcher (Milvulus tyrannus). The long outer tail feathers are somewhat incurved, but it is not from this peculiarity that it derives its popular name, but from the fact that, when flying, it expands and contracts its tail in a scissor-like action.

The Tyrants are a large family, comprising some 400 species, and most of them feed on insects only, but some on mice and lizards, while a few add berries and seeds to their diet.

Mr. Harris (of Messrs. De Vos and Co., at whose place I saw them) tells me that he had three caught for him in Trinidad, and, though he was assured by the local bird-catchers that he would never succeed in "menting them off," he has only lost two out of eleven, on which result he is to be congratulated. Though their long tail feathers had been broken, they appeared to be very fit, and that they will stand our climate may be inferred from the fact that I was introduced to some which were flying about in an unheated room and admiring the sylvan scenery of Bethnal Green Road through an open window on a cold autumn morning. Concealed beneath the black feathers of the crown is a vivid patch of orange, which would show up well when the crest is erected; in some individuals (possibly immature) I noticed that the patch was whitish-buff and not covered. The beak is black, flattened, and wide in the gape after the fashion of the Flycatchers; the breast is pure white, and the back dark grey.

Just what would happen if a pair of Scissor-tails were turned out amongst other birds in a breeding aviary is a matter for conjecture. I have described Milvulus as "a striking species," and this might also be accepted as a description of its disposition. Here is an impression of the bird as seen by an eye-witness in the neighbourhood of Buenos Ayres:—"Like others of their kind, these birds have irritable tempers and a high courage; should a Caranchо venture to alight in a tree already occupied by a pair of Scissor-tails, they will attack him with great fury and pursue him to a considerable distance with continuous and blows. . . . I once saw an individual hard at work eating elderberries." The experiment, however, would be a most interesting one, and, in a lofty aviary, it would be a grand sight to see Milvulus on the wing, for we are told that it goes whirling aloft, opening and closing its wonderful tail, and then shoots down again to earth like a feathered rocket. Hudson appears to me to be in error in saying "its twittering notes have a hard percussive sound, which Azara well compares to the snapping of castanets." My observation of these birds at close quarters has convinced me that these sounds are not vocal, but are produced by the extremely rapid snapping of the beak. This species seems to do well on any ordinary soft food; it has a large appetite, and can put away any number of flies, gentles and mealworms, but will not touch cockroaches. The Zoological Gardens have had one specimen in former years. Habitat: Central and South America.

The Banana Quit.

This charming little species, known to science as Certhiola luteola, is no larger than our Common Wren, and is brilliantly coloured, the crown being black with a prominent stripe of pure white sweeping backwards above the eye, the back sepia, the breast and rump a bright orange, the throat blue and the feet blue-grey. When one sees a Quit-quit hanging head downwards from the top of a wire cage, one can quite understand why some writers have described it as a Tree-creeper; but it is really a Coereba, or Sugar-bird. A very interesting article by Mr. A. Sutcliffe on the very similar species, C. flaveola, which is found only in Jamaica, appeared in "Bird Notes" (June, 1910) with a beautiful coloured drawing by Mr. Goodchild.

Mr. Sutcliffe sent home eleven, four of which died during the voyage, and three more shortly after arrival, but the four survivors were turned out in due course in outdoor aviaries, and proved fairly hardy. Mr. Suggitt had a delightful experience with one pair, which built a compact domed nest, lined with cotton, only, how ver, to desert it. The three which have come into my possession have interested me greatly. After spending a day in a general wash up, two of them at once set to work building with great energy. Here is a point on which I wish someone would enlighten my ignorance, namely, why do birds which construct domed nests build nest after nest, irrespective of the time of the year, whilst those which construct open nests only build when actually breeding? It may be said that some species, such as our English Wren, use these "cocks' nests" for roosting purposes, but this is certainly not the case with such birds as Weavers, Whydahs and Violet-Tanagers. Yet I have seen males of the two latter species busily employed for days together constructing nests which, when finished they have never again even looked at. Can it be that, like some people we all know, they are rather proud of the accomplishment, and are always practising it just to show their friends and neighbours how clever they are?

Mr. Harris tells me that his were brought home chiefly on fruit. Mr. Sutcliffe fed his on sweetened milk-sop and bananas. Mine are doing well on spongecake, moistened with water, fruit and chopped mealworms. P. H. Gosse tells us that the Jamaican species "may be seen in company with Humming Birds probing the same flowers for insects," but the long needle-like beak has other uses, for I find that it can peel bark and shred up the toughest bamboo leaves with great facility.

A PURE WHITE ROBIN.

This pure white Robin, which died in captivity, was mounted and then photographed.

Most of those I saw appeared to me to be males, but I picked out one which, from its pale colouring and the smaller area of the yellow rump, seemed to be a female. It was therefore a great shock to me to hear the supposed hen, when turned out in a heated aviary, burst forth into a chirruping and rather squeaky little song. Mr. Suggitt has, however, promised me the loan of the skin of an undoubted hen of C. flaveola which may throw light on the matter.

As we all know, it is the little people who are the most quarrelsome, and the Banana-quits are no exception to this rule: they fight like Kilkenny cats, and I have even seen one sparring with its own image, as reflected in my patent-leather shoes. Their powers of flight are really wonderful; as one darts across the aviary you see just a streak of black and yellow light, and, when it arrests its flight and hovers poised in thin air on whirring wings, you would almost believe you were looking at a Humming bird. I expect we shall see the Banana Quit more frequently in English aviaries in the future, for it belongs to a class which many aviarists find simply irresistible—a class which the little daughter of a friend of mine calls "the teeny-tinies."

Wild Plants and Seeds; How to Recognise Them.

A Lecture recently delivered by Mr. F. Bowman before the Glasgow and West of Scotland N.M.B. and F.B.C.

Harmless for Young Birds.

The most useful weed of the cabbage family is undoubtedly shepherd's purse. It is one of the few green foods that can be given to young birds without doing them harm. I give it to my young birds on every possible occasion, with excellent results. Mr. Weston classes it as his pet green food.

This plant can be found in almost any waste place, and may be recognised by its small white flowers which appear at the head of each stem, with the purse or seed pod, almost triangular in shape, running right down each stem. The lower ones being mostly ripe, are casting their small round yellow seed at the same time that the head of the stem is in flower.

The common charlock, or wild mustard, is another valuable wild plant of the cabbage family. Its bright yellow flower may be seen in most cornfields long before the corn is ripe. The seed, when ripe, may easily be mistaken for German summer rape, but can be readily distinguished by its pungent taste when chewed. The seeds of this plant are very stimulating, and are specially suitable for giving to your birds when you find the temperature of your room falling lower than it should be. They are the natural winter food for most hardbills, and tho heat it must put into their body probably saves many a bird from going under, and must help them to stand the strain of a severe winter.

The mouse ear chickweed bears very little resemblance to the common chickweed. Its small opposite leaves are shaped like the ears of a mouse and are covered with soft hairs. The flowers are white, having five petals, each one deeply serrated. The plant is mostly found by the wayside. The seed head is a little larger and longer than the common chickweed, and is greatly relished by all classes of birds.

A Favourite Moulting Food.

Another plant usually found growing side by side with the chickweed is one which a number of fanciers term "mouse weed." The flower and seed head are similar in shape to that of the chickweed, but it is easily distinguished by its leaves, which appear alternately in a whorl, or cluster, round the stem, and look like blades of grass, with the stem of the flowers rising from this whorl. This seed is a favourite moulting food with most of the Buntings, and especially with the Yellowhammer, and all Hardbills will readily eat it.

In most cultivated fields you will find a straggling plant called the "red shank." The stem of this plant you will see branches off at every few inches, throwing out another stem, on which appears a red flower head, similar in shape to the head of the "ribwart plantain," and this head still remains red when the seeds are ripe. The seeds are a glossy, dark brown in colour, and are a special food with Hawfinch, Siskin, and Twite.

Thistles and their Value.

It appears like "carrying coals to Newcastle" to attempt to tell a Scotchman what a thistle is, so I trust you will forgive me in making the attempt to do so. There are quite a number of different thistles, all of which are valuable to the bird fancier.

The most valuable, I think you will agree, is the Scotch thistle, independently of the legend of those unlucky barefooted warriors who are supposed to have trodden upon it. In the first place, it has one of the largest flower heads, and therefore carries the finest seed.

DANDELION IN FLOWER.

This photograph, by Mr. Stanley Crook, depicts a typical "head" of dandelion, a plant of great service to the bird-keeper.

Next comes the Marsh Plume thistle, a near relative of the Scotch thistle. The flower heads of this are much smaller, and are paler in colour, and they appear in larger clusters at the end of the flower stalk. This plant is amongst the tallest of the thistle family, and may be found in great numbers along the banks of the Clyde.

The sow thistle, the yellow flowers of which much resemble those of the dandelion (the bud just before opening is almost similar in shape to the dandelion bud), is another useful thistle, and may be handled without fear of pricking the fingers.

The milk thistle is often mistaken for the sow thistle. It is much smaller in growth, usually carrying more flower heads at the end of the stem, all springing from one base. The flowers are a little paler in colour, the buds appearing more like the shape of the Scotch thistle. The leaves of this thistle are like those of the sow thistle—harmless when handled. I will go no farther now than to say that the seeds of this plant, with the small maggot usually found in the seed head, are indispensable to the Goldfinch, and are essential in order that he may be kept in good condition.

Another of the Goldie's favourite seeds is the black knapweed, or hardhead. The flower heads of this are purple in colour, and much resemble those of a thistle, but they can be distinguished from these by their leaves, which are about an inch and a half in length by half an inch broad, and pointed at the end. The leaves are usually dark green in colour, with a darker brown mottle appearing towards the stem. I find that Canaries as well as British birds greatly relish a feed of this seed.

Probably the most prolific of all wild plants is the dock (or docken). The seed of this may be met with wherever you go, and cannot be mistaken, not even by the greatest novice. The seed heads carry an abundance of seed, of reddish brown colour when ripe, and triangular in shape. You need only ask a farmer to show you this plant, telling him you wish to gather the seed, when he will readily comply with your request, as, like the thistle, it is the enemy of every farmer in the country. It is a favourite food of a number of hardbills, especially the Bullfinch, and will do a vast amount of good if given to Bullfinch hens in captivity.

The meadow sweet (or "Queen of the Meadows" as it is called) is a seed that should never be discarded; it is usually found along the hedgerows of damp meadow land, and may be easily recognised by the sweet-scented perfume that comes from its flowers. The blooms rise up on a spike, and at a distance look very much like the flower heads of the rhubarb. The leaves of this plant grow very strongly close to the ground, and have deep serations making them lobed in shape, with a slight fringe of spikes round the hedges. It is a favourite seed of the Siskin, Linnet, and Greenfinch. This plant is very much like the spiroea, to which family it belongs.

There has been so much written of late on the woodsorrel (or "Inflammation Weed," as some term it) that I will content myself with showing you a sample of the plant, leaving you to form your own conclusions as to its use. For my own part, I would certainly leave it alone, as we have plenty of other wild seeds of a more reputable character. This plant, I believe, is called "Sourock" in Scotland, which name it probably derives from the sour taste of its leaves. In many parts of England it is cultivated and used as a salad.

I have here two plants of the campion—the red and the white—and I would advise you to examine these closely. The seed when ripe is enclosed in a cup which looks like a small poppy-head with the top open. If you take a look inside this cup you will see a quantity of seed which at first sight resembles German summer rape, but which on closer inspection will be found to consist of tiny seeds, each of which is slightly rough in the handling, and a little indented where the eye appears; in fact, it has the colour of rape, with the shape of the maw or poppy seed. Herbalists claim for this seed that it has medicinal properties of a soothing nature, which should be of great value to birds who are over-heated through too rich feeding.

The wild parsnip is a plant, in the gathering of which great care should be taken. It is very strong in growth. The seed and leaves much resemble the cultivated parsnip. It is usually found growing on pit banks, railway banks, and many other waste places. Care should be taken, because side by side with this plant may often be found the wild parsley, similar in growth, but not nearly so strong a plant. The leaves of the parsnip are broad and coarse, with fewer serations; the leaves of the parsley are very fine, more like those of its namesake, the cultivated parsley.

Rare, but Good.

There are several other suitable wild plants which you will have some trouble in locating, and which are very rarely come across in a wild state. These are, the field gentian, cornflower, gold of pleasure, and teazle. The two last named, though originally wild plants, are extensively cultivated, and may be easily purchased at most seed stores.

Burdock is another plant very easily recognised. Most of you in your school days must have had many hours' delight playing with "Robin-run-the-Hedge." The small round burrs which enclose the seed will stick to you against your wish. Hawfinches will attack this seed very greedily.

I have here four seeding grasses, which are suitable for quite a number of small foreign Finches, as well as for Britishers, and which will afford a welcome change. They may be found in any meadow or hedgerow. The first is rye grass, about the commonest grass known; the others are Alpine meadow grass, meadow fescue grass, and downy oat grass.

This brings me to the end of the wild seeds. I will now pass on to a number of suitable berries.

The first two berries are those known as "Hips and Haws." These are undoubtedly sought most after as a winter food by our berry-eating birds. Those commonly known as "Hips" are the berries of the wild rose. When ripe, these berries are a bright glossy red in colour, and may be frequently met with, growing side by side with their companions the "Haws," which are similar in colour, but appear in clusters of much smaller berries—these are the berries of the hawthorn, as their name implies. Great numbers may be gathered at this time of the year, and stored for winter use.

Another of our most common berries, and one that may be frequently met with in hedgerows, is the privet. The flowers of this plant, as you will see, are white, and you will observe that they have a sickly smell. The berries, when ripe, appear in small black clusters, heavier at the base than at the top, and may be gathered and stored for winter use. They are a favourite food of the blackcap, the Robin, and the Bullfinch.

Training Young Roller Canaries to Sing.

Translation from "Kanaria" (Leipzig). Read before the members of the Leeds Roller C.C by Mr. T. W. Walton.

It is also important that the youngsters should not hear too long tours at the beginning of their training, because they are not then able to comprehend them.

The more advanced youngsters of first clutches should be used for the teaching of their younger brethren. At the time of caging off the birds into the song boxes you have to bring the schoolmaster very close to them. The tours, etc., of his song ought to flow round about, to force and intrude themselves upon them. The melody of the older bird, as well as that of one of the more advanced youngsters, has to lie in the ear, as it were; the same has to resound, to enchant the bird that you want to teach, so that he feels discontented if he is not able to perform almost the same as his schoolmaster. To gain this result you have to keep suitable tutors, industrious and properly qualified; and you must put the tutor as well as the pupils in suitable groups. It should be noted here that the sound of the teacher's voice has to go straight to the ear of the youngsters.

If You Have a Big Stock.

If you have a big stock, put the schoolmasters together and the pupils round about them. The best singers should be put on top; and every bird should have such schoolmaster as he requires. If a young hollow Roller has an old bell Roller on his side, he can learn nothing from him, because the tours differ in tone as well as in execution. It is not so easy in practice to suit each performance.

The late W. Trute used to keep about fifty young cocks, the rest he sold to bird dealers. These fifty youngsters he put in song-boxes on a wall in a small room, the schoolmasters in open song-boxes with green curtain covers on the right angle of the other wall. Generally, you may be in want of schoolmasters. Often when you want them your own will be moulting, and consequently not singing. Then you have to pick out some of the most forward youngsters, put them close together, and when they are in good song pick out the inferior ones and put some of the younger ones in their places. Continue with this performance till all the young cocks are drilled. By this time some of the old cocks are through with their moulting and useful as tutors again. By this method you may achieve something good with only poor schoolmasters at the beginning.

Tranquility in body and song is very desirable; a restless bird does not make a good singer.

Dealing with "Mischief-makers."

The mischief-makers among the birds you subdue by darkening the cages and a curtailment of food; give rapeseed only. The song-box is the best place for them. Calm birds do not need to be kept in darkness.

At the finish of their education the breeder has to "pick out" his birds; and this is not easy work, because what may seem good to-day may prove bad to-morrow, and perhaps good again the following day. There are birds who sing different on some days than on others, or different at various times in the day through some influences. To give a certain judgment you must hear the birds through their song several times. Birds that have Schnatter, zitt-zitt, adjectives with call notes between song, too hard Aufzug, you have to remove. These bad faults circulate too easily; so that you cannot sift them too soon. If a fancier breeds with defective stock birds and the offsprings have too many faults, then he had better leave the assortment, sell his whole stock to a dealer, and procure better stock altogether of a reliable breeder, not only cocks, but hens also. What is past help should be let go. We have had some talented breeders who got wrecked in their endeavour to perform impossibilities.

Yorkshires in Cornwall.

SIR,—I was very pleased to see that Mr. H. Wills had won the cup at Paignton Show with his Yorkshire. It makes it all the more gratifying when one considers that he beat the Bradford men," and it plainly shows that the Fancy is looking up in Cornwall.

A Chaffinch Returns Home.

SIR,—About four weeks ago my father let a cock Chaffinch away. It flew away, and no more was seen of it. Last Sunday morning our aviary door was open, and suddenly a Chaffinch flew in, but escaped again. However, we left the aviary door open and in about a quarter of an hour's time the Chaffinch once more flew inside the aviary. My father caught it and found it to be the same Chaffinch he let off some four weeks ago. It must have been contented with its previous home!

A Heavy Loss of Canaries.

SIR,—Having a large aviary 9ft. long and 7ft. deep, in which I keep my Norwich Canaries, I have just put a new roof over the wire flight, painted it green and white, and lime washed it inside and made all nice and snug for the winter. But I went down to feed the birds the other morning, and to my horror found 14 out of 15 dead. A rat had knawed his way in. Some of the birds were partly eaten, others had died of fright. It is a great loss to me as all my stock birds were killed. The one left was a hen. I did not catch the rat, but I think my neighbour did the next night. He told me rats had got at his chicken, and that he had caught two large ones.

The Roller Canary: How Feeding Affects the Song.

SIR,—Your correspondent "Justice" appears to have taken me literally regarding the use of German rape. My experience is that I get fewer birds high in song by using German rape as a staple food, with a teaspoonful of mixed seed (including Canary) 2 or 3 times a week, and I believe that experience to be general. He asks—how is it I am penalised for high notes if I say German rape keeps the song low? Perhaps it is the Canary they get with the mixed. I must remind him this discussion was confined to diet only. I am well aware there are other means of trying to keep a bird from going high, some of which we are not all in a position to carry out. I am greatly interested in the experiences of others, especially anything in the nature of an experiment, as I am still anxious to learn. But for the information of "Justice," having given my own experiences, I have neither the leisure nor the inclination for any controversy.

Foreign Birds: Their Classification at the Shows.

SIR,—I was pleased to see your reporter's remarks at Burton-on-Trent show, re the total failure of the foreign section. To a certain extent I fear that I have been responsible for this; but no one regrets the absence of the foreigners more keenly than myself. For several seasons Burton has given the section 4 or 5 classes, and we have always had an exceptionally strong muster—as foreigners go—of extremely interesting birds, from Birds of Paradise down to Waxbills. Last season we had 39 birds in 5 classes, which I think all who understand the section will admit was a very fair entry. To my amazement I found that in fixing up this year's schedule they had cut down the section to two classes, on the plea that two were more likely to pay than four or five. I attended the next meeting, hoping that some change would result, but was disappointed, although upon its being known that my connection with the society was thereby severed, they were willing to replace the classes: but that was decidedly against my wish. I could not help feeling that the matter had been dealt with in an unsportsmanlike manner. Foreigners cannot be expected to pay on entry money alone: there is one way in which they score, and score strongly: if well looked after they draw a gate. Surely "the labourer is worthy of his hire"! If societies would but look at it from all points of view, they would find that with a fairly liberal classification, say, from four to six classes, foreigners could be made to pay their way three's over. Advertise them well locally and the increased gate money would amply cover the cost. Guarantee full prize money for them (and for British Softbills, which stand on a similar footing), and the entries would come rolling in, and so give a far better chance for the entries alone to provide the prize money. These "one and two-class shows" can never expect to be patronised. I wonder how the average Canary man would care to show at the 'Canary Yellow and Canary Buff" class of show? Most foreign exhibitors keep from four to six different types of exhibits. For the one and two-class shows, if they trouble to send at all, they send some Parrot and a common Seedeater in. But with a reasonable classification, they can make use of their stock with a chance of giving them fair competition. At least, there should be one class each for Parrots, for Common Seedeaters, for rarer Seedeaters, and for Insectivorous. These may be amplified by the addition of classes for Budgorigars and Love Birds, Shortlailed Parrots, Tree Finches, and Grosbeaks, Tanagers, etc. I trust that the foregoing may influence some other societies to treat foreigners in a more sportsmanlike manner, and that by next year I may be able to rejoin the Burton C.B.S., among whose members are several of my personal friends (and all are good fanciers, though I fear that they cannot see beyond their own particular Fancy).

The Midland Counties Yorkshire C.C. Patronage.

SIR,—Reverting to our letter in your last issue, I find that West Bromwich takes the champion classes only. We shall be calling a meeting of the committee very shortly to consider applications for the 6 champion and 4 novice classes, still to be granted.

BECK AND ANDREWS, SECS.,
School House, Rookery-rd.,
Handsworth, Staffs.

SIR,—Respecting the report in your valuable paper, CAGE BIRDS, of the Midland Counties Yorkshire C.C., I, as an old member of the above club, think it late in the day to give the dates as to who has received the patronage of the club, seeing that two shows have already been held without any of the members being notified. On the sheet of rules which were issued last season it states "subscriptions to be paid by June 30th, or members cannot participate in any benefits." Another rule states: "The committee shall determine where the support of the club be given." On making enquiries I find no committee meeting was called to allot the club's patronage to any society until some days after the first society (Crewe) had actually held its show. Now what I would like to ask the late secretary (Mr. Paddock) is, who gave Crewe Society the M.C.Y.C.C.'s patronage, as it was not allotted by the committee? Did he undertake this matter himself? If he could not hold office through pressure of business or any other cause, why did he not call a meeting before? Wolverhampton Society had also held their show before the note appeared in the Fancy Press, stating who had received the club's patronage. I, as a fancier, think an explanation necessary.

ONE WHO WANTS TO KNOW.

Secretaries, Please Note!

SIR,—I would offer a word of advice to the secretary of any show if he is interested in the next year's success of his show, namely, never upon any consideration disappoint an exhibitor with his catalogue of awards first post next morning. If you have not the time, get some of your committee to help to get them all out first day of show. I received mine from one great show last week (Plymouth) the day after I had got my birds home again (a two days' show). Also in unpacking birds put all paper and cloths which have been used for keeping draughts from each cage back again in the hamper; give packers instructions to carefully examine hampers for these papers or wrappers when repacking. They will then know when they find them the way the exhibitor has sent his birds. I received mine this week jumbled into the hamper, open to draughts through wicker work on their journey, one night and all next day. When received, the birds were "all of a hump." Again, be careful to return birds from a long distance as per instructions, because the exhibitor has been careful to trace his own train connections for the return of his birds, he, perhaps, having to meet the train with a conveyance because of distance between railway station and his home. I recently sent my entries with a request to the secretary to please not accept them and my entry fees if he could not return my birds in the afternoon of last day of show, because of the difficulty of getting them home unless met by conveyance. Result, entries accepted, but no further notice taken of my request. Meet train with cab at 2 o'clock in the morning; no birds until 7 o'clock next night. Up all night with birds. Expenses: Telegrams prepaid 1s. 8d., cab fare 4s. —5s. shilling and eightpence thrown away, and two or three specimens rendered perhaps not fit for show again this year. What is the result of this? Next year there will be begging for entries because they have not come up to expectations. Secretaries, please note!

Proposed Cage Bird Society for Stoke-on-Trent.

SIR,—At the request of numerous fanciers, I have made arrangements for a meeting to be held at the Red Lion Hotel, Stoke, on Monday, November 7th, at 8.30 p.m. prompt, to consider the proposal to form a cage bird society for the district. SIR,—A meeting was held in the Shipyard Dining Halls, opposite Bon Accord Street, on Saturday evening last, before a good attendance of fanciers. A committee having been appointed, it was decided that the club be hereafter known by the above name. We believe that there are a great many more fanciers in the district who have not yet come forward, and we hope when the next meeting takes place to see a large attendance of fanciers willing to join the new club, so as to ensure its success. Alleged Unfair Treatment at Paignton Show.

SIR,—I entered two birds in the Norwich section at Paignton Show, but I never received any labels back. After getting birds ready to send off, I wrote a post-card asking the reason, but got no reply. I then wrote a letter asking for my entry-fees back, but still no reply. I have come to the conclusion that Mr. Parnell has "passed away" or had moved his residence and did not get my letters. Surely this is not the way they run shows down there to make a good profit. I think this is a case for the C.B.U., as it is only fair, as I got no labels, to expect my entry-fees back, as a working-man can't afford to pay entries and not get a run for his money. I am going to enquire at the Post Office to see who changed the postal order, as I still have the number.

The Disqualified Mule at Glasgow City Show.

SIR,—Not being present at the above show on 21st and 22nd of October to protest against the injustice done in disqualifying my Goldfinch Mule for alleged faking, I now write to ask Mr. Bald, who I understand was judge, if he would inform me how he arrived at this decision. A well-known bird fancier in Troon attending the show says that the judge informed him that the bird was stained. This I emphatically deny. I am absolutely innocent of the charge made against me, and I am quite willing to stake a reasonable sum that the Mule was neither stained nor tampered with in any way to justify its being disqualified. When a man acts fair and square he is put down as a rogue; is that the way to encourage the Fancy? I see nothing else now but to give up showing until the charge made against me is cleared. We have too many cliques at the present time connected with the Fancy for an honest exhibitor to get any encouragement. I now await the judge's explanation through the medium of your paper.

H. HENRY.

Testing Birds at the City of Glasgow Show.

SIR,—In your last week's issue I notice a letter from one James Livingstone, Bathgate, and from its contents it bears out the old and well-known saying, "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread." I fully looked for such a letter, for a trap was laid for my maligners, as what was put on the foreign Goldies was simply water and glycerine. I selected the foreign Goldie for my bogus test as it was an outstanding bird for this season of the year, and my opinion is that this Finch is in its last year's feather. I had a hearty laugh when I read your correspondent's letter, but in the casting of lots it fell to him to open with this weak epistle. Just fancy, readers, a bird suffering "great agony" from water and glycerine! This just goes to prove what my maligners will do and say to injure my reputation. Again, Mr. L. states that he thought I had got a lesson some years ago to leave birds alone when judging them. Might I remind Mr. Livingstone that at a show held in Glasgow some years ago I put on the top shelf a certain exhibit shown by a Bathgate man, who went strutting about the hall stating that he did not tamper with the bird, but his brother did; and there is no denying the fact that that man got a severe shock, which I thought would have been a lesson to him for the remainder of his showing career. No one who officiates at shows need trouble himself about what report says, so long as one is honest and his conscience clear, and he is doing his duty to the society and exhibitor alike. In conclusion, I don't care one iota for all the "Faking Brotherhood." What my ambition is, is to see the Fancy in a much purer state, and when the principals of the "Faking Brotherhood" are caught red-handed, then and then only can this be accomplished. I got no lessons, old pal, but I give them.

PETER PETTIGREW.

SIR,—Myself and a few more exhibitors say we want more Peter Pettigrews for a lot more shows besides the City, for we, as novices, have no chance to win when there is no "testing judge." I was at a show not a hundred miles from Glasgow where I saw a bird with a first prize ticket on; it was a bye-word all the afternoon: "Look at the first bird." If there had been a judge like Mr. Pettigrew, that bird would have been put out. If shows will appoint judges to do no testing, then I say to all young fanciers, keep your birds at home and save your money, as it is the young fanciers that make the shows pay. This staining and faking wants putting down; the sooner the better for the Fancy. If a man cannot win without artist work he ought to suffer for it, and no show take his entries from him if found guilty. I say good entries to all shows where they appoint honest judges.

S. WILLIAMS.

SIR,—Being a visitor at the above show, I was greatly amused at the antics and remarks of this James Livingstone, of Bathgate. This personage either must have an interest in this foreign Goldie or else is one of those busybodys who carry a strong hatred against the judge. Now, I knew for certain that a mock test was to take place, as I was in the judge's company when this mock test was mooted by him, and I am right glad that Mr. James Livingstone, of Bathgate, was "caught napping." The concoction used was glycerine and water; and I failed to see anything wrong with the bird's eye. It's simply a pure invention to stigmatise the judge.

W. CONNELLY.

Sporting Venture of the Crested Canary Club.

SIR,—As the show season is once again in full swing a few facts re the new innovation of the Crested Canary club for 1910 and 1911 will be of interest to fanciers of all varieties, and of most vital important to all show and specialist Club committees who will no doubt follow through your show reports week by week its success or non-success, with a view to the adoption (if necessary) of this plucky and sporting venture. As all committees admit, it becomes year after year more difficult to make shows a paying success. Why?; because of shortage of entries. This is the seat of the trouble (recognised by the Crested Canary Club) namely, the cutting down of the classification and paying half prize money for classes unless they obtain a certain number of entries, making it impossible for the exhibitor to pay his entry fees and carriage both ways, thereby causing the rot to set in. Consequently, further cutting of classification and fewer entries next time, and so on, ad infinitum. The Crested C.C. have guaranteed Plymouth, Manchester, Cheltenham, Nottingham, Cambridge, L.C.B.A., Birmingham, Gateshead, Palace (Great National); full prize money in each class; if there is only one entry it will take the full first prize money. Now this is conferring a benefit on whoever wishes to exhibit, no matter whether members of the C.C.C. or not. No other specialist club has ever attempted benefits outside its own members, and if success is obtained by this new scheme it will no doubt be the commencement of a new era in the cage bird Fancy. Then, again, the Crested C.C., in conjunction with the guarantee scheme, is drawing together the class exhibitor and the amateur by offering at those nine shows a handsome silver bowl, value eight guineas, to be won on points, by birds not in the prize money; so that birds which can only gain vhc, he and c will have this handsome silver trophy all to themselves, and win outright in one season something more in value than the birds in the money! This sporting offer should be the means of bringing more entries from all classes of exhibitors and introduce on to the show bench birds which could not compete with the champions. Now this and the guarantee of the C.C.C. for their particular variety should be a great help and service to all show committees by bringing more entries, more birds to see at the show, more of the public paying for admission (and getting better value), consequently less risk in running the show; and more so if other specialist's clubs follow suit for their different varieties another year.

A Hen Goldfinch Proves a Free Breeder.

SIR,—I have read CAGE BIRDS with much pleasure, and consider it a very interesting publication. I have noticed the varied success of some of your readers who have tried mule breeding, and should like to know if my experience is exceptional; I have not personally seen in your columns a case of Mules being bred from a hen Goldfinch with a cock Canary. Last year a hen Goldfinch in my possession laid eight eggs whilst in a cage alone. I then put her in an aviary with a cock Canary, where she laid three more eggs and sat on and hatched them; but owing to the nesting box being too large, and of the square pattern, the young got "lost" in the bottom and died. This year I mated her with a Yorkshire cock, with the result that she has had two nests of three eggs each, and has reared six young, one of which was deformed. The five others I have now, doing well. In addition to this I put two Canary eggs in the first nest with the three Mules, which she brought off and reared without any help from the male bird.

W. BRUCE.

[It is not considered particularly difficult to breed mules from the hen Goldfinch and cock Canary, but most fanciers prefer the sexes to be the other way about, hence the hen Goldie is seldom utilised, comparatively.—ED.]

The Scotch Fancy Canary.

SIR,—I consider the Scotch Fancy is returning to popularity. The entries at the City of Glasgow show were an advance over previous years, and should encourage our esteemed friends, Mr. Black, the president, and Mr. McDonald, the secretary, to work harder than ever for the Scotch Fancy. Mr. Dalgleish's yellow cock I consider a living model of what an ideal Scotch Fancy Canary should be; he has bred many good specimens, but never anything to approach his 1910 yellow cock, which has distinguished itself wherever it has appeared. The Scotch Fancy is undoubtedly the monarch of cage birds.

A FANCIER.

Foreign Birds at Bristol Show.

SIR,—May I ask Mr. C. A. House to kindly give the names of the exhibits in the "Large Foreign Class" at Bristol show; and also to state what was wrong with my beautiful and rare Brown's Parrakeet, in perfect condition, that it was only worth vhc, as it could easily have taken the place of Many Coloured, which he put 1st? Another reporter (not your representative) has, to my surprise, stated that Mr. Howe took 1st with a "Blue Sugar-bird Lory." Good heavens! Do tell CAGE BIRDS readers what bird that is, Mr. Howe. Third, he stated, went to the same exhibitor with a "Red-headed Gouldian." Fancy the latter in the Large Foreign Class! This reporter should surely be awarded a putty medal.

C. P. ARTHUR.

British Goldfinches at Glasgow City Show.

SIR,—Since I wrote you on this matter I have had a conversation with Mr. Black (the President) on the subject. He states that he was unaware that this had taken place until he saw my letter on the subject. Surely the judges took a great deal on themselves, as, according to rules of the Society, anything out of the usual should be brought before the President. They brought the alleged staining before the President; why not this matter of the Goldfinch? And to prove that this Finch is a genuine Britisher, I sent it to Castle Douglas show under Mr. McMeeking, whose judgment at all times is well received, he being considered an expert on Finches. He placed this Finch 1st and gold badge, in a class of eleven. What have Messrs. Bald and Pettigrew to say now on the subject? If they would purchase the small "Nutshell" book on the Goldfinch and study it a little, and leave chemicals alone, it would be greatly to their own interest.

A. PORTEOUS.

SIR,—With reference to Mr. Porteous' letter, the shelving of the Goldfinch was not done in accordance with the regulations of the City of Glasgow Society. If the judge had a doubt he ought to have submitted the matter to the President of the Association, but instead of doing so he disqualified the bird, which leaves a stigma that the exhibitor showed a foreign Goldfinch in the British Goldfinch class. We all know that it is difficult to discriminate between foreign and British Finches, and while the judge who keeps his eyes open is appreciated, the judge who is over smart and sets aside the rules of the society should, in my opinion, be called to book. The offer to send the bird to Mr. G. E. Weston is reasonable, and in the interests of justice I hope the case will be probed to the end.

A BREEDER.

[Our Mr. G. E. Weston informs us that his son and heir is just cutting his first teeth and so he is afraid he has already more trouble on hand than he can successfully contend with.—EDITOR.]

Birds as Excess Luggage.

SIR,—I notice the remarks of Mr. Colley in your issue of the 22nd, and may add I have seen many similar cases, where the fancier who attends the show has been charged more than when the birds were left under the care of the railway company. How long are fanciers going to stand it? Just as long as we are content to pay the exorbitant charge of rate and a half, have our cases and cages damaged, and birds killed or lamed, by being tossed about like a load of bricks by the railway servants. One gets insolence when a complaint has to be made; and finally, when a bird is killed outright, is insulted with the offer of a paltry 5s. as the value! This fairly takes the cake, and puts my "monkey up." The railway companies seem to take us for a "soft lot." All other hobbies are at times receiving some privileges, such as fishing, hunting, football, etc., while we are charged excessive rates for carriage. Unless we unite in a solid body and demand redress we may yet see our hobby ruined, and show after show close its doors, as no fancier (unless the most successful) can pay their way under such charges. I would suggest that every cage bird society should call a meeting and instruct one of their number to attend a meeting of delegates, to be held in some central town, where a deputation could be selected and instructed to visit each railway company in turn, showing the unjustness of their charges, and the bad treatment our birds receive. Perhaps it might further our cause if a few of our largest exhibitors were to pass in their receipts of railway charges made for the year. I find for last year (1909) I paid £14 13s. 9d. I shall be pleased to see what your readers say on the matter, or what remedy they suggest. Perhaps the best remedy might be to put the Chancellor of the Exchequer on their track, with instruction to heavily tax all charges above the ordinary parcel rate!

Curious Incident at Manchester Show.

SIR,—I am enclosing exact copy of a letter received by Mr. John Swalwell, of Oldham, judge of the Lancashire and Lizard classes at Manchester, on Friday last, October 28th. I shall esteem it a favour if you will publish the same in CAGE BIRDS, as this is a case of mean cowardly spite, and, though it may not lead to detecting the "gentleman" (save the mark), it will at least give him something to study before he again attempts the same thing. I am thoroughly disgusted and upset, and if this sort of thing continue I shall have no option but to give the Fancy up, though I would freely give a trifle to have the writer for a time to reason with him in the only way possible to reach him. However, I trust you will publish the letter, as it has already been read by Mr. Bladon and several of the Manchester officials, who can vouch for its accuracy.

JOHN RUKIN.

[COPY.]

Post Mark, Rochdale,
3.15 p.m., Oct. 22/10.

Dere Sir,—As you are judging Lizards at Manchester next Setterday, I want you to help me. I am not showing, but I want you to throw Rukin out altogether, as he has done is share of winning. You will know is cages, as the enamel has run a lot in the cage back. It does not matter who wins if he doesun't; so don't forget the cages with the enamel runs in the back. If you will do this I will send you 2/6 after Manchester Show.

Yours truly,
W. H.

Testing Birds at the Glasgow City Show.

SIR,—The letter in your issue of 29th ult., recalls the Paisley case. Yet with his experience at Paisley this judge rushes to his chemicals again and inflicts pain. If this judge is to be allowed to go on with this testing caper, it will put an end to exhibits being entered under him. If the judge was not satisfied he should have called the attention of the President to the exhibit, and left it with that gentleman. Exhibitors should protest against testing experiments. These, so far as I can see, form a hobby of this particular judge. The sooner it is put down with a firm hand the better. Some of your readers may say the dispute only affects the judge and the exhibitor. I maintain it affects every exhibitor, who sends to a show. The exhibits are not sent to be cruelly treated; and I, for one, protest strongly against such treatment.

JUSTICE.

SIR,—I am a bird-faker for this reason: it's a paying game. I used to show straight, but never got into the prize list; and it's very monotonous having to "pay, pay, pay." So I got in touch with a qualified chemist who keeps me quite up to date for colour—good old colour. I always show non-faked birds under Peter Pettigrew because I'm afraid of exposure at his hand. I only wish the Fancy in Scotland had more judges of his stamp, when faking would be a thing of the past. What things we resort to to get the "filthy lucre." Reporters state in reporting shows: "Grand Redpoll and Siskins, with rare large bibs": now this is an incentive for exhibitors of the unscrupulous order to put on the desired article, which I have many times done myself, likewise "touched-up" Linnets and Greenfinches. I should like the Fancy to be in a much better state than at present. I fake birds simply because others do it.

J. M.

The Scotch Fancy National Derby Association.

SIR,—The election of office-bearers will be held shortly, and I think it right to warn the members that I do not purpose continuing to act as secretary. The office carries with it a good deal of work—in which there is much pleasure—but the fact that fanciers have allowed the membership to dwindle demonstrates that the society is not wanted. I give this warning so that members may have a suitable successor to put forward at the annual meeting.

THOS. SMITH, Sec.

Marked Drinkers at the Bristol Show.

SIR,—I visited the late Bristol fanciers' show, held on October 26 and 27, and was much surprised to see certain birds that were awarded prizes in the Norwich classes having drinkers on their cages that were painted white inside. Surely this kind of thing should be forbidden at all shows, and I feel that Mr. Heath would have only done his duty if he had passed them by. While there I heard of much dissatisfaction among exhibitors in this section, and it seemed to me to be the general opinion that these birds should have been left out of the money altogether. I do not for one moment suggest that Mr. Heath had any idea who these cages and birds belonged to, nor do I write as a dissatisfied exhibitor, but merely do so in the interests of the Fancy generally, as I feel that it is time that this kind of thing was stamped out.

A VISITOR.

[Part of this letter has had to be deleted by reason of its libellous character.—ED. "C.B."]

The Sparrow's Holiday.

The weather is so mild and open that the Town Sparrow is still enjoying himself in the country. At present the flocks are fairly small and spread all over the fields and stubble-land.

A Lesser Golden Plover.

The beautiful Golden Plover is a bird frequently seen in the game shops and market during the winter months; but there is a lesser species which is only a very occasional visitor to these shores. It has more slender legs and feet and slight differences in plumage, but is quite as handsome in general colouring. It is apparently more plentiful in the New World than in the old.

Do Owls Kill Lambs?

Some time ago a controversy waged in the North as to whether Owls do or do not kill lambs. Watchers on the hills heard a lamb give a terrific and unusual cry in the darkest part of the night, and next morning a lamb was found dead "with a hole pierced just down the head large enough to take a pencil." Some say it may have been a fox who was disturbed before he could proceed further in his iniquity, but the huntsman's retort is that the Owl's strong beak is quite suitable for the job."

A Small Wader.

The Ox-bird of Dunlin is a bird of the northern regions, and nests throughout Northern Europe. It breeds in Scotland and the North of England pretty regularly, but only in limited numbers in Ireland, although one would think the boggy ground of that country would be suitable to its requirements. The writer has frequently met with it on the marsh lands bordering the River Medway during the summer months, but these were birds of the year which had travelled from their breeding haunts.

"CAGE BIRDS" AND THE C.B.U.

We have received this week an extraordinary anonymous letter hailing from Pendleton, near Manchester. The writer, who evidently wishes to befriend us, and signs himself "Anti-Union," gives us an interesting if somewhat highly coloured account of an informal meeting of Unionites at the Manchester show last week.

We are very little concerned with the charges of unfairness which he says were brought against CAGE BIRDS, and as for the bitter attacks that, he says, were made on another paper, other people must look after their own troubles. But we think it well at this moment to definitely state our opinion on the crisis that has arisen in cage bird circles. We deeply deplore any divisions between fanciers, and we think such breaches highly inimical to the general welfare of our hobby. We believe in the Union and the objects it has at heart, though we are far from satisfied that the methods adopted by the executive are those best calculated to achieve those objects. So far as we have been able financially, and through our columns, we have supported the aims and works of the C.B.U., even to the extent of alienating many of our friends, and we are still willing to do all that lies in our power to heal the wounds of both sides.

Our anonymous friend says the threat was made at this meeting that some Mancunian plutocrat had expressed a willingness to finance a journal that should voice the special views and ideals of Lancastrians. The more papers there are for bird fanciers, the better it will be for the Fancy, and we shall cordially welcome all the competition our friends like to give us. The many thousands of pounds sunk by us on this paper before it came within reasonable distance of a profit, and the thousands of pounds that have been sunk by other journals in the vain attempt to seduce bird-keepers from their loyalty to us, will no doubt be sufficient incentive to the aforesaid capitalist, without further encouragement from us. Anyhow, so far as Manchester in particular, and Lancashire in general, are concerned, they may rest assured of always receiving fair play from us in the future as they have done in the past, while we shall always be sensible that we are a national journal and not a local or county organ. We strive to study as impartially and judiciously and as fairly as we have mental and physical abilities all the many conflicting interests entrusted to us. Whenever we fail it is not due to intention, but accident.

Wild-Bird Life.

A Bird of Passage.

The migration of wild birds to our shores during the autumn is almost as great as it is in the spring of the year, but in this case it consists mostly of Waders and sea birds which frequent the sea shore, marshes, and lonely mud flats, in places little frequented by any but sportsmen and those who get their living along the coast. Of inland birds we have Fieldfares, Redwings, Waxwings, and an addition in numbers to all the Finches, Softbills, Rooks, and Jackdaws. But one of the most interesting birds that increase in number during the autumn and winter is the Woodcock— a bird that is seldom seen by the ordinary observers, but is eagerly sought after by the sportsman. This bird of passage frequents the outskirts of woods and forests, where there is plenty of cover under which it can lie concealed during the day. It is nocturnal in its habits, and as the sun sets it seeks the marshes to feed. But it is at all times exceedingly cautious and prefers to frequent swampy ground in the woods where rank vegetation flourishes and the underwood is fairly thick, to exposing itself in the open. Consequently, it is seldom met with, excepting by those who know its habits and haunts. The writer happens to know one or two spots where a cock can generally be seen, and when once on the wing it is astonishing the speed at which it will travel as it threads its way between the growing saplings.

These birds are guided in their movements principally by the weather, and those who are acquainted with these conditions know just when to expect the birds. Early frosts freeze them out of their northern homes, and if the wind happens to be in the right direction they fly south in batches, and immediately spread about the country in search of favourite haunts and feeding grounds.

CANARY QUERIES.

Answered by CLAUDE ST. JOHN.

Losing Feathers.

A. Johnson.—I have no doubt the bird is badly infested with red mites, which partly accounts for its condition. Examine cage carefully, and if you find any patches of white powdery secretions about it you will find a colony of mites hidden somewhere close by. Probe any crack, joint, or crevice with a pin on to a sheet of white paper, and see the result. If mites are found thoroughly eradicate them. Immerse cage bodily, if feasible, for a few minutes in boiling water, and repaint and varnish, or moisten it thoroughly with paraffin, or petrol, in the open air, two or three times at intervals of a day. Whilst bird is in temporary cage give a bath daily in which a few drops of essence of quassia have been mixed, and thoroughly clean wall and hook where infested cage has hung. Keep in a comfortable place out of all draughts. Feed on a staple of three parts Canary to one part summer rape mixed together. Twice a week give half a teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, black rape, millet, teazle, linseed, and inga; on three other days a bit of green food, raw carrot, or banana; and three times a week for the next month give half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake, dusted over with a mixture of two parts flowers of sulphur to one part chlorate of potash, and finally sprinkled with maw seed. Get Part VI. of "Our Canaries," 6d., through bookseller, and the nutshell booklet on "Ailments of Cage Birds," 2½d., post free. For general information take the whole of the first named work, or get House's "Canary Manual," 1/2, or "Canary Breeding for Beginners," 7d., both post free, from our manager.

Taking Up The Hobby.

Hankering.—In first place, alter your plans respecting size of cages. Double-breeding, 30 ins. long, are quite too small, as each compartment will be nothing more than a fair-sized singing cage, and although I have known beginners use such cages, and do well with them, they would be practically useless as breeding cages for any save the smallest breeds—Borders or Rollers—and even these I would not advise you to limit to such cramped quarters. Either go in for single cages, 20 ins. long, or have double ones at least 38 ins., and 40 ins. is better, and none too much. They can then be used for any breed you may fancy in the future. There is very little to choose in the song of the Border, Yorkshire, and Norwich, but the latter is louder and more powerful—ear-piercing, if you like. As you wish to exhibit, and have good stock, by all means buy from a known breeder, and leave the selection of the first pairs in his hands. I cannot fix the price, as that will depend upon the typical qualities of the birds and what they are likely to breed, and also upon the vendor. It may be anything from 7s. 6d. to 20s. or 30s. per bird. But you could fix the price yourself by telling dealer what you were prepared to spend, when he should do his best for you for the sum named. If the amount fixed is low, do not have a number of pairs, but rather have one or two pairs of good birds at a fair price than a larger number of pairs of mediocre quality. There is no handbook on the Border, but you will find the breed fully dealt with in due course in "Our Canaries," which I am pleased to hear you like so well.

Brevities.

Heavy Breathing (J.M.). Your feeding is not correct. The staple diet should consist of three parts canary to one part summer rape, instead of equal parts of these seeds. See that the bird is quite free from draughts and extremes of heat and cold, and then treat it as advised to "A.I.A." for a fortnight. Glad to hear previous advice was so successful.

Bird Pecking Itself (R. Mitchell).—I think you will find the bird badly pestered by red mites. See reply to "A. Johnson," and act accordingly. Also feed and treat the bird the same as advised in that reply for a month, and slightly smear the bare raw places with castor oil three times during the first week. In the drinking water give a pinch of Epsom salts and ten drops of lemon juice, for two days, and afterwards four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid, for three or four days.

Ailing Roller (Handsworth).—In the first place you should see that the cage does not hang in the line of a cold draughts, between, say, the window and a door, or another open window. Keep it well away from the window, in a box cage for preference, in a comfortable place, with equable temperature, and away from the fumes of burning lights in the evenings. After looking into all these matters, read reply to "N. Davies," and feed and treat the bird as there advised, except that you should continue giving the staple mixture in the same proportions as now. Withhold green food for a week or two, and give a morsel of ripe banana, carrot, or sweet apple instead.

Slow Moulting (N. K. J.).—Some birds naturally moult much more slowly than others, and your hen may be one of these. Or she may be getting old and rather run down in condition. In any case the best way to hasten the process is to place her in a fairly warm and equable position, and put a light cover over the cage for a few weeks, until the feathers have ceased dropping. Give a third or a teaspoonful of maw every second day, omit the emulsion from the Madiera cake, and dust it lightly each time for the next month with a mixture of two parts flowers of sulphur and one part chlorate of potash. Your other treatment will be correct.

Won't Touch Seed (B. Neath).—First satisfy yourself that your seeds are sound and sweet, and if they are, treat the bird the same as advised to "Rollers," with the exception of keeping a staple of three parts Canary to one part summer rape in its box, instead of two of the former to one of the latter. Give a little green food three times a week, when obtainable in good condition, and at other times a morsel of carrot, or banana. The alternative treatment mentioned at end of reply referred to will not be necessary in your case. Of course, if any fault is found in your seeds, the remedy is obvious.

Withered Leg (A.C.).—I cannot tell you the cause without at least some slight particulars concerning general health, condition, and treatment. The most likely thing is that the leg was injured in some way; perhaps broken in a position where an unaided natural "setting" could not take place. If the bird was otherwise in good health there was no necessity at all to destroy it, as it would quickly have got about cleverly on one leg. There is not the slightest reason to suppose it was the disease you mention. Better get Part VI. of "Our Canaries," which will give you lots of information on bird ailments.

Crippled Toe (W. J. W.).—It is extremely unlikely that you will be able to cure the toe in question. As it does not seem to give the bird any trouble, you may well leave it alone. It will not interfere with the bird breeding at all. The only practical way of treating such a toe is to place it alongside the middle toe, and tie both together with very fine crystal wool or silk, making two separate ties—one about the middle of the toe, and the other at the end. This does not cure, in my experience, but merely keeps the deformed toe in a more sightly and natural position, in which it may be kept permanently without the least inconvenience to the bird. The method is illustrated in Part VI. of "Our Canaries," which you may get from our manager. As the bird is not hampered by the toe, amputation is uncalled for.

Sexual Differences (Novice).—Sorry you make poor headway in distinguishing sexes. You must not expect to become expert at it in a few short weeks. It is purely the outcome of experience and careful observation. There is nothing to add to my last reply, and if this and close study of the plate I mentioned in "Our Canaries" do not help you, I fear no amount of mere writing will do so. Remember, a vast array of different opinions may cause confusion in your mind instead of helping you. Keep your attention on the birds themselves, examine frequently as many known cocks and hens, together and apart, as you possibly can, and in course of time you will find yourself recognising subtle distinctions which you cannot describe, but which enable to say almost at a glance whether a given bird is a cock or a hen.

Rollers (T. R., Bootle).—The names are merely trade terms. They do not represent different breeds of birds, nor even in all instances different strains. They are all just German Canaries, more or less trained for singing. The Hartz Mountain, which is usually sold at a low price, is simply specimens of the same breed which have either not been trained, or have not acquired the necessary skill to pass for better-class singers. What you want is a well-trained Roller with plenty of variations, or "changes," in its song. Any respectable dealers would, on request, select a suitable bird if you explained this to them. But have it on our deposit system. You would do well to wait another week or two before buying. The birds are quite as hardy as, and hardier than, most fancy breeds. Get the Nutshell booklet on "The Roller," 2½d., post free, from our manager.

Squeaky Youngster (A.J.A.).—See whether this particular bird's cage is in a draughty position or not, and if it is, remedy this. If no such cause is present the youngster has probably inherited the weakness, in which case no treatment will be of much permanent good. Feed on a mixture of three parts canary to one part summer rape as a staple. Do not mix any other seed with this, but give separately twice a week half a teaspoonful of a mixture of hemp, inga, teazle, and linseed, in equal parts. Every second day for the next fortnight give a piece of bread the size of a hazel nut soaked in cold milk, drained, two drops of cod liver oil emulsion dropped on it and sprinkled with soft sugar. On the alternate days give a pinch of maw and a morsel of Epsom salts for two days, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky, ten of glycerine, and two of eucalyptus oil, well shaken together, every second day for a fortnight.

Yorkshire Panting (N. Davis).—It has caught a bad cold during moult, which may be due to the severe fluctuations of the weather, but is probably the result of keeping it in position where it is exposed to cold draughts or extreme variations between day and night temperature. See these things are totally avoided now. Keep it in a comfortable and equable place, but not necessarily overheated; keep cage perfectly clean and free from insect pests. Continue the present staple seed diet, but give in addition half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion and four of sherry mixed in it, and sprinkled with raw seed, every second day for a month. Three times a week on the alternate days give a morsel of banana, and on two other days a pinch of linseed. In the water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts for three days, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky, ten each of oxymel of squills, and tincture of lobelia, and two of eucalyptus oil, well shaken together, two days in every three for a week, and every second day for a fortnight afterwards.

Sits in a Heap (Rollers).—I note you use the feminine pronoun throughout, so if your bird is really of that gender you must not expect her to sing. See that she is in a cosy place, quite free from draughts and extremes of heat and cold. Give a mixture of two parts Canary to one part summer rape as staple. Every day for a week, and every second day the next week, give a piece of bread the size of a hazel nut soaked in cold milk, drained, two drops of cod liver oil emulsion dropped on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar. On the alternate days in the second week give a pinch of maw seed. In the water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much Epsom salts as will cover a sixpence, every second day for a week, and after give four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid, every second day for a fortnight. If wheeziness continues after this, give a course of the medicine advised at end of reply to "N. Davis."

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S., etc.

Winter Food For Waxbill.

M.G.L.—Personally I have never practised, nor advised, the giving of hot condiments to birds for heating purposes; neither do I consider it necessary. If they care for it, by all means let them have a little sponge cake that has been soaked in boiling milk, and given them when just warm. But many individuals will not look at it. There certainly would be no harm in dissolving a pinch of cinnamon powder in the drinking water occasionally, and also Parrish's Chemical Food fairly regularly in the drinking water. If they are in an all-wire cage, a cover might with advantage be hung round the cage at night, but a corner or portion of the top must be left uncovered for ventilation. Cages are best moved away from windows at night. A good practice for such small mites is to hang up several cocoa-nut shell nests with a little hay pushed in each, one for each pair; they will pass the night very snugly in such quarters. A pinch of maw seed may be given every other day during the winter to such species as will eat it.

An Ailing Parrot.

E. T. Turner.—Though the bird appears to have thriven for so long, the improper dietary, coupled possibly with old age, is making itself felt, and you have let it reach the acute stage before writing. I really do not think it is a cold, but rather the effects of the food. However, now things have gone so far, continue present treatment; also give a little chilled milk-sop till its appetite recovers. Give a dose of Dinneford's Magnesia at once—take a small portion, dilute with an equal bulk of chilled water and give the bird a few sips of this, or administer a little direct to the beak through a quill. Repeat this dose on the 4th and 8th days following. To be on safe side procure the following mixture: Oxymel of squills, ipecacuanha wine and glycerine in equal parts; take a small portion, dilute with an equal bulk of water and either let the birds take a few sips twice a day or administer half a dozen drops from a quill to the beak about three times daily. Keep bird warm and tempt it with such things as it has been accustomed to. As soon as relief is given stop the ipecacuanha mixture and put the bird on a course of Parrish's Chemical Food, and when its appetite begins to return write again with fullest details, and its diet must be regulated a little then.

Foreign Bird Querists will find in our handbook, "Foreign Birds for Beginners," 1/1, and "Burgerigars and Cockatiels," 6d. post free; a mine of information of use and interest.

Arrangements of Avairy.

P.T.H.—I have not the previous query by me, but I certainly read it, that you were only fitting up a part of the shed for the birds, and of course, under the altered conditions, my remarks re perches do not apply. (1) I should suggest that one third of the roof of flight be covered in, i.e., along its whole length, and the covered portion to be the part which adjoins the shed. If you are still in doubt on this point, send me stamped envelope, per Editor, and I will send you a rough plan—in such case, quote again all dimensions. (2) You will get better results from one pair of Cockatiels. I had individuals which materially interferred with each other, and since I have only kept one pair in each enclosure. (3): Rosellas, 40/- to 50/-. Blue-wing often as low as 3/6, but there are many losses among newly imported birds, but you ought to get a good pair for about 30/-. (4) Yes, they would all winter out of doors in your shed and flight. (5) Either advertise or watch advertisements. I am not allowed to name individual advertisers. (6) Concrete floors in the open air, though easily cleaned, are very cold in wet weather, especially during the winter, much more so than earth.

Brevities.

Vivarium for Cage ("Foreigner").—This will be none too suitable; nevertheless, it can be transposed; the chief difficulty is the cold glass all round. Give this two coats of enamel paint, evenly put on, and see that perches are so arranged that the birds cannot sleep, or rest against the glass. Use twiggy branches for perches, unless you paint the glass or cover it with wire-netting, they would be liable to bash themselves against it every time they were scared. Prepared as above, with two or three twiggy branches clear of the glass, it should make a good abiding place for from 12 to 18 small Waxbills.

A Hard Moult ("Moult").—You give me no details as to diet or treatment, so I can only give you general directions. Diet: Seed mixture, ripe fruit, nuts, and plain biscuits. Do not give tea, coffee, or milk sops, table scraps, or any kind of animal food; keep a piece of clean cuttlefish in the cage, also supply grit and water. Keep the bird warmish, yet where it can get light and air, and also be free from draught. Keep the bowels regulated by an occasional dose of Dinneford's Magnesia—1 part magnesia to 2 parts water, and see the bird has a good hearty drink before replacing it with the ordinary water. During the period of the moult keep the drinking water well coloured with Parrish's Chemical Food—probably your diet has been at fault or the bird is quite out of condition.

What Bird? (W. D. Hetton).—Please repeat this query next week, and if you can, send me a very rough sketch of the bird, dividing off the colour patches—and please say what colour the head is, dark head, may be dark anything. Do you know whether it is a British or Foreign species?

Seed for Budgerigars (G.H.). — Crushing the seed is a common practice for young birds, and also newly caught young British birds of certain species—your friend's procedure may be quite right for his birds, but it certainly is not necessary to crush the seed for Budgerigars, Cockatiels, and such-like. The only things I should pass through a mill for these birds would be the oats, and this is not really necessary; one can always buy kibbled oats.

What Bird? (Enquirer).—It is an Avadavat, and probably a hen. In addition to your present diet give millet sprays, and a little green food, tender lettuce, or spikes of seeding or flowering grass when the latter is obtainable free from frost. Keep the cage tray well covered with gritty sand and supply water for drinking and bathing. Keep it where it will get light and air, he free from draught, yet in a warmish position. A cocoa-nut shell nest with a little hay pushed in will be appreciated as sleeping quarters.

Grey and Green Singing Finches (Z.A.S.M.).—You would have a reasonable chance of breeding either species in a roomy box cage—only one pair, though, in each cage. In the flight you could let the two pairs fly together. Hybrids have been reared between the two species. Each species has also been crossed with the Canary. You are most likely, however, to succeed with the grey. The song of the grey is the best, and would be about on a par with the Linnet—the green is good, but not so varied or sustained—there is, however, a great deal of variableness in individual specimens of either species.

Madagascar Lovebird, etc. (J.R.B.).—(1) Not that I know of. This bird is a very shy breeder in captivity, but if you can give it a cage large enough to contain in one corner near the top, a nest box with round hole for entrance, which they can comfortably get through—in the spring and summer you must supply pieces of thin bark and leaves for them to nest with. (2) It is an Avadavat, probably a young male, and will be much lighter next year. Diet: Canary and white millet—also keep a millet spray hanging in the cage. Supply water for drinking and bathing, and keep the bottom of cage covered with gritty sand. If they will pick over any bit of ripe fruit of any kind, it will be very wholesome for them. Whenever flowering, or seeding grass is procurable free from frost, let them have as much as they will eat.

A Weak Grey Parrot (Policeman).—Your query leaves me very much in the dark, inasmuch as I am not able to draw any definite conclusion. You really ought to let someone competent have a look at that leg, the only conclusion I can come to is, that it is either very badly strained or broken, very probably the latter. If the leg is sound, then bathe it with hot water, not hot enough for discomfort, and after partially drying it in a cloth, paint it with neat whisky—do this daily till relief is given; the cage grating will be better removed till the leg is right again, or if it is a fixture, put a piece of thin board over it in the corner the bird lies in. It will be best at this juncture to keep its bowels moving freely, by an occasional dose of Dinneford's magnesia, and to put it on a course of Parrish's Chemical Food—as advised to other correspondents in this issue.

Blue-winged Lovebird (A.B.).—It would have been better only to have pulled out the feathers two or three daily, till all were removed. It has, I expect, given the bird, a newly imported one, rather a shock removing them altogether, but I should say it would go on all right. The wings are cut to prevent birds knocking themselves about during importation, and to lessen their chance of escape if they get out. I should say they will do well enough in your greenhouse aviary—keep them in the warmest corner, so that they get light and air—give them a millet spray, and also try them with a small slice of apple pushed between bars of cage. It will do no harm to give them a dose or two of Dinneford's magnesia—half teaspoonful in their drinker twice a week—at other times well colour the drinking water with Parrish's chemical food, till the birds are established, letting them have clean water once a week.

Foreign Birds for Profit ("Amadis").—The keeping of foreign birds is literally alive with interest and pleasure, but I fear very few make it pay, or even "ends meet." It would be a wise precaution over here to have a glazed shutter to the box cages as an additional protection. You can really have which you please. Cockatiels require no more space than Redrumps, and once they have settled down to breeding, they should more than pay your way, providing you can find a market for them. Am inclined to favour constructing a small aviary 6 to 7ft. frontage, and as deep and high as you can manage, wire in front only, and a curtain or glazed shutter for nights, or exceptionally severe weather. Put in 1 pair each Green and Yellow Budgerigars, Blue-wing Lovebirds, and Cockatiels. Box cages would hold two pairs Budgerigars and either a pair of Cockatiels or Redrumps respectively.

A Feather Puller (R. Downey).—Your surmise is quite correct; it is the bit of everything that has done the mischief. Not but what some Parrots, in spite of regular dieting, will develop this vice, as I know to my cost, but in your case the cause is quite clear, and I expect the trouble will be very tiresome to eradicate if it ever is entirely. Keep bowels regulated by an occasional dose of Dinneford's Magnesia, a teaspoonful to the ordinary drinking hopper will be sufficient, and on other days well colour the drinking water with Parrish's Chemical Food. Confine diet to seed mixture, ripe fruit, nuts, and plain biscuit. As extras, the following can be given: Plain cake, crust of dry toast, or dry potato; if it cries for moistened food, moisten (not soak) the biscuit or toast crust in the Chemical Food water. Spray plumage with quassia solution and rub in a little of Spratt's "Pennaura" over a bare or partly naked area.

Budgerigars (N.J.K.).—It would appear your surmise is correct, and that you have a true pair; but if they are brother and sister, breeding results from them may not be very satisfactory. They will come into adult plumage by the spring. The tail feathers will be renewed promptly; extracted feathers are at once reproduced. I have known a pair bred in a smaller cage than the one you name, but to be candid, to give them proper exercise, the size of the cage given for two pairs ought to be the minimum, even if only one pair is kept—the birds are better in health in every way if they have space for exercise, and hardy and long suffering though they are, no species of birds feel the lack of exercise more than these, and it certainly affects their health and fecundity. The question ought not to be how little space can they do with, but how much can I manage to give them?

BRITISH BIRDS, MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Answered by G. E. Weston.

The Hoopoe (J. J.).—Yes; the Hoopoe is recognised as an exhibition British bird, being on the list of the N.B.B. and M.C. It is a migratory species. Specimens are recorded every years as being seen in various parts of England, generally in the South. They are usually promptly shot.

A Shorelark (S. Lark).—A Shorelark must be entered in the insectivorous bird classes. It is a "softbill," but like the Skylark, is fond of various seeds (particularly Canary and groats or coarse oatmeal), and it will live on seed alone for a long period. It certainly should have soft food, however, and a fair supply of live food (try beetles, gentles, mealworms). A class headed "not larger than a Lark" would be a correct one for the Shorelark.

Greenfinch-Crossbill Hybrid (M. A. B.).—I should be sorry to discourage you from trying to get hybrids from a Greenfinch and a Crossbill, for unless such attempts are made, it obviously is impossible to say definitely whether any particular cross is or is not obtainable. It is very interesting to try these out-of-the-way matings. At the same time, I cannot truthfully say that I think the combination a very likely one. The birds differ considerably structurally and in their habits, and are not really "closely related," but, then, Greenfinch and Bullfinch are not "closely related," yet they ran be successfully crossed. I have not tried the Greenfinch-Hawfinch cross; only the Hawfinch-Bullfinch. My experience with the latter leads me to think that it can be a successful mating. If I were trying, I should mate a small cock Crossbill with a big hen Greenie.

Bramblefinch and Chaffinch (Towney).—You should send for the coloured plate given with our last Xmas number, as the Bramblefinch and Chaffinch figure thereon, and you will thus be able to gather exactly what they are like in colour and markings. The hen Chaffinch is a sober, mouse-coloured bird, without any red on the breast, or blue on the head; the sexes cannot be mistaken in adult birds. These species are often very difficult to steady, and only time and a house-moult will get them "fluger tame." Keep them in a room wherein people are constantly moving about, and offer them a mealworm now and again, trying to get the birds to take them direct from your fingers.

A Little Owl (Flemo).—The cage should be as large as you can conveniently manage; a big box with the front wire-netted, answers well. One of the perches should be arranged in a corner, near the top, so as to provide a quiet, dim spot to which the bird may retire. Cover the floor thickly with peat-moss litter (obtainable at most corn chandlers, and seed stores). It must have flesh food—dead mice, Sparrows, rabbit flesh, etc.—while beetles are very much liked.

A Mixture (Railwayman).—I am afraid nothing will save your Goldfinch; judging by your letter, he will be dead before you read this reply. You should have placed him in a warm spot, and given him a little best brandy (half teaspoonful in three tablespoonfuls of drinking water), also plenty of niger and thistle seeds, and some cracked hemp. If not too late, try this treatment now. This stock mixture will answer for Siskin and Redpoll: Canary and teazle one pint each, summer rape, charlock and linseed quarter-pint each. For the Greenfinch and Bullfinch add a half-pint of white sunflower. For the Goldie add one pint of hemp and a quarter-pint of sunflower and reduce the rape and charlock to just a sprinkling only.

The Case of A Linnet (Massa).—Leave the linseed out of the stock food for a time, and give a teaspoonful of maw seed every other day (but not when giving the wild seeds. Get one ounce of crystals of citrate of iron and quinine, from a chemist, and in three tablespoonfuls of drinking water dissolve daily as much as will just cover a sixpenny-piece. Give this for six or seven days, and I think you will find the trouble at an end.

A Pet Bullfinch (N. K. J.).—I can only say that you will not stand anything like the same chance of success if you mate cock Bullie to hen Canary, as you will if you put a cock Canary to a hen Bullie. The diet recommended by me embraces everything that is really necessary for a Bullfinch in confinement. The overgrown claws should certainly be cut down at once to a reasonable length. The overgrown beak should be shortened a little, too. Trim it with scissors, or nail clippers, to as near the natural shape as possible, and smooth off the edges with the nail file or a bit of very fine sandpaper. Do you keep a lump of cuttlefish or mortar in the cage?

A Redpoll Matter (Novice).—If a class is simply headed "Redpoll," both Lesser and Mealy are entitled to compete in it. The Lesser Redpoll is a small brown bird; a good Mealy is two or three times (or looks it), as large, and is a grey, or ashy, colour (not a warm brown). The markings of both species are similar. If a class is headed "Lesser Redpoll, then Mealies have to go into the "A.O.V. Finch or Seedeater" class.

A Moss (Brumnay).—I would rather buy British birds now than in the spring. In my opinion your loss can be put down to wrong (or, rather, inadequate) feeding. It is not much use putting newly-caught birds on to ordinary seed mixtures. You should get our "Nutshell" booklets (only 2½d. each, post free), on the Goldfinch, Linnet and Bullfinch, and if you follow the advice therein you will not have such a loss in the future, I'll warrant. In putting fresh birds into an aviary, you want to be quite certain that the food and water vessels are in such a position that the birds cannot fail to get at them.

Brace Birds (J. Pockney).—It is not illegal to use brace birds when catching; but if the prosecution can convince the magistrate that any cruelty attached to the using of them, then you will get fined. It will be for "cruelty" that you will be summoned. And as it seems easy (rightly or wrongly) to convince magistrates that cruelty has been used to braced birds—the R.S.P.C.A. well know this—it is on this count that the Society most frequently hauls up the bird-catcher.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 2, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. And bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

H. B. Herne.—Pneumonia caused death of Blue Mountain.

Valentine.—The bowels throughout their whole course were badly inflamed, due to a contagious element. The disease had its primary cause in bacterial irritants introduced with the food, and assumes an epidemic form by dissemination of these bacteria by means of the excreta contaminating food, etc. Scrupulous cleanliness must be observed, the regular and frequent clearing away of refuse from the cage bottoms, and removal of diseased from healthy. Give the whole of your birds Condy's Fluid in the drinking water, and to ailing birds a course of the following medicine, which your chemist will prescribe for you: Bismuth subnit, 48 grains; mucil acacia, half an ounce; aquos Opii, 36 drops; and water, add 3 ounces. Give one-half teaspoonful night and morning in the drinking water, or, if necessary, 6 drops by the beak, and discontinue as soon as the evacuations become normal. During treatment withhold egg-food, and give a small quantity of milk sop.

Anxious, P.W.—The bird you sent me was by no means a healthy one. One of its organs, "the spleen," was very much enlarged, and the right lung affected with pneumonia. Possibly illness would have been manifested and death supervened had the bird not been handled, but manipulation brought about the climax. There was also an indentation of the skull, but this, I am inclined to think, was a post-mortem accident, the slightest pressure on the skull during packing being quite sufficient to bring this about. I am wondering whether you have had any other recent deaths amongst your birds.

GENERAL.

Answered by The Editor.

Newspaper Cuttings (J. James, J. W. Lawton, W. Pepper, D. Ross).—We much appreciate your kindness in forwarding the cuttings, which we will utilise if space permits.

A Heavy Loss (H. Pettit).—We are sincerely sorry to hear of the loss of your birds.

Two Rare Birds (P. Cawood).—Evidently escaped foreign birds. Have sent your letter to our Foreign bird specialist, Mr. Page; look in his column for a reply.

Bird Seeds (G. R. Day).—The article on bird seeds was published in Cage Birds of October 1st and October 15 (the latter a double number). Copies of these can be sent you post free for sixpence (postal order).

THE SHOWS.

ST. COLUMB.

Fifth show, held Drill Hall, November 2. It was unfortunate for the Committee that Hayle show was held on same day, as this no doubt affected the entry; but the quality of the exhibits we heard was far in advance of that of any previous year. They were nicely staged in the centre of the hall, and had every care and attention given them by genuine fanciers. The Hon. Sec., Mr. W. L. Salmon, had everything well in hand, and was most courteous and obliging to everyone. We were pleased to see the President, J. P. Dunstan, Esq., taking an active interest in the show. Mr. J. H. Payne made the awards.

Notes from Manchester Show

The show was again most successful from the quality point of view. Entries reached 1,480 odd, about 60 down on last year.

The Greens did not come up nearly so well (60 less) as in previous years, probably due to the Liverpool Show being next week, and also the nature of the classification, which barred hens. There was also a falling off of about 50 in the Novice and Amateur Members' classes, and the Lizard Novices and Cinnamon Novices classes, which were not included this time, had 70 odd entries last year. There were 36 Scotch and Belgians last year; this time these classes were cancelled. In most other varieties, however, there was considerable increase in entries. The gate was rather better than last year.

The sales amounted to £60, some £20 more than last year. Except for the winning Bullfinch, soon snapped up by Capt. Hurst at £5, and the winning Goldie at £3 3s. by J. Walsh, and the winning Yellow Yorkshire Green at £5 5s., the sales were small, but very numerous. There was a spirited auction for the winning buff hen of Mr. R. Unwin, catalogued at £3, and which was knocked down at £5 5s.

Mr. Compaton (that "old hand") said the Lancashires were well up to the average. The winning clear buff Plainhead stood out over the others, being so beautifully clean in feather, and the clear yellow coppy was also an especially good bird. The winning Broken Cap Silver, taking special for best Lizard, was a real beauty.

Mr. Colledge said that the Novice Crests and C.B.'s, were a very superior lot. The Crest-bred of Mr. Guy's was an exceptionally good bird, and the 2nd Crest, shown by Mr. Morris, was far and away the best, but not well shown.

Cinnamons, according to Mr. Godley, were a splendid lot, both in numbers and quality. The Yellow class was especially good (he could have found another set of winners), and there was a good class of hens.

Mr. Hadwin thought the Borders were the best ever staged at Manchester. The Buff cock class was the finest class of Borders he had ever seen; almost every bird could win, and no one grumbled.

Foreign birds are improving again in Manchester. Not since the days of Messrs. H. B. Smith and Osbaldeston, have such a number of choice specimens been sent as in the last two years. The Parrakeets were all good. Mr. Watts' Queen Whydah, depicted in Cage Birds last week, had to take second place to a spleudid Crimson Finch, shown by Mr. Hadley.

Profiting by the experience of last year, the classes were arranged differently, and particular care was taken in the heating and ventilating, so that there was absolutely no draught anywhere in the room, and the room was never allowed to get too cool.

Club Reports.

WALKDEN C.B.S.

On Oct. 24th the members and friends were favoured with a lecture on the Norwich Canary by Mr. Conlson (Ardwick), which was very interesting. He dealt with all the principal items which fanciers must learn if they wish to reach the top stage. Several questions were asked, and were answered by the lecturer; this ended a very quiet evening.—HY. HOWARD, Sec.

MUSSELBURGH O.S.

At meeting held 83, High Street, Oct. 29, following corrections made in the schedule: Class 20 to read, "even, uneven, or variegated yellow cock or hen"; class 21 to read, "even, uneven, or variegated buff cock or hen.' Also on front page of schedule the entries closing date is given as Nov. 20. This is an error on the printer's part, and should read, "entries close Nov. 19."—WM. NISBET, Sec.

CAMBUSLANG C.B.A.

Meeting in Free Gardeners' Hall, Oct. 29, to make final arrangements for show Nov. 5. Entries are already greatly increased on last year's, the sec. having got 119 to date, with still a few members to send schedules to. Arrangements are also completed in regard to catalogues, which are to be given free. Also 19 special prizes promised by members and friends; so that everything points to a record show. Fanciers in the district would do well to visit us on Nov. 5 and give in their names as members (for the coming season) of what is one of the "coming" clubs of Scotland.—J. COUTTS, Sec.

MORPETH C.B.S.

Annual meeting, held Oct. 28th, Temperance Hotel, when the secretary and treasurer presented accounts for past twelve months. We recently had the finest collection of exhibits, both for quality and quantity, ever placed on view in Morpeth. The club's balance sheet was very gratifying to members, and augurs well for the society; it shows a substantial balance of £7 12s. 11d. The secretary, Mr. E. Cowling, and the treasurer, Mr. A. G. Marshall (who have held the positions for the last three years), now retire, and the club have secured the services of Messrs. Creighton and Nicol to fill these honorary posts. Club in future meets at Earl Grey Hotel, Market Place, and meetings will be held Saturday evenings once a month.—A. G. MARSHALL.

SUNDERLAND C.B.A.

Meeting held Fawcett Street Cafe, Oct. 29th, Mr. J. Farrar in chair. Arrangements for Members' Show further considered. Decided, to bar Crests and Crestbreds from competing for the 21s. special for best bird in the show, in accordance with the wish of the donor. Cup presented by Mr. P. Hunter for most points gained by a member in open show will be competed for in Members' Show for old birds. Cup presented by Mr. C. E. Thompson, J.P., for most points in Members' Show, and cup given by Mr. T. Davison for most points with five nominated young birds, also cup presented by Mr. P. Hunter for best bird, will be up for competition. With such an array of cups it is to be hoped every member will enter as many birds as possible, and so make the show a success. Messrs. Hyde and Co., and T. Sandiford are also offering specials. We have also cash prizes of 10s. 6d., 5s., and 2s. 6d. for British birds, A.V. house-moulted, non-fed, given by "A Friend." Agreed, to have an open class for Linnets, field-moulted, entrance fee 1s.; prizes, 8s., 4s., 2s., guaranteed. We have still room for a few more specials.—J. JEFFREY, Hon. Sec.

CITY AND SUBURBAN A.C.B.

Meeting October 24th, with Mr. A. W. Curtis in the chair. A letter was read from Mr. Morrison (giving an account of their life and of the birds in Australia). Messrs. H. Brumbridge and J. Ludlam were elected members, and Messrs. Victor Beadel and J. Penn nominated. Advertisements for breeders' cards in the catalogues of the annual show were accepted at 1s. each. On the motion of the secretary it was unanimously agreed that an invitation be extended to the children of the upper standards of the Marylebone Schools to visit the show on the morning of the 19th of October between 11.30 and 12.30, together with the staff, for the purposes of an object-lesson. A judging competition in Yorkshires took place; 27 entries in two classes, with Mr. H. E. Tringham as final judge. Those taking part were 4 champions, 4 amateurs, and 21 novices, out of 42 members present. The judge gave his reasons for placing the birds, and afterwards answered numerous questions from Messrs. R. L. Crisp, W. Page, W. Cottey, W. Knight, T. Kelly, J. Lloyd, W. Large, J. Chard, A. W. Curtis, and V. Wynn. Mr. Tringham afterwards, by special request, gave several instructive hints to the novices as to mode of procedure in building up a strain of Yorks. At the close a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Tringham. This included a touching reference to his present indisposition, and the lion-hearted way he had ventured out to fulfil his promise that evening; also to the fact that six lady members were present to welcome him. Mr. J. Lloyd won 2s. 6d. for making most entries in judging competition.—V. WYNN, Hon. Sec.

SUTTON AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

The annual supper was held at the Railway Inn on Oct. 29. A splendid repast was laid before the members by Mr. Clayton, upwards of 40 fanciers partaking of his hospitality. After supper a meeting and social evening took place, which were thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The chair was taken by Mr. Fox, of Long Eaton, supported by Mr. W. Vardy, of Huthwaite. The chairman, who rose to propose "The Success of the Society," treated the gathering to some interesting reminiscences, and went on to say that he hoped those present would endeavour to keep up Sutton's reputation. Mr. Fox remarked how pleased he was to see so many young fanciers present, and he urged them to put their heart and soul into the hobby, as it need not be an expensive hobby, but, if attended to, it would prove a remunerative one. The secret of success was for a fancier to spend a good portion of his time among his stock. The proposition was seconded by Mr. E. Parnell (secretary), who said that they had a small balance in hand from the last show, and he felt sure that the show which was to be held in November would be the best they had ever had, as they had a good financial supporter in their Host (Mr. A. Clayton), and they had also secured the services of a popular judge for the season. Mr. Vardy (Huthwaite), who rose to support the proposition, raised the advisability of affiliating with the Cage Bird Union. He thought it would be very foolish for their society to be affiliated. He said it was like a man purchasing a whip to scourge himself with.—Mr. Driver, Mr. Wright, and others had something to say on the matter, and finally it was carried unanimously that this Society be not affiliated with the Union. The fee for membership was fixed at 3s. per year. Mr. Wright rose to offer a suggestion (which was finally made into a proposition and carried), that the three societies represented that night, viz., Eastfield Side, Huthwaite, and Sutton, should join hands and help each others at their local shows, and have an amalgamated show, each society to bear its share of the cost and also to take its share of the profits. Delegates and committee were chosen to work the idea out. The following gentlemen contributed songs (to the accompaniment of Mr. Carlin):—Mr. Wright, Mr. Smedley, Mr. G. Hibbert (with bone accompaniment), Mr. E. Parnell, and Messrs. E. Parnell and T. Turner (duet). The toast of the "Host and Hostess" was left in the capable hands of Mr. Verdy, who remarked that they were excellent supporters of the Society. The supper that night had been provided free by them, and he thought they had all enjoyed themselves immensely. The toast was received with musical honours. After a thorough night's enjoyment, which had combined business and pleasure, the meeting concluded by singing the National Anthem. E. PARNELL, Sec.

GLASGOW & W. COUNTIES CLUB.

Meeting held 122, Ingram Street, Glasgow, Oct. 29, Mr. Ramsay, president, presiding over a good attendance. Classes for annual show were considered. There are to be four for non-fed birds and one for Hawfinches, two for young mules and hybrids. Admission to show settled to be 6d., including ticket for draw of the gift class and catalogues. The two cups won at last show; Messrs. Reid and Malcolmson's very generous offer to replace the cups was accepted, and a hearty vote of thanks was passed thanking them for their gift.—T. DRYSDALE, Sec.

YORKSHIRE C.C. OF IRELAND.

Committee meeting held Mid Abbey Street Oct. 27, Mr. O'Reilly chairman; also present: Messrs. Sholedice, Neil, Bray, V.P., and Hyland, hon. sec. Secretary submitted statement of accounts, which had been checked by Messrs. O'Reilly and Bray (V.P.). Same was considered satisfactory, and it was proposed, seconded, and carried that secretary get same printed and sent to members. Date of annual general meeting fixed for Nov. 18. Secretary instructed to write cup holders to return cups. This concluded the business.—J. R. HYLAND, Hon. Sec., 15, Drumcondra Park, Dublin.

HIGHGATE, HAMPSTEAD C.B.S.

Monthly meeting October 27th, at Spencer Hall, when Mr. J. Oldaker gave a washing demonstration. Afterwards a competition for members took place, Mr. Oldaker acting as judge. In the amateur section Mr. W. Knight took the medal, and in the novices' Mr. W. Cooper was 1st. Mr. Oldaker pointed out their faults to each of those taking part, and showed them how they might be rectified. Mr. Pile, the chairman, thanked Mr. Oldaker for coming amongst us, and said he was sure the amateurs and novices had certainly learn something, and no doubt even the champions. Mr. Bennet was elected a member, this making our twenty-sixth new member this year. This meeting certainly eclipsed all previous meetings as regard numbers, and also socially, there being the record number of 60 present, including one or two visitors. The evening seemed to pass too quickly for most. There was a little mistake in regard to the price of the halls for show; instead of 25s., it will be 55s. Therefore will members please remember this when they are trying to sell tickets? We have opened a subscription list to buy a pair of birds for one of our number, who has lost all his birds.—C. W. LAW, Hon. Sec.

GREEN CANARY ASSOCIATION.

Meeting Oct. 27th, Oldham Hall, Oldham Street, Liverpool, Mr. J. W. Metcalfe in chair. Messrs. Pearce, Devonport, and Jones were elected members. Table show of Green Yorkshires held. Result:

SELF YELL. (9): 1, Handley; 2, Lloyd; 3, Hughes. BUFF (8): 1, Bell; 2, Handley; 3, Nimmo. FOUL YELL. (3): 1, Nimmo; 2, Atherton; 3, Lloyd. BUFF (4): 1, Bell; 2, Rumsby; 3, Hughes. SELF, ETC., YELL. HEN (9): 1, Jones; 2, Nimmo; 3, Lloyd. BUFF (8): 1, 2, Nimmo; 3, Bell. GREEN (to predominate) YELL. (2): 1, Lloyd; 2, Handley. BUFF (3): 1, Rumshy; 2, Plunkett; 3, Handley. Points for night show specials: Nimmo, 25; Lloyd, 19; Bell, 15; Handley, 14; Jones, 9; Rumshy, 8; Hughes, 6; Atherton, 6; Plunkett, 5; Walker, 2. A table show of Green Norwich will form part of November meeting, same classification. It is hoped birds staged will exceed the numbers at last show, when there were 46. Will members kindly check points, and so save arguments at end of season? Classes at patronage shows have been fairly well filled, especially the Yorkshires, but there is room for improvement as regards Norwich. Borders have a fair average, so far...but we want the numbers not only kept up, but increased.—GEO. GREEN, Sec.

BONNYRIGG & DISTRICT C.B.S.

Meeting held Foresters' Arms Oct. 22, but the weather and Glasgow Show were against a large attendance. The occasion was of that kind which raises a glow in the heart of a weary club secretary, viz., the acceptance from mine host, Mr. Murray, of a handsome silver loving cup, to be competed for at the club's annual show, and awarded to exhibitor of best Scotch Fancy. The donor in a nice speech wished the infant society every prosperity, and hoped the gift would never rupture the good fellowship which permeated their ranks, but create a desire to excel in the production of typical specimens of that monarch of Canarydom, the "bird o' circle." Mr. A. Jardine, the president, thanked the donor, and congratulated the committee on the success which had crowned their efforts to make Bonnyrigg the Mecca of Lothian fanciers. He held in his hand a list of about fifty special prizes, contributed by the inhabitants, which was proof of a desire on the part of the donors to encourage bird-keeping. He thanked them in the name of the society, and included our neighbouring club, Loanhead, whose kindness in granting the use of their staging is much appreciated. A hearty vote of thanks to all closed a pleasant meeting. It had previously been arranged to meet again at the Calder Wood Arms, and a whisper runs round, "anither cup." Second meeting held Calder Wood Arms, when show arrangements were made, and many specials were balloted for. Gold medals for various sections were handed round and greatly admired. Vote of thanks accorded Mr. McGowan, who supplied them at cost price (besides giving a special); but it was easy to observe an air of expectancy on the part of those present which found vent in a prolonged cheer, when our worthy landlord bore in a handsome silver cup, which, with many good wishes, he handed over to the society, to be competed for at annual show and awarded to the exhibitor of the best Border Fancy. Mr. Jardine, in the name of the club, thanked Mr. Cumming for his magnificent gift. What else he said was drowned in cheers. Meeting broke up after serenading mine host with the Scottish National song, "'ceasajollygoodfella."—GEO. HARPER, Sec.

Illustrated Ideas

No. 458.
Case for Call Cages.
Sent by Mr. Allan Doyle, 32, Muncher Street, Dumfries.

For the benefit of those readers of CAGE BIRDS who go in for Mule-breeding, and who like best to catch their own British, I send along this idea. I have found the contrivance very useful, and handy to carry about. It is a case for taking three call-cages, and has space for the future Mulers. A is space for Finches, fresh-caught; B and C are spaces for cages; D is a partition so that if only one cage is wanted it is kept from shifting about in the case, that is if put in B; if more cages are taken, put in C which also keeps them in place; G shows hooks and catches; E, small chain to prevent door from falling and breaking hinges; F is a space of ¼in. for air and light. To make door in A space a piece of punch hair with five holes is required; solder in three wires, leaving two holes for two fixed wires, and door slides through three small holes in top of case.—ALLAN DOYLE.

No. 459.
A Greenfood Holder.
Sent by Mr. H. Wheatley, Spring Street, Burnt Mill, nr. Harlow, Essex.

Here is a sketch of a green food holder, which I have found very useful for preventing stale green food from getting into the cages. Get an ordinary spring tie-clip and nail it on the outside of the cage above the perches. The green food can be put inside the cage through the wires and then in the clip.—H. WHEATLEY.

The Young Naturalist.

Prizes of 1s. and two of 6d. each will be given weekly for the best three anecdotes about birds written on postcards. Competitors must be under sixteen years of age, and state whence stories are taken. Two stars indicate the Winning Contribution; one star the runners up.

*A Parrot Saves a Life.

An old woman would have been burnt to death in a certain house if it hadn't been for her Parrot. It had got out of its cage and perched on her head, and it screamed with all its might: "Help! Help! Come here." So the firemen came, and found the old woman lying helpless in her bed, and the parrot sitting beside her.—Sent by Ethel Craighill, 20, Yates Street, Rhodes Middleton. (Age 8½.)

*The Orphan Birds.

About two years ago there was a Thrush's nest in our garden. There were four eggs in it, and before long there were four young birds. One day their mother went away and did not come back. I looked at the nest and saw that the mother was not on the nest. After a while I got some worms and gave them to the young birds. I did this every day until the young ones were big enough to fly away.—Sent by Randle Mackenzie, Seaforth Lodge, Ballifeary, Inverness.

The Robin.

I heard a Robin singing,
When the world lay white and drear,
And ne'er a ray of sunshine fell,
His little heart to cheer.

I heard a Robin singing,
When the skies were dark above,
And from the song a lesson learned
Of hope and trust and love.

It spoke to me of patience,
Of a spring our hearts shall know,
Where snow of winter falleth not,
And cold winds never blow.

Under the White Rose.

THE venue for the open show in the West Riding for last week-end was Huddersfield, and there was a good turn up, especially in the Yorkshire section; the Norwich were not bad, either, and the quality throughout was of a very high order. Many of the regular attenders were missing. I expect they were having a day out at Manchester; in fact, they had some birds there, and they held their own with them, bringing back a fair percentage of the prizes.

CITY OF BRADFORD O.S. held a very successful members' show on Saturday last, having no less than 158 entries, which no doubt constitutes a record for them, and the management are to be congratulated on the response to their efforts to keep the members together. There must be something going on to keep the members interested in the society and its workings, and the "Cityites" are studying things out to a nicety. May their good position improve still further.

PRICES for real tip-top exhibition Yorkshires are still on the upward grade. During the last week or two some very big figures have been put on record, and not isolated cases, either. The breeding of Yorkshires should increase as a hobby accordingly.

FROM two or three sources this week-end I have heard that the hard-worked show secretaries have not kept quite up to the standard in regard to rule 24 in the Yorkshire Union book. This rule deals with the sending of marked catalogues to their brother secretaries, for reference in connection with their own shows. In some cases they have been sent out unmarked, and in others a week has elapsed before they have been sent out. Don't let the Y.U. secretary get to know, or somebody may be fined "five bob and costs."

LAST week I mentioned the case of a bird sent to Bradford West Show from Leeds (a distance of nine miles), but which never arrived there. The facts are these: The bird was sent off on Friday at 4.30 p.m., and was enquired for many times during the day, but nothing could be made out. The owner turned up during the afternoon, and he also went in search. The bird was found at a late hour on Saturday night, after a fruitless 29½ hours' journey to nobody knows where. Can the owner make any claim? It is surely sufficient to claim on—the railway company did not carry out their contract.

"STRAIGHT 'UN."

Notes from Erin.

DUBLIN P. and C.B.A. Show took place on 27th Oct., and was very well patronised. Entries in all accepted classes came up very well, and throughout the birds were of exceptionally high merit. The silver challenge cup for best Canary in show (the property of a member of the club) was won by Mr. Birse's noted Crest-Bred, and the silver cup for most points in Canary and British Bird classes also went to the same exhibitor. Mr. Birse is to be congratulated on this achievement; the points cup is now his own property, having been won twice in succession. The silver bowl for best Crest exhibited by a member who has not won a first prize at any open show in Crests was won by a beautiful specimen exhibited by Mr. Farrell. I heartily congratulate this yong fancier.

OLD faces kept turning up, and I had the pleasure of meeting many of our show supporters, and all unanimously agreed that this promises to be one of the best show seasons we have had in our island.

A YORKSHIRE, the property of one of our new enthusiasts, was unfortunately entered in the wrong class; a pity. A rumour is current that this bird cost something like £15.

ON the 26th October a Social was held by the Y.C.B.S. in the Douglas Hotel, Dublin, together with the announced washing competition. Messrs. Sheridan, Cloke and Gillen competed, and the former two gentlemen "tied." Afterwards a lecture was delivered by Mr. Cloke on the art of breeding Mules, and proved very interesting and instructive. Mr. O'Callaghan introduced an "ideal drying cage," and explained its many advantages over the old system of drying birds before a fire. A very pleasant evening was indeed spent, and there were a great number of members and visitors present.

DERRY Open Show, I understand, has been postponed to the 12th of December, so as not to clash with other fixtures. It is hoped Derry will apply for and receive the patronage of the specialists' clubs.

Y.C.C. of Ireland held a special meeting on the 27th October, when Mr. Hyland, the courteous and energetic secretary, presented his statement of accounts, which was passed unanimously. Another meeting will be held on the 8th November. The show date has been postponed to early in January in order to try and bring about a settlement. I feel sure we all hope to see the old club on a good financial footing, and there is no reason why this should not be if we all put our shoulders to the wheel and give a trifle towards clearing off any outstanding debts. The officers appointed will leave no stone unturned to bring the club up to its old place.

In the Courts.

Cases Dismissed at Eastbourne.

At the Eastbourne Borough Court, on October 28, Frederick Mepham, of Latimer Road, was summoned for using nets to catch wild birds on October 18.—Mr. C. W. Mayo defended, and pleaded not guilty.

Inspector D. Maver, R.S.P.C.A., said that on October 18 he went to the Crumbles in company with P.C. Copping, and there saw defendant, who had two long nets set. On looking into defendant's box, witness found a number of birds, including two Goldfinches and six Linnets. Defendant said he was not aware that he was not allowed to catch Goldfinches, and also stated that he had not seen a Bill regarding the Wild Birds Protection Act this year. Witness replied that he had better go with him to police station, and he would read the Act over to him. Witness found 20 dead Linnets, and asked defendant what he was going to do with them. He replied that he was going to take them home and eat them.—By Mr. Mayo: Defendant only told him the decoy birds belonged to another man. He did not know that birds kept in a cage moulted in a distinct way from wild birds.—Mr. Mayo: Do you know that Goldfinches are used as decoy birds for Linnets?—Maver: No.—When asked what he was catching, defendant replied, "Linnets, which I am allowed to." Witness said that at the police station he took possession of the birds.—Mr. Mayo: By what authority did you detain the Linnets? Did you say, "I shall take these birds?"—I said, "I shall take the decoy birds." I took them home and fed them, but 22 died. I fed them on ordinary bird seed.—Mr. Mayo: Are you aware that a freshly caught bird will die if fed on ordinary seed bought at a shop?—I could not feed them on anything else. I kept them in order to produce them at this Court.

Albert Reed, labourer, said he saw defendant with the nets. He had birds in a big cage, and in witness's opinion they were freshly caught.

Defendant, on oath, said he was catching Linnets, and Linnets only. For that purpose he was using decoy birds.—In reply to the Inspector, he said he had three Goldfinches which he got from another man, named Godwin. He had them to decoy the Linnets, of which he got about two dozen.

It was mentioned that some of the birds were "brace" birds, and Mr. Mayo said he would explain what they were. A "brace" bird was one which had an attachment round the wings, and which was attached to a twig. It flew about and chirruped, and looked joyful, so that other birds came down and wanted to join in. (Laughter.)

Albert Edmonds said he was a dealer in wild birds. He was born in the trade, and had had over 30 years' experience. On three occasions he had been consulted as expert witness by the R.S.P.C.A. in cases of cruelty. Cross-examined, he said that the dead bird produced was not less than four years old, and appeared to have been braced, but he could not swear to the latter unless he put it under a lense.—Mr. Mayo: Are there any signs which would enable you to give an opinion whether it had been caged?—Yes; the bird clearly shows it has been kept on artificial food for at least three or four weeks. If it has been fed artificially the liver will be yellowish.—Witness here asked permission to examine the inside of the bird, a request which the Bench granted. While the examination was in progress further evidence was heard.

A. H. Godwin, painter, of Seaside, deposed that he lent defendant three Goldfinches. He had had one for three years and the others for two years. He kept them at home for singing.

Mr. Edmonds now returned after having made the examination on the dead bird. He said the bird was very much decomposed, and he was not prepared to say it had been caged six months. The liver also was very much decomposed. He distinctly said the bird had been caged for quite two months.

The Bench considered the evidence, and the Chairman then said they did not think the case had been proved, and it would be dismissed. He warned defendant to remember the conditions of the Act in future.

Mepham was then summoned for cruelly ill-treating the Linnets by bracing them and causing unnecessary suffering.—Inspector Maver gave evidence to finding two Linnets dead, and said he found on examination that it was due to bracing. They were tightly braced under the wings, and the backs were raw. He said to defendant, "What about those two birds you have braced? They are both dead." Mepham replied that it was his (the Inspector's) fault, as he had taken care of them. Witness had looked before the birds died, but could not tell that they were braced.—Mr. Mayo contended there was no case.—The Chairman said the summons would be dismissed, but thought it was as well that the case had been brought forward.—Mr. Mayo said he understood Goldfinches were on the increase, and that farmers were petitioning that they should be left out of the schedule.—"Sussex Daily News."

CHELTENHAM.

Annual show of the Cheltenham C.B.S., held Drill Hall, North Street, Nov. 2nd and 3rd, and proved another grand success; in fact, a record in every sense of the word. Entries numbered no fewer than 883 in 73 classes. This is a record, and is about 200 in excess of last year's. And the quality left nothing to be desired. The show manager, Mr. W. Pounsett, had everything in first-rate order, and proved himself in every way equal to the task. Judging was commenced at an early hour. The president is Mr. W. W. Theobald; chairman, Mr. H Harvey. Mr. A. S. Treasure, the ever-obliging and courteous secretary and treasurer, is the right man in the right place. He was assisted by a band of hard-working and enthusiastic stewards in Messrs. Child, Hayling, Hiles, Hamblin, Harvey, Kilminster, T. N. King, Hands, Lewis, Stevens, Williams, Skinner, Febery, Fish, Scrivens, Hope, Brown, Elstone, and Madagan. The exhibits were staged in two tiers at a nice height, and could be seen well. The Drill Hall is a most excellent place for holding such an exhibition, being well lighted, nicely warmed, and free from draughts. The show was held under the patronage of the Crested Canary Club, Southern Yorks. C.C., English and Welsh Border Fancy C.C., and the Foreign Bird Club. Crests opened the show, and were truly a grand collection, as also were the Norwich and Borders. Yorkshires were the strongest section and contained some gems. Mules and British birds were quite a show in themselves, being good in numbers, and not a bad bird amongst them. An innovation this year was the admittance of a large number of school children in the afternoon of the first day at 1d. each; two prizes were to be given for the two best essays on the show generally. Needless to say, this kindness on the part of the committee was much appreciated by the youngsters, and no doubt proved very instructive to them. We were also informed that the workhouse children would be admitted on the morning of the second day, and each presented with a bun, etc., by the Mayor. Messrs. J. Robson and W. Vardy were the judges, Mr. Robson taking Crests and Crest-breds, Yorkshires and Foreign, and Mr. Vardy the Cinnamons, Norwich, Borders, Mules and British.

A Guinea for an Eye.

Our Novel Competition: Here is the tail of a bird. This bird is facing the left; can you locate its eye and win £1 1s.?

In the above square appears the tail of a Norwich Plainhead Canary, which bird stands facing the left. We want you to place one dot (or small mark) in this square on the spot where you think the bird's eye should be. We offer a prize of one guinea to the reader who correctly solves this puzzle and complies with the following simple conditions:

1.—Only a dot or similar small mark indicating the position of the eye must be made in the above square (except as per rule 2). Any attempt to sketch in the body of the bird will be a disqualification.

2.—The competitor's name and address must be clearly written at the left-hand bottom corner of the square.

3.—All attempts must reach us on or before Thursday, November 17 next, or they will be too late to compete.

4.—In the case of two or more competitors guessing the correct position of the eye, their names will be written on slips of paper, the latter placed in a hat, and one slip drawn out by some independent person, and the name on the selected slip shall be the name of the winner of the prize.

5.—Any number of attempts may be sent in by the same competitor, but each attempt must be made on a separate square cut out of CAGE BIRDS, and each must bear the name and address of the sender.

6.—The Editor's decision must be accepted as final.

Locked up in our safe we have a key drawing of the bird with the eye in position, and it is the attempt which gives the position of the eye the same as in the key drawing that will win the prize. In the unlooked for event of no one being correct (the problem, we may say, has not been deliberately made difficult) the prize will go to the competitor whose "eye" comes nearest to the "eye" in the said key drawing.

Now, readers, here is a novel and intsresting little problem for you to tackle. Who is to have that £1 1s.? Send your solutions in early. Also, interest your friends in the puzzle, and get them to compete.

READING.

The entry at this radius show, which was held in the Cross Street Hall on Nov. 2nd, was about the same as last year, and the quality also was fairly good. The birds were nicely staged on the platforms, and their needs well attended to by the committee. Messrs. Lawson and Sheppard made most efficient and courteous secretaries, and the show generally was a success. Mr. C. A. House judged.

Eleven Firsts in One Season.

I was surprised on receiving my CAGE BIRDS of September 17, writes Mr. A. Somerfield (Sheffield), to find you had honoured me by depicting my dark yellow Greenfinch-Canary Hybrid on the front page. To brother fanciers who are interested in Hybrids, the following few remarks may be of interest. I bred the bird myself in June, 1908, the parents being a British Greenfinch and a yellow Canary hen, bred from a Lancashire Plainhead cock and a Norwich Plainhead hen. As an unflighted bird he did well, having 6 firsts to his credit, including Nottingham, Hull, etc. But last season his record was 11 firsts, including the Scottish National, Edinburgh, and Grand National (Crystal Palace), under such judges as Messrs. G. E. Weston, J. Robson, J. H. Roe, J. H. Payne, J. P. Dewar, J. C. Barnes, R. J. Howe, W. Vardy, and others.

WOLVERHAMPTON.

Fourth annual show, Wolverhampton C.B.S., held 28th and 29th October, Co-operative Hall, which is a room admirably adapted for an exhibition of this kind, being exceptionally free from draught, and having good light at all times. Unfortunately the weather was wretched, the rain being incessant, and the birds, in consequence, were not seen to advantage. The entry was a very fine one, constituting a record for this show, and we noticed quite a number of old winners well down the lists. Mrs. Staveley Hill, the president, accompanied by her husband (Mr. Staveley Hill, M.P.) was an interested visitor during the morning, and had an exhibition, but not for competition, an Australian Piping Crow. This society is one which should advance far. They are supported by and enter for a large body of working-class fanciers, who do their utmost to make their club a success. The work of the morning was right up to the last class judged, and the chairman, Mr. Weaver, the hard-working and indefatigable secretary, Mr. Gibbons, and committeemen, Messrs. Jones, Bryan, Millincamp, and several others, deserve much praise for their efforts. We came across Mr. G. E. Niblett, late of Cheltenham, who has been abroad for a long spell of years, and who was a big winner and exhibitor of Norwich before he left England. He has again taken up the hobby, and had a few good birds on view. He promises to make it "warm" for the best, next season. Mr. J. Robson judged.

CHELMSFORD O.S.

Show held Corn Exchange Nov 1st and 2nd. Entries were not so good as in previous years, owing to bad season locally. The exhibits were well staged in a good light, and were well looked after by an efficient band of stewards. The secs., Messrs. Ballard and Rippon, are to be congratulated on their successful management of affairs, which were always in the finest order. Mr. T Heath judged.

HALIFAX O.S.

Third Members' Show of season, held Grafton Hotel, Oct. 29th. Seeing this society were the promoters of the rule, "That no members' show be held during the bolts of a Yorkshire Union Show," we are still adhering to this principle, in order not to weaken the entries at Union shows, notwithstanding the rule has been deleted. Entries taken up to 8 p.m., and totalled 81. Classification was for cocks only. Mr. J. J. Dunn judged York birds, and Mr. J. F. Thackray Norwich, both gave satisfaction.

LONDON AND COUNTIES O.A.

Fifth annual show, held at the new Headquarters, Leysian Hall, City-road, E.C., October 29th. Mr. W. Shakespeare judged, and his awards proved very satisfactory to all. It was one of the finest little shows the society has had for two years past. Many thanks were given to the hard-working secretary, Mr. W. Gilbert, for the interest he has taken in trying to keep the society together. The Norwich of Messrs. Austin and Bell were a nice lot, Mr. Austin taking special for best colour. The Yorkshires were also a nice lot; Mr. W. Salter made a fine show, taking cup (given by Mr. W. Gilbert) for most points in the young bird section, and autumn shows. The judge took great pains over the Crests, which were staged by Messrs. R. J. Pretty and C. J. Willis. Mr. G. Thurling had a nice show of Goldfinch-Can. Mules, and Goldfinch-Greenfinch. The worthy president, Mr. F. W. Thorpe, made a short speech, and thanked the numerous visitors and fanciers for their kind support in visiting the show.

CITY OF BIRMINGHAM C.B.S.

Young stock show (confined to members of West Bromwich, Wolverhampton, and Birmingham societies) held at latter's headquarters, October 12th, and proved a splendid success, 102 birds facing the judges, Messrs. Baker and Richardson, who gave every satisfaction. Mr. Weaver won three specials (including one for best Plainhead in show), with a clear yellow Norwich, while another Wolverhampton member (Mr. Gibbons) took special for best novice Norwich. Other specials: Mr. Peace, for Crests, and Messrs. Kidner and Caine; but the two latter were limited for competition to those who had exhibited at one of the nest feather shows. Mr. Hunt's exhibits arrived too late for judging, having been eight hours travelling twelve miles; hard lines, as the Siskin-Canary Mule would have been an easy winner. Mr. Mole, assistant-secretary, was in charge of the show, in the absence of secretary on holiday, and carried out his duties in a praiseworthy manner. Our society is going ahead strongly, and with such capable judges among the members as Messrs. Broadhurst, Jones, Wells, Baker, and Richardson ought soon to be second to none in the Midlands.

HARRINGTON.

Harrington C.B.S. annual show, held Old School Rooms, Oct. 27 and 28. The birds were nicely staged and Mr. T. Dodds, the hon. secretary, and his staff, looked after the exhibits in a satisfactory way. The entries did not turn up so well, owing to the show clashing with Carlisle. Some nice birds were benched, the Borders being the pick. Yorkshires followed close. A few really nice Norwich were also on view. The dark Linnet Mule belonging to Mr. G. Wilson, of Frizington, is a gem, and will take some stopping in the best of company. Mr. W. Mundell (Bradford) placed the cards.

ST. AUSTELL.

St. Austell and Dist. F.A. held annual exhibition cage birds, Market House, and Town Hall, Oct. 27. It proved a great attraction. Although confined to members and the district, entries totalled about 150, which was highly satisfactory, and some of the most prominent fanciers in the county reside in the district. The society can boast of a very strong and influential membership. There is an energetic committee, comprising Rev. F. Thomas, Messrs. W. G. Behenna, M. V. Phillips, H. Phillips, F. Thomas, F. W. Rosvear, E. Scott, T. Mann, J. Carne, G. Carne, T. Warne, P. Nott, E. Whetter, W. R. Northcott, W. F. Rowe, H. D. Kenyon, E. J. Mitchell, W. Thompson, T. M. Hocking, J. Davies, F. R. O. Mewton, W. G. Nile, J. Thomas, K. Daniel, and the general hon. secretary, W. P. Northey. The cage birds were staged in the spacious Town Hall, which is splendidly lighted, and made an excellent place. The birds were well staged, and reflected great credit upon the committee, who had charge of them. Mr. T. Trevena was a most courteous and obliging secretary, and being a sterling fancier, had every thing well in hand, and he is a general favourite among the fanciers of the district. Norwich and Yorkshire classes were the strongest; the foreign birds were exceptionally good, and the best ever seen at their shows. The award for best bird was secured by Mr. Thompson with his well known Cornish Chough. Sandiford's silver medal for hottest col.-fed, Mr. Trevena; special for best Norwich, Mr. K. Daniel; special for most points, by Mr. S. Gaved. Mr. J. Davies placed the cards, and his awards were well received.

CASTLE DOUGLAS.

Fifth exhibition and competition of the Castle Douglas C.B.A. held Town Hall, Oct. 29th, when there was good turn-out of exhibitors. The birds were arranged on the three-tier system, on a large stage at the one end of the hall, which was splendidly lighted from the roof and a large side window. The committee, under the presidency of Major McKie, D.S.O., of Ernespie, were early in attendance, and did everything in their power for the benefit of the exhibits, as well as the exhibitors. Mr. E. A. Wallach, the energetic secretary, had everything well in hand, and he was ably assisted by Messrs. G. Tweedie, J. Burnie, J. Martin, and W. Johnstone, who did all in their power to make everybody happy and comfortable. Mr. A. McMeeking, Glasgow, judged all classes, and his awards were well received.

GREAT DISPLAY OF QUALITY AT MANCHESTER.

The Old-established Manchester and N.C.O. Society draws a remarkable "gate", and has some choice birds on the benches for visitors to look over.

This great provincial event, the 28th of its kind, was held on October 28 and 29, and fully lived up to its enviable reputation as one of the most attractive fixtures of the season. For the second time the venue was the Belle Vue Gardens. In the fine room there over 1,500 birds were staged, among them some of the choicest specimens at present travelling the shows, and this wonderful display of quality quite compensated the slight decrease seen in the entry when compared with the exhibition of 1909.

Lancashires have always held pride of place here, and some really remarkable birds were shown to-day. Their respective owners must be congratulated upon the fine display. A most notable feature was the absence of our old friend Mr. R. Barrass' exhibits from these classes. I was told that he had been the first to enter his birds in this section for long over 20 years past. It is to be hoped that his absence is only a temporary one. As it was 58 really fine birds were shown in 6 classes (2 being cancelled). Fifty-four Lizards came up in 6 classes, and the spangled beauties ran to a very high standard of merit. Mr. J. Swallwell judged these sections, and seemed to give every satisfaction.

The Crests—oh! where were they?

The Crests and Crest-breds—what shall I say of these? Surely their paucity is not significant of the fact that they are sadly on the decline? How else can it be explained away? Here we have the Crest Club's very handsome specials offered for competition in 8 open and 2 novice classes, and these receiving the magnificent entry (mark it well) of 62 birds, and 21 of these appear in two novice classes! Something "wrong with the works" somewhere. A paltry total of 41 birds in 8 champion classes. This needs no further comment. Those loyal Crest fanciers who did send deserve credit for so doing; but where were the others with their vaunted enthusiasm? Some champion birds were on view, as is only to be expected when such noted exhibitors as Messrs. T. Taylor, G. C. Ley, Evins Bros., Evans and Brotherton meet. Mr. G. Colledge judged, and this old fancier's awards met with entire approval.

The Belgians and Scotch Fancy classes also had to be cancelled, but Mr. S. Hadwin (who skilfully judged this section) was quite elated at the display of the jaunty little Border Fancies. Their popularity is ever growing, and the classes were nicely filled, containing some of the best the Fancy can produce. There were some very heavy selling classes, containing many good bargains.

The green Borders were a grand lot, numbers and quality being both in evidence, and as they came under the new green standard which gives 35 points for colour, previous placings were upset. Still, the majority of the birds were very sound in colour, whilst still retaining the old type and quality.

The Norwich Plainheads were without doubt the best collection seen at Manchester for several years, both as regards numbers and quality. The majority of the crack exhibitors were well represented, and the honours were well divided. Special mention, however, must be made of Mr. Vardy's team, which accounted for three firsts and a third—not a bad performance with 4 birds in such hot competition, and they deserved all they got. The winning yellow hen is a stormer. Other birds which from time to time were surrounded by crowds of admirers were Messrs. John Trengove and Son's unflighted buff hen, Mr. Unwin's buff hen (which was claimed several times over and realised a good figure on being put up by auction), and Mr. T. Seed's marked yellow. The amateur Norwich section was, as usual, very strong in numbers, and some particularly smart birds were on view, and from what we could gather many will doubtless change hands. The surprise of the show was undoubtedly the Cinnamons. It is some time since we saw more, or a better collection, at any show. Colour, size, shape, and quality were to be found in every class. The judges were Messrs. Booth (Norwich) and Godley (Cinnamons), and their work left no room for complaints.

The champion Yorkshire section was not supported as well as usual. We do not know why, considering the good prize money and specials, and a popular judge. However, what was short in quantity was amply made up in the quality, some really grand birds being staged, and they gave the judge a stiff task. We should like to know what firm from Yorkshire (is the name reminiscent of a certain tobacco company?) were betting cigars round they had bred a buff that would take more firsts than any other buff this season. Was the bird here? If so, they look like getting some cheap cigars. The amateurs turned up in great force. It certainly pays an executive to watch what classes are supported, and cater liberally for them, even at the expense of the non-paying, though popular, classes. There were two birds in the above sections that stood out "on their own." Messrs. Ogden's clear buff is a gem of the first water, and will make those "sit up" that meet it. The other, also a clear buff, was shown in the amateur section—a wonderful bird, its only fault being a slight lack of size compared with the champion class. A good big 'un should always beat a good little 'un. Cinnamon-marks were a complete failure. Where were last year's big classes? The prize money is evenly divided, so why this scanty support?

Greens in Full Force.

The Yorkshire Greens came up splendidly. It is a long time since we saw twenty foul buffs out; the colour is greatly improved, not showing the black backs we were so wont to see. A good many of the winners could do with darker legs and beaks, but we feel sure this will be remedied in time. Many birds have not fined down yet, it being a general complaint that all the Greens are backward this year. We did not quite see eye to eye with the awards, but this was no doubt brought about by the Greens being judged so late. Neither exhibitor nor judge gets a fair chance unless the Greens are judged while the light is good. We trust the Manchester committee will in future have this little matter put right. Their worthy president, when spoken to about it, at once put the judge on to the Greens. This is a friendly hint, and the writer hopes it will be taken in the same spirit. We cannot say that any exhibit stood out above the others, as they are getting so level in type and colour that first one exhibitor pops up and then another.

The Norwich Greens furnished a surprise when compared with previous years. Only thirty-five in four classes—just sufficient for one class in the old days! What's wrong? Is nobody keen after the Norwich cup and specials? Or is this merely the "calm before the storm"? There are plenty of Greens about, and I think it only wants one man to say he is going for the cup, when I think things will "hum"—the others will have an incentive to stop him! An unfortunate occurrence was Mr. Lawson's making the mistake of putting his labels on the wrong cages, which put a stopper on his birds. Mr. Deacon had a "day out" Did you save them for Manchester, Charlie? What a stormer the foul buff is! Mr. H. W. Battye judged, and gave general satisfaction.

Money for Britishers.

The Hybrid section has not been so strong with high-class exhibits—both quality and quantity—for many years. Messrs. Duncan and Logan put down two gems, a clear yellow Goldfinch-Canary, just about perfect, and a monster yellow Goldfinch-Canary, very lightly variegated, both capturing first in their respective classes. There were also some beautiful light Linnet-Canary and light Siskin-Canary crosses shown in great form. The dark classes contained many very high-class birds, and these are now well divided in many hands. The British Bird section was grand, and formed one of the strong features of the show. And there was rather a rush of claimants, too, for some of the prominent exhibits—notably the winning Bullfinch (claimed at £5), a real gem; the winning Goldfinch, claimed at £3 3s.; the winning Nightingale, a lovely bird, soon claimed at £1 10s., and worth more. Several others were claimed as well. Notable Softbills attracting special attention were a lovely Great Grey Shrike in grand order, a very fine Chough, a really good Waxwing, a fine Ring Ouzel, a lovely Redstart, a Blackcap, and a Yellow Wagtail. The Foreign Birds were excellent, particularly the smaller species, and the Tanagers found two rare ones leading. Mr. Chas. Houlton judged Hybs., Brit., and For., and his decisions seemed well received by all.

The management was in the hands of a very capable and energetic committee, with that old and highly esteemed fancier, Mr. W. A. Bladon as president; the courteous Mr. J. Coulson as hon. treasurer; and Messrs. Raynes and Spencer in the capacity of assistant show managers, who ably got through a deal of hard work. There was also a very capable band of stewards who promptly and ably assisted the judges. The post of show manager fell for the first time to the lot of Mr. H. Boothman (the hon. sec. of the society), a portrait of whom appears on our front page this week. Mr. Boothman in first-class style got through the arduous work inseparable from the running of such a large show; he made it clear that he is a capable organiser and a hard worker, and no matter how deep in worry he may be he is always courteous to exhibitors and visitors beseiging him with enquiries. It was the opinion of everybody that the society is fortunate in its choice of show manager. He certainly did well. The committee comprised: H. Aspinall, J. H. Aspinall, T. Atkinson, G. Bruce, S. Cook, A. G. Davis, W. Espley, G. F. Gray, W. Harding, J. C. Harrison, F. Hayward, J. Hughes, G. W. F. Lythgoe, F. Richards, E. Riley, A. G. Smith, H. W. Schofield, and J. Yeats.

Record Crowds.

The exhibits were excellently staged in tiers, the light was good, and there was every opportunity for all birds to be seen. The pavilion, however, is, if anything, rather small, and does not allow too much space between the stages for such a crush of fanciers and visitors as is seen at this show. I think the authorities at Belle Vue would be well advised in allowing the show to be held in one of the larger pavilions another year, for it is a great attraction. I should think there were hundreds (or even thousands) who could not even get into the show on the Saturday afternoon, so great a crowd was there at Belle Vue. Fanciers were present from all over the country, the writer coming in contact with bird lovers from London, the Midlands, Wales, Scotland, the eastern counties, and the extreme northern counties. It is not easy to convey an adequate idea of the numbers present. We noticed CAGE BIRDS' stall, with its "Nutshell" and other fanciers' books, in popular demand—when these publications are once seen they are soon snapped up by fanciers. Several specialist club meetings were being held in various parts of the pavilion, and these, we were told, would be reported by their respective secretaries. The general sales during the show were numerous, and many winners here will be seen next week in their new owners' names. Manchester Show would seem to be a happy hunting ground each season for "team builders." A great many, we may say, of the crowd of fanciers remained late on the Saturday evening to see the exquisite firework display in the grounds.

NORWICH (Hand-in-Hand).

Norwich Hand-in-Hand B.B.S. eighteenth show held Oct. 24 at Show Hall, Sussex Street. Mr. Jacob Mackley judged, and appeared to give every satisfaction. The scc. is Mr. James Freemen, to whom is due not a little of the credit for the success of the show; his efforts are especially praiseworthy in view of the fact that he is quite young, having succeeded Mr. J. L. Stark in the office.

DERWENT VALLEY
(co. Durham).

Fourth annual open show, of the Derwent Valley C.B.S., held Oct. 29th, and was in every way a most decided success. The Church Hall, Hamsterley, was again the venue, and is admirably adapted, being large and roomy, and quite free from draughts. Despite the fact, four classes had to be cancelled, there was a record entry, the total reaching 400, about 60 more than the previous best. Norwich, Yorkshires, and Borders were really grand, each class containing birds of real merit, the Norwich classes in particular being exceptionally good. British birds also came up well, and made a fine display, many well known winners being on view. In Mr. J. Lindsay, the society possess a really capable secretary, hard working, courteous, and most obliging, and the longer they can keep him at the head of affairs the better it will be for themselves. Under his careful management everything passed off without the slightest hitch, and for a one-day show the arrangements were exceptionally good, nothing being omitted that could conduce to the welfare of the exhibits. He was ably assisted by the assistant secretary, Mr. W. Marsh, and the treasurer, Mr. W. Tomlinson, and they in turn were well backed up by a grand body of fanciers, headed by the chairman, Mr. G. Barkas, and vice-chairman, Mr. M. Armstrong—everyone eager to do his best. It is not often one finds the chairman of a society in attendance at the railway station to see the birds are dispatched in a proper manner; no doubt this thoughtfulness on the part of Mr. Barkas will be kindly remembered by exhibitors another year. The set of carvers presented by Mr. Curtis for most points gained by a member throughout show was secured by Messrs. Barkas and Partners, special for second most points going to Messrs. Collings and Turnbull; the set of carvers presented by the Rev. W. Rickaby for best novice bird was won by Mr. M. W. Gardiner with a really good Crest-bred. The staging of the exhibits was a credit to the officials, all the birds being placed at a nice height. Unfortunately the weather was wretched, being cold and wet all day, yet despite this we are pleased to record a good attendance during the afternoon, and we noticed many well-known fanciers present. This show was not held under C.B.U. rules. Mr. J. Robson judged.

HUDDERSFIELD.

Huddersfield O.S. annual open show held Oct. 29th in the Primitive Methodist Schoolroom, Northumberland Street, a good big room, and very conveniently situated. Thirty classes were provided. Yorkshires came up well in numbers, and the Norwich were not so far behind; but the British bird section was a failure as regards entries, although the quality was good. The show, however, was not adequately advertised. The total number of birds on view was 418, an average of 14 per class, and they found a good morning's work for the judges, Mr. H. W. Walsh (Halifax) who took Yorkshires, and Mr. G. H. Massey (Stockport), who did the Norwich, British birds, etc. The former made his debut at this fixture as an open class judge. Mr. R. Greensmith is an able and courteous secretary, and is ably assisted by Mr. B. H. Clegg, whilst in Mr. Archer they have a very hard-working president; these gentlemen were well backed up by Messrs. Miller (vice-president), Gledhill (treasurer), Lawford, Jackson, Brier, Townend, Charlesworth, Battye, and many others. Sectional specials: Yorkshires, Messrs. Bailey and Charlesworth; Norwich, Messrs. Humphries and Thomas; British, Messrs. Inman and Archer; Selling, Mr. Pawson; Yorkshire novice, Messrs. Morrison, Rigg, and Radley; Norwich novice, Mr. Jackson.

GALSTON.

Annual exhibition held Good Templars' Hall, Oct. 29th. Unfortunately, entries were down owing to the two Ayrsbire shows so near one another clashing on same day. It is to be hoped that by another year some arrangement will be come to. Mr. Ralston and Mr. D. Kennedy judged Scots Fancies, and Mr. J. Duncan the Border Fancies and Plainheads; their awards gave general satisfaction. The secretarial duties were in the capable hands of Mr. Frew, who, along with a hard-working committee, had everything in very good order.

HASTINGS.

Hastings United C.B.S. annual show held Nov. 1st and 2nd under patronage of the Southern Norwich, Southern Yorkshire, and N.B.B and M. Clubs. Norwich came up well, with type and quality to the front. Yorkshires were not quite so numerous, but the quality on the whole was really good. British birds and Mules were a grand lot, and some of the noted cracks were there in full swing. Mr. Godden makes an ideal secretary, and was busy with the catalogues with awards when we left. He was ably assisted by Mr. Coombs and a committee of fanciers who are not afraid of work. Messrs. J. Stevens (chairman), R. Craig, A. George, G. Stubberfield, H. Pennells, G. Barham, W. Button, A. R. May, H. Bond, T. Veness, J. Dawson, H. Morris, T. Coombs, G. Brooke, M. Wilson, F. Slack, and C. Cave. Mr. J. Robson judged.

BERWICK-ON-TWEED.

Berwick Canary Club's 23rd annual show held Oct. 29th in the Long Room, Corn Exchange. Entries exceeded those of last year by over 100, there being over 300 birds staged, which is marvellous, seeing the show is confined to an eight-mile radius. The British and Foreign birds increased greatly in number, no doubt owing to the counter attraction in a solid silver cup for most points in section, presented by the president, the Rev. Father Smythe. The cup for the first year has landed in the room of Mr. Grey, who staged a grand team, being closely followed by Messrs. Roper and Morland. The latter also accounted for the lion's share of tickets in the Norwich section, also winning the Sandiford medal. Cup for best young bird fell to Mr. Thompson's beavy piebald buff Scotch Fancy cock. Mr. Walker took the B.F.C.C. medal. The hall is a grand one; it is high, ligbt, and airy; hut tbe hall was scarcely large enough for the grand "gate," which proved a record. In every respect the show was a decided success. In less than an hour after closing every bird was packed and on the road home. The president visited the show, and was presented with a nice singing Mule and cage. Everytbing passed off without a hiteb, Mr. A. Hay, tbe secretary, being in the show all day; he was ably assisted by the cbairman, Mr. Makins; vice-chairman, Mr. Smart; and such well-known fanciers as Messrs. Renwick, Blackhall, W. Hay, Walker, Thompson, Morland, Purvis, etc. Mr. J. Patterson (Cbirnside) judged the Scotch and Border Fancies, and Mr. T. Dixon (Bedlington) the remainder, and they left little if anything to complain about.

SOUTH & NORTH SHIELDS

South Shields, North Shields, and Dist. C.B.S. eighth annual show held October 29th at North-Eastern Hotel (kindly lent by Mr. J. K. Hall). This is the first time in the history of the society they held a one-day members' show. One of the oldest societies, they generally held a two-days' open show, but owing to adverse circumstances they had to be content with having a confined members' one-day show. It proved a huge success, acknowledged by all the visitors, who were there in crowds, to be the finest members' show ever held in the North. Thirty members staged 250 birds of the finest quality, which gave the judge, Mr. J. Stanger (Pelton Fell) a hard job to separate them, which he did with great credit. The arrangements were carried out under the directorship of Messrs. Wm. Thompson (chairman), W. L. Smith (vice-chair), W. Howden (assist.-sec.), J. Barrass (secretary), and the committee, composed of such well-known fanciers as Messrs. T. Winter, C. Alty, J. Richardson, R. Addison, H. Coltman, S. Steel, M. Woodhouse, J. Watson, J. Crass, R. Telford, R. Morrell, W. Duke, W. Garvock, T. Baker, J. Hands, and H. Potts.

HUCKNALL TORKARD.

Hucknall Turkard C.B.S. 17th annual exhibition held October 28th and 29th, Public Hall. The hall has good light, is spacious, and of a cosy description. Norwich made a capital display. Crests and Crest breds, although somewhat down in numbers, as on previous occasions contained a few real "eye-openers." Yorkshires came up rather better than usual, and the British birds and Mules were really nice. Mr. E. Severn makes a capital president, and controls in admirable style. The committee of management are most enthusiastic and very practical, and du their utmost tu ensure success. The committee are: Messrs. Marshall, Pass, Severn, Mason, J. Faux, Earp, Richardson, H. Jacklin, T. Twine, and S. Faux. Mr. E. Mellors proves himself a most capable secretary, and Mr. J. Nicholls a capital understudy; both worked like Trojans, keeping the ball rolling in superb fashion. The management throughout was excellent. Staging was of a very neat description, and every bird could be seen at a glance. Judging was over in good time, and cards displayed promptly by the stewards, Messrs. J. Nicholls and H. Jacklin. Judges, Mr. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield), the Canaries, British birds, and Mules, and Mr. G. Marshall (Hucknall Huthwaite), the Crests and Crest-breds; their awards were well received. Special for best in show, Messrs. Norwood Bros. (Buff D.C.); Sandiford's, for hottest fed, Mr. W. Vardy (cl. yell. Nor.).

Hartlepools C.B.S. sixth annual show, held in the Church Square School, Oct. 29th. This is a splendid room for the purpose, being well lighted and lofty. The exhibits were well staged and attended to by the committee. The show was held under the patronage of the Northern Yorkshire C.C. Norwich were a nice lot, the pick being the winning unflighted yel. a stormer, which will be heard of again. Yorkshires were the feature of the show, both in numbers and quality. In the selling classes were many very cheap birds, and claims were numerous. The two mule or hybrid classes were well filled, and some nice exhibits were on view. British bird classes, whilst not so large as we usually see at shows in this district, contained many birds of great merit, particularly the winning Redstart, and the 1st Greenfinch. The members' classes were well filled, and contained many birds fit to win in the open. The 482 entries were all packed and dispatched by 7 p.m. Mr. Woodhead is a most efficient and courteous secretary, and was assisted by a hard working committee, who were delighted with the record entry and the splendid "gate," the room being filled. The able judges were Messrs. J. Wilcock and H. Tams.

AYR.

Ayr and Dis. C.B.C. third annual exhibition, held in Masonic Hall, High-street, 29th October. The Hall, though not very spacious, is nevertheless a very comfortable one for housing the exhibits, and the show must be written down a great success. Over 600 exhibits were staged, giving an average of fully 9 per class. The club is fortunate in having an ideal, hard-working secretary, Mr. C. C. Irvine, an ideal, hard-working secretary, Mr. C. C. Irvine, being the right man in the right place, and he is ably assisted by a committee of fanciers who give every attention to the exhibits under their care. Mr. McKay, hon. president, Mr. Forbes president, and Mr. Hyslop vice-president, are all enthusiasts, who devoted much of their time to making show the success it undoubtedly was, and among others of the committee we noticed Messrs. J. Cameron, A. Girvan, W. Lyall, J. Brown, R. Aitken, D. McComb, G. Hunter, A. Lindsay, J. French, J Boll, W. McKay, A. Campbell, N. Brown, R. Hunter, and T. French, each cheerfully doing his best for the comfort alike of exhibits, exhibitors and spectators. During the afternoon quite a large number of visitors were present, and they had the pleasure of seeing some tip-top specimens of the up-to-date cage bird favourites. We hope to hear the show was a financial success, as it so well deserves to be. Judges: for Scotch Fancies and Borders, Mr. D. Holden (Muirkirk), for Crests and Norwich, Mr. R. Taylor (Preston), for Yorkshires, Mr. C. Martin (Glasgow), and for British and Foreign, Mr. J. Maddison (Newcastle); their awards were all-round considered satisfactory.

GLASGOW (Confined) SOUTHERN O.A.

Glasgow (Confined) Southern O.A. seventeenth annual show, held Grand National Halls, 19th October. The entries were somewhat back compared with previous exhibitions; but the quality was very uniform throughout. The cup was won by Mr. Gray with a grand yellow foul hen, runner-up being Mr. Fleming's buff cock. The secretary was kept busy with sales, there is annually a demand for stock at this show. Mr. Montgomery's first yellow cock was early claimed by Mr. Fulton for £8, and the second yellow cock (also Mr. Montgomery's) was secured by Mr. Banks at £5. In the absence of the president and vice-president, Mr. Porteous acted as president, and acquitted himself with credit. Mr. Fleming has no equal as a secretary; he has a thorough grasp of the business, and his heart is really in the work; the marked success of this society is due to his untiring efforts. The show was well patronised, and it seemed to be enjoyed. Judges: Messrs. Arnott, Paterson, Park, and Watson.

BEDFORD.

Eighth annual show of the Bedford and Beds C.B.S. held Town Hall October 27th. The opening ceremony was performed by Mr. Attenborough (M.P. for the borough), who was supported by the Rev. F. H. Jackson, rector of Stagsden, Mr. C. B. Halliley, Mr. H. Gentle (chairman), and the members of the committee. Entries were somewhat below last year's number, but the quality of the exhibits was quite up to the average, if not above. The Norwich classes were well filled, the buff hens breaking the record for Bedford, with 36 entries; several sets of winners might easily have been found in this and other classes. Several choice Britishers were on view, but the numbers were a little disappointing. Mr. Timæus, as usual, sent a charming lot of Foreigners, put up in his usual well-known style, which were much admired. There were also some very fine specimens of the taxidermist's art. Silver cup for most points for birds bred during present year by the exhibitor, Mr. J. Beanland, with 67 points; runner-up, Mr. C. H. Goodman, 64 points. Mr. J. Robson judged.

DYSART.

Dysart and Dis. C.B.S. sixth annual show held 29th October, Normand Memorial Hall. The show all over was a great success, the entries totalling 600, being 150 up on last year; and right well do the executive deserve the patronage obtained, as they are a body of sterling fanciers, ready at all times to do what they can for either exhibits or visitors. The President, Mr. D. Walker, was early in evidence, and the new secretary, Mr. J. S. Harris, has already proved himself a great acquisition to the Society. He was ably assisted by Mr. J. Logan, and between them everything went off without a hitch. Cards were up early in the day, and the awards with a few exceptions were very well received. Scotch Fancies held pride of place; although not present in great numbers, there were several grand birds forward. The Border Fancy section proved a hot one, and Mr. J. Thomson had a stiff task set him to select the winners, but that he came well out of the ordeal was evident from the absence of all grumbling. The medal winner proved to be a grand buff cock, staged by Mr. George Bennet (Kelso), who has only lately started exhibiting. He has evidently very little to learn in the art of staging a Border. The runner-up was Mr. H. Bennet, who ran him very close. Crests and Crestbreds were a very nice lot, and Norwich were well up to standard, both in numbers and quality. The cages in this section were a nondescript lot, one we noticed in particular carrying a prize ticket which had the perches "hacked" and the bottom of the cage laid with white paper. The Mules, British, and Foreign birds proved a great attraction, and some well-known exhibits were forward to do battle for their owners. The Harris Cup for most points over show was won by Mr. J. Logan; this proved a popular win. The runner-up was Mr. J. Hutchison. Judges: For Scotch Fancies: Mr. Chas. Berwick (St. Andrew's); for Border Fancies: Mr. J. Thomson (Newton-grange); for Crests and Plainheads: Mr. A. Malcolmson (Glasgow); for Mules, British, and Foreign birds: Mr. A. W. Watson (Leith).

DUBLIN.

Dublin P. and C.B.A. tenth annual show held in Rotunda, October 27th and 28th, under the patronage of the Y.C.C. of Ireland. Entries were not quite as good as in previous years, but no doubt this was due to its being held so early. Somehow the birds this year are not as far advanced through moult as this time last year. However, there were some really good birds exhibited. As usual Yorkshires led the way; in several classes two or more teams could have been easily selected. Mr. Gillen's yellow marked cock is worthy of special mention; this bird is a flighted, bearing last year's "closed ring" which won for its owner many prizes. This year it has commenced the light by gaining special for best Yorkshire. Crests and Crest breds were a very fine collection, Mr. Birse's green buff C.B. winning Drummond's cup for best bird in show. Among the Britishers Mr. Wall staged a Hawfinch, which obtained 1st and two specials. The Linnets and Gold finches were a nice collection, but hardly yet in full bloom. It is pleasing to note that the popularity and interest shown in the keeping and exhibition of cage birds are on the increase; there are several new novices competing this year, and they are to be congratulated on their success. The Norwich Plainhead classes were all cancelled owing to not getting sufficient entries. The show-room is so well known that it is scarcely necessary for us to make any comment. It is an ideal hall for a show, well lighted, well ventilated, and free from draughts. The officials were fortunate in having a good hard working fancier at the wheel such as Mr. J. Gibson the hon. sec. Messrs. Clote, Bowling, Farrell, O'Reilly, Muleahy, Sholcdice, Hyland, etc., also rendered valuable assistance. The secretary was very energetic and obliging. He is certainly a good man for this responsible office; he kept everything well in hand, and was quite "at home" with his arduous duties. The "gate" appeared to be good, and we hope the show will be a financial success. Mr. R. Halliday placed the cards, and his awards apparently were well received.

OUR CANARIES
BY
"CAGE BIRDS," 154 Fleet Street, London.

Part 7, November, of "OUR CANARIES"

(6d. nett.)

Was published last Friday, and instantly secured a large number of new subscribers for the complete work. Mr. NORMAN, in this part, bas excelled himself as an artist, the pictures in exact natural colours of clear yellow, Crestbred and Crested Canaries and yellow self-green Yorkshire Canary being extremely lifelike and beautiful. Twenty-four pages of the most practical and interesting letterpress, copiously illustrated with diagrams and sketches. Two beautiful black and white art plates, by way of supplements, make a number as attractive as any in the series. This colossal work has proved a revelation to all its purchasers. Nothing upon the same scale of comprehensive usefulness bas hitherto been thought practicable. Every detail in the routine of Canary Culture is more than adequately covered. Part 7 tells of the influence of heat upon breeding—the care of the stock birds, the selection of stock, pedigree, influence of sire and dam, yellow and buff, squatting hens, the genesis of the egg, how to precipitate egg production, pairing and sitting, how to fix points, how to balance points, mating, nestbuilding, etc., etc.

The contribution in this part from the pen of Dr. T. A. BOWES is alone worth the price charged for the whole book.

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers in all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insisted upon.

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or, if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee ha paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

IMPORTANT NOTE.—Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertiser, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

Headlines or Footlines 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/6 according to size.

Small prepaid advertisements of a general nature and not connected in any way with the Cage Bird Trade are inserted at the rate of ½d. per word throughout. Minimum 12 words 6d.

Advertisements must in all cases bear the bona fide name and address of the advertiser, and no advertisement will be inserted if addressed to a receiving office, or similar place of call.

PREPAID ADVERTISEMENTS

UNDISPLAYED.—6d. for the first eighteen words. One Halfpenny per Word for each word over eighteen. MINIMUM, 18 words 6d.

Postal Orders must be sent as far as possible. All moneys should be made payable to F. CARL.

The Proprietor reserves the right to refuse any advertisement, or to cancel any advertisement ordered for a series, at any time, without assigning any reason for so doing.

Advertisements close Tuesdays first post in each week, and should be sent to the Advertisement Manager, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London. Terms for Display Advertisements on application.

My Self-Acting Net Traps

catch birds of every description without attention, price 1/6, larger size 2/-, carriage paid. I have received hundreds of testimonials stating they are A1 for catchers. Read two, and beware of imitations that are not worth the carriage.—"Sir,—Net trap to hand; it is honestly worth dozens of some nets advertised. I tried it this afternoon and caught more birds in two hours than I caught in other traps in two months."—George Matthews, 2, Lucas Street, Stockport. "Sir, Trap arrived; it is far superior to all others. I have to-day caught fifteen Linnets, six Redpolls, four Chaffinches, three Greenfinches."—J. Scragg, Old Brewery, Armitage Road, Rugeley. Entirely self-acting and self setting trap ones, warranted to catch birds and reset without attention, 1s. 6d.; loose netting, strongest and finest obtainable, ½in. mesh, 7ft. deep, 5d. yard; ¾ mesh, 7ft. deep, 3d.; 10ft. deep, 4d. yard, post free; clap nets, ¾ or 1in. mesh netting, genred all round and sent complete for catching; write for prices before buying elsewhere: Morris, 112, Cape Hill, Birmingham.

are a number of letters from persons who have actually tried my appliances. If you take into consideration the fact that these letters are not what I say, but what my customers say, I think you will agree with me that they say far more for my goods than I could ever say myself. For years past I have publicly invited all intending purchasers to have any of my goods on approval, test them side by side with similar articles from elsewhere, and if mine are not far better value, smash them up, and I will refund every penny of your money. Never yet has an article been broken up, nor have I received a grumble from anyone; but, on the other hand, I have received hundreds of letters saying that my goods were far superior to others, and that there was no comparison between them. I send everything on approval, either cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and refund money in full if entire satisfaction is not given. Clap nets, made from ¾in. mesh, genuine thread netting, 3 yards long, 5½ft. deep, 4ft. fly, 4/- pair, ditto 4 yards, 5/-, 5 yards 6/-, 6 yards 7/-, 7yds. 8/-, 8yds. 9/-, 9yds. 10/-, 10yds 11/- per pair. Please note: My clap nets consist of two nets to the pair, and are fitted up complete with hemp lines, birch poles, ash pegs, and everything required for immediate use. Self-acting spring net traps, 24in. long by 18in. wide, 1/- ditto, 18 by 14in., 9d. each. These traps are entirely different to all others on the market; they can be baited for hard and softbills at same time, and call bird can be used inside them if required. Will catch and hold any bird, from Wren to Rook, and so simple a child can set them. Batfolding Sparrow nets, fitted on 15ft. bamboo poles, 5/6, ditto 17ft. poles 6/-, ditto 19ft. poles 6/6 complete. Loose thread netting, as used in above nets (made specially for bird netting, not second-hand fishing-nets), ¾in. mesh, 7ft. deep, 3d. yard, ditto 9ft. deep, 4d. yard, ditto 12ft. deep 5d. yard, all post free. Real Japanese birdlime, guaranteed absolutely strongest lime made, ½lb. 6d., ¼lb. 10d., 1lb. 1/6, sample 3d., all post free. This lime contains a secret chemical known only to the makers, which makes the lime hold in all weathers, even in the rain, and enables it to leave birds' feathers quite clean. Just the thing for the damp November fogs. Single trap cages, 6d. each, double ditto 1/- each, treble ditto 1/3 each, all with separate compartment for call bird. Patent self-setting and self-acting trap cages (reg. No. 23,927), guaranteed to automatically reset immediately each bird is caught, 1/6 each. Italian hemp pull lines, specially spun, free from snarl or back twist, 68 yards long, 1/4 each, post free. Brace swivels, 3 3d., 12 6d., post free. Round or square topped call cages, all-wire tops and wood bottoms, 4d. each, 6 1/9, 12 3/-. Thousands of other articles required by catchers kept in stock. Send stamp for full printed list, which also gives hints on net making. The following letters are entirely unsolicited, and I offer £50 to any man that can prove I have ever asked for a testimonial:—"Over Road, Willingham, October 29th.—Sir,—Received net and trap safely, and am well pleased with same. Please send following.—Yours, G. Lack." "Coaltown of Balgonic, Fifeshire, October 27th.—Sir,—Please send another ½lb. lime. Last I had from you was best I ever had; not one bird got off.—Yours, T. Gilmour." "4, Castle Place, Scarborough, October 27th.—Sir,—Please send another pound birdlime. I caught over 200 birds with last I had from you.—Yours, W. Whitehead." "53, Liverpool Road, South Birkdale, October 20th.—Sir,—Bird lime to hand; it is grand stuff.—Yours, R. Makinson." 5, Archer Terrace, Plymouth, October 20th.—Sir,—Received clap net, and am very pleased with it.—Yours, C. Hoskin." "42, Lower Gloster Street, Dublin.—Sir,—Received clap nets safely, and am very well pleased with them. I got some lime from elsewhere and it was no good; it wouldn't hold a fly. Please send ½lb. of yours.—Yours, S. Wilson." "5, Clades Court, Fore Street, Exmouth, October 18th.—Sir,—Received net, and am very well pleased with it. That is how I like to see a man deal, honest and straight. Please send following.—Yours, C. Richards." "The Bowyer House, Denhham, Uxbridge, October 12th.—Sir,—Clap nets I had from you are in every way satisfactory.—Yours, A. Thomas." "45, Dean Road, Cadishead, near Manchester.—Sir,—Please send following netting and lines. I have heard a lot of catchers talk of your goods, and the way they praise you is something to be proud of.—Yours, J. O'Hare." "Norton Road, Pelsall, near Walsall, October 10th.—Sir,—Please send following. The bird lime is extra good, and best I ever had.—Yours, J. Fallon." "25, Cromwell Road, Rushden.—Sir,—Please send following. The netting I had from you three years ago is as good as ever. I caught over 300 Goldfinches, besides dozens of other birds, with it last year, and still got it in use.—Yours, H. Kirby." "13, Carter Lane, Whitehaven.—Sir,—Your bird lime is best we have had for many years; your nets, also, are the best on the market.—Yours, G. Martin." "26, The Green, Wordsley, Stnffs.—Sir,—Your netting and lines is best I ever saw. I am very pleased with them. I had a pair nets from ——, but I had to get out of them; they were made of that thick netting, and the stuve poles were like broomstalls; they showed so much on the ground.—Yours, T. Madeley." Later, Mr. Madeley again writes: "Please send following. I am very proud of your netting and pull line, as it has given every satisfaction." "21, Kitchener Street, York, October 25th.—Sir,—Clap nets give every satisfaction. They work a treat, and I find them best I ever used.—Yours, T. Buckle." The men employed by me are all practical net knitters, and also experienced catchers as well, and so know exactly what is required for successful catching. You might as well try to catch birds with a pair of curtains as some of the nets on the market. Absolutely every professional catcher of note buys his appliances from me, and you must admit that they know where to get the best from. Send stamp for price list, and compare with others.

forth with every wild bird I sell I shall send a signed guarantee that the bird has not been recently caught within the meaning of the Wild Birds Protection Acts, so that birds purchased from me may be kept in any part of British Isles, whether protected by the Act or not, and in addition to this I shall also send a signed declaration agreeing to indemnify all purchasers against any expense whatsoever arising from any prosecution and conviction for keeping the bird in any protected area. A copy of this guarantee and indemnity form has been sent to the Editor of "Cage Birds," and should any sceptical person doubt my bona-fides in this matter, I am willing to place any reasonable amount of money in the Editor's hands. I have an enormous stock of genuine Worcestershire cock Goldfinches at 1/6 each, three 4/-, six 7/-, twelve 12/-, specially selected larger cocks for show, muling, or singing, and guaranteed in song, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 9/-, twelve 17/-; few extra special exhibition specimens, with clear cut square blaze, good size, correct tanning and mooning, etc., and fit for keenest competition, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; hen Goldfinches 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 4/-; splendid lot netted cock Siskins, all in pink of condition, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6, twelve 15/-, exhibition specimens, with full bib, correct lacing, and clear cut jet cap, 3/- 4/-, and 5/-, each; grand cock Bullfinches, in superb condition, 1/6 and 2/- each; exhibition specimens 3/- each; hen Bullfinches 1/- and 1/0 each. I also have sixty genuine hand-reared, finger-tame German hen Bullfinches, all in grand feather, will feed from fingers and allow anyone to fondle them, price 4/- and 5/- each. These are the ideal birds for breeding the rare Bullie hybrids from; exceptionally large lot of inland country caught cock brown Linnets, all guaranteed nut brown backs, rosered breasts, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; specially picked large cocks for muling or contest singing, and warranted now in song, 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6; exhibition specimens, very large, correct type, and exquisite pencilling, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; cock Chaffinches 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/0, twelve 4/-; exhibition specimens 1/- each; cock Greenfinches 6d. each, three 1/-, six 1/6; exhibition specimens 1/- each; grand lot of the giant Mealy Redpolls, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; few special exhibition specimens 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; Lesser Redpolls 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-, twelve 3/6; exhibition specimens 1/- each, cock Skylarks, all big, bold, plump cocks, not half hens, 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-. Few very steady birds, guaranteed in song, 1/-, 1/6, and 2/- each; hand-reared cock Jay, finger tame, chattering, and whistling, all day, extraordinary good mimic, and sure to make a champion, 0/-; special travelling cages 2d. extra. All birds sent on approval as usual, cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and if they fail to prove entirely satisfactory only have to be returned and back comes the whole of your money. Exhibitors please note: I handle more English birds than any man alive, but do not exhibit birds, therefore all exhibition specimens are for disposal, none being kept back until they have won, and then sold at an exorbitant price. I rarely mention it in my advt., but hardly a show passes but what one or more of the birds I have supplied winning there. Just two letters given here to prove my statement. "114, Rosslyn Street, Gallatown, Kirkcaldy. Oct. 18.—Sir, I see you advertising Siskins. I have one just now which has done a lot of winning, including Scottish National, Dunfermline, Bathgate, and many other places, but I was beat last week with a bird you supplied to a Buckhaven fancier. Please send me two champions, etc.—Yours, J. Mitchelson." "Durham Ox Hotel, Northallerton. Oct. 13.—Sir,—One of the Goldfinches you sold me got vhc at Crystal Palace, first time out. Mr. Mays wrote me offering to buy him. I afterwards parted with him to Mr. Weston, of "Cage Birds" fame. I believe he did a lot of winning with him last year. I was told he was first at City of Glasgow last year. Please pick out following. Yours, C. Hutchinson." Kindly note both birds were sold by me at advertising prices, thus showing I act up to advt. THE REAL SIBERIAN

Goldfinches reach me on Monday, Nov. 14th. My sender informs me that they are in grand condition and song. These birds must not be confused with the ordinary Russian Goldfinches sent from Russia to Antwerp in boxes, and then put upon the English market as Siberian birds; all my birds are kept in separate wicker cages during the whole journey, and are therefore in perfect health and feather; guaranteed cocks, 5/- and 6/- each, seven for 28/-; picked exhibition specimens, with good broad skulls, clean cut expansive square blaze, properly tanned and buttoned, and correct type, 10/- each. I also have three hundred splendid cock Snow Buntings, in perfect trim, at 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; specially selected exhibition cocks, perfectly marked, 2/6 each; all sent on approval at my risk; cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and money refunded in full if perfect satisfaction not given. Please note.—I import these Siberian birds myself, and despite any statements to the contrary, no one has the pick of them but myself; so to ensure getting a real "deck sweeper" place your order with me.

PLEASE NOTE FEW UP-TO-DATE OPINIONS.

Gem of the First Water.

83, Hall Street, Glossop, November 1st, 1910, "The bird you sent me I thought was really n show bird instead of a songster. I was quite taken back with it. It is a real beauty, and as for singing, he is a gem of the first water. All who have seen him say, "What a beauty he is, where ever did you get it from?" I soon tell them. Thanking you for your honest dealing. S. Ogden to W. Rudd.

2, East Park Terrace, Southampton, Nov. 3, 1910.—Many thanks for birds received, both in good health and singing. Thanks for prompt attention. R. H. Lee to W. Rudd.

81, Clematis Terrace, Henblas Road, Rhostyllen, near Wrexham, November 4th, 1910,—Bird arrived quite safe, and I am well satisfied with it. Thanks very much for sending such a beautiful singer. N. Jones to W. Rudd.

A Marvel of Cheapness.

43, Camden Street, Birkenhead, October 30th, 1910, —Allow me to thank you for the Norwich songster which you sent me. We all think it a beauty. It is in good condition. He sang quite loud next morning, which I think is a good performance after travelling so far. It is a very pretty bird, and a marvel of cheapness. E. Smith to W. Rudd.

Marvel for the Money.

Cottermore Hall, Oakham, November 1st, 1910,—The Yorkshire songster which you sent arrived safe and sound, and has proved himself a good singer, as well as pretty. Several people who have seen him think he is a marvel for the money. C. Gilden to W. Rudd.

W. RUDD, THE Bird Specialist, NORWICH.

F. WAGNER,

A BOLD, BALD

statement of fact. If you are desirous of purchasing a Roller Canary, but in doubt as to where to get the best value from, the following statement may help you. For many years past I have publicly stated in this and other papers that the Leipzig Rollers, as sold by me, are better songsters than can be obtained elsewhere, and to prove this I have asked all intending purchasers to have a Roller from me on a week's trial, and one from elsewhere on same conditions, test them side by side for a week, and then if mine is not far better value return it to me and I will refund every penny of your money. Scores upon scores of people have taken me at my word, and done this, but never yet have I been told that my Leipzig Roller came out of the test second best, but on other hand, I have received and published in this paper many letters saying that birds supplied by me have beaten birds costing twice and even thrice the money from elsewhere. Remember, I don't ask anyone to take my word, I want you to put the bird to any reasonable test you like, and to enable you to do this, I send all on a full week's trial at my own risk, either on receipt of cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and refund money in full if every satisfaction not given. I now have a tremendous stock of genuine Weber's Leipzig Rollers, all in full song day and gaslight, with long, hollow, and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, soft roulades, waterbubble runs, piccolo trills, jugging of Nightingale, bell, harp, and flute notes, etc., etc., and guaranteed entirely free from any harsh notes whatever, price 6/6 and 7/6 each; special bandmasters, which excel in the deep bass and hollow bell rolls, and are like a cascade of everflowing melody, 10/- and 12/6 each: Roller hens, 2/- each, 3/6 couple. I also have a grand lot of loud free singing Hartz cocks, in full, free, vigorous song, at 4/6 each; these Hartz cocks are not so musical as the Leipzig Rollers, but just the thing where plenty of loud noisy song is required; special Roller song cabinet cages, with folding doors, 2/6 each. Remember, my birds are trained to sing in any light, day or artificial, and that they do so the following letters will prove:—"43, Wood-st., Gt. Grimsby, Oct. 29.—Sir, Roller arrived safely. It is a beauty; sings beautifully, and highly satisfactory. I now know where to send.—Yours, C. Brocklesby." On Oct. 31, Mr. Brocklesby writes:—"Sir, please send another Leipzig Roller. I am so much taken up with the one I got last week, I must have another. P.O. enclosed for another beauty this time." On Nov. 4th Mr. Brocklesby again writes:—"Sir, bird arrived safe; I am highly satisfied with it; it's a beauty; started singing soon as unpacked." "Oakleigh, Maghull, near Liverpool, Oct. 29.—Sir, please accept my thanks for Leipzig Rollers; they are extra for the money. I am more than plensed at your selection; their song and condition is all that can be desired. —Yours, P. Culshaw." "Station Rond, Fordingbridge, Oct. 28.—Sir, Roller arrived snfely; am very pleased with him, started singing soon as unpacked.—Yours, E. Hawkins." "Glenageary, Co. Dublin, Oct. 27.—Sir, bird arrived safely, nnd I must say came up to my expectations in every way.—Yours, J. Kennedy." "1, Hornby Street, Barnsley, Nov. 2.—Sir, received Roller safe, and pleased with it. He is a beauty and singing grand. Thanking you for so good a bird at the price.—Yours, H. Wright." "New Road, Brynteg, Broughton, Nov. 3.—Sir, Roller arrived safe and commenced singing soon as unpacked. It gives every satisfaction, wonderful value at the price.—Yours, J. Williams." "2, Duke Street, Retford, Notts, Nov. 5. Sir, received Roller and very pleased. Please send another; p.o. enclosed. Shall be giving you a large order shortly.—Yours, W. Littlewood." "Merchants' Hall, Metal Bridge, Dublin, Nov. 5th.—Sir, I am greatly pleased with Hartz cock. I have in your bird a cage of music. Please send another.—Yours, J. Mahony." Hundreds of similar letters already received this season. Please note, all birds safely and warmly packed free of extra charge, and sent on full week's approval at my risk during the whole time; cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and all your money back if bird fails to prove entirely satisfactory. (See British bird columns.)

YOU MISS THIS

If you want rubbish or taking down do not read this, for I don't sell hens for cocks; I only sell hens as hens, and cocks in full song as cocks. If you require a genuine cock Cannry, on full song, I can supply beauties at from 5/3 each; genuine songster, not thinkers or bens. I want your confidence and your custom that you will recommend the high qualities of my birds to your friends. I have rooms full of birds to select from; just call and inspect them. If you cannot call, send your order by post, and I will send you the birds you require carriage paid to your door, on seven days' approval at my risk, that you may be thoroughly satisfied with your purchase before deciding to keep them. Please do not condemn the quality of my birds on account of the low prices, for this is accounted for by the thousands I sell yearly; the large quantity enables me to sell good reliable quality at low prices. I have for the last eight successive years supplied large quantities of birds to the largest and leading bird clubs in England, Africa, Australia, etc., giving satisfaction every time, and receive repeat orders. Let me send you a bird on seven days' trial at my risk. I guarantee to give you satisfaction. My stock of Rollers is second to none. Carefully Studied Requirements.

Central Arcade, Wrexham, October 25th, 1910, —Just a line to say the bird arrived quite safe. I am much obliged to you for sending me such a beautiful bird. It quite answered my purpose, and therefore you have carefully studied my requirements. E. S. Jones to W. Rudd.

"As Popular as the Penny Post."

Sherlington, Newport Pagnell, November 3rd, 1910,—I have received the Harts Roller safely, with thanks. I need not tell you I am pleased, as I should think you never have a dissatisfied customer. You deserve to be as popular as the penny post. L. J. Moore to W. Rudd.

More than Satisfied.

158, North Street, Brighton, November 3rd, 1910,—Many thanks for Roller received. Am more than satisfied with value. W. J. Cowland to W. Rudd.

More than a Bargain.

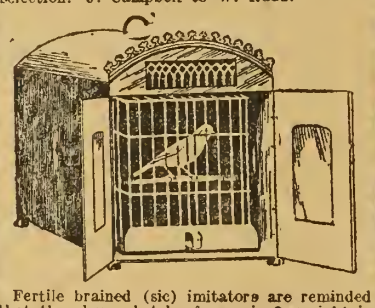
Mossend, November 4th, 1910,—The Roller arrived safe, and in grand condition. I am more than satisfied. It is more than a bargain. I shall be pleased to recommend you to anyone wanting a good bird and honourable dealings, as I can truthfully say that I have been honestly dealt with. J. Steele to W. Rudd.

Best of Condition.

Fulwood Barracks, Preston, November 3rd, 1910,—The hen Roller arrived safe, in the best of condition, and gives satisfaction. W. Lucas to W. Rudd.

Very pleased.

11, Broad Street, Limerick, October 30th, 1910,—The Roller arrived safe. I am very pleased with him. Thanking you for your selection. J. Campbell to W. Rudd.



Fertile brained (sic) imitators are reminded that the above sketch of cage is Copyright in my Catalogue.

St. Andreasberg Rollers.

Just arrived, another lot of these famous musical-boxes, specially trained under Nightingale, Woodlark, and bell notes with those long, wonderful trills; fit for any mansion, price 6/6, 7/6, 8/6; real Schoolmasters, 10/6 and 12/-; hens, 2/-; proper Roller singing cages, 2/-, with shutters, 2/9; also not common Belgian, guaranteed pure Hartz, price 5/6 and 6/- each, two 11/-; hens 1/9, two 3/-. These are imported direct from the Hartz Mountains, and properly trained. Note—We have thousands of testimonials, and are patronised by all the Crystal Palace Judges, including Judges Bexson, Payne, Battye, Roe, Barnes, Vardy, etc., etc. Send for new catalogue and testimonials for proof.

Just read these testimonials. All come over 200 and 300 miles away, and £20 given anyone if not real. Can be seen any time. "Mr. Patterson, Cork, Ireland. Sir,—Glad to tell you Roller you sent me won the All-Ireland Roller singing contest here." "Mr. W. Burl, London, October 25th. Sir,—Hartz cock arrived safe, and started singing directly unpacked, and sang ever since." "Mr. Bagot, Glenny, Dublin. Sir,—I am well pleased with Roller. He has sang continually ever since he came, day and night." "Mr. J. Campbell, Dublin,—Thanks for promptitude in sending Roller and cage. Within a couple of days from sending you the order, the bird was in Dublin singing for all he was worth." "Mr. D. McCorquadall, Greenock, Scotland,—Received Roller and cage all safe. He was singing half an hour after he arrived, and best singer I ever had, cage is a suitable one, and cheap." "Mr. Knight, Kilmarnock, October,—Hartz cock arrived all right, and a beautiful bird, and a champion singer. I got a Goldfinch from you which lived 11 years." These are only a few I have picked up from long distances, have thousands others. I guarantee to give you every satisfaction; so order at once.

If you want some testimonials, send to me, and I will send you some just as received this week.

champion strain. We have imported these for 30 years with unparalleled success, sale increasing yearly, and, mark you, not through lavish or brag ging advertisements—purely recommendation from delighted purchasers. It stands to reason we could not advertise them for 30 years continually, unless they are all that we claim, with their soft purring rolls, sweet silvery trills, Nightingale and Woodlark changes, double harp, gong and flute notes, including the jug jug pipe, beat hollow and water-bubble runs—indeed, a continuous mental feast for music lovers. We allow seven days' approval for you to judge. Each bird properly and warmly packed for 24 hours' rail or sea journey. We guarantee safe arrival on receipt of P.O. or cheque (or you can deposit cash with Editor). Try a Schulze's songster against any other strain (real or imaginary): we will abide result with confidence. Prices, 10/-, 12/-, and 15/- each; premier Bandmasters, 21/- each. Thousands of testimonials can be inspected here. No waiting; all birds sent same day as ordered. Cheques or P.O.'s should be crossed and made payable to Augustus Zache and Co., Bird Importers, 218, Gt. Portland-st., London, W.

PURE YORKSHIRES,

Direct from strains which won at Crystal Palace this last 20 years, including Mr. Bates', Mr. Binns', Mr. Blackburst's, all big winners up to 1910. I have supplied scores of winners and can do so yet, not exhibiting this variety myself; some grand yellows and buff cocks, 6/-, 7/-, 8/-, 10/-, 12/-, 15/-, 20/- each; hens, yellows or buffs, 4/-, 5/-, 6/-, 7/-, 8/-, 10/-; matched pairs to breed winners, 12/-, 15/-, 16/-, 18/-, 20/-, 25/- pair; any on approval; full guarantee given; breeder 30 years this address: Sandiford, Canary Breeder, Preston, Lancs.

are the only variety of Canaries I have ever kept, and during the last 17 years have given them my undivided attention, therefore you can rely upon getting good value for money, also that the strain is as clear of impurities as is possible, thus getting better results with breeding from my strain than is possible with any other. Note the prices! Cocks, yellow or buff, 5/-, 6/-, 7/6, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- upwards; hens, yellow or buff, 4/-, 4/6, 5/-, 6/6, 7/6, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, upwards; pairs, properly matched to breed winners, from 10/- per pair upwards.

SAMUEL DEAN,

6, Ash Mount, Great Horton, Bradford.

It's Bound To Go!

My stock of Canaries is large, but I do not keep one kind for show and another for sale; neither do I keep a team of birds for exhibition and trade on their reputation. No! Every bird in stock (and I have one of the finest collections in Great Britain) becomes the property of the first customer who desires it, and I have no fancy prices.

Read the following:

First Prize Winner at Brisbane, Australia.

"I had a ticked Yorkshire hen from you last February, the bird arrived in Brisbane on Saturday night, was put in show on Monday, and took 1st prize. I thought you would like to know this. W. Stanley to G. Taylor."

I have the following now ready in clears, ticked, greens, Cinnamons, green marked, Cinnamon marked, etc., etc. Long, stylish Yorkshire cocks, 5/6, 7/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/- each. Grand, slim, upstanding hens, full of type and quality, 3/6, 4/6, 6/-, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each. Splendid matched pairs, sex guaranteed, 6/6, 10/6, 12/6, 16/-, 26/-, 30/- upwards. All on seven days' approval, my risk.

Some grand specimens ready for immediate benching at reasonable prices.

Also Plainhead, Norwich, Crests, and Crest-bred, Cinnamons, Lizards, Lancashires, Border Fancies, Mules, etc., etc.

My Yorkshires have won above, during October, in Championship Classes Open to the World. See leading Show reports, and birds I have sold are winning for their owners in all parts of the British Isles. Mr. J. R. Hyland, 15, Drumcondra Park, Dublin, writes: October 28, 1910,—I won 2nd, 3rd and commended (with three birds bred from the pair of stock birds I purchased from you last January) at the Rotunda show. I was very pleased when I saw the cards on my cages, and take this opportunity of thanking you for the straightforward treatment I received from you. Scores similar to above received from highly satisfied customers.

If you want a winner or stock birds to breed winners, place your order with the old reliable breeder and exhibitor, who breeds his own winners, and can therefore give you best satisfaction.

The following ready for immediate disposal, in Clears, Ticked or Marked. All cold-room bred and kept, and feathered like boxwood. Yorkshire yellow cocks, at 6/-, 6/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each upwards; buff cocks at 6/6, 7/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- upwards; all on full song, and for length, style, and quality, cannot be beaten. Hens, splendid length and full of quality, yellow or buff, at 3/6, 4/6, 6/6, 6/6, 10/6, 12/6 upwards.

Pairs, properly matched to breed winners, at 6/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-, 30/- per pair, honestly worth double. All on seven days' approval at my risk; cash or deposit with Editor. Travelling cages 3d. extra on all orders.

FAULKNER'S WINNING YORKSHIRES

Being overstocked, will sell 50 high-class birds, bred from my winners at half their value, matched pairs to breed winners, from 10/6 pair; also a few winners very reasonable; approval; if not satisfied, money willingly returned: 82, Park-rd., Rochdale.

I AM NOT

showing, but giving others a chance to win with my winning Yorkshires; all birds on approval; send for particulars: A. Harris, West Haddon, Rugby.

SHAW'S YORKSHIRES.

Notice, if you want real good, upstanding Yorkshires, write or call, and you will see one of the finest stocks of Canaries in London, yellow cocks, in song, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6; buff cocks, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6; yellow hens, 4/-, 4/6, 5/6; buff hens, 4/-, 4/6, 5/-; these are splendid birds, in prime condition, on 6 days' approval; send the money to me or deposit it with Editor: Wm. Shaw, 97, Essex-rd., Islington, London.

I CANNOT WIN

It would be impossible for me to win a lot of 1sts and specials under my system of trading. This you will readily understand when you order exhibition or stock birds from me. I send you absolutely the best possible quality for money. Every bird personally selected from the largest and best stock, where there is not even one bird reserved, or any ridiculous prices asked. Were I desirous to advertise my birds by winning, I could easily select from my own stock teams of birds that would be continually winning; but if I did so, I could not possibly supply so many winners to my customers, for you know full well that two persons cannot have one bird. If I exhibited all my best birds you could not possibly win with them. Therefore I am satisfied to let you win, and I share in your glory knowing I have supplied you with the right birds at the right prices. When scanning below prices bear in mind I supply birds to win, and you do the winning. Just call and inspect my stock, and see the thousands of unsolicited testimonials from delighted customers. Smart long typical Yorkshire cocks, feathers like wax, 5/6, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, standard length and on full song; splendid lengthy hens, full of quality, 3/-, 3/6, 4/6, 5/6 each; pairs, matched to breed winners, 8/6, 9/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-; pairs in clears, ticked, variegated, greens, etc., Large cobby Norwich, astounding value; birds that will satisfy the most sceptical buyer. Cocks of the right quality, 5/6, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6; thick-set cobby hens, 3/-, 3/6, 4/6, 5/6; accurately matched pairs, to breed winners, 8/6, 9/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-; Yorkshire, Norwich and Hartz songsters, cocks, 5/6, 6/-, 6/6, 7/6; genuine trained Seifert Rollers, cocks, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/0, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-; all birds forwarded carriage paid on seven days' approval: Miss E. L. Storey, Bird Specialist, Crowle, via Doncaster.

Various Canaries.

MULING; six clear hens for sale, good healthy birds: H. Wombwell, W.D.C.B.C., 270, High-st., Watford.

TO clear, aviary, 12 nice Canaries, Norwich and Yorkshire cocks, hens, clears, variegated, 35/-: Dickson, 86, Station-rd., Harrow.

CANARIES, as bred, good soagsters, yellows, buffs, variegated, unflighted, from 5/-; inspection invited: Spencer, 89, Gonsalva-rd., Battersea.

FOUR pairs good singing Canaries, with three double breeding cages, wire slides, and all accessories, the lot 28/-: Head Teacher, Ashleigh Villa, Market Rasen.

TWO pairs Yorkshires (ticked), 12/-; two cocks, 5/- each; one pair greens, 6/-; one cross cock and German hen, 5/-; £1 8s. lot: W. Ransome, Sawbridgeworth, Herts.

PLEASE note; I have still the following to clear: 9 Yorkshires, 6 Norwich, 8 Rollers, 1 Crested and Crest-bred. No fancy prices; some extra good specimens, also cage, etc.; the whole lot must be cleared: Denison, Huntly, Aberdeenshire.

"THE Stock Book," our invaluable "Breeding Room Register," by G. E. Weston. A well-known fancier has said of it:—"It makes bird breeding easy." It simplifies the operations in the bird-room, and makes it possible for everyone, even the veriest novice, to breed his birds as they should be bred; it contains both pedigree, breeding, young bird and show registers of simple and unique character, post free, 7d. from CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet-street, London, E.C.

Does this Appeal to You?

IF YOU ARE SATISFIED THAT THE THOUSANDS OF TESTIMONIALS PUBLISHED BY ME—MORE THAN BY ANY OTHER PERSON OR FIRM LIVING—ARE GENUINE, THEN THE SATISFACTION OTHERS HAVE RECEIVED WILL ALSO BE YOURS. A TRIAL WILL PROVE IT, AND THAT IS THE ONLY FAVOUR I ASK.

The following are but a few examples recently to hand, taken from many:—

47, Broughty Street, Derby, October 26th, 1910,—Received bird safe on Thursday, and am very pleased with same, and is making a fine noise whilst writing. P. J. Brown to W. Rudd.

Another More than Satisfied.

Gillingham, Kent, October 29th, 1910,—Birds arrived on Thursday quite safe, and in good condition. Am more than satisfied with them. Wishing you every success. A. West to W. Rudd.

Amateurs, Breed your own Winners!

If you will allow me, I can put you right in this, with either a pair of Norwich Plainheads, a pair of Yorkshires, or a pair of Lizards, at 12/6, 15/-, and 20/- per pair. I mean, that I will match them scientifically for this purpose personally, and just as though I was doing it for myself. Remember it is absolutely useless spending money on good birds if they are not matched in the correct and best possible way to get good results; hence, it is futile to go to people that know little or nothing about this important branch of the Fancy, whether they call themselves "practical" specialists, or whether they are "special copyists."

CRESTS and CREST-BREDS, matched as above-stated and for same purpose, 40/-, 50/-, 60/- upwards.

NOVICES SPECIAL BARGAINS.

I will match you Norwich or Yorkshires in the correct way; i.e., NOT two buffs, as the majority do when supplying the novice at a low price. All the birds I am offering here shall have cocks that have started to sing, and shall be selected as strong, hardy birds, likely to do all that you require of them, at 7/6, 8/6, and 10/6 per pair. I will also fit you up with a double breeding cage, with everything complete for use, for 3/6 extra; or a better cage, with sand-drawers, sanitary fittings, etc., for 5/- extra; this latter recommended; with the utmost confidence of satisfaction I offer these bargains.

Travelling cages 3d. extra in all cases.

Members all Pleased.

St. Helens, Lancs, September 7th, 1910,—Received birds safely; club members all pleased with them. They were singing in the travelling cage. I now want you to send me——.

(NOTE.—Money can be comfortably made by acting as secretary for my bird club, and without disappointment, as I hold the stock for all and any requirements. Particulars free.)

BOOKLET FREE.

Finest Talking Parrots. I only deal in Parrots that will make first-class talkers; no rubbish. I am willing at all time to send my Parrots on four week's trial and three months' talking guarantee. Why? Because all my Parrots are young, strong, and reliable. My lifetime has been spent among Grey Parrots, both at home and abroad. I guarantee every customer every satisfaction. Grey Parrots are my special fancy. I have trained them, know their wants, and can give every purchaser a bird that will please him in every way. I can supply grey talkers, not thinkers, that will say almost anything, at reasonable prices. Before you purchase a grey or green Parrot, send for my Booklet, entitled "Talking Parrots." All my birds are sent on four weeks' trial, at my risk. Send postcard for catalogue.—Mrs. Forster, Princes Park Aviaries, Violet Street, Liverpool.

HIGH-CLASS BUDGERIGARS, bone-bred and imported, yellow and green—no low-cut wasters kept; also a good Amazon Parrot, ditto grey, also fine lemon-crested Cockatoo, 21/-; acclimatised pair cockatiels, only 12/6. List free. Read one opinion, note date:—

6, Kirk Street, Leith, November 1st, 1910,—I received the birds safe, in good condition. We are pleased with them. The Parrot is very pretty, also the songster, and they are both quite at house already. We thank you very much. If I know anyone who wants a Parrot or a Canary, I will be pleased to recommend you. M. Mackenzie to W. Rudd.

solved. For full proofs send postcard at once for my large book, 'Parrot Prattle," now containing 168 pages. This is the most wonderful book ever offered free of all charge to all Parrot fanciers. (This "Parrot Prattle" is registered copyright, and all infringers and imitators will be proceeded against). It contains hundreds of testimonials from all parts with full names and addresses, many interesting facts, and gives valuable advice and hints to all Parrot buyers. Full details of our original system of selling Parrots on four weeks' trial, at our risk, which we were the first to introduce. We sell Parrots of all descriptions on four weeks' trial, at our risk, before settlement. Cheapest and best in the Kingdom, and any Parrot sold by us and not giving full satisfaction, will be exchanged any time within twelve months. Remember we lead and others try to follow. Write to other dealers as well as us, and judge for yourselves. Lists of Parrots for sale and above book post free on receipt of postcard. Telephone No. 40 Morecambe.

MOTHERWELL.

Motherwell fanciers had a field day on the 5th November, the occasion being their annual show, held at the Town Hall, a cosy little place well adapted for the purpose. Although show was confined solely to the town, the entry (which totalled 240) speaks well for the enthusiasm in the district. The President, Mr. W. Chalmers, was ably supported by a body of stalwarts who were eager to do anything in their power to make the show a success, and the patronage they received during the afternoon was well earned. We noted with pleasure the interest displayed by the gentler sex, who were out in large numbers. The secretary, Mr. Mair, proved himself a capable man for the post, nothing being omitted, with the result that everything went off harmoniously. The exhibits were of quite a good standard, and some of the winners are sure to be heard of later. In the Norwich section, the pick of the bunch was a buff cock of Mr. Brannigan's, which ultimately won the cup for best young Canary. Another young bird in this section which pressed cup winner hard was the buff hen shown by Mr. Sloan—a credit to her owner. There was no competition in Crests, all the exhibits being staged by the owner. Borders were good, and required some sorting out. The winning buff hen came out on top and received special for runner-up to cup winner; Mr. Brannigan, the owner, had a field day, as he also annexed the cup for best young Mule, along with cup for best British bird with a grand Linnet—three cups and special for runner-up is a feat to be proud of. Mules were nice, while the British contained some really grand specimens, notably the Linnets, which were an excellent lot, and gave the judge some trouble to sort out. Judges: For Norwich and Crests, Mr. Jas. Winter (Edinburgh); for Borders, Mules, and British, Mr. G. Somerville (Auchinheath); the awards were well received, not a grumble being heard.

GOVANHILL.

Govanhill and Dis. O.A. annual show, held Dixon Halls, Nov. 5th. President, Mr. W. Tennant; vice-president, Mr. Allan Wilson; secretary and treasurer, Mr. C. E. Watson; judges, Messrs. R. Wright (Greenock), A. Somerville (Neilston), and R. Price (Barrhead). Entries totalled 119, which shows a gradual increase compared with last year, and the quality was quite up to the average. Mr. Wm. Wilson won the cup and gold medal with a very typical Scotch Fancy yell. ck., the first buff pied hen (belonging to the same owner) being runner-up. Secretary Watson and his able band of co-workers all noted fanciers, had everything in apple-pie order. There was a large turn-out of visitors, close on 400 visiting the show during the afternoon. Hon. Pres. ex-Councillor Dr. Garey presented the prizes. Counmule: 1, 2, 4, 5, Branningan; 3, Chambers.

ROUND THE SHOWS.

BRIGHTON.

For a first show that of the Brighton C.B.A., held in the New Road Lecture Hall, on Nov. 9 and 10, was a most successful affair. Thirty open classes were scheduled, twenty-seven stood, and these secured 303 entries, giving the nice average of over 14½ per class, and with the members', making a total of 477. The best classes for quality were those for Norwich, in which a very level and high average of merit was reached, many birds good enough to win being cardless. Yorkshires were stronger in numbers, but the quality was not so even in the clears; in the ticks and unlig. it was much better. British made a very nice show, some lovely birds being staged in all classes. The Goldies and Bullies were quite the best we have met this season, as were the Linnets, Siskins, etc. A magnificent Wheatear, the largest and most distinctly marked we have seen for a long time, headed the A.O.V. The room was hardly fitted for such a large show, and the exhibits were somewhat crowded, owing to the entry exceeding the expectations of the committee; they, however, made the most of the space at their command, and are to be congratulated upon getting together the best show seen in Brighton for many years. Mr. A. T. Riddles made a most painstaking and courteous secretary, and he was ably assisted by the following committee:—Messrs. C. Pearson (chairman), H. T. Gibb (vice-chairman), J. Roost (treasurer), W. H. Gibb, A. Gohle, A. Burtenshaw, J. Boxall, A. E. Bicknell, G. B. Absalon, F. Dandridge, G. France, A. Hook, H. James, F. Small, and R. Sharpe. Mr. C. A. House judged.

PENZANCE.

Penzance and Dist. F.A. 12th annual exhibition held Nov. 9th, Corn Exchange (by kind permission of the Mayor), where there is every accommodation, a good light, and comfortable staging. The society enjoys an excellent reputation for management, and is guided by a committee of real fanciers. In Mr. J. Pearce Sampson the society have a hard-working secretary, who knows how to go about his work, and is most courteous and obliging to everyone, and no doubt a great deal of the success is due to him. The Norwich classes contained some grand specimens; the quality and type were of higher merit than anything we have seen in the Western county for a long time. The Yorks. classes were excellent, and some really good birds were put down, and the quality all round was far better than last year's. Hybrids and Britishers were a grand collection, too. Mr. Collins sent a splendid team, and had the gratification of securing special for best bird with his Palace-winning six-point Goldie Mule. Goldies, as usual, were good; some were not quite finished, but will be hard "nuts" to crack shortly. Bullies were a good lot, and the winner being cage-moulted was a champion. The small British class was exceptionally good, the winners being hard to separate. Mr. J. H. Roe judged.

BARNSTAPLE.

Annual show of the Barnstaple C.B.S., held Market, November 8th and 9th. It proved another grand success. Entries were about 60 over last year, and the quality on the whole was excellent. Barnstaple is a hot-bed of the Belgian Canaries, and in the four classes provided, they mustered 34. In the hen class Mr. G. S. Baker won with a grand buff, this being her fifth win, winner also at Edinburgh and Palace. He also won the challenge cup. Crests and Crest-breds were not strong numerically, but oh, the quality! Some topping Mules and Hybrids were staged. British birds came up very well, the Goldfinch and Bullfinch class containing 20, and some grand birds, notably Mr. Halls' Goldfinch. There was a fine collection of Foreign Birds. Mr. Young, of Barnstaple, had on view a grand team, put down in his masterly style. Mr. Harris was again at the head of the show, as secretary; he is most courteous and obliging. Messrs. Blackmore, Stevens, Piper, and Horrill, were committeemen, while Mr. Dix acted again, as usual, as cage bird steward. Mr. G. E. Russell judged, and his awards, on the whole, gave every satisfaction.

The Critique.

BELG. BUFF CK. (9): 1, spl, Baker, large, upstanding bird, thick through, heavy top end, very ready to call; 2, Bennett, another nice bird, grand substance, good shoulders and neck; 3, Dart, Plymouth winner, out of condition to-day or might have won; 4, vhc, he, Horrill, vhc bird his Gateshead and Palace winner, grand bird for size; c, Dix. YELL. (6): 1, spl, Horrill, Palace winner, grand bird, good substance, nice shoulders, long drooping neck, brings head nicely down; 2, Baker, hardly so thick through perhaps, still, grand bird in every respect; 3, G. Baker, another of the same persuasion; 4, Hunt; vhc, Butts. HEN (7): 1, spl, c, G. S. Baker, 1st grand bull hen, fine substance, brings head nearly to perch; 2, 4, Horrill, 2nd yell., beautiful bird, hardly the substance of above, still, good; 3, Dart, buff, nice position, fine shoulder and substance; vhc, G. Baker; he, Hunt. BRED 1910: 1, challenge cup, Baker, buff cock, very large, heavy in shoulders, good long neck, which it brings right down; 2, Bennett, yell. ck., nice style, good shoulder and neck, pose well; 3, vhc, he, Horrill, 3rd monster wing mkd. buff, very heavy in shoulder, good neck, some thought should have won; 4, he, Baker; c, Dix. NOR., TKD., ETC., BUFF CK. (8): 1, spl, Spillman, cl. buff, grand bird, good quality, nice head, splendid chest, cobby sort; 2, Dart, another grand bird, in beautiful feather, similar; 3, Bailey, varieg., grand substance, nice head and neck, beautiful feather; 4, Mrs. Southcombe; vhc, Pedlar; he, Richards. No. 2640, W. Collins, arrived late in afternoon, too late for judging, grand bird, sure 2nd. YELL. The Young Naturalist.

Prizes of 1s. and two of 6d. each will be given weekly for the best three anecdotes about birds written on postcards. Competitors must be under sixteen years of age, and state whence stories are taken. Two stars indicate the Winning Contribution; one star the runners up.

*A Tame Blackbird.

I have a young Blackbird, which is very tame. He will take food from my hand. I let him fly in the garden sometimes, to pick up worms and slugs, which he enjoys very much. Sometimes a Thrush flys over to the tree to eat the berries, and tries to fight with Joey. When I call "Joey" he comes in obediently, and never attempts to fly away from the garden.—Sent by C. Harris (age 12), Milber House, Highweek, Newton Abbot.

*A Sagacious Sparrow.

A Sparrow, evidently tired of roosting out in the cold hedges, found a warmer place where it could roost in peace and comfort. The place decided on happened to be in the entry adjoining our house on a peg driven in the wall near an iron trap-door, which was used as a means of access to the chimney. Every night last winter he would find his way to his novel perch, but as the nights grew warmer his visits became less frequent until he knocked them off altogether. So far this winter he has not put in an appearance.—Sent by A. Prestedge (age 12), 127, New Thornley Street, Burton-on-Trent.

A Faithful Mother.

Not very long ago a House Sparrow built her nest in a hole where part of a brick was missing by our roof. After she had hatched her young the weather became unsettled. One windy night one of her chicks had been blown out of the nest into the garden below. The following morning I happened to come across this little bird; I fed it well and put it in a cage on the wash-house roof. In a short time one of its parents came to the cage, and tried to get in it. I went out and opened the door, and the mother soon taught the bird to fly. The little bird hopped higher and higher until it reached the roof and went safely in the nest again.—Sent by Harry Bowden (age 13), 37, Barrington Road, Seacombe, Cheshire.

DEWSBURY AND DIST. C.B.S.

Monthly meeting held Nov. 5th. Our Mr. Edward Clegg (Dewsbury) gave us a capital demonstration on Practical Cage-making; every member who was not present missed a treat. But there was a good company present. Mr. Clegg commenced with his plain wood and showed every point in completing an ideal cage, either with loose bottom or fast bottom. He seems a very handy man in this kind of work, and anybody who watched him could have found out the easiest and best way of making a cage. A few little things were finished concerning show Nov. 12. Mr. Hirst (Accrington) is to judge, and we are hoping to have a good entry. Chair was taken by Mr. Aspley, who fills this position very well.—W. HINCHLIFFE, Sec.

Notes from Erin.

ON November 3 and 4 the Y.C.B.S. of Ireland held their second annual show at Dublin. This society is indeed making great headway. On the second day of show a "raffle" was held, and tickets sold to members and visitors; this proved a huge success. Birds were presented by Messrs. Birse, Holley, Stewart, Carroll, Calleghan, and McDonnell; a special of 10s. 6d. was presented by F. R. Frye, Esq. (the hon. chairman), which was won by Mr. Birse. The takings went to the club's funds.

MR. PHILLIPS won with his noted Clough, and I am informed that the gentleman obtained the eggs and successfully reared a few of those rare birds. This bird is now no longer a stranger in Ireland in its wild state, as they were numerous in Clare last breeding season.

MR. TIGHE, of Sligo, exhibited a lovely Cinnamon Greenfinch-Canary Mule. This bird was very interesting indeed, and caused something like a sensation amongst Mule breeders. It had many admirers. Another Mule, a Linnet-Canary, belonging to the same gentleman, was quickly claimed at catalogue price.

MR. KEATING, of Dundalk, won special for best buff Yorkie cock in show with his noted old champion. The best hen in show was the property of Mr. J. McQuade, of Enniskillen, and his win is very popular. Mr. J. P. Rooney, of Dublin, won several specials in the novice classes, including special for most points for the society's "Closed Rung Cup" Mr. Mulcahy (Dublin) won special for most points for Britishers.

THE points scored for challenge cups are as follows:—Open Competition, Messrs. Gillen 15, Keating and McQuade 12 each, Mulligan 10, Fleming 10, Davis 7, McDonnell 2. "Rung Cup," Rooney 13, Gillen 14, Devins 7, Mulligan 8, McEntaggert 7, Holley 4, Stewart 3, Lea 2, Gaskin 2, McDonnell 2. Novice Cup, Messrs. Carroll 18, Rooney 10, Bannon 9, McEntaggert 9, Stewart 8, Holley 6, Callaghan 6, Lea 2.

THE North of Ireland fanciers were greatly missed, and it is hoped the interest in our old favourite, the Norwich variety, is not getting cold. Where are all the Norwich men this season from Belfast and surroundings? We hope they will not forget other fixtures, as their entries are always welcome, and, right I say, needed to make a show a success.

Wild-Bird Life.

Concerning Tits.

Now the moult is over it is astonishing how clean and bright some of the birds look, especially in places far enough removed from the dirt and smoke of a great city. The writer was particularly struck with the appearance of some Blue Tits hunting amongst the fruit trees recently. To look at them one would have thought the time of the year was spring instead of winter, and that the birds had acquired their nuptial dress, so clean and bright and sleek did they appear. The Greater Tit is equally as brilliant, and if anything more striking to the ordinary observer, in consequence of the great contrast in colour, the white cheek patch surrounded by black and the brilliant yellow of the breast with the black marking down the centre, making a birdy picture equal to some of the brilliant foreign birds in colouring. Were this active bird less common, and a trifle larger he would be in danger of becoming extinct, for no doubt he would be much sought after for cages and aviaries.

Another of our British Tits—the Long-tailed Tit—is hardly so striking; he lacks the bright colouring of his congeners. But he is equally attractive, if not more so to the naturalist and bird lover, in consequence of his habits, and nesting peculiarities, his being somewhat rare. He derives his familiar name from his elongated tail feathers which are about three inches in length, a shade longer than his body. The tail is rounded at the extremity, the feathers being arranged in the same manner as those of the Magpie, Grasshopper Warbler, and some other birds. The central pair of feathers are the largest, the outer pair the shortest, and the others graduated regularly between them. This interesting bird is in some parts called "the bottle Tit," on account of the shape of its nest, which rivals those of some of the famous nest builders of foreign countries in ingenuity and artistic finish. To construct one of these homes is a labour of several days, and it keeps the little architects busily employed from dawn 'till sundown. The interior is snugly lined with feathers of other birds, collected with infinite trouble in the woods and hedge-rows in the vicinity of the nest. These birds have been known to make repeated long journeys to farm yards, and collect feathers dropped by the poultry.

Our annual show will be held on December 8 and 9, and it is hoped there will be a record entry; entries close November 28, writes Mr. Thos. Mayne, sec. of the Larne and Dis. C.B.A. Will fanciers kindly note that I am now secretary, my address being 35, Barnhill, Larne.

Entries are practically nil, writes Mr. A. W. Lndlow sec., Stamford show, November 17. Will our friends kindly rally round, and give us their support? Entries are extended until first post Tuesday, November 15, and it is hoped the show will not fail for want of entries.

We have only nine entries up to the present, writes Mr. W. O. Brooke, sec., Bournemouth and Dis. C.B.A., so I think it wise to extend entries till Saturday, November 12, although personally I do not approve of it. I hope fanciers will rally round and make the show a success.

Our first monthly winter show is to be held November 12, 1910, in the Savile Hotel, Savile Town, judge, Mr. A. Hirst, of Accrington, writes Mr. W. Hinchliffe, sec., Dewsbury and Dis. C.B.S. All birds to be staged at 3 o'clock; doors open after judging; all fanciers are invited.

London fanciers can get a cheap trip to Nottingham show on Saturday, November 12, per Great Central Railway, leaving Marylebone at 8.45 a.m., bringing them direct to the Hall, fare 7s. 6d. We shall be very pleased to welcome our London friends.—G. E. WILKINSON, hon. sec., Nottingham show.

OBITUARY.

Mr. W. HAMILTON (Hamilton).

It is with deep regret, writes Mr. A. Cant, hon. sec. of the Hamilton (Cadzow Oaks) O.S., that I have to announce the death of our respected president, Mr. W. Hamilton, who passed away early on Saturday morning, November 5th. He has been ailing off and on for the past two years, but his end came with startling suddenness. Although hardly able to move about, he judged Falkirk Club show on October 29th, but so weak was he on his return he had to be conveyed home in a cab and never left his bed again. Hemorrhage of the lungs was the cause of his decease. He leaves a widow and a large family (all young). The Hamilton Society are endeavouring to do something (financially) for them, and any fancier who cares to assist in this very urgent matter will have a chance to do so at our show on November 12; or if he prefers he can send direct to me, my address being 48, Barrack Street, Hamilton.

On receiving my CAGE BIRDS on Friday morning, November 4, I was surprised to find my clear Border buff cock (first prize at Manchester show) depicted on the front page. I thank your artist, Mr. Norman, for such a lifelike drawing. I might say that was only one of this bird's many wins.—W. BAYLEY (Altrincham).

I was very pleased to see the picture of myself and birds in CAGE BIRDS of October 15; I think the birds were taken well. I may say that we have thousands of Starlings passing over here every night to a roosting place close by; it is like going to hear a great waterfall when they are on the trees.—GEO. WM. BALLINGTON (Mansfield).

We are giving a larger classification for Yorkshires than any other society in Scotland—5 confined to Scotland, one non-fed class, which is open to all comers, guaranteed. The only thing we want is a "bumping entry" to still increase our Yorkshire classes. Mr. R. B. Gibb (president Yorkshire C.C.) is to judge.—JNO. KILPATRICK, sec., Uddingston and Dis. O.S.

The annual members' show of the City and Suburban A.C.B. (November 18 and 19 next) promises to beat all records. A splendid schedule has been issued, and the wonderful list of special prizes (nearly 160 in number), the hon. sec., Mr. Wynn, states, exceeds all past years in both number and value. There are no fewer than 22 cups, bowls, etc., up for competition.

Will the members of the Plumstead and Woolwich C.B.S. kindly note that our next meeting will be held November 24 and not on usual meeting night, as the room is engaged, write Messrs. Dibley and Meades, secs. This meeting will take the form of a washing demonstration and a competition among members. Prize money won at late table show will be paid, and report of same presented.

A hard growth of an unusually large size (as big as a sixpence) was recently cut out from the head of a Song Thrush by Mr. Geo. Brown, of the well-known firm of bird dealers, of Selater Street, Shoreditch, and so quickly and skilfully was the operation performed that the bird seemed in nowise inconvenienced, and soon recovered. The growth was a remarkable object when removed.

Mrs. Crow had the misfortune last week to lose her well-known Crestbred hen, winner 1st Cambridge, 1st Norwich (twice), 1st Lowestoft, and 2nd Norwich recently in a class for cock or hen, writes Mr. E. L. A. Crow (Lowestoft). The bird had moulted out better than ever this year, but apparently caught a chill when the weather changed so suddenly, and quickly joined the great majority. I wish CAGE BIRDS continued and increasing success.

We have engaged Mr. R. Taylor (Preston) to judge all Norwich, and Mr. Roe (Birmingham) to judge the remainder at our open show, held December 16 and 17, writes Mr. J. Walsh, hon. sec., Blackburn and Dis. C.B.S. We are members of the Cage Bird Union.

The following points were gained in our "Bowls and Cups" Competition at Dover F. and F. show, on November 2 and 3, writes Mr. Geo. Sanderson, hon. sec. of the Kent County C.B.A.:—British, Austen 12, Brett 12, Wickham 13; Borders, Dr. T. A. Bowes 10; Lizards, E. J. Wood 7; Norwich P.H., H. E. Taylor 12, F. J. Gibbs 7; Yorkshire, Austen 3, Gibbs 1, Lockett 10, H. E. Taylor 6, F. Wraight 2.

May we draw the attention of exhibitors to our show to be held November 19, write Messrs. Flint and Swarbrick, secretaries of the Tideswell C.B.F.S. show to be held Nov. 19. We have a good schedule and 3 cups for open competition—one for most points Yorkshire, one for most points Norwich, and one for British, Mules, and Hybrids. Will those requiring to show write at once; there is just time to enter up?

Entries are extended till Saturday, November 12, writes Mr. H. Smith, hon. sec., Wimbledon show, November 15 and 16. I hoped we should not have to do this, but at time of writing notwithstanding we are offering good special prizes, the entries in open classes are very short. I hope that exhibitors will send along between now and Saturday, and that as many visitors as possible will be present at the opening by the Mayor and Mayoress of Wimbledon at 2.30 p.m.

Fanciers generally, and his many friends in particular, will be delighted to hear that Mr. J. Dobson (the well-known judge and one of our oldest fanciers) has successfully gone through the very severe operation which it has been his ill-fortune to have to endure. At the time of penning this paragraph the chances were highly favourable to a speedy and satisfactory restoration to health, which we are sure all will join in wishing him.

At the Whitby fanciers' 25th annual show, held November 23, 17 classes are offered, and it is being held under the patronage of the Yorkshire County British Bird and M.C. The Market Hall is an excellent venue, with plenty of space, and very comfortable. Good prize money, with an excellent list of specials, is offered. Entries close on Wednesday next, and the officials hope the cage bird entries will turn up in good numbers.—J. G. TOMLINSON, Hon Sec.

I cannot allow our Manchester show to pass without expressing my sincere thanks for the splendid report given us in your valuable paper, CAGE BIRDS. I must say, however, that I think you praised me too much, and said too little about those without whose help I could never have managed, viz., Messrs. Raynes and Spencer, who did a lot of the work. We all did our best, and we hope we gave satisfaction. I wish CAGE BIRDS every success.—H. BOOTHMAN, show manager, Manchester and N.C.O.S.

Allow us to thank all exhibitors who patronised our show, writes Mr. C. C. Irvine, sec. of Ayr and Dis. C.B.C. All prize money was paid out by the Wednesday after show. Re the clashing of shows in Ayrshire, we advertised our date in CAGE BIRDS from March; and surely any society who wanted to avoid clashing would have seen our date? The same thing has happened before with us, but we have always managed to get a record entry for Ayr. We cannot, under the above circumstances, be accused of being the "clashers."

Mr. J. Sharp (Bathgate), who was to have judged British birds at our show, has, for private reasons, resigned the appointment, writes Mr. A. Cant, hon sec. of the Hamilton (Cadzow Oaks) O.S. Mr. W. Clark (Larkhall) has kindly consented to fill the breach, and we hope fanciers will respond just as heartily with their entries. Our schedules unfortunately are already printed, so we are unable to make the alteration. So great has been the demand for schedules that I have none left; but if anyone sends on entries, I will classify.

By arrangement all entries for the Roller classes at the L.C.B.A. show on November 25, 26, and 28, are to be made direct to me, writes Mr. J. W. Norris, hon. sec. of the British Roller C.C. All members of the B.R.C.C. have been sent a schedule; will any member who has not received one please send me a postcard? Also will the non-members who are competing or going to compete in the young bird point competition please note that they can compete in the two young bird classes at the L.C.B.A. show; and I shall be glad if they will write to me for a schedule?

Blackwood show is to be held November 19; entries taken up to morning of show, writes Mr. James Hamilton, the sec. Please correct an error in schedule. Class 11 should read: Border Fancy clear buff cock. We are making arrangements with the Caledonian Railway Co. for a special train to leave Blackpool at 5.45 p.m., and stop at all stations to Glasgow; the show will close in time to allow exhibitors to catch the train. I have received 4 extra specials for British bird class; remember, no "sticking at six" and no cancelling of classes. Now, exhibitors, give us your support.

The L.C.B.A. silver medals after foreign classes in our schedule should be stated as confined to members of the Foreign Bird Club, writes Mr. W. H. Mugford the hon. sec. of the Lon. C.B.A. show to be held Nov. 25 to 28. Dutch Frills: Owing to the generosity of Baron De Tbicl, we are offering the following specials: £1 for the best Dutch Frill cock, £1 Dutch Frill hen, and by a lady 10s. best Dutch Frill bred in England, 1910. Also by Mr. C. I. Young, gold centre silver medal, for next best young bird, donor not competing. I have received several applications (on picture postcards) for schedules, but no addresses are given; if the writers will apply again I will forward at once.

All prize money is paid at the Dulwich and Peckham C.B.S. show, both members' and open Roller competition, writes Mr. H. W. Tomsett.

At Barnsley show, November 12, we have a record entry, writes Mr. F. C. Sims, the sec. Yorkshire 194, Norwich 113, British Selling 38, total 345.

I have now taken over the secretaryship of Morpeth Cage Bird Society in place of Mr. E. Cowling, writes Mr. James Nichol, Castle View, Morpeth.

We are simply delighted with CAGE BIRDS last Double Number. We think the coloured plate extra special; it does great credit to your artist, Mr. Norman.—NAWTON AND SON (Pickering).

I regret to say, writes Mr. E. L. A. Crow, the hon. sec., that the Lowestoft Fanciers Society has been unable to engage a suitable hall this year, and consequently will not be holding a show.

We have been compelled to cancel our annual show this year, writes Mr. H. Clayton, hon. sec., Pendleton and Salford O.S. In its place we are having a good members' show on November 19.

Our society has received a trophy from Alex. Ure, Esq., M.P., Lord Advocate, for annual competition for most points gained over the show, the winner to be presented with a gold medal by the society, writes Mr. T. Duncan, hon. sec. of the Whitburn and Dis. C.B.S.

We wish to thank you for the splendid report you gave us in CAGE BIRDS of our recent show. We should also like to thank all those exhibitors who favoured us with entries, and so helped to make our show a record one. We have a great objection to "whip-up postcards," but unfortunately this year they were a necessity, for on the Friday night when we sent them off the classes were very poorly filled. We hope another year to do better still, and give an extended classification, and guarantee full prize money.—A. S. TREASURE AND W. POUNSETT, hon. secs., Cheltenham and Dis. C.B.S.

Money for Plainheads.

Mr. R. B. Jarvie, the noted Norwich exhibitor, who is retiring from the Fancy owing to pressure of business, has just sold twelve of his winning team, for a sum close on fifty pounds to a noted English exhibitor, writes Mr. G. Beckett (Glasgow).

Yorkshire Canary Club.

Members please note alteration in competition. The Bailey trophy will be competed for at Leicester C.B. Society's show on December 2 and 3, judge Mr. A. Hirst (Accrington), in place of the Scottish National (Edinburgh) show, December 31 and January 2.—JOHN GREAVES, Sec.

Changes of Addresses.

Mr. W. Hopwood (sec., Denton and Dis. C.B.S.), from Market Street to 10, Langford Street, off Stockport Road, Denton, near Manchester—Mr. W. H. Spencer, from Palmer Road, Wodsley Bridge, to 4, North Street, Penistone Road, Sheffield—Mr. J. Hillier, from Mackenzie Street, to 29, Well Street, Paisley.

The Yorks. C.C. of Ireland.

The date of our annual show has been postponed till early in January. Will members please note that I am anxious to hear from any who would wish to have any of the club rules altered at the general meeting, on Friday next, at the Douglas Hotel, Eden Quay, at 8 o'clock. I hope all members will attend.—J. R. HYLAND, hon. sec., Y.C.C. of Ireland.

Yorkshires at Liverpool Show.

In our report of the Liverpool O.S. show, Class 17 in the Yorkshire section (even, uneven, or heavily variegated yellow cock), our representative makes mention of a mistake in the awards. The show manager, Mr. J. W. Metcalfe, writes us that he has received a letter from Mr. H. W. Battye (who judged) stating that he had evidently put the class number (17) on his slip instead of the cage number, and that thus Mr. Young's bird (No. 17) had got credited with the first prize. This prize, Mr. Battye says, should have gone to a lightly green-marked bird belonging to Messrs. Thornton and Bower, which he had out at the top of the class. Mr. Metcalfe adds that they have paid out the prize-money to Mr. Young (in accordance with the judge's award slip); it is the custom at Liverpool show to pay all prize-winners who visit the exhibition.

OUR FORECAST COMPETITION

The result of the advertisement forecast competition in our issue of October 29.

The winner of the 10s. 6d. offered by us for a correct forecast of the number of advertisements appearing in our last special issue turns out to be—

Mr. R. H. Waring,
Albion Villa,
Albion Street,
New Brighton, Cheshire.

He did not arrive at the exact amount, but was the nearest one to it. His forecast was

The following facts may be of interest. One reader went as low as 755, another as high as 5,565. Mr. Walter Witty, 13, Highgate, Beverley, Yorks, was only four behind Mr. Waring, his forecast being 1,120. Mr. Eric Worden, of Blackpool, and Mr. A. H. C. Legg, of Perth, come next, both with 1,112. The nearest over the amount was Mr. W. H. Kitchingman, of Barnsley, who foretold 1,198. A very large number of forecasts were received about three hundred in all.

First Steps in Foreign Bird Keeping.

Cages should be really miniature aviaries, and should allow their inmates space for exercise, a retiring corner, a bunch of twiggy branches for perching and as a screen to a nesting receptable.

The birdroom and cages must be kept strictly clean, and should receive an annual cleansing and distempering, or the result may be some disastrous epidemic.

Quarantine is an absolute necessity with regard to new purchases, or contagion may be introduced among your healthy stock. And your isolation quarters should be quite away from the birdroom or aviary. Three to four weeks should pass before transferring the fresh birds to their permanent quarters, and an ailing bird should never be so transferred. Isolation cages should be periodically washed over with crude carbolic acid, and, after standing a day, should be thoroughly swilled first with boiling and then with cold water, being left out of doors for two or three days for the sun and air to complete the operation.

The Birds' Menu.

The seeds most favoured by Foreign species are white millet, small brown millet, millet sprays, Canary seed, rape, paddy rice, oats, hemp and sunflower. All good seed should be plump, free from dust, and smell fresh and sweet. Seeding or flowering grass is the most favoured green food. Fresh and tender lettuce is a good second, while groundsel, chickweed, shepherd's purse, dandelion are all taken to a greater or lesser degree.

Practically all fruits may be given to foreign birds, either English or forcign fruit; whatever the kind, it should be fully ripe, but not rotten. Banana, orange, apple, pear, and any other of our English fruits are all wholesome when in season. It should be remembered that with birds, as with humans, a varied dietary is beneficial.

Several good soft food or insectile mixtures are advertised in CAGE BIRDS regularly, but the following will answer admirably for nearly all species, if a portion of crumbled sponge be stirred in after the daily portion is moistened: Ants' "eggs," silkworm pupae meal, fine ground crissel, and some good biscuit or game meal in equal parts. For the coarser-feeding species—Thrush tribe, etc.—a double portion of the meal may be used. The above-named will keep indefinitely if stored in any dry cupboard, etc.; biscuit tins make excellent receptacles for keeping the mixture in. For use, take the daily portion and make crumbly moist with boiling water.

With many town or city dwellers the mainstay will be the costly mealworm, but during the season gentles, living ants' "eggs," and wasps' grubs may be purchased. Note: Gentles are quite as wholesome after they have turned into pupae, and are quite as readily eaten by the birds as in the larvae (gentle-maggot) stage. The aviarist on the qui vive for the welfare of his birds will, during the season, capture many spiders, beetles, smooth caterpillars; and will gather blighty foliage, etc. (which even a London back garden or adjacent common land will supply), and the variation from the mainstay (mealworm) will be greatly appreciated by his (or her) birds.

A series of pot plants to take turn and turn about will not only add greatly to the spectacular effect, but will find the birds occupation in hunting the aphides which are parasitic to the plants, or in taking the nectar from the flowers. The following are suitable for the purpose: Roses, mignonette, fushia,, cuieneria, calceolaria, tropaeolum, and many others which will suggest themselves to my readers.

Procuring the Birds.

Birds are obtained by advertising in, and watching, CAGE BIRDS advertisement pages, choosing, if possible, young birds, and only single pairs of each species (that is, where there is only one aviary(and keeping the newly acquired specimens in trict quarantine for three or four weeks. If the reader has more than one enclosure and wishes to have several pairs of a given species, it is advisable to procure each pair from a different source, so as to secure unrelated pairs from the progeny of the respective pairs. It must be remembered that the cheapest is very often the dearest in the long run. If possible, see the birds before purchasing. A well-feathered, sprightly bird is worth double the price of an ill-feathered, mopy dozey "bundle of feathers"; even the veriest tyro will soon note this distinction. Again, your entrance to the shop and examination of the bird will probably stir the birds up into wild flight and undue excitement; let them become restful again before making your choice.

KEY TO PLAN OF OUTDOOR AVIARY.

Fig. 1 Side Elevation, Fig. 2 Ground Plan: not drawn to scale, but proportionately. Fig 1 is self explanatory. Fig. 2: A, partition dividing shed from covered flight, to be in wood and glass, in about same proportion as seen in side elevation; B, wood and glass partition, uniform with sides; C. C., half glass doors in above partition, for use during winter nights and spells of severe weather; D, suggested entrance door to flight, not shown in elevation; E, shallow pond (or pan) for bath; F, grassed portion of flight; G. G. G., narrow border round flight, for shrubs, bushes, and flowers, the latter as natural colour food; H, gravel path. Note: The above plan would answer equally well for a lean-to structure against a garden wall, only the elevation would require a little alteration to meet the new conditions.

The blackberry, or bramble, as it is named in Scotland, and the dewberry, are practically the same in growth. The bramble is the smaller and is generally found growing on low bushes; the dewberry is found high up in the hedges. These berries may be easily distinguished from one another, first by their difference in size, and secondly by the lustre that is found on the dewberry. These two berries should be gathered and used by every fancier desirous of promoting in a natural way the colour of berry-eating birds. Moreover, they possess valuable astringent properties, and are therefore very useful in cases where birds are troubled with diarrhoea.

The shrub or small evergreen tree of the elder should be well known to everyone The fruit of this tree, known as elderberries, makes a valuable food for our wild birds, and is much sought after by such birds as Blackcaps, Robins, Starlings, Thrushes, Bullfinches, and even Nightingales. The fruit of the elder, besides being a food, has in addition valuable medicinal properties. Elderberry wine is believed by country people to be a cure for colds, asthma and bronchitis.

The berries of the mountain ash (or Rowan tree) are another favourite food of our British Hardbills. This berry, like a number of others I shall mention, needs no description, as it is recognised by everyone. The holly, the mistletoe, and the ivy, are all useful for a number of part-seed eating birds, as well as for several of our Softbills.

The bilberry (or bleaberry) is a grand colouring agent for the Bullfinch and Hawfinch; also the blackthorn (or sloe), which is really the wild damson. Hawfinches are well known to go for the fruit during a severe winter, cracking the hard seed, and making a dainty of the kernel.

I am sorry to bring my remarks to a close, but if any of you have learned anything you did not know before, I shall be amply repaid for my trouble. I have tried to explain in the simplest manner the uses of the various seeds I have mentioned, and if I have failed in this respect I must humbly apologise for taking up so much of your time. Allow me, in conclusion, to thank you for your kind attention; and should anyone be in doubt about any of the seeds I have mentioned, he is at liberty to take a closer inspection.

The Chairman (Mr. John L. Burnett) then opened the discussion. Although a fancier of over twenty years' standing, he said he had learned for the first time that two varieties of the blackberry or bramble existed, and he could endorse the lecturer's statements concerning the various seeds and berries. A discussion took place on the names of the plants submitted, several fanciers saying that some of the names were new to them, although they recognised the plants under different names. The lecturer then explained that the names he had given them were correct from a botanist's point of view, but he could quite understand fanciers recognising the plants by a local name. Mr. Bowman was accorded a hearty vote of thanks for the time and pains he had taken to prepare such an interesting and instructive lecture, and especially for the splendid collection of wild seeds he had shown them; and he readily consented to give another such lecture on a future occasion. The meeting then terminated with a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman.

Management & Breeding of the Crested Canary.

When the youngsters are hatched, the less they are meddled with the better. All I do is to get a glance at them mornings and evenings. This can be done without meddling with them at all. If you watch for the hen to feed, you will see the youngsters' heads up, so that you can count them. When feeding the young I use for the first two days the yolk of an egg alone; but after this I gradually add Paris biscuits to the whole egg, until I get to three, which I consider is quite enough to one egg. If I use Osborne biscuits, I add one and a half to one egg, but I find my birds like the Paris best and thrive well on them.

When the young are twenty-eight days old, I give in addition to the egg-food a little milk sop and crushed Canary. I also give them to drink water which has been boiled and let go cold. Some breeders object to giving the young water until they are two months old, but I consider this cruelty. I should like to keep those that do this without anything to drink for two months. I reared sixty young birds last season and only lost two after they could do for themselves, and I gave fresh water every day, changing it twice. And green food I give them three or four times a week. I think that this ought to be enough to convince breeders.

Another thing is that I have never yet had a bird with inflammation; I put this down greatly to my using water only which has been first boiled for them, thus killing all water germs. I boil the water over-night and pour it into jugs to cool. I also cover the jugs with cloths to keep out any dust which may be about. I leave it to stand until the following morning, it being then cool and fit for use.

Sundry Matters.

I always keep "feeders," as most Crests are too highly bred to feed their young. And if they would do so, it is best not to allow them to, as feeding entails a lot of strain, and Crests are valuable, while "feeders" are cheap. I find that for "feeders" the Border Fancy, Common, Norwich or Yorkshire Canary is the best.

I never run a cock with two hens, one being, I think, quite enough, and I keep the same pair together all the season.

When turning the youngsters into the flights, I ring and number them, so that I shall know later from what pair they were bred, as unless the pedigree is kept, our calculations are bound to collapse in the end. All young birds greatly improve after the first moult, and after the second moult are better still. Therefore, my advice to beginners in the breeding of Crested Canaries is to keep what they breed until after the second moult, no matter how rough they look before; it will often surprise you what a different appearance they have in the second year.

In the Moulting Season.

In the moulting season I feed with egg food every second day, and mixed seed, such as sunflower, hemp, and broken rice. And when the birds have stopped throwing their old feathers, I give in addition a small pinch of lin and niger seeds twice a week, and also half a teaspoonful of rape, to each bird twice a week. In place of egg-food for one day in every fortnight, I give a little milk sop. I found that by so feeding this year, my birds old and young were long before Christmas in full song. When I see them all in perfect condition and all the strain of the moult is over, I gradually reduce the egg-food to a supply once a week, and after feeding so for about six weeks I increase it again to my general method of feeding twice a week again; but I keep the mixed seeds supplied once a week, cutting the linseed out altogether until the time arrives for pairing. I also cover my cages with a muslin curtain while the birds are moulting. By so doing the birds throw their feathers much quicker and more easily; and by keeping the light from striking on them too much, they will grow feather of much better quality.

I also let the birds bathe freely during the moult and breeding seasons.

Just a few words now for the benefit of our new beginner. I told you to pair a Crested hen which had been bred from a Crest-bred hen to a cock which had been bred from a Crested cock. The second pair you should see is the reverse of this: that is, you should take a Crest-bred hen which has been bred from a Crested hen and pair her to a Crested cock which has been bred from a Plainhead cock.

Before pairing be sure your Crest-breds were not bred from double-Crested parents, and the heads should be well arched and wide in front. Secondly, don't buy cheap stuff without a thorough good pedigree or you will fail. Thirdly, if you don't understand how to select birds and do not know their value, get someone to help you who does. Fourthly, don't go all over the globe to buy your birds, but stick to one or two honest breeders whom you can depend on; and if you are sending away for birds, always have them through CAGE BIRDS' deposit system. Lastly, don't start with more than two or three pairs; you will find these quite enough for the first year.

Questions and Answers.

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS.

Queries will be answered under the following Conditions:—

(1)—All questions must be clearly written in ink (or typewritten) on one side only of paper, and must conclude with either the correct name of querist, or a pseudonym, or initials

(2)—The proper name and address in full of querist must always be written on a separate sheet of paper and enclosed with the query. In no case must the address appear on the query.

(4)—Queries must not include or be included in orders for books, instructions re advertisements, or any other matter for publication.

(5)—The department to which the queries refer must be stated in bold letters on the left-hand corner of the query.

(6)—If an answer in the same week's issue is desired, queries must be posted to reach us by Monday's first post at latest. Queries will be dealt with in the order in which they are received, and only as space permits. The earlier queries are received the better attention they are likely to have.

(7)—Queries relating to illnesses of birds, except enquiries as to cause of death (for which see Post Mortems) will be answered by return of post on receipt of a postal order for sixpence and an addressed stamped envelope. Queries of an ordinary nature will be answered by post, if desired, on receipt of a postal order for one shilling and a stamped addressed envelope.

(8)—All who require letters of complaints written to advertisers must state grounds for doing so clearly and fully, and enclose a fee of sixpence, otherwise their letters will not receive attention. All the fees received from this source will be handed over in full to the "Referee's" Poor Children's Dinner Fund (London).

(9)—All queries must be addressed the Editor, "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C. Only queries so sent will be answered. Postcards are not admissible.

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staff of ADVISORY EXPERTS. Queries must in no case be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

CANARY QUERIES.

Hoarseness and Sneezing.

H. J. Y.—It is not unusual for birds to be hoarse for a short time after they recommence singing, and when they are still moulting you could scarcely expect voice to be clear. The fits of sneezing show they are also either in a draughty position or one where the fluctuations affect them during the moult, when they are more than usually susceptible. Do not keep them too near a fire, where they will be very warm by day and correspondingly cold at night. Keep them quite free from draughts, in a just comfortable place, as equable as possible, and feed generally as frequently advised here. In addition to the ordinary diet, give a piece of bread the size of a hazel nut, soaked in cold milk, drained, two drops of cod liver oil emulsion dropped on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar, every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days give the following decoction in place of pure water to drink. Decoction: Put half a teaspoonful of linseed, a chlorate of potash lozenge, and a piece of Spanish liquorice the size of a large pea into a tea cup; half fill with boiling water, stir until all are dissolved, cover over, and allow to stand until cold. Stir in half teaspoonful of glycerine and give the liquor in the drinkers instead of water.

Four to One.

No Name.—(1) I should certainly consider the position a draughty one when the direction of the wind is such as to cause a current of air to pass from the window to the door, or vice versa. At all times it would expose the bird to the greatest extremes of temperature. Altogether, you must only expect the very hardiest of birds to flourish in such a position, even if any would do so for any length of time. Birds with absolute freedom in the open air would be in far better circumstances. (2) Yes, it is quite safe to keep birds in a room facing north. In spite of the lack of sunshine, many fanciers succeed well all the year round in a room of similar aspect. (3) Yes, by bathing I mean supplying the birds with a shallow vessel of water either inside the cage or hanging on the open door with a wire cover to prevent birds escaping. Baths for either purpose may be easily purchased. Those to hang on outside are the best, as they save wetting the floor of the cage so badly, as does the bath placed inside. (4) No reason whatever why the pair of birds you describe should not breed together. The young cocks will be very fair singers, equal to either the Border or common Germans.

Norwich in a Bad Way, etc.

H. V. R. Jagg.—As you give no particulars as to age, or treatment I can only advise in a general way. Try following treatment for a month, and if it is not well then, write again, referring to this reply, and give above particulars. See it is not troubled with insect pests, or its cage infested with red mite. Keep it in a cosy place, not necessarily very warm, out of all draughts, and where the temperature will be as equable as possible at all times. Keep cage floor strewn with clean gritty sand. For staple diet give a mixture of three-parts Canary to one part summer rape. Every second day for a fortnight give half a teaspoonful of crushed stale sponge or Madeira cake with four drops of sherry and two of cod liver oil emulsion well mixed in it and sprinkled with maw seed. On the alternate days give a morsel of banana, or a spray of watercress, or green top of inner stalk of celery, and a few grains of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, teazle, and gold of pleasure. After first fortnight drop latter to twice a week; stop sponge cake item, and give instead a morsel of bread sopped in milk and sprinkled with soft sugar twice a week. In drinking water give 6 drops syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts every second day for a week, and in the next week 4 drops each tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid every second day. You omit to say whether your figures refer to feet or inches. If inches, 9 or 10 will be as many as it will properly accommodate.

General Information ("Hopeful").—No separate Canary query has come to hand. Possibly you wrote queries concerning other sections on same sheet, which has gone to the other experts first. If so, see next week for Canary replies. However, the best general information you could procure would be by taking the parts of "Our Canaries" as they appear, and for present use "Canary Breeding for Beginners," 7d., post free, from our manager.

Seed Samples (Doubtful).—Three samples of canary No. 1 is small, bright and clean, but slightly musty; therefore, not fit for feeding valuable birds. No. 2 is of very fair size, well ripened, clean and sweet, and of all round good quality. No. 3 is probably a mixture of canary and some grass seed, and is also, in my opinion, badly contaminated with some foreign substance. Better fight shy of it.

Seed Sample (Black Cap).—Messrs. J. Carter and Co., the royal seedsmen, have very kindly examined your sample, and report upon it as follows:—"The seed is somewhat of a mixture. The predominating seeds are spurry and rye grass. There are a number of other seeds of a more or less "weedy" character, which leads us to suppose the mixture may probably be spurry plus some grass seed cleanings." My thanks are hereby tendered to Messrs. Carter and Co.

Diarrhœa (W. J., Birmingham).—Cut all linseed out of diet and withhold all green food until quite recovered. Give a staple of plain canary and add separately every second day half a teaspoonful of summer rape, but see it is the mild and nutty kind. On the alternate days give a morsel of ripe banana, a few grains of hemp, which must be quite sound and good, and a third of a teaspoonful of maw. In the drinking water give 6 drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts for one day only, and afterwards 6 drops of tincture of gentian and 4 of aromatic sulphuric acid for a few days. If this does not soon correct looseness, add five drops tincture of opium to the last-named mixture for a day or two. The Editor appreciates your efforts in getting no less than 13 new subscribers. Far from considering that an "unlucky number" if every reader did the same he would probably thenceforth swear by it.

Building a Shed (J. H.).—I can scarcely give you much encouragement in your enterprise. A shed 3ft. by 4ft. by 6ft. high is nothing more or less than a moderate sized cupboard, and how you are going to get in along with the cages, to do much moving about for cleaning, etc., beats me altogether. The birds would undoubtedly be warm enough in winter—indeed, unless you had a good top ventilation, they may be too warm, as their own animal heat, when shut up, would soon make the place close and stuffy. Take my advice and unless you can build a much larger place, dispense with the idea altogether and keep your cages in a corner of some room within doors. For general information on aviary construction, get "Aviaries, Birdrooms, and Cages," which our manager could send you for 2s. 3d. post free.

Canary Querists should send to our publisher for "Canary Breeding for Beginners," 7d.; "House's Canary Manual," 1/2; and "Yorkshire Canaries," 1/-, post free.

A Misfortune (Disappointed).—(1) Sorry to hear of your misfortune. You must let this be a lesson; the utmost care should be taken to prevent such accidents. You ought to be safe enough in following the advice of the veterinary. It will be quite worth while trying her for breeding next season. The loss of the leg will not necessarily prevent her breeding. (3) Give a pinch of summer rape each; ditto of hemp every second day, and a morsel of banana or raw carrot on the alternating days. Allow bird to bathe freely. Dissolve twopennyworth of ammoniated citrate of iron and quinine in two tablespoonfuls of sherry, and give bird twenty drops of this in the drinking water every second day for a week. This should soon tighten it up in plumage.

A Bird Room (No nom-de-plume).—I see no reason why the birds should not thrive and do very well through the winter in the room you describe, particularly if the position is in any way sheltered from rain and winds on the sides facing north-east to north-west. I certainly advise you to leave heating alone in the circumstances. Be careful of draughts, and ventilate it judiciously, if the window and door are the only means of doing so, through the winter. It would be much better if you could fix a ventilator at the highest part near the roof for use when weather will not allow the window to be opened much. If the area of glass is large in proportion to the building, dull part of it with "frosting" or "summer cloud," to help to prevent too rapid radiation of natural heat.

Rollers Not Singing (F.E.W., Clapham).—It is not unusual for them after the first few seasons to take a rest for a few weeks after moulting. Treat as follows for a few weeks:—Staple diet: Mixture two parts canary to one part summer rape. Every second day for a fortnight give half a teaspoonful of crushed stale sponge cake with 4 drops sherry and 2 cod liver oil emulsion mixed in it. On alternate days give a third of a teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts maw, inga, gold of pleasure, and sesame seeds. After first fortnight reduce each of these items to twice a week for another fortnight or so. Give a spray of watercress, green top of inner stalk of celery, or a morsel of ripe banana, three times a week. In drinking water give 20 drops of whiskey, 10 of glycerine, and half a chlorate of potash lozenge, three times a week for a fortnight.

Borders (Novice).—Treat cock as advised to "H.J.Y." See both birds are out of draught, and not exposed to the fumes and heat of burning lights or fires. Keep in an equable and comfortable place, which need not necessarily be very warm. Give a mixture of three parts Canary to one part rape as staple; a pinch of a mixture of equal parts hemp, millet, linseed, and inga twice a week, and a spray of watercress, green top of inner stalk of celery, or morsel of raw carrot or banana, three times a week. Give the hen half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with four drops of sherry and two of cod liver oil emulsion mixed in it, and sprinkled with maw seed, every second day for a fortnight. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts for three days, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky, six of oxymel of squills, and two of eucalyptus oil, well shaken together, every second day for a week. It would be very advisable to keep her in a box cage instead of the open wire one.

Grist in the Mill (Herne Hill).—Sorry to disappoint, but my candid opinion is these birds will never sing at all. They are probably just common German hens, and the price you gave is, within a few pence per head, probably their full value. You have been feeding them much too liberally, and the antics are due to their being already in a forward breeding condition, which would have been much more appropriate to the end of next March. Put them on a diet of two parts canary to one part summer rape, as staple. Give a little green food three times a week, but nothing else in the way of food or luxuries for a month. Also add a pinch of Epsom salts to the drinking water every second day for a week. If you cage the birds separately and there is by chance a cock amongst them, he will commence singing in a very short time. Your Siskin query should have been on separate paper. See Mr. Weston's column.

Taking up the Hobby ("Sheffield").—If you mean limiting choice to the two breeds, I should prefer the Yorkshire. There is really little to choose, but the Yorkshire is not quite so loud on the whole. Of course, for singing pure and simple the Roller stands supreme. The sexes should be kept separate through winter. The end of March is about the best time to put them together for breeding, if they are in good condition and anxious to mate—not otherwise. A single breeding cage should be 20in. long, 16ins. high, and 10ins. from back to front; a double-breeder, 40ins. long, and the same height and depth, with a partition in the centre to divide into two compartments. An ordinary living room is not an ideal place, though hundreds are bred in such places successfully. Choose a position well away from fire, where the temperature will be fairly equable, away from the fumes of burning lights and quite out of reach of draughts. Be well advised and take "Our Canaries," of which seven parts are now ready. It will tell you all you wish to know on every point that crops up to puzzle you.

Norwich in Bad Feather (Miss Trayner).—Do not put bird in outside aviary at this season. Keep it in a comfortable place indoors, but not too warm or near a fire, nor where it will feel heat from lights. Let the temperature be as equable as possible, and the position quite free from draughts and impure air. Feed on a staple diet of plain canary only, and every second day give separately half a teaspoonful of summer rape, and a morsel of banana or some green food. On alternating days three times each week for the next month give a morsel of bread soaked in cold milk, drained, then slightly dusted with a mixture of two parts flowers of sulphur to one part chlorate of potash, and finally sprinkle with a pinch of maw seed. Keep cage strewn with clean gritty sand; see red mites do not again become troublesome, and allow bird to bathe freely in mild weather. In drinking water give 6 drops syrup rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts every second day for a week, and in the next week 4 drops of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid every second day.

Sore Eyes ("Anxious").—The mites are largely, if not solely, the cause, and the reason these two are particularly affected is that they roost in a position where they are most exposed to attack. Watch where they roost, and then well examine round about spot for colonies of mites. Give the aviary a thorough overhaul. If you cannot move birds to do it, brush it over with a solution of izal, half and half, working this well into every crack or crevice, then brush over with plain water, wipe dry, and drop a drop of full strength izal into every joint and crack. Clean all perches and dip just the ends in izal before replacing them. Put in the roosting position perches made of elder twigs with the pith cleaned out. Remove these one a week and scrape out and destroy the contents. Every morning when removing the cover, either roll up and bake in a hot oven to destroy all life, or immerse it in boiling water. Repeat dressing with izal several times at intervals of a month. You should then get rid of them. Remove the two birds to a small cage for convenience in catching them, and bathe the eyes daily with a lukewarm solution of boracic acid—a small teaspoonful of acid to teacupful of warm water—until the soreness has disappeared.

Cannot Finish Moulting (Barnsley).—Had you had the advantage of reading the moulting chapters of "Our Canaries," which is being published, you would not be expecting your six-months-old Canary to drop the wing and tail feathers to complete its moult. When an adult bird moults, these are the first to drop out, not the last, and a young bird does not drop them at its first moult. So you are expecting that which ought not to occur. Keep bird in a fairly warm place, but don't overdo it, and let temperature be as equable as possible. See that it is not troubled with red mite. In addition to its staple diet, give a piece of bread the size of a hazel nut soaked in cold milk, drained, two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar, every second day for a week or two. On the alternate days give a third of a teaspoonful of maw, and a morsel of banana. Twice a week give a small teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, millet, and linseed. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts for three days, and afterwards four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid, every second day for a week.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S., etc.

About Budgerigars, etc.

Howard White.—(1) Breeding late in the season and constitutional weakness in their parents is probably responsible for the weakness of the young birds, though probably hatching so late in the season has contributed somewhat to the state of affairs. They may grow out of it; probably several others will die. In addition to the usual seeds, supply regularly a few kibbled oats. The parent birds may probably be quite fit in the spring, and weak progeny not recur. If it does, get rid of them, and procure another pair. (2) The progeny of White Java Sparrows are usually more or less splashed with grey or black, and many of the adults are also slightly ticked, and I fear some cut these out; of course, they are reproduced again each moult. The White Java has sprung from the grey, and it is a case of reverting back to the original stock to a greater or lesser degree. (3) If your aviary gives space for exercise, and your country is not too far north, they should winter out of doors all right. But if they appear uncomfortable, they will winter safely in a cage in any ordinary living room. (4) They will probably not attempt further nesting; if they do, you must remove the husks. (5) Anoint the vent with sweet oil, not sufficient to grease the feathers, though, and administer one drop of the oil to the beak by means of a quill. (6) Repeat this query with full details of dietary and conditions under which they are kept.

Budgerigars' Voices, etc.

E. F. J.—Yes, the noises to which you refer are quite natural. I have never noticed them to be so insistent as to become a nuisance, but I have never kept them indoors. On page 54 of my book, "Foreign Birds for Beginners," you will find stated "at least twice the number of husks you have pairs of birds, etc." It is well to confine the breeding season if possible to spring, summer, and autumn, and the birds mostly do so; but indoors you can safely leave them to follow their own bent. If you carefully read the paragraph on page 54 on breeding, you should have no difficulty in treating you birds. Budgies do not bathe, they roll themselves among dewy grass and undergrowth in a state of nature. In the cage either give them a light spraying occasionally or supply them with a wet patch of grass, such as is given to larks; it should be well watered through a fine rose before being put in the cage, and the birds will tub by rolling in this.

Aviary and Birds.

Sheffield.—(1) Your aviary arrangements are very satisfactory, and should answer well, and the birds you name, including the Yellow Budgerigars, should safely pass the winter therein. Yes, Cardinals will agree with the other birds—as a rule, though there are exceptions; the song of the Cardinals does not amount to much, except during the breeding season, and even then, though the notes are rich, and some of them flute-like and oft repeated, it is neither very varied or sustained. (2) Unless you want special birds to pair up, leave them altogether and let them choose their own mates. If the birds keep fit and well, drugs or tonics are not needed, but if they get out of tone, give a mild laxative and follow with the chemical food regularly till they are fit again—of course, special diseases need special treatment. Yes, leave husks up all the year round—at least, double the number of nesting receptacles that you have pairs of birds. Hang up three sprays in various parts of the aviary and renew as required, daily if needs be.

Parrot Weak on Legs.

McEwan.—Keep its diet as plain as possible for a time: Seed mixture, ripe fruit, few nuts and plain biscuit, with a piece of cuttlebone, will be ample. So long as the voidings are not watery loose, put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's magnesia into the drinking water (ordinary size drinker) every third day, and on the other days well colour the drinking water with Parrish's chemical food. Give three doses—three grains of bromide of potassium, dissolved in a little syrup—on three consecutive days. If the bird will not take it from a spoon, you must administer it straight to the bill, either from a quill or any other convenient means. Keep bird as restful and quiet as you can, in some warm, yet airy, but not draughty, position. You had better report progress a week hence, and I will see if I can help you further. If as I suspect the legs have been injured by the fall, the bathing with warm water and anointing with whiskey, combined with the quiet and rest, should effect a restoration, though the bit-of-everything diet and animal food, combined with its age, is all against it—a break up in such cases of mistreatment is usually very serious when it does occur.

Is it a Cock? (G. Baker).—It is a cock Paradise Whydah. The hens of this group not only remain principally brown in colour all the year round, but their tails are only of normal length. The males don their rich colouration and long caudal plumes only during the breeding season. Very shy breeders in captivity.

Green Amazon Shedding Feathers (A Reader).—It looks like an ordinary moult, but from you letter I can form no opinion. If you will repeat query and supply following information, I will then try and help you:—How long have you had the bird? What do you feed on? Is the room you keep it in of a variable or fluctuating temperature? In the interim take the advantage of spraying the bird with quassia solution.

Cardinal Weak (V. A. G.).—Give this bird a liberal diet—canary, millet, with hemp and sunflower seeds in smaller quantity, ripe fruit, green food (fresh lettuce is best at this season), and about half a dozen mealworms daily. Keep the bowels moving freely by an occasional dose of Dinneford's magnesia, and continue the Parrish's chemical food for, say, another month. Your Sprosser will most probably not commence to sing till the early spring.

Foreign Bird Querists will find in our handbook, "Foreign Birds for Beginners," 1/1, and "Budgerigars and Cockatiels," 6d. post free; a mine of information of use and interest.

Orange Bishop (Express).—These can be kept quite easily either in an outdoor aviary, indoor flight, or a roomy cage with natural twiggy branches as perches. Diet: Canary, white millet, millet sprays, with a little paddy rice and a few oats; green food, and two or three mealworms per bird daily. A little of any kind of ripe fruit they will take is also wholesome. They must also have access to grit, and water for drinking and bathing. They are a hardy species, but must not be subjected to draughts.

What Birds? (W. D. Hetton).—I have passed this query on to our British Bird specialist; from its demeanour I think it is a Redstart. Could you not send it on for examination, if our B.B. expert cannot name it? It is probably quite a young bird, and if you keep it a little, its colouring may become clearer, and the apparent mystery solve itself. At any rate, I cannot make anything else of it from your description.

Budgerigars (E. E.).—Leaving young birds out of consideration, the adults should be in pairs—i.e., an equal number of each sex. In some few cases one hears of a cock looking after two hens, but the usual result is that the two hens live in a state of continual warfare, and I cannot advise it. I always leave the husks up through the winter; they make good night shelter for the birds. Then I renew them each spring. If they insist on nesting, let them do so; there's very little risk, though the young may not be reared. Some will call this rank heresy—but you cannot stop them laying if they want to. If there are no husks, they will deposit the eggs on the ground. Leave them to follow their own bent.

Breeding Budgerigars (D. Wallee).—(1) Yes, in a suitable aviary they practically breed all the year round, though as far as possible this should be confined to spring, summer and autumn. The young will breed the following year; it is not well to permit them to do so earlier, it weakens them, and the young reared are but weaklings. (2) You ought to succeed with Zebra Finches, Cutthroats, Bronze Munnikins, Spice Birds, Magpie Munnikins, and Java Sparrows, also Long-tail Grassfinches. With the exception of the latter they are all cheap. But the cheapest are often the dearest, as losses are often very numerous among newly imported birds. Birds bought at the present time must not be turned out of doors till spring, or they will soon die off. Turned out in the spring, they will then safely weather the winter out of doors. "Foreign Birds for Beginners," 1s. 1d. post free, from our Manager, would help you.

What Birds? (P. Cawood).—Evidently escaped Foreign birds. So far as I am able to follow your description, they appear to be Orange-cheek Waxbills, or else Grey Waxbills. If the red colour round the eyes is bright red, they are the latter. In such case there should be a tinge of rose colour in the centre of the belly. If they are Orange-cheeks, the area round the eyes and extending over the ear coverts is ruddy orange, with no rosy tinge on the belly. In either case, though beautiful birds, they are neither rare nor costly; value about 3s. 6d. a pair.

Stocking an Aviary (Flemio).—Unless you can buy birds that have been out-of-doors all the summer you must not put Foreign birds out till next May. If your aviary has a sheltered portion attached to it, you can keep pairs of the following all together without risk of any serious disagreement. Foreign: Zebra Finches, Avadavats, Gold-breasted Waxbills, Long-tailed Grassfinches, Grey and Green Singing Finches, Cutthroats, Spice Birds, Silverbills, and Java Sparrows. British: Goldfinches, Linnets, Twites, Redpolls, and Siskins.

BRITISH BIRDS, MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Answered by G. E. Weston.

A Song Thrush (G. Palmer).—Read the reply given "A.T.A." this week; possibly it also applies to the case of your own bird. How do you prepare the food? Thrushes and Blackbirds should have some grated raw carrot, or minced-up green-stuff (lettuce, watercress, etc.), mixed amongst their food.

Description of Siskin (Ilerne Hill).—As a Siskin appeared upon the coloured plate given away last week with Cage Birds, I take it that you will no longer require a description of this bird. The hen is a very, very much paler bird (very little yellow or green in her plumage), and generally more heavily marked (pencilled) on the breast. The cock has a brisk, cheerful little song, not very melodious, however.

Greenfinch-Bullfinch Hybrid (Sailor).—I adviso you to invest in Mr. Houlton's work on Hybrids (now being published by Cage Birds in monthly parts); or, at least, that part which deals with methods of breeding which is too lengthy a matter to go into fully in the space allowed me in this column. Everybody needs to read about this subject (Hybrid breeding) before they embark on it, and make themselves acquainted with every detail. A special cage is illustrated and described in Mr. Houlton's book. A really first-class exhibition Greenfinch-Bullfinch Hybrid might fetch anything from £5 to £10 (even more, if an outstanding "champion"), according to age, time of year in which it was sold, etc.

Wasp Grub and Ants' Eggs (W. F. Wilbee).—Both ants' eggs and wasp-cake need "curing" before they can be stored for winter use. Neither will keep very long, in fact, in a live state. Wasp cake should be baked in a just fairly hot oven until the grubs are killed, turning a light brown (it does not take many minutes), then kept in a cool, very dry place. Aots' eggs can be dried on a tray covered with grease-proof paper, or a layer of hot bird-sand; or on hot sand in a frying-pan.

The Case of a Bullfinch (A.T.A.).—Is it possible the bird and its cage have become infested with red-mite? These little pests are responsible for many cases of skin irritation and loss of feathers at the neck and head. If you throw a white cloth over the cage at night, close examination in the morning will reveal red-mite sticking to it (assuming them to be present). These, of course, must be cleared out of both cage and the bird's plumage. If, however, it seems to be a case of skin disease, you might care to try one of the ointments advertised in Cage Birds (see under the "Medicines" column). It is often very difficult to give advice when one has no opportunity of seeing the patient.

A Magpie Matter (Jack).—My own Magpie is out of doors all the winter, and he talks away fast enough (possibly to keep himself warm!), while I am quite sure he would be ready to bathe even though the thermometer registered a hundred degrees of frost. As it is, I sometimes expect to find that he has turned himself into an icicle! Is the bird suspicious of you; or what? I can only suggest that you make it a practice to personally hand him all the tit-bits, such as dead mice and Sparrows, fat meat, etc., and thus endeavour to soften his heart towards you.

Meadow Pipit and Goldfinch (Sparrow).—I really do not think that you could hope to make a sound, healthy bird out of the Meadow Pipit; far better give it up and try another specimen. I fancy an ointment such as Zambuk would be more likely to prove efficacious than the one you mention. Use this for a time, if you like to persevere with treatment. Insects will create considerable irritation, and lead to both skin and feather troubles. You might give scalded (or steamed) gonties in place of the mealworms, or as a change, though two or three mealworms daily can do no harm. At this time of the year it is not easy to provide much change. The bird would probably tackle tiny "blackbeetles."

Two Birds (Avis).—Try variety in the size of the perches—say, one normal size, and two much thinner, one of the latter a natural twig, if possible. Yes; birds get a kind of "gout" (or inflamed joints of the legs), more generally the insectivorous species, such as the Nightingale. I presume you give your bird ripe fruit and green-food in adequate quantity? The best thing to paint swollen joints with is tincture of iodine;; a very little applied with a brush twice daily. The Goldfinch you should give five or six drops of syrup of buckthorn in two tablespoonfuls of drinking water for two days (until bowels are moving freely), and supply him with some thistle and dandelion seeds to eat in addition to his regular seeds.

Concerning Exhibition Mules, Goldfinches, etc. (Anxious to Learn).—In the first place, it is only a very small percentage of Mules which turn out show specimens, and the same remark applies to Goldfinches. The Lionet Mules you saw were bred from ben Canaries specially selected for their size and richness of colour (no doubt yellow hens). Further, they had been colour-fed, which gave them their reddish-orange tone. This colour-food (tasteless, or sweet pepper) is advertised in Cage Birds, and must be given while the birds are moulting—it is useless to give it at any other time. Exhibition Linnet Mules, however, must be specially bred for size and colour, the two most important show points, then be colour-fed. With the Goldfinch and the Bullfinch, the former must be selected with a big, clear-coloured blaze, and the latter with a very rich, fiery-coloured breast. If they have not this richness of colour naturally, then no system of feeding, etc., will supply it. A Bullie with a "smoky" breast, and a Goldie with a dull blaze, or one with a lot of black feathers in it, cannot be made into exhibition birds. So you will see that everything depends upon "selection" in the first place.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yntes, M.R.C.V.S., 2, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. And bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

Miss M. Hill. Pneumonia. Not necessarily, if kept warm, but much depends upon existing weather conditions; there is certainly much more chance of fatality. Numbers are lost through this process. Although a normal physiological process, the mortality arising from it in birds is considerably higher than should be expected; draughts, cold, and moist air are the most prolific causes.

GENERAL.

Answered by The Editor.

A Report (F. Cole).—Many thanks for your kindness.

Cuttings (W. Smith and others).—We are much obliged to you for the newspaper cuttings forwarded.

At Kilmarnock Show (Natural Colour).—You are evidently not aware of the fact that your letter is of an extremely libellous nature, and one that no paper could publish, especially as the alleged faked birds were not disqualified by the judge, but given prizes. Why not bring the matter before the Club's officials, if you can prove your allegations and your statement that the man is "as bad as Crippen"?

A Question for Catchers.

SIR,—Could any of the readers of your valuable journal kindly enlighten me in the matter of catching Siskin, Yellowhammer, and Bramble, and how to set for them, and whether lime or nets are best? I have got some good nets. ANXIOUS ONE.

Prize Money at the Late Camborne Show.

SIR,—In your issue of October 15, I read a letter from the hon. sec. (Mr. C. J. Allen) of the above show, stating it was the intention of the society to pay all prize money in full, and asking anyone who had not received same to communicate with him. I wrote, but have received no reply up to now. Do they intend to do as announced? I should like to know. EXHIBITOR.

Messrs. Rabey Bros. also write that they have had no reply to their request for payment.

The Midland Counties Yorkshire C.C. Patronage.

SIR,—In reply to your correspondent, "One who wants to know," with regard to the granting of the club's patronage to the Crewe Society, this was practically settled at my last committee meeting, and under circumstances of extraordinary difficulty. I took it upon myself to definitely grant the patronage. Under similar conditions I should do the same again. I have no intention of discussing club matters through the columns of the Fancy Press, but if your correspondent will write me, I shall be pleased as soon as I am at home to reply to any further enquiries he may make. Of one thing he may rest assured, and that is, that the club's interest and advancement have always been my chief and abiding aim.

A. PADDOCK.

The Roller Canary in Scotland.

SIR,—As an amateur in the keeping of the above mentioned bird, I was delighted to see the articles which have been appearing lately in your valuable paper regarding the feeding and training of these delightful birds. Mr. Canning's letter was specially good, as he gives his experiences in a very clear manner. It would appear, however, that the various Roller Canary Clubs are situated in various parts of England, and unfortunately no such clubs exist in Scotland. In reading the accounts of the various singing contests, we get all the technical names of the various rolls performed, but unfortunately on this side of the Border Roller fanciers have no ways or means of hearing such in order to understand what is considered a good bird from a song point of view. Perhaps I may be wrong in stating that there are very few, if any, Roller fanciers in this city (Glasgow). If there be such, however, I should be glad if they would come forward and give a few hints in a practical way, and thereby he the means of furthering the Fancy of this particular bird in our city. I am sorry Mr. Canning does not give his address, but I am afraid he resides over the Border.

A. FORREST.

Testing Birds at the City of Glasgow Show.

SIR,—I was more than surprised when I got my last week's CAGE BIRDS to see Mr. Pettigrew trying to "get out" by saying he only applied water and glycerine. Surely he tried something far stronger? I would like to know where Mr. Pettigrew learned what kind of acid was best to test the feathers of birds which would not do the birds any bodily harm. This testing of birds is only a farce, which I can easily prove. I knew a bird which was faked, and Mr. Pettigrew tested it; it must have been water and glycerine, for after he had put it "through the mill" it was put well up in the prize list. The next testing of birds by Mr. Pettigrew was at Paisley, where he disqualified a Mule and a Hybrid for staining, and after judging, when he got to know to whom the birds belonged, he owned up he must have made a mistake, and if I am correct, he sent the owner of the birds the value of the two first prizes out of his own pocket, which money was returned to him. There is also a letter from one Mr. S. Williams, who says this staining and faking wants putting down; well, my advice to him is that Mr. Pettigrew won't do it, if he gives tickets to faked birds, and then disqualifies birds which are shown genuine.

BRITISH BIRD.

SIR,—"Fools rush in where angels fear to tread," seems to be a favourite expression of Mr. Pettigrew's. His statement that it was only glycerine and water that he used, I will accept for what it is worth. No Mr. P., this statement of what was used I am sure won't go down with the majority of fanciers who saw the bird in question on both days of the show, especially on the Saturday. I maintain that the bird in question could not have suffered as it did if only glycerine and water had been used. Dr. Galloway, of Aberdeen, happened to be at the show, and I got him to have a look at the Goldie; I would like to hear his opinion as to whether glycerine and water would have the effect as appeared on the foreign Goldie in question. Mr. Pettigrew's remarks about a certain Bathgate fancier, being shocked, etc., etc., I can't see that this has any connection with the case in question, but for the benefit of your readers I may say that I was the Bathgate man Mr. P. mentions, and that if it had not been for one of the stewards who was attending him, the Linnet which he put on the top shelf would have been second, as he had the class judged before the steward drew his attention to the discolouration on the flights of one of the wings, when the bird was promptly put on the top shelf. There is another old saying which I think runs thus: "Honour to whom honour is due," and the honour for picking out the faked bird in this instance does not go to Mr. Pettigrew. Coming again to the foreign Goldie, I trust some of the old fanciers who were present at the late Glasgow show will give their opinion on it, and say if the suffering the Goldie had to go through could have been caused by the trap laid by Mr. Pettigrew.

JAMES LIVINGSTONE.

SIR,—Mr. Pettigrew states that a trap was laid for his maligners. How did he know he was to be maligned? If there had not been stained birds at the show, where could he have been maligned? But he comes prepared to carry out a "mock test," and selects a foreign Goldfinch belonging to a Bathgate fancier. Did he acquaint the President he intended doing so? In the carrying out of his test, why did he select that part of the Finch where the stuff would come in contact with its eye, when the bird had such an expansive blaze under, and by selecting this part it would have saved the bird a deal of suffering. Now, Mr. Pettigrew, could pure glycerine have caused the bird to be in the state it was on Saturday afternoon? Could it be possible, after 24 hours, to find this Finch suffering if, as stated, pure glycerine had been used? Mr. Pettigrew had no right to have a "mock test" on any exhibitor's birds. He himself states that he was satisfied it was an "outstanding Finch." If this Finch had belonged to any other party than the Bathgate exhibitor, would he have done the same? Mr. Pettigrew was the judge; why did he need to enter into an arrangement with Mr. Connelly (as per his letter) that this mock test was to take place? I am as much against faking of wild birds as any man can be, but I can never agree with a judge who would lend himself to a mock test to please some outsider, and cause pain to one of the most beautiful Finches. Mr. Pettigrew should learn to abide by the rules of the society.

A. PORTEOUS.

SIR,—I was not aware that glycerine possessed corrosive properties, and when used as a test for artificial staining would not only injure the eye, but burn the feathers surrounding the eye, as this so-called "glycerine and water" did when applied to the testing of my bird at the recent Glasgow show. To cause such injuries a strong acid must have been used, such as liquor potassæ, which will burn very severely. That this bird was treated by a very strong acid I have the evidence of six witnesses to show. Why was a sample of the testing agent refused, under the circumstances? And why was the agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals not allowed to see the bird? I think perhaps I would be the youngest exhibitor there, and I consider faking of any kind contemptible. The bird is spoiled for showing again this year, but as my agent has the matter in hand there is no need for further correspondence.

A. DALLING.

[We take Mr. Dalling's reference to his agent to mean that he has placed this matter in his solicitor's hands with a view to legal proceedings; and if this is so, we cannot publish further letters while the case is sub judice.—EDITOR.]

The L. and P.O.S. Collection of Stuffed Show Birds.

SIR,—Please allow me to thank you for previous assistance in connection with the L. and P.O.S. collection of stuffed birds; also to thank the fanciers who have favoured me with specimens. At same time, may I beg a corner of your space to bring the matter again before the Fancy, the present being a very favourable time for obtaining specimens? Birds are in the pink of condition as regards feather just after the moult, their skins are also at present in the best of condition for stuffing, and if unfortunately any deaths occur, I should be glad if fanciers would forward the bodies at once to Mr. H. Small, 16, Grosvenor Road, South Norwood, S.E., who has my instructions re stuffing and mounting. GEO. CRABB.

The Disqualified Mule at Glasgow City Show.

SIR,—Re Mr. H. Henry's letter in CAGE BIRDS of last week about his Dark Goldfinch Mule that was disqualified at the above show on October 21, he asks me for an explanation as to how I arrived at this decision. It is quite easily explained. First of all, when the Dark Goldfinch Mule class was put down for judging I started to arrange them in their order of merit, when I noticed two birds in the class which I though were not right, and on drawing the other judge's attention to the birds, he thought likewise; and on consulting the vice-president, Mr. Marlin, I stated my case, and he said take the two birds up to the secretary's office and he would notify the president and the other British bird judge to come up and see them tested. On testing the birds, alleged colouring matter came off them on to the cotton wool, which was left with the secretary in a closed envelope, with the class and number of the bird written on the outside. The following are the names of the gentlemen who witnessed the above:—President David Black, Vice-president Geo. Marlin, British bird judge Peter Pettigrew. R. BALD.

Payment of Prize Money.

SIR,—I would enter a complaint as to the manner adopted by some secretaries in the paymont of prize money, especially the small prizes of two, three and four shillings. It has fallen to my lot on several occasions to receive a bank cheque for a few shillings. Now, my complaint is that a postal order is by far and away a more convenient method of sending small sums, and further, the Post office hours of business are undoubtedly more suitable for the average man, as one cannot always get to the bank during the day. There is also one more aspect, and that is, when one adds up the sums paid for the bank to change the cheque, it comes to a fair amount on the season's working. I trust that in future secretaries will give this matter a little consideration.

"DICK."

The Habits of the Linnet.

SIR,—Being a regular reader of CAGE BIRDS, I feel I must write a few words in reference to the paragraph on Linnets last week, which I think is very misleading to anyone in the Fancy. Mr. H. Norman writes that Linnets can often be seen feeding on thistles and teazle seed in their wild state. I say that Linnets never feed on teazle in their wild state, owing to their beaks being far too short to reach the seed of the teazle. I venture to say that nine out of every ten Goldfinches that are caught feeding on teazle in their wild state are male birds. I think most fanciers will agree that the hen Goldfinch has a much shorter beak than the male bird. Mr. Norman also says that the Linnet will only be found with the crimson breast in the breeding season. Readers will find that an aged Linnet is just as crimson in the middle of winter as in the breeding season, as they only moult once a year in their natural state. I think the Linnets that were seen feeding on teazle and thistles in Sussex (as Mr. Norman states) were Goldfinches. I hope you will find room for my remarks. E. J.

Is the Withholding of Prizes Unfair?

SIR,—The withholding of prizes, I think, is most unfair, especially in classes where the exhibits are acknowledged worthy. For instance, at Stratford-on-Avon show, I find seven first prizes withheld in the open out of eleven classes. Are we to believe the exhibits in these seven classes were not worthy of one first? Your reporter's version causes one to think there were really good birds staged, and I certainly think the withholding of prizes like this is possibly "10s. wise," but eventually as many pounds foolish. I am fully alive to the fact that I may be put down as a disappointed exhibitor, and hasten to say I am—not for the loss of a possible prize, but at the almost wholesale apparent lack of consideration of the exhibitor's expenses. I think we are generally agreed that the majority of exhibitors show more for honours than the actual money, but when you find the honour of the class withheld, also the money, I think it is enough to disappoint even the most wealthy, without considering the working man. I may say, in conclusion, this is the only fault I have with Stratford, but I consider it a very serious one, and trust another year the committee will seriously consider the matter, or a cry of short entries may be the result. In other respects I believe Stratford ought to be congratulated for the businesslike manner they conducted the show.

AN OUTSIDER.

Birds as Excess Luggage.

SIR,—In reply to Mr. Patterson's letter I beg to say that I have spoken to Mr. Lythgoe, the secretary of the Cage Bird Union, on the matter, and he informs me that they are waiting a reply from the London Federation, who have taken the matter up. We have no need to appoint delegates to attend a meeting, but we want each society in the British Isles to open a petition, the members to sign it, and then to send the whole up to the Railway Conference for consideration. If Mr. Lythgoe will take the matter in hand when we have drawn the petitions up, I will willingly obtain for him the name of the gentleman who is at the head of the Railway Conference, to whom the documents should be sent, or if not, with some assistance I will take it up myself with pleasure. Hoping that secretaries of each society will have petitions signed, then, later on, we may have them sent from one source.

A. COLLEY.

SIR,—I have read all the correspondence in CAGE BIRDS re birds in transit, etc., and I fail to see any fancier who has been treated as badly by the railway company as myself, and I also fail to see any redress. I will give one instance. A few years ago I paid the 50 per cent. extra carriage, and also an extra 3d. for insurance upon a bird sent some 200 miles. The box was smashed, bird killed outright, and when I put in a claim for its value, they repudiated all responsibility, telling me I must find out on which railway the accident happened. Doesn't this "take the cake"? To my mind the railway companies are masters of the situation. We must employ them (and they know it). We cannot say to them as to our baker or butcher, "If you don't treat us fairly we will go elsewhere." Mr. Patterson's suggestion for redress looks all right on the face of it; but while for lack of competition the companies can afford to carry the matter with such a high hand, I'm afraid we fanciers "must grin and bear it." The charges are not so much to me as the neglect and delays in transit. Within this last fortnight I had two boxes of birds sent me. One should have arrived in 19 hours, instead of which it was 31 hours on the way, the other 17 hours, whereas it took 24 hours. Of course, the company didn't forget to charge the extra 50 per cent. for the great care they had taken of the birds. Mr. P. may be right when he speaks of the carelessness and indifference of some railway servants. I must speak as I find them. Our stationmaster and all servants I have found most courteous and obliging, always willing to do all they can to help me. The only remedy I can think of is when our birds arrive dead, or in a most exhausted condition (as mine often do) through the neglect of the railway company, place the matter at once in the hands of the S.P.C.A. and see if they care to take it up, as it most certainly comes under the heading of cruelty through neglect.

Election of Council.

SIR,—The election of the Council of the C.B.U. has just taken place, and I enclose list of the new Council, which I would be glad if you will publish. The list is not quite complete, as in two or three instances there is a tie in voting, and a fresh vote must take place; or I have not yet heard from the gentleman elected that he accepts the position. I was surprised to read your editorial paragraph as to a meeting of Unionists being held at the Manchester show. I was present at the show practically all day on Saturday, and did not hear that any meeting of Union members had been held, and, in fact, did not know anything of it until reading the statement in your paper. Nor have I since heard any particulars. I think the remarks of your anonymous writer rather high flown; anyhow the meeting was not promoted by the Union. I am glad to read that you believe in the Union and its objects, and trust that with the aid of the Press all differences between the Union and those societies who have found cause to quarrel will soon be mended. I believe they can. If the latter would lay before the Union some definite statements of the points of difference and give their views on how they could be met, I am sure all difficulties would soon be overcome.

GEO. W. F. LYTHGOE, Soc., C.B.U.

P.S.—I did hear that one meeting had been discussing the C.B.U., but they were "seating" the Union, not the Press.

Executive Council for 1910-11.

Alleged Unfair Treatment at Paignton Show.

SIR,—I was very much surprised to see in your last week's issue a letter from Mr. Chedgey, of Cardiff, complaining of unfair treatment at our recent show. In the first place he says he sent us two entries, but did not get labels, and in consequence did not send birds. As I did not receive the gentleman's entries until midday on the 24th (not two days before the show), I distinctly remember writing out, checking, and posting his labels, so it's very remarkable he did not receive them. But for this we have to take his word. He also states that previous to the show he sent me a postcard, but I wish to inform him that to my knowledge no postcard reached me. I replied to his letter stating that his entry fees would be returned in due course, having come to the conclusion that this would prevent any illfeeling towards the society. Had I refused to return the entry fees there would, perhaps, have been cause for him to make this complaint, but I think it very unfancierlike and unreasonable that within five days of the show he should rush to the Press in this most ridiculous manner, suggesting it a "case for the C.B.U." However, I trust that ere this Mr. Chedgey is satisfied that we run our show on straight lines, and not by unfair methods. I should like to mention that the show was a great success, and we must thank fanciers for the way in which they helped us. All prize money was paid next day of show, and specials are now being forwarded

British Goldfinches at Glasgow City Show.

SIR,—On reading Mr. Porteous' letter I notice he has had a conversation with Mr. Black (President of Glasgow show), who told him that he was unaware such a thing had taken place, but knew about the two Mules which were disqualified for staining. The latter's were the only two cage labels that I marked "Disqualified" on in the show, so I can't see where Mr. Porteous makes out that his Goldfinch was disqualified, or he would have found disqualified written on his cage label (which I know was not). As for the Goldfinch "Nutshell" booklet, we wouldn't have much time to study it if all the "disappointed exhibitors" in the Mules, British, and foreign section at the City of Glasgow were the same as Mr. P. I wish CAGE BIRDS and its "Nutshell" every success.

R. BALD.

SIR,—Re Goldfinches at Glasgow City Show. To prove that Mr. Porteous's bird is a genuine Britisher, I may state that I bought the bird four years ago, a Greypate, from Mr. Matthews, of Cheshire. I saw it at Glasgow and Stonehouse shows, and cannot understand how a judge could say it is not a Britisher.

JOHN CUTHBERTSON.

Foreign Birds at Portsmouth Show.

SIR,—At Portsmouth show there was a class (No. 16) given for "Parrot or Cockatoo." On going round the show, I was surprised to see in this class the prizes awarded 1st to a pair of Swainson's Lories (no 2nd prize awarded), 3rd prize to a Rosella Parrakeet, vhc a double-fronted Amazon. All these were in the pink of condition and health. I asked the judge if he would refer to the Schedule, and state what class 16 was. He said "Parrot or Cockatoo." I said to him this is not right, you have given the prizes to Lories and Parrakeets. He said it was quite right, as they were of the Parrot tribe. I found one of the secretaries, also spoke to him about it, he (the judge) told him it was quite right for them to get the prizes, as there was no other class for them, and they had a perfect right to the prizes. According to Mr. Robson's idea, if a society gave a class for Goldfinch or Bullfinch, and no other class for Finches you had a perfect right to enter a Hawfinch or Chaffinch, etc., and win, simply because they were the Finch tribe or there was no other class for them? It would be very interesting to hear what other exhibitors have to say on the matter. Now, Mr. Editor, what I want to know (and I hope you will decide it in your reply to this), is were the Lories and Parrakeet entered in the wrong class or were they in their proper class, and entitled to the prizes? HARRY YOUNG.

[The word "Parrot" is used in the same sense as the word "Finch"—i.e., it embraces any member of the Parrot family, just as the word Finch covers any member of the Finch family. Therefore as Lories and Parrakeets are of the Parrot family, they were entitled to compete. "Goldfinch or Bullfinch," specifies two particular birds, and no other Finch could compete in a class so headed. Cockatoos are, of course, Parrots, and the words "or Cockatoos" were superfluous.—EDITOR.]

Exhibitors, Please Note!

SIR,—Your correspondent, Mr. G. C. Ley, gave some advice to secretaries in your last issue. May I claim your indulgence whilst I take the other side of the picture? Should an exhibitor be the fortunate owner of a good stud of birds they no doubt will be an attraction at any exhibition, and consequently the exhibitor will have many requests for entries. But this is no reason why he should ask that his entries should only be received on the condition that his birds are returned by 2.30 train, viz., nine hours before the closing of the show. The exhibitor should remember that very few shows pay their way, and that the visiting public (and on these the shows have to rely for their gate) very much object to pay to see a show from which the best birds (prize winners) are missing when they come to look around. Prize winning birds may be worth £50 each, but unless there are exhibitions at which they can ho shown, their value, I think, would be reduced by at least 75 per cent.; and unless a society can get a good gate, it is certain exhibitions would cease. Should an exhibitor have cause to complain at the way in which his birds are returned to him after a show, it will be more conducive to a good feeling if he first of all asks for an explanation from the officials of the show before making it public property through the Press. It is just possible there may be some cause not under the control of the show. Again, it is not well to exaggerate their woeful condition, especially if the exhibitor is able to successfully show the same birds at other shows within a few days of the untoward happening. With regard to the other matter mentioned by Mr. G. C. Ley, viz., receipt of catalogue from Plymouth Show, I can inform him that he probably had two posted to him, although he says the first did not reach him. He ordered his catalogue on entry form when making entries, and all those thus ordered were, I am confident, sent away, because the wrapper for each was written some days before the show. The post office (especially with circulars) is not infallible. There is just one other matter that has occurred to me, viz., that should an exhibitor get his prize money on the morning of the second day of show, and he should feel that he has cause for complaint that needs airing through the Fancy Press, it would not be taken amiss if he gave an otherwise offending society credit for this by no means common virtue.

THOMAS POPE, Hon. Sec.
W.C.O.S. (Plymouth).

Marked Drinkers at the Bristol F. S. Show.

SIR,—I read with interest "Visitor's" letter, as I happen to be one of the successful exhibitors to whom it applies, and I hope to see a reply or two more to "Visitor's" letter. Why should "Visitor" hint to other successful exhibitors that they send their drinkers painted white as a mark for the judges? One or two exhibitors think fit to enamel their drinkers inside, as it looks much cleaner than a dirty rusty one, although all fanciers know a little iron does birds no harm. It is a very weak argument of your's, "Visitor," as I consider exhibitors would have a more reliable mark than this, as it is such a simple thing for a member of a show committee, who perhaps might be an exhibitor, to change drinkers with two birds just for curiosity of testing a judge, or perhaps to his own advantage. My brother sent a Norwich bird to Bristol show with a drinker painted white inside, and it returned cardless. If some of the drinkers were marked for the convenience of the judge, how did Mr. Heath pass this one to this extent? I firmly believe Mr. Heath to be a competent judge, who awards by merit alone; by reports from this paper and exhibitors alike I am convinced of same. Fancy "Visitor" saying, "He would not have been surprised if Mr. Heath had only done his duty and passed these birds by." Does he consider it is a duty of any judge to pass exhibits when they know perfectly well these marks were not put for their convenience? How does "Visitor" think shows would prosper if judges adopted his suggestion? I think it is a matter for the C.B.U. to decide, but I wonder if "Visitor" has had the pluck to write to them re the above? I expect not. When they make a rule to stop this I, for one, shall be pleased to adopt whatever they think fit, but not before. In conclusion, is it an unusual occurrence to hear dissatisfied exhibitors at shows condemning the judge's awards? It certainly is not at the shows in this district which I have attended, and I expect it is the same at the majority of shows. What is a judge appointed for?

W. T. SMITH.

Alleged Stained Linnets at York Show.

SIR,—After an interval of two years from exhibiting Linnets I determined to visit York show in order to see whether the faking business was still being carried on as of yore. On arrival there, after travelling about 50 miles, I was not surprised to find that my fears were only too well realised. On closer inspection of the Linnet class I was astonished at the abnormal colour of certain of the birds, and how any judge could place them in the prize list I cannot say. Cannot this practice be stopped? Now, in the interests of the novice I as a member of the Y.C.B.B. and M.C., consider that this body should intervene and set about that this body should intervene and set about taken I shall certainly withdraw my membership altogether. I understand the President of that body was present, and the birds could not escape his notice, as any man who has ever seen a normal coloured Linnet could with half an eye see birds I alleged were stained. I am heartily sorry for the novices, who have my sympathy. If our judges cannot or will not see their way to throw out these stained birds altogether, then let us have a class for artificial Linnets and one for normal coloured birds. I am not a disappointed exhibitor (I have exhibited successfully in the past), but if this faking is allowed to go on I shall give up showing altogether.

J. NICHOLSON.

SIR,—Being a visitor to the York Cage Bird show on the 5th inst., I looked forward, as usual, to seeing the British section, but on getting to the Linnet class I was grieved to see that prize cards had been awarded to birds which were, in my opinion, stained. It is disgusting to find this at a fixture of this importance, having the patronage of the Y.C.B.B. and Mule Club, and it should not pass unnoticed by that body; indeed, it should be brought before their notice without delay; and I only hope that some representative was present who will bring it before them. I had no entry at the show, but at the same time am not a disappointed exhibitor. What a pity Judge Pettigrew was not judging at York, so that he could have scattered the "unnaturals." It beats me why anyone should try to improve upon that which Nature has so beautifully executed. If this is allowed to go on, to be successful everybody must fake; that it all.

B. SIMPSON.

Several letters unavoidably held over.

Birds' Feet.

Birds cannot open the foot when the leg is bent; that is the reason they do not fall off the perch at night. This applies to all birds, even the farmyard fowl. When walking the raised foot automatically closes, and opens again when straightened.

A Sportsman's Bird.

The Snipe is looked upon as a sportsman's bird, and, like a good many others, would possibly hardly be noticed if it were not for this fact. These birds are very irregular and mysterious in their movements, and although there are considerable migratory happenings among them, a great number are bred in this country.

BIRD-CATCHER GETS JUSTICE.

CASE OF ALLEGED CRUELTY DISMISSED AT LUTON.

The importance of properly putting forward the defence to a commonly made charge.

At the Luton Division Petty Sessions, on October 31st, was heard a case which was the first of its kind in this district. Two Luton men, Robert Wiseman, aged 30, and Wm. Lewin, aged 27, both described as labourers, were summoned for cruelty to certain animals in captivity, to wit, Linnets, on Warden Hills, Stopsley, on October 24th, the cruelty alleged being that by means of a contrivance attached to them the birds were continually pulled up on a line of string, which caused the birds to rise and flutter, and also that by the frequent dropping of nets over them the birds were caused unnecessary suffering. The men were defended by Mr. Humphrey Williams, instructed by Mr. W. Bloomer, and the interest manifested in the case was evidenced by the demonstration there was in Court when the Bench announced the dismissal of the case against Wiseman, after a lengthy hearing. In view of this decision the case against Lewin was not proceeded with by Supt. Panter, and on the adjournment of the court for luncheon the defendants and their legal representatives were loudly cheered by a group of enthusiastic friends of the bird catchers.

The Sergeant's "Impressions."

Giving evidence against Wiseman, Sergt. James stated that on October 24th he and P.C. Wood went to Warden Hills to watch bird catchers, and between half-past eight and half-past ten they watched the defendant. He showed to the Magistrates nets used by Wiseman to drop occasionally over two birds, fastened to pegs that were pinned to the ground, and said that during the two hours he was watching the nets were dropped over the birds some 23 times. The Sergeant also explained the working of another contrivance employed by the defendant in decoying the birds. It was not the actual instrument used by Wiseman, but the witness said it was an exact pattern of it. With dead birds attached to the contrivance the Sergeant gave his impression of how the thing was worked, jerking the birds up and down, and he said that was done by Wiseman about 350 times. Defendant would pull the bird straight up and the bird would flutter about, and then to rest itself would perch itself on the edge of the stick.

When the Sergeant was illustrating this process the Chairman of the Bench, Mr. Geo. Oakley, suggested that it was not done quite so rapidly as shown by the witness, but Sergt. James said he thought it was, whereupon Wiseman laughed.

The Sergeant went on to say that after watching a couple of hours he went to Wiseman, and told him he was going to take possession of his birds on account of the cruelty with which they had been used. He had in his cage 24 cock Linnets alive, 2 Greenfinches alive, and 36 dead birds, which he had caught and killed. Besides that there were five singing birds in cages, to attract the other birds.

In answer to the Magistrates' Clerk witness said that one of the birds he took possession of was a Redpoll, and the other two were Linnets. The decoy birds, he said, were fastened to a swivel, and had a string round them, so that it was impossible for them to get away. He considered that the fact of the net being pulled over them 23 times, and the birds being pulled up into the air the number of times stated, caused them to be teased and tormented all the time.

In cross-examination Sergt. James said he went up to Warden Hills on the day in question purposely to watch bird catchers, receiving his instructions from his superior officer. He was not accompanied by any officer from the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He had known for a considerable number of years that this practice went on, and he had previously been to watch bird catchers scores of times, but there had never been a charge of this kind made before.—Counsel: You have been sent up by your superiors to watch, but you have been satisfied on all the other occasions you have watched that there was no cruelty?—No. When I stood against a bird catcher he never pulled his birds up.—But you have never seen cruelty before?—No.

A Keen Cross-examination.

Further questioned witness said he and P.C. Wood were watching about 400 yards away from Wiseman, but they were using very good field glasses. They had a pair of glasses each, and a note was made every time the nets went over, but as to the pulling up of the birds no note was made. His figures of 350 was simply a calculation.—Counsel wanted to know how many times a minute witness suggested the birds were pulled up, and the Sergeant replied that sometimes it was seven times a minute.—It was pointed out that a total of 350 times would work out at once every 20 seconds, and the witness replied, "Oh, yes, he did all that. I started to count, but he did it too many times. If he says it was 300, I should be satisfied, but in my own mind it would be 350."—You did not institute proceedings before because you had not watched long enough on the former occasions to see cruelty? Did you go in order to see cruelty on this occasion?—I went to see if there was cruelty, and if they were taking scheduled birds as well.—But which did you go for principally?—Cruelty this time.—And you have been before for cruelty?—Yes, both.—Then why were you satisfied on this occasion it was cruelty if you were not on previous occasions?—Well, I should say ten minutes is not as bad as two hours.—Then why did you allow this cruelty to go on for two hours?—I was a distance of four hundred yards away.—I don't care if you were a distance of six hundred yards away. You could walk a thousand yards, or a mile, in two hours. I am asking you to explain why you allowed the cruelty to go on for two hours, and you won't answer me?—I can't answer that except to say that if I had walked out they would all have got away, as they did at other times.—You do not suggest Wiseman ran, do you?—He had not a chance hardly.—Now try and be fair.—I am giving my evidence as fairly as I can.

Why did you, when you produced to the magistrates that trap, which did not come from the defendants, produce it with the dead birds in it? Is that fair?—I only produced it to show the magistrates how it was done. I have not said anything about a dead bird.—Do you consider it was fair in producing this trap against this man to produce it with a dead bird in it?—I think it is fair to produce it with a dead bird in it instead of a live one.

Do you say there was any cruelty in the net falling?—It must upset the birds. I admit it is no weight, but when it comes over the birds it must frighten them.—What you suggest is that the cruelty that would be caused to the birds would be the suffering of mental terror?—Yes.—You do not suggest any sort of physical pain whatever?—Not by the nets.

Have you looked at these braces that are put round the birds belonging to Wiseman?—Yes.—Have you found that all the braces are put round loosely, not tightly?—Fairly.—You do not agree that the fact of using the brace itself is no cruelty?—I should say it is. The brace as it stands, no; but when it is on they are pulling it.—Do you agree with me that the fact of the brace being on, apart from the pulling, is not cruelty?—No, I do not think it is.—Now, let's get to the pulling. Did you hear one of the magistrates say to you, when you were giving your evidence, "They don't do it as hard as that"?—I believe I did.—Come. Is it yes or no?—Yes.—Why don't you give your evidence plainly?—I am not quite satisfied I did hear him.—Were you not grossly exaggerating when you did this jerking up and down?—No, I was trying to show the magistrates how it was done. It was pulled up sharp.

In answer to further questions, Sergt. James said he was not aware whether or not the local Inspector of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals knew that the practice of bird snaring was carried on largely, nor did he know that the nets and the trap had been shown to the inspector, who had expressed his opinion that there was no cruelty to the birds.—If the inspector has given that opinion you disagree with him?—I do.

Questioned as to the exhaustion of a Greenfinch, the Sergeant said he attributed the state the Greenfinch was in to the time it had been on the peg and the number of times it had been pulled up and down.—Counsel: And in spite of this extreme exhaustion when released it succeeded in flying forty yards?—Yes.—And did it not fly again?—When Wiseman tried to catch it it flew another eighty yards.—And yet it was in the last stage of exhaustion?—It was.

P.C. Wood, of Stopsley, was called to corroborate the evidence of Sergt. James, and on the case for the prosecution being closed, Mr. Humphrey Williams intimated that he proposed to call the defendant and one other witness, and address the Bench subsequently. The Magistrates' Clerk, however, informed him that the rule of the Court was that the legal representative must address the magistrates first if he was calling witnesses other than the defendant, and counsel thereupon said he would only call the defendant under the circumstances.

Wiseman went into the box, and said he was engaged in the hat trade. When work was slack he went out snaring birds, and had been doing so in this district for the last twenty years. As to the day in question, he said he was using a Redpoll and a Linnet on the stick, and the other two decoy birds were pegged down with a swivel, and had about half a dozen yards to run round. The Redpoll he had had about two years, and the other bird used on the stick about eight weeks. He used them for snaring birds after properly training them for a fortnight.

Questioned as to the system of training, Wiseman said the birds were fastened to a "nice soft brace," and were allowed a few inches of string to start with. After it had been on a certain time the bird was allowed a greater length of string until, when a bird was properly trained, it would turn round, come up and sit on the top of the stick of its own accord.—There is no pain involved by the brace round the body?—No, it is fixed so that the bird can fly around?—And no pain involved by the dropping of the net?—Certainly not, because the grass on Warden Hill is of such a height that the net falls on the grass and the birds are underneath.

The Truth About Brace-Birds.

Wiseman denied the suggestion that the birds on the stick were roughly jerked all over the place. He brought out his instrument and demonstrated how, when the singing birds attracted a wild bird, he steadily pulled the decoy bird up, and then, as the wild bird got closer to the net, let it down again. His answer to the police sergeant's illustration of his methods was, "If I was to try that game I should frighten the birds away. I should catch none at all like that." (Laughter.)—Counsel: It is not part of the game to do this violently?—No, I try to be as kind to them as I can.—Is it in your interests to keep your decoy birds in as good and decent condition as you can?—Yes.—It would not pay you if you made these birds upset and frightened them?—Oh, no.—Having been twenty years in this business do you say there was no cruelty involved in these braces at all?—No cruelty at all.

Supt. Panter questioned defendant as to a statement he had made as to his length of ownership of the two decoy birds, and Wiseman declared that he said he had had the Linnet six to eight weeks and the other one two years.—Have you been approached by the sergeant before in your bird catching?—Oh, he has been to me scores of times, and there was no need for him to look through glasses, because if he had come up I should have gone on with it.—Is it usual for you when you see a constable approaching to commence to pack up your nets and your birds?—No, sir.—Mr. Williams: Since this case have you been every day to the police station to feed your birds?—Yes, sir.

On this Mr. Humphrey Williams submitted to the Bench that there was really hardly anything to answer, because the sergeant himself admitted in connection with the nets that here was no physical cruelty. The sergeant suggested that there might be mental cruelty, but when they had a bird for two years for that specific purpose, use became second nature, and the birds must become quite accustomed to the net dropping. As a matter of fact, the decoy birds were probably joint conspirators with the bird catchers in the matter; they knew what they were there for, and they probably enjoyed it. The sergeant also admitted that there was no pain involved in the brace itself, and the only thing he had to answer was the question as to as violently as could be, because the defendant had tended that it was very unfair on the part of the sergeant to suggest that the birds were pulled up as violently as could be, because the defendant had shown that it was an art to carry the thing out properly so as to be effective. He suggested that the sergeant in his zeal to get a conviction had grossly exaggerated the case. Whether the magistrates thought it was a desirable thing to take wild birds was quite another question. It happened to be legal, and he submitted it had been proved by both the witnesses for the prosecution and by the defendant that it was not accompanied by any cruelty.

After a very brief consultation, Mr. Geo. Oakley announced that the case would be dismissed, and immediately there was a loud outburst of applause at the back of the Court, which was immediately suppressed, someone audibly remarking, "Keep your hair on."—Supt. Panter told the Bench that the evidence in the case of Wm. Lewin was similar, and consequently he asked that the summons should be withdrawn, this being agreed to by the magistrates.—"Luton Reporter."

CHESTER C.B.F.A.

Meeting held Nags Head Cocoa House Nov. 1, Mr. Bracegirdle in the chair. One new member elected Mr. A. G. Davis (Manchester) selected to judge annual show on Boxing Day. Schedule drawn up; it contains good classification. Decided to raise entrance fee from 6d. to 8d. per cage prize money on sliding scale, and 2d. per cage to be deducted for working expenses.—J. SWINDLEY, Sec.

SELSTON AND DISTRICT F.S.

Meeting held School Room Nov. 5. Decided, to make charge of 1/6 each for all exhibits after Nov. 12, which is closing date of entries. Those who have not paid their annual subscription must do so when making entries, or else they will not be able to compete. I hope members will let me have their entries as early as possible; remember Nov. 19 day of show.—F. MALTBY, Hon. Sec.

BUCKHAVEN C.B.S.

Annual general meeting, held Free Gardeners' Hall, Nov. 5. Secretary and trensurer submitted balance-sheets. Office bearers for ensuing year appointed: President, Mr. D. Henderson; vice-president, Mr. T. Brown; secretary and treasurer, Mr. John Lawrie; assistant secretary, Mr. Reilly; auditors, Messrs. D. Thomson and R. Hnzzard. Agreed, to hold annual show Nov. 25. As we stand on a good financial footing we take the opportunity of thanking exhibitors for their past support, and trust we will be favoured with same in future.—JOHN LAWRIE, Hon. Sec.

PETERBOROUGH C.B.A.

A very interesting and educating lecture was given at "The White Horse," Cumbergate, on October 31st, by Mr. M. Dawson, on the "Norwich Plainhead," and the subject was admirably handled. Several questions were asked, which were answered in first-rate style by the lecturer; these proved to be very instructive and a great help to the younger members. A vote of thanks was passed, all agreeing that the lecture was one not to have been missed. This is the first of a series of monthly lectures during the winter months; any fancier will be welcomed. Watch the "Club and Society Notices" column of CAGE BIRDS.—H. POPPLE, Hon. Sec.

MANCHESTER AND N.C.O.S.

General meeting, held Oct. 3. After the business Mr. Bladon (chairman) said he had a pleasant duty to perform in the presentation of a fountain pen, set of brushes, etc., to our late secretary, Mr. Geo. W. F. Lythgoe, subscribed for by the members. He (the chairman) was rather surprised at the poor response we had received after the valuable services Mr. Lythgoe had rendered during the ten years he had held the office of secretary, but no doubt the bad trade was the reason. In making the presentation the Chairman said it gave him great pleasure to ask Mr. Lythgoe to accept the gifts, as a small token of the high esteem in which he was held by his fellow members; and he hoped he would be long spared to use them. Mr. Lythgoe, in responding, said if ever he could be of any service to the society he would only be too pleased.—H. BOOTHMAN, Hon. Sec.

LEADGATE AND DIST. C.B.S.

Meeting held Church Square Hall No. 5, Mr. E. Westthorp presiding. We had another successful meeting, and the second table show, when Mr. R. Humphery judged. CREST (4): 1, 2, Colling and Turnhull; 3, 4, Dickinson Bros. NOR. BUFF, ETC. (6): 1, Williams; 2, 3, Mason; 4, Watton. BRIT. (5): 1, Henderson; 2, Williams; 3, Reed; 4, Rowell. After show we nominated birds and judges for next table show, Dec. 3. Several birds were nominated for the 3 classes—1, Border Fancy A.V.; 2, Light or Dark mule; 3, Brit. A.V. Nomination of judge was by ballot, Mr. E. Slater (Dipton) being elected. Schedule for annual show Jan. 7: 5 classes were added. Special meeting Nov. 19 to confirm schedule. Several members promised birds for gift class and lottery; this concluded a pleasant meeting.—J. A. TURNBULL, Hon. Sec.

BRADFORD EAST O.S.

Breeding and Exhibiting Yorkshires.

Tho members listened to a most fascinating lecturo by Mr. J. Bailey (Allerton), who dealt with the subject of "Breeding and Exhibition of Cage Birds." Mr. G. White (vice-president) occupied the chair. Mr. Bailey said that in the first place he would deal with the cages, as this was a most important item, and one fanciers should pay particular attention to. My fancy, he said, is for a double breeder, 34 inches long by 17 inches high, making each compartment 17 inches square, and about 10 or 11 inches deep; thus the hen can use both compartments when breeding. And I find this the most beneficial way, for when feeding and rearing the youug the hen goes into the opposite compartment for all her food, and this gives you an opportunity of keeping the breeding cage nice and clean; it also considerably decreases the chances of the hen plucking the young, as so often happens when using the single breeders, for if young ones happen to be disturbed in the nest when they are about 15 or 16 days old, they do not readily go back into the nest, and this gives the hen an opportunity of doing the damage referred to above. The next thing required is some suitable birds, and if I were giving my advice to a new beginner I would advise his getting a pair off a reliable breeder at, say, 60s. or 80s. Of course, birds can be bought far cheaper than this, but at the same time if one wants to make a decent start he ought to get birds that are capable of breeding some good birds at the prices I have stated. I am a great believer in pedigree breeding. This, in my opinion, is the only successful course to pursue. I strongly deprecate the idea of buying one bird here and another one there; this is, to my mind, absolutely foolish. The breeder must know how his birds are bred, and then there is a possibility of his achieving some success in breeding good stock.

The most essential points required in building up a strain of Yorkshires are, firstly, type; secondly, quality; and thirdly, size. You will hear some people say that they like to breed from cocks about 7¼ or 7½ inches long, and hens about 6½ inches long. Personally, I would rather breed from cocks, say, 6¾ inches long, and hens 6½ inches long, these being a more medium pair in every respect, and not likely to throw so many of the glaring faults that are seen in the long, raking stock birds. Always try, to begin with, to get your birds free from as many faults as you can, and, whatever you do, avoid the drooping-tailed birds; this is an exceptionally bad fault. Of course, in pairing together you have to try and counteract the faults which either of the stock birds possesses; use every discrimination in this, and it will pay you.

Now for the young ones. When these get to be about five weeks old I begin to train them, and in order to do this I hang on the show cage and bath on alternate days, thus getting the young birds quite "at home" in running in and out of the show cage; and it steadies them down when you start handling them. This training is never lost to a young bird, and it is time that is well spent.

Another important point that Mr. Bailey mentioned and impressed strongly upon the members to study, was to observe the likes and dislikes of one's stock. One likes one thing, he said, and one another; and it is only logical to assume that the man who pays attention to these minute details is the man who is going to be successful. It requires patience and perseverance to accomplish many things, and only by paying strict attention to the welfare of our birds do we get the beneficial results which are the ultimate ambition of every thorough fancier.

If anyone likes to ask me any questions, or desires information on anything in connection with the breeding and exhibition of birds, I shall be pleased to answer him to the best of my ability.

This was the opportunity for which a number of members had been waiting, and some very intricate questions were asked. Mr. Bailey dealt with each as it was asked, and for close on an hour he was busily engaged. The question as to his idea for using double breeders was asked, and many little objections raised; but when Mr. Bailey mentioned the many benefits derived from their use it put a different complexion on the case. Asked as to how he got the birds into condition, he said he always gave them plenty of clean water and seed, also plenty baths, and whatever tit-bits he gave them (be it mixed seed or egg-food), he always gave it rather sparingly, as it was just as disadvantageous to overdo it as it was to give the birds nothing at all but seed and water. Questions concerning red-mite; nesting diarrhœa; what was the cause of some birds getting so very fat when they were finishing moult; if he used honght mixed seed or mixed it for himself; how to correctly measure a bird; could birds be got into too high condition for showing purposes; what kind of green-food he used; how many rounds he generally had; what was the cause of birds having a frill, and a remedy for same; and a great many others were all answered by Mr. Bailey. A vote of thanks was afterwards proposed by Mr. H. Hill, seconded by Mr. C. Cowgill, and carried unanimously. The lecturer suitably responded to same, and this brought a pleasant and instructive evening to a close.—H. HILL, Secretary.

EDINBURGH WESTERN O.S.

Annual meeting held Riego Street Hall, November 3rd. Balance-sheet was presented, showing the society to be still in a sound position. Following office-bearers duly elected:—President, Mr. T. Ballantine; vice-president, Mr. G. Stewart; auditors, Messrs. J. Bowman and J. Proudfoot; sec. and treasurer, Mr. R. Lile, 9, McLaren-terrace. There was a large and enthusiastic gathering, which suggests another successful season. New members will be welcomed as usual, and every assistance given. We hope to have a few lectures for the benefit of novices this season. Intending members are invited to join early.—ROBERT LILE, Sec.

LANCS. & LIZARD F.A.

Meeting held Rochdale "Good Intent" Show Room, November 5. Strong muster of members attended, it being one of the best meetings we have had for a long time. Mr. W. P. Barnes (Grantham) was heartily welcomed, general regret being expressed that distance prevented his coming oftener. The question of having a club show at Mr. F. White's (Hyde) was carefully considered. Decided, to have same Dec. 17, if room is at liberty; classes and judges, etc., are being left over for special meeting at Hyde, Nov. 19, when it is hoped members will attend. A rather heated discussion re marking entries L. and L.F.A., was finally postponed till next meeting to get a definite ruling on same. Will members, in the interval, mark each entry L. and L.F.A., so as to save secretaries of shows as much trouble as possible when judging for specials, etc.? Table of points gained at shows will be published as soon as above rule is finally settled. A communication re exchanging medals with Toronto C.B.S. was left over till next meeting. Will our members try and send entries out more freely most of the classes being half filled? There have been plenty bred; so, buck up, and turn them out more. The novices have shown up strong so far, both in open and novice classes. Hearty vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. Barnes, in a neat little speech, concluded meeting.—JOHN RUKIN, Hon. Sec.

CINNAMON CANARY CLUB.

Half-yearly general meeting, held Manchester show, October 29th. Present: Messrs. A. Bentley, J. H. Hayes, L. Roberts, J. Aspden, W. E. Seed, T. H. Deacon, W. T. Hill, H. Riding, and R. J. Pretty, hon. secretary. Mr. A. Bentley was deputed to chair in the absence of the president, who wrote regretting his inability to attend owing to a business appointment. Secretary, on request, read minutes of annual meeting at Palace, February last. Mr. Deacon, who attended on behalf of Mrs. Deacon, speaking upon the proposed trophy, was of opinion a gold medal should be given to runner-up instead of the winner each year, and also enquired how much had been received or promised in subscriptions to this trophy. He was also of opinion that the annual meeting should be held at end of the show season, and also in Lancashire instead of the Palace, as the Cinnamon was practically a Lancashire bird; also that the bulk of the members were in that county. Mr. Hill complained of the Club's patronage being given to shows not under C.B.U. rules, thereby preventing affiliated members from competing for points specials. Secretary in reply said it had not apparently occurred to any member of the committee or to himself that such had been done, and the patronage had been granted. He informed Mr. Deacon that in addition to the £2 2s. promised by him, another 18s had been promised. The chairman expressed his opinion that the annual meeting should be held in Manchester, being more central for members; many could not get to the Palace. Mr. Riding pointed out that at the Palace meeting it was proposed to revise the rules. Mr. Seed proposed "That a sub-committee be appointed to revise the rules"; Mr. Deacon seconded, and it was carried. Following form the Rules Committee:—Messrs. Roberts, Dormer, Godley, Seed, Hill, Riding, Hayes, with Mr. Bentley as chairman, to whom all suggestions should be sent. Draft of the alterations to be drawn up and sent to all members before annual general meeting for their approval and suggestions. The committee's suggested meetings will probably be held in Blackburn, or otherwise at their convenience. Secretary having given a short detail of receipts and expenditure, Mr. Deacon proposed and Mr. Roberts seconded that the secretary's expenses be paid; and a vote of thanks to the chairman and to the secretary for his attendance closed the meeting.—R. J. PRETTY.

Nests of Birds, Poultry, etc., should be regularly sprinkled with KEATING'S POWDER, especially when hens are sittin'. Don't forget to do this just previous to the eggs hatching, to destroy the Red Mite. It kills all insects, harmless to everything else.

No. 460.
A Novel "Bit."
Sent by Mr. A. H. Meadowcrop, 68, Railway Street, Heywood.

I enclose sketch of a "bit" a friend of mine has had made to fit "brace" for the making of round doors in cages. I think it will be of interest to some of your readers. I see from time to time in your valuable paper persons wanting to know of any way of making, or rather the cutting out of, the round doors. The one I have only cost a few coppers at the blacksmith's shop.—A. H. MEADOWCROFT.

No. 461.
For "Airing" a Room.
Sent by Mr. A. B. Allardyce, 99, Rosemount Place, Aberdeen, N.B.

I enclose sketch of contrivance for airing a bird-room, at the same time leaving room free from draught, which I hope will be of some use to fanciers. In the ordinary two sash take a piece of wood the length of the width of window and about two inches deep; raise the lower sash and insert piece at bottom, mark d A and B. This allows the air to pass in at centre of window between the two sashes mark d C and D. Not only is it a simple and easy way of airing the bird-room, but is also highly recommended for a patient's room.—A. B. ALLARDYCE.

Singing Contests.

LEEDS.

Usual week-end quality singing contest held Skinners' Arms, Beeslingthorpe, November 6th, when 15 birds faced judge. Ward and Thurkill shared 1st and 2nd prizes; 3rd shared by Green and Hullan. Judges, Messrs. Reed and Granger.

SHEFFIELD.

Weekly Linnet singing contest Fitzwilliam Hotel, Milford-street, Attercliffe Common, November 6th, when 10 birds entered, two minutes' sing. 1st and 2nd, Lummey, 75sec. and 48sec.; 3rd, Rodgers, 42secs.; 4th, Palfreyman, 33sec. Linnet contest every week-end.—J. GRUNDY.

NEWTOWN (Leeds).

Newtown Linnet F.A., usual weekly quality singing contest, held Prince Albert Hotel, Cambridge Street, Oct. 30, when 15 birds sang. Result: 1, A. Sellars; 2, 3, Farrar. Judges, Messrs. Binns and Madden. Also contest, Nov. 6, 18 birds. Result: 1, 2, Farrar; 3, Turner. Judges, Messrs. Lorriman, Smith, and Wood.—A. TURNER, Hon. Sec.

GLASGOW.

City of Glasgow Linnet S.C. contest held Mr. Muir's, Saltmarket. Winners: 1, McMillan; 2, Moulden; 3, Ross. Judge, Mr. Wm. Christie. Contest as usual every Saturday at 8.45 p.m., and show for field-moulted Linnets on Nov. 17, 7.30 p.m. Members requested to be present.—ALFRED MOFFATT.

SWANSEA.

Swansea C.B.A. show, held Nov. 9 and 10, Working Men's Club, Alexandra Road, a hall admirably suited for a cage bird exhibition. The hall was very tastefully laid out, and the trestles were covered with red baize, which gave quite a comfortable appearance to the exhibition. The committee were untiring in their efforts for the welfare of the exhibits, and deserve every congratulation. Messrs. Phil. Jenkins and Dan Longden were the show managers; they were here, there, and everywhere, and had everything in apple pie order for judging by 9.30, ably assisted by a hand of stewards: Messrs. Gay, Wright, Taylor, Bancroft, and Hocking. The wants of the birds were immediately attended to, and they were watered as soon as staged. Another feature was that smoking was not allowed "at any price," and our old friend Mr. Phil. Jenkins, was very emphatic on this point. Entries totalled 800, which constituted a record. In all sections the competition was very keen; all the well-known fanciers from all parts threw down the gauntlet, and a battle royal was the result. Norwich, Yorkshires, and Borders were exceptionally strong, and gave the judge a good day's work. Many old winners had to take a back seat through being just that little bit out of condition. Special for best Norwich, Mr. D. H. Tedstone; best Yorkshire, Mr. Tom Morris, Garnant; best Border, also B.F.C.C. medal, Mr. Mugford; S.Y.C.C. diplomas, Messrs. Thompson, Dale, Taylor, and Lohr. The Mules and Hybrids were worth going miles to see. Special for best in section, Mr. Alf. Shellam; we understand the owner is the breeder of the Mule which won it. Messrs. Callear, Jones, Longden, and Walsh, were the other principal winners. British birds were to the fore, as usual, very strongly, and for quality would be hard to beat—200 exhibits in 14 classes, many classes having two sets of winners in them, which must have given the judge an anxious time. Mr. Hirst exhibited a charming Bullfinch, and Mr. Longden's old champion Bramble gained yet another victory, and seems to look better than ever, winning Ramsden's special for best fed bird. Members' British cup was won for the second time by Messrs. Ford and Son, and now becomes their property. The Davy Graig challenge cup (members') was won by Mr. Longden with a very sweet specimen of a light Linnet Mule. Judges: Messrs. Robson (Canaries), and Allen Silver (Hybrids and British).

BO'NESS.

Sixth annual show of the Bo'ness and D. C. A. was held Nov. 5th, Masonic Hall. The hall was in every way admirably suited to the occasion. The morning unfortunately proved very cold, but that did not deter the many visitors in any wise. The sec., Mr. Cameron, had everything in splendid order—he evidently "knows the ropes," and his willingness and courtesy make him a popular sec. He was ably assisted by many members of the association. The entries came up well, especially in the British bird and Mule classes. The Borders were a nice lot, though they would have been more numerous but for several other shows being held on the same day within easy distance of each other. The Greenies and Bullies were the feature of the show and attracted a large number of visitors. Verney challenge cup for most points over Canary classes won by Mr. W. Moreland with 40 points, after a "toss up" with Mr. Bishop; challenge cup for most points over British Birds and Mules won by Messrs. McGregor and Boyd, 92 points; "Cage Birds" spl winner, Mr. Bell; Sandiford's medal, Mr. W. Moreland. Judges: Messrs. D. Buchan, J. Goodfellow, G. Hislop, and R. Kay, whose awards appeared to give every satisfaction.

[The Scottish saying, "The best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft agley," applies to this report of Bo'ness show, which to our regret is far from complete. Our representative was at the last moment prevented from attending. Three of the judges have very kindly sent us notes upon their classes, but the only marked catalogue we have gives no winners' names beyond 1st, 2nd, and 3rd birds; we shall, however, hope to publish the remainder of the awards next week.—EDITOR, "C.B."]

PARTICK.

Partick and Dist. C.B.C. twelfth annual show held 5th November, Subway Halls, Dumbarton Road. President, Mr. R. Anderson; vice-pres., Mr. Patrick Henry; treas., Mr. A. Cochrane; sec., Mr. Wm. Priest; committee, Messrs. J. Henderson, W. Hamilton, A. Maxwell, D. Aitkenhead, A. Walker, J. Roy, and Mrs. Rowan. Partick being centred in the midst of the shipbuilding industry the lockout told very seriously in the number of entries this year, the entries being 200, considerably under last year's number. Mr. A. Malcolmson judged the Canary section; British, etc., being under the eye of Mr. A. Muir; both gentlemen appeared to give general satisfaction. Mr. Walker's ticked yell. hen won cup and gold medal for best bird, and the winner of the cup for best second was Mr. Maxwell's Plainhead; Mr. D. Graham's Nor. Plainhead (winner of special at Glasgow City Show for best bird, and at the latter show, and also runner-up for the McLean cup) was beaten to-day by Mr. Maxwell's var. yell. Sec. Priest and his committee had everything in spanking fine order, and left nothing undone which could be done for the comfort of visitors and fanciers alike. Visitors came up well, the hall being thronged all the afternoon. Norwich and Borders were a good lot, some really good birds being staged, many of them fit to win in the best of company. What was lacking in entries to-day was fully made up for in quality.

KILMARNOCK.

Kilmarnock C.B.F.C. 30th annual exhibition held Co-operative Hall, Dunlop Street, 5th Nov. The hall is one of the best in the county; it has good light and ventilation. The entries numbered 400, which is a slight decrease on last year's, but the quality and condition surpassed anything of former years. Scotch Fancies were not so numerous as last year, but there were some very fine exhibits; cup for most points went to Mr. Paton. The Crest section was about its usual, Messrs. Noble and Adamson having some very fine youngsters out. Mr. Adamson won cup for most points in this section. The Norwich section was well filled with some fine specimens; type and quality far surpassed anything seen here formerly. The cup for best bird in the hall went to Mr. Guthrie, and cup for most points in Norwich section to Mr. Muir. In the Border Fancy section there were some very fine exhibits, the quality being superb. Mr. Crosbie won cup for most points. Mr. McCaw, Brit cup for most points, also Munro medal for most points over show. Mr. D. Holden judged Scots Fancy, Mr. C. Campbell Crests, Mr. W. Mossie Border Fancy, and Mr. G. Marlin mules British and Foreign. The show was well patronised by visitors, which must have been very gratifying to their hard working secretary, Mr. McCaw, who spares neither time nor pains to make the show a success.

DUBLIN.

Second annual exhibition of the Yorkshire C.B.S. of Ireland, held Central Hall, Westmoreland Street, Dublin, on 3rd and 4th November. The Hall is lofty, spacious, well ventilated, and lighted, and a better room for a bird show could not be desired. The show was a most magnificent affair. Entries came up splendidly, and reached the grand total of close on 500—about the same number as last year, the only difference being a slight decrease in Norwich classes, no doubt due to the poor breeding season. The staging was a treat, with the exhibits three tiers high, and just the right height. Everything was in perfect order, each section being kept by itself. The management was all that could be desired; one had but to enter the hall to see that the officers were all "old hands." Mr. D. Carroll, the efficient, hard-working and courteous secretary, was ably assisted by Messrs. Huggard, Hawkins, Fry, Gillen, Sheridan, Callaghan, Lynch, Holley, Slitt, McDonnell, Farley, Stewart, Birse, Keating, Devins, Mulligan and Rooney, who are to be congratulated upon the efficient manner in which everything was done. Yorkshires again led, and it is plain that this graceful variety has come to etay in Ireland. The quality and quantity were all that could be desired; they made a really wonderful display—scarcely a bad bird being in the section. Special for best Yorkshire cock, won by Mr. Keating; Mr. Gillen won special for best col.-fed bird; spl. for best Hen, Mr. J. McQuade; for best Buff Hen in novice classes, Mr. J. P. Rooney; for best yell. Hen in novice classes, Mr. S. Mills; for best Cocka in novice classes, Mr. Stewart and Mr. Carroll. The British Classes were indeed well filled and some nice birds were staged. Special for best Nor. Cock, Mr. O'Neill, and best Nor. Hen, Mrs. W. S. Taylor; special for best Britisher, Mr. Phillips. The attendance of visitors was very large, and during the afternoon the hall, large as it is, was practically crowded out. Mr. A. Wellings (Prescot) and Mr. Geo. Wilson (Cumberland) placed the cards, and their awards were well received.

A Remarkable Achievement at Liverpool

Record broken by over 400 entries. Huge crowds of visitors patronise a splendid Show.

A huge record show was held by the Liverpool O.S. on November 4th and 5th. A magnificent total of 1,293 entries resulted. This is the third annual fixture held by the Liverpool O.S., and to make a jump of over 400 on last year's total, and this with a slightly reduced classification, speaks volumes for the excellent management. Only those who have come in personal contact with the present-day Liverpool fanciers can properly appreciate the energy they have put forward to make their society and its show a success. And it must be wholeheartedly recorded that the show of to-day was a glorious success. The officials are all splendid fanciers. Messrs. G. B. Daniels, chairman; W. Hales, vice-chair; E. Lawson, hon. treasurer; Messrs. Cutmore and Spinks, auditors; working committee, Messrs. Deacon, Rowlands, J. Gore, Murray Jones, Nimmo, Walker, Coffey, Thomas, and Douglas, with Mr. Hillmen, the highly-popular and excellent hon. secretary, and last, but very far from least, Mr. J. W. Metcalfe, the show manager, who carries out his many duties in splendid style and earns the praise and good wishes of everybody. Such known fanciers and exhibitors must get, as they did on this occasion, generous support from exhibitors. They offered a very fine list of special prizes in addition to four money prizes, and a money special over each class.

A Happy Opening.

Sykes H. Gibson, Esq., opened the show, supported on the platform by Mrs. Hillmen, Major Clarke, C.C., Mr. Gutheridge (Superintendent of the Greater Park and Garden Aviaries in the City), Mr. G. B. Daniels, Mr. Cutmore, and several other gentlemen. A choice speech was made, laying stress on the care and attention necessary to place on view such splendid birds. Mr. Gibson hoped the society would go on flourishing, and continue its good work. A vote of thanks was proposed very ably by Major Clarke to Mr. Gibson, and heartily supported by all present. There was a rare flow of visitors, particularly on the Saturday, and we think East Lancashire quite took the show by storm. Mr. Metcalfe had a great week's work, and, although one or two all-night sittings had to take place, he looked "in the pink" on Friday, with his noted cheerful smile well in evidence.

Liverpool being the botbed of the Greens, small wonder there was such a marvellous display. Fancy twelve classes averaging twenty-five per class. And every exhibitor was "out for blood." What a task they gave Mr. H. W. Battye, but satisfaction seemed to reign all round. Mr. Rowland's young yellow was the envy of all. What will it be next year? The novice classes were a success, and brought out some budding fanciers. Norwich Greens showed a decided improvement on the previous shows; and about time, too, for it's not good to see the support so scanty. Mr Barker's two hens are toppers. Mr. R. Taylor judged these classes, and his placings were well received.

The Cream of the Norwich.

Being the club show of the N.P.C. we expected to find the cream of the kingdom here, and were not disappointed; 300 birds, in fifteen classes, made a show in themselves. The quality was really wonderful. The judge, Mr. R. Taylor, must have felt elated to have such a collection under him. Mr. Vardy was to the front with a strong team. What an eye-opener his yellow hen is; a model to look at. She won the club's gold medal for best bird in the section. The same fancier also won the Taylor medal for best opposite colour to club medal winner with his clear buff. A rare pair they would make. Mr. Davies also captured two 1sts, his clear yellow being greatly admired. The other spoils were evenly divided. The following are the special winners in the champion section: The two champion gold medals and best 1st bird, W. Vardy; best 2nd, C. Oliver; best 3rd, T. Seed; best 4th, W. Hales; best vhc, Marlor Bros.; best hc, W. Vardy. Amateur section: Club medal and best 1st, Mrs. Knight; best 2nd, J. C. Heaton; best 3rd, G. Roberts; best 4th, F. Aspinall; best vhc, E. Sutton; best hc, Kelsall.

The Norwich Plainhead Club's general meetlug was held at the show, and the supporters of the "balls of fire" fairly crowded the aisles and "swamped" the show manager's office. Who was it who chartered a cab to carry his specials to the station? What sportsmen these Plainhead men are! They were inquiring what was the earliest time they could send their rival's (Vardy's) entries home. They were near home themselves, but they look after birds from a distance; this is how the Faney should be. The Cinnamons had the club's patronage, and the "talent" were exhibiting, but the "fighting" was practically confined to three. Mrs. F. E. Deacon is holding her own. It would have been an eye-opener to some fanciers to see the way she unpacked, and packed the birds up again. Exhibitors seemed to vie with one another to have their entries checked by Mrs. Deacon. Long may she live to attend to the wants of the birds. The committee of the C.C.C., may I give you a tip? Put novice classes on at your patronage shows, and let the novice continue as a novice throughout the season. It will pay. It is not good for the variety for three exhibitors to "swamp" classes. We have all gone through it. Besides the leading lights of the Y.C.C., C.M.Y.C.C., C.C.C., and N.P.C., we met Mr. Skinner (London) and Mr. E. Baker (Cowes). The latter gentleman has visited us from our first show, and we look forward to seeing him. Others we noticed were Mrs. Mainwaring Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Darlington (Birkenhead), Messrs. Teare and Kelly (Isle of Man), Mr. Parry (Ruabon), Messrs. Bennett (Wrexham), Wagstaff and Large (Barrow), and Raybould, from Dudley.

The Busy Stewards.

What great strides Green Borders have made; 63 in four classes. The winners, coming as they did from many distant quarters, prove that attention is being paid to this variety by all the crack Border Fancy men. The other Border classes were well supported, and we saw winners coming from Cumberland, Carlisle, Barrow-in-Furness, Wallsend, Altrincham, Sale, as well as Liverpool itself. Quality was abundantly in evidence, and Mr. Houlton had a very stiff task to get through here. Hybrids were very choice; 32 good ones turned up in three classes. The British classes (seven) were confined to Seed Eaters, and a fine total of 120 resulted. Goldfinches were very good, and the Linnets excellent, 27 doing duty, with quite two sets of winners to be found in them. Greenfinches, Siskins, Redpolls and Twites, Brambles, and Chaffinches were all of the best. Taken on the whole, a finer show has not been seen for many a day.

The stewards were kept very busy for hours bringing the birds up for the judges, who got on well, as the light was very good all day. The St. Martin's Hall, Scotland Road, is a very good hall for a show, and lends itself well to all requirements. A good lunch was provided, which completed a very handsome day's work. One or two mishaps occurred to exhibits coming to the show. It was found on arrival that one of Messrs. Tams and Son's Linnets had a broken leg when unpacked; a serious loss to its owners. A Canary was dead, and another one very sickly when unpacked, otherwise everything went off swimmingly, as the saying goes.

Sales constituted a record, something like £40 changing hands. The unflighted buff Norwich (amateur) was claimed by Mr. A. G. Davis (Manchester), at catalogue price, £5. Who, by the way, was the member of a well-known specialist club who entered birds in the selling classes, and asked to have them returned early on Saturday night?

On the Saturday the "heads" from Bradford were here in full force. Were they down to have a look at the winning yellow variegated cinnamon-marked cock, which had beat them, and was catalogued at £5?

All records were smashed by the 1,293 entries. Looking up catalognes and data for 25 years past I find that the old City of Liverpool Show failed by nearly 200 to equal the above entry. More power to the fanciers who run Liverpool Show for the Fancy at large. No members' classes, or duplicating here; and not a class cancelled. Certainly there might have been foreign classes put on, but, outside London, where do they pay? No doubt they are a great attraction, but nowadays, where there are so many shows on the same date, executives have to be careful what classes they provide.

Mr. Taylor's Classes.

NOR. GREEN, SELF., ETC., YELL. (15): 1, 2, Lawson, two good ones, although winner could do with just a little more head, both very cobby and well cut away; 3, he, Deacon, some thought might have split the above, real good entrance, full cheeks and neck, rare col. and pencilling; 4, c, Hales, good head, neck, very short wings and tail, nice polish; vhc, Abbott; No. 8, wrong class. BUFF (26): Great class, full of merit: 1, Deacon, foul tailed, well known, comment needless; 2, Nelson, some thought lucky, as it fails somewhat in head properties, otherwise very good; 3, 4, Lawson, generally regarded as an easy second 2 and 3, good chest and wings, short behind, nice col. and pencilling; vhc, Harrison; hc, Walker; c, Peak. MARKINCH.

Annual show of the Markinch O.S. held Nov. 5th. Taken all over, a fair entry was received, notwithstanding the large number of club and open shows held the same day. The hall in which this show was held has plenty of light. The Scotch Fancy sections contained some excellent quality birds, and pride of place was easily held by Mr. J. Dalgleish's yellow cock, which was greatly admired by the breeders of this bird of circle. This section was ably handled by Messrs. W. Thornton (Edinburgh) and D. Low (Dundee). Mr. D. Smart (Grangemouth) had a hard day's work in placing the cards in the Norwich, etc., section, and with one or two exceptions he seemed to give every satisfaction. British and Foreign birds and mules were judged by Mr. L. J. Arright; the best class, we think, in these sections was the Foreign Bird one, some very fine birds being staged. The management was all that could be wished for. Mr. Mitchell, the popular secretary, is undoubtedly the right man in the right place, and he was ably assisted by a good staff of willing workers, who did everything in their power to make the show a success.

BRAINTREE.

Show held November 5th, the Corn Exchange. For a cage bird show few towns in the provinces, and certainly few of the size of Braintree, possess such a beautiful hall; it is splendidly lighted from the top, is particularly free from draughtiness, and the interior is cheerful. The society well deserved a better response than they received in the open classes. There is a thoroughly practical working committee, and in Mr. F. A. Hunnable the society possesses a secretary who is at once courteous, tactful, and efficient. The result was that all the arrangements proceeded smoothly, everything was in order, and method marked the whole management. Although the entries failed somewhat in the open section, the 30 miles radius classes filled capitally. Norwich Plainheads in both sections were of high merit, some very fine birds being staged. Crests were well represented; to this section fell the special for best in show, also the members' radius cup, Mr. J. Broad putting down a fine team. British were high class, a beautiful Song Thrush staged by Mr. French securing special. Mr. C. H. Row sent a grand team of Foreign birds, the most noticeable being a fine specimen of the Violet-necked Lory. Mules and Hybrids were also a nice show. Judging was over in good time, prize cards on the cages, and catalogues ready by the time the show opened. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged.

CLEATOR MOOR.

Seventh annual exhibition of the Cleator Moor and Dist. F.S., held Nov. 5th, Market Hall. The hall is admirably adapted for the purpose, being roomy, well lighted from the roof, and exceptionally free from draught; in fact, one of the finest we have visited. British birds, usually a strong feature at this show, were this year somewhat behind in numbers, though quality was well represented in those present. Yorkshires and Norwich were both good sections. Borders, though few in number, were typical. A regrettable feature was the disqualification for alleged staining of three British birds by the judge, Mr. Geo. Wilson (Frizington). All the exhibits were nicely staged, and well looked after by an efficient band of stewards, headed by the courteous and energetic secretary, Mr. Byrne, who, together with the treasurer, Mr. Sumpton, and a hard-working committee, spared no pains to make the venture a success. The committee are: Messrs. James Rigg (chairman), B. Gray (vice), J. G. Sumpton, J. Sumpton, jun., J. Whalley, J. Bainbridge, J. Keough, J. Bland, T. Kearton, R. Fowler, P. Branney, R. Carr, M. R. Haile, B. Chambers, and E. Jones. Judges: Canaries, Mr. J. Stewart (Whitehaven), who at this show made his debut as judge; British, Mr. George Wilson (Frizington), and both gave every satisfaction.

STOCKTON-ON-TEES.

Sixth annual show, held November 5th, Temperance Hall, Dovecote-street. Entries came up splendidly, and constituted a record, totalling 508, beating the record show of last year by about 10. We are pleased to note the great progress made by this society Six or seven years ago the cage bird section of the Live Stock F.S. considered themselves lucky if they could totul 100 entries, and their first separate venture was rewarded with an entry of 200. Much of this success is due to the efforts of the courteous and energetic secretary, Mr. J. W. Lowes, who is certainly the right man in the right place; nothing that can conduce to the welfare of the society is overlooked hy him. He is very popular. He was well supported by a grand body of fanciers, headed by the chairman, Mr. E. Freeman, and vice-chairman, Mr. H. Tait, the committee consisting of Messrs. Nicholson, Yeates, Ducas, Marwood, Acheson, Angell, Johnson, Bean, Elgey, Walker, Grigg, Calpin, Dawson, Saunders, Broadbent, Nelson, Shepherd, J. H. Tait, Summerhill, Peacock, Sowerby, Briscoe, Coverdale, Chesworth, Pearson, Head, Foster, Hall, Smith, and Massheder. We must not forget young Master Nicholson, of Nicholson and Sou, who is every bit as keen a fancier as his respected father. This young fancier's knowledge of British and Foreign birds is really wonderful for one so young. The show hall is really a grand place for the purpose, being large, lofty, free from draughts, and of an even temperature. Of the exhibits themselves one cannot speak too highly, every section being good in both number and quality. Yorkshires were a fine lot and averaged 13 per class in five classes, while the Norwich section was even stronger—16 per class in six classes. Both sections contained birds of outstanding merit. Crests and Crest-breds totalled 33 in the two classes, an entry many of the large two-days' shows would be glad of. British were, however, the feature of the show, this section being exceptionally strong both in number and quality. The Foreign were very choice. The staging of the exhibits was a treat, the birds being in rows three tiers high, the winning birds being placed in regular order throughout each class. Everything went off without the slightest hitch, judging being concluded and the show opened to the public in good time. Judges: Mr. H. W. Battye (Canaries), and Mr. R. J. Howe (British, Hybrids, and Foreign). This show was not held under C.B.U. Rules.

LEICESTER (Hand-in-Hand).

Leicester Hand-in-Hand C.B.S. show, held November 5th. A grand total of 600 entries turned up at the White Swan Assembly Room, Market Place, in 38 classes. This constitutes a record at this society's show over 100 more than last year. There was a grand turn up of Norwich, and an all round excellent run of quality and type prevailed. Yorkshires were very nice, and the leaders were birds of fine length and style. A few good Crests were on view; the winner is a fine bird, with great Crest. The Hybrids were very good, the light Canary Hybrids being very smart birds. The dark Canary Hybrids, too, were a fine lot, and included some grand birds. The British Seedeaters right through were a very fine lot, particularly the Redpoll, etc., class, some of the finest large mealy Redpolls staged for years were in the class. The large and small Insectivorous birds were very choice indeed, and many species in grand order were shown. The Foreign bird class was very interesting, and was led hy a charming Blue-winged Tanager in faultless trim. Altogether it was a very creditable show. The committee had all the birds staged on tiers, which gave plenty of room for the birds, but if this show keeps on developing, a larger room will be inevitable. With the large windows at one side, plenty of light was had for judging. Judging started before 9 o'clock by Mr. Robson (who took the Canary section) and Mr. Chas. Houlton (who judged the remainder). A big list of specials was offered—all without a single specialist club patronage. The bon. secretary, Mr. J. E. Wood, is an eminently suitable and energetic young official, and knows how to carry out secretarial work, which he did ably to the letter. The society ought to retain bis services for many a long year to come.

ALNWICK.

Alnwick and District O.S. held 8tb annual show Town Hall, Nov. 5th. The room is a nice one for tbe purpose, being light and airy. Cage birds were staged at one end of the hall, and proved quite an attraction to the large number of visitors. Norwich were good both in quantity and quality, while the Borders were as good a show. The variety class contained some rare exhibits. The management are to be congratulated on their grand entry and display. Everything passed off without a bitcb, and we found a willing lot of workers from the President (Mr. T. R. Fernent), who was working like a Trojan, down to the committeemen. Special praise is due to tbe secretary, Mr. Robinson, and Mr. Landells, who had charge of the section; each were obliging, and performed tbeir parts satisfactorily. Mr. E. Floyd (Ashington) judged.

BLAYDON-ON-TYNE.

Seventh annual show of the Blaydon and Dist. C.B.S. held Nov. 4th and 5th, Drill Hall. The hall has an excellent top light, is spacious and well ventilated. Entries were well in advance on last year's total, a matter that it is a pleasure to chronicle—total 743. The chairman is Mr. J. Hands, vice-president, Mr. T. Brown, who are a brace of capital and capable officials. Treasurer, Mr. J. W. Clark; committee (a band of most willing workers), Messrs. G. Johnson, J. Carr, W. Bousfield, J. Clark, C. Vallans, J. Lee, G. S. Ellwood, J. A. Carr, T. Fletcher, R. Pattison, J. Dobson, G. Dobson, W. Purvis, and J. Davison. Mr. G. Hayver, the worthy secretary, works like a Trojan, manipulating affairs in a masterly fashion; he is most courteous and obliging, and a grand fancier to meet. Staging was of a grand description; it was three tiers high, with ample room between each aisle. Those responsible for this neat arrangement are to be highly complimented. The Norwich were a really choice collection, amongst which were many "charmers." Greats and C.-B's, as was to be expected in this "hot bed" of the "topping varieties," were eye-openers; they were of marvellous quality. When such noted exhibitors as Messrs. Taylor, Armstrong, Dobson and Son, Currah and Son, Bewick, Hutchinson and Martin declare war the battle must rage fiercely and furiously. (N.B.—No blood was shed.) Yorkshires were a nice collection, and the Borders were as pretty as paint, and mustered strongly. The Lizards, Scotch Fancies, and Cinnamons were also meritorious. British, Mule, and Foreign birds, with their delightful colouring and rarity, also gave tone to the exhibition. The members' classes contained many that were capable of running well in the "upper circles." Best bird in show was a well-known and most wonderful buff hy. mkd. D.C., owned by R. Armstrong, appropriately named "King of Kings." The Maling Challenge Cup was captured by the same exhibit. Hyde's went to the now noted unlighted buff mkd. D.C. owned by J. L. Martin (Gateshead novice), having already captured the highest honours at Plymouth and Newcastle. May Mr. M. have even better luck with his "stormer." Sandiford's for hottest fed was won by Mr. E. B. Hooper. Spl. for best Border by a member was won by Mr. G. S. Ellwood. The stewards were Messrs. Jos. Clark, R. Armstrong, J. H. Crass, G. Dobson, and J. Maddison, who acted promptly and efficiently, keeping top side of their duties right along the line; every praise is due to them. The management throughout was excellent. Judges, Messrs. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield) and G. E. Russell (Birmingham); both got through their work in good time by commencing early, and their awards were well received.

BLANTYRE.

Blantyre and Dis. O.A. annual show held 5th Nov., the Struthers Hall (a neat and cosy building situated on the west side of the town). The day was a dull one, more especially in the afternoon, but there was a good light, and visitors had little trouble to get a fine look at the birds. The quality of the exhibits exceeded those of former occasions, while the numbers were also on the upper side. This condition of things is largely due to the efforts of Mr. Berry, the secretary, who has clung to his post for a number of years. His quiet, amiable disposition seemed to serve to knit his committee to him, and all worked for the welfare of their show, which proved a signal success. Mr. Allan Chalmers (Kirkintilloch) made the awards, and his verdict seemed to meet with the approval of most as we heard not a single grumble.

The Critique.

YOUNG SCOTS FCY. CK.: 1 and cup, W. Wilson, topper, good reach, decided drive, will improve yet; 2, Wilson, nice one, scarcely so thick as winner; 3, Hannah, nice one, not quite the top end of leaders; 4, Welsh. HEN: 1, 4, Wilson, 1st grand ben, takes perch well, free worker; 2, Allan, another extra good one, fine position on perch; 3, A. Wilson, not quite finished, good bird. OLD CK.: 1, Allan, right good one, takes perch splendidly, fine action; 2, Welsh, another grand one; 3, Hannah, quite a nice one. HEN: 1, Wilson, fine yell., works well, all there; 2, Allan, nice one, fine drive, bat not quite so thick through; 3, Hannah, again good one. SELL.: 1, 2, 3, Allan. YOUNG COL. FED. NOR. CK.: 1, J. Wilson, good buff, fine size and col., well put down; 2, W. Wilson, another varieg. buff, good in col., beaten only in head and front; 3, Smith, good saddle mark; 4, Taylor, nice yell. HEN: 1, 2, J. Wilson, 1st a real good hen, fine size and type, well placed, 2nd nice buff, wants the depth and substance of winner; 3, 4, W. Wilson, 3rd a fine yell. varieg., beaten only in size; 4th typical tkd. yell., well deserved position. NON FED CK.: 1, Frew, fine broken green, grand col. and size; 2, Wilson, beaten only in substance by leader, good bird. HEN: 1, and cup best young Nor., 2, 4, J. Wilson, 1st fine tkd. yell., lady of fine quality, well put down, 2nd a very good cl. buff, beaten here; 3, Berry, nice broken green. OLD CK.: 1, 2, 3, Wilson, 1 good one, grandly fed, well put down; 2, var. yell., grand col., just a little too long behind, 3rd another heavy varieg., well fed, some thought would have made a creditable 2nd; 4, Berry, still another of the same class, good one; some really nice birds left out. HEN: 1, Frew, rare size, neat col., slightly mkd., good specimen; 2, 3, J. Wilson, 2nd well fed, cl. buff, beaten only in substance, good bird, 3rd really good one, fine size and type; 4, Berry, nice yell. tkd. SELL.: 1, Berry; 2, J. Wilson; 3, Taylor; 4, Hannah. YOUNG YELL. BORD. YOUNG GOLDFINCH MULE: 1, cup, 3, J. White, 1st grand perky little even wing mkd. yell., wins well, put down in A1 form, 3rd fine dark jonque, shows cross well; 2, 4, Wilcox, 2nd large dark buff, good exhibit, 4th still another dark, and a good one, too. Some fine Mules left out of the tickets. MULE, A.O.V.: 1, Wilson, nice yell. greenie, good size, will improve yet; 2, Adair, really nice Twite-Mule; 3, White, another of the greenie cross, good one; 4, Welsh, nice buff Linnet. REDPOLL, ETC.: 1, White, one of the best Twites seen for a long time, really excellent; 2, Berry, good Lesser Redpoll, just a bit behind leader; 3, Welsh, another lovely Twite; 4, Hannah, another 'Poll, almost, if not quite, as good as its more fortunate brother. GOLDFINCH: 1, Linnon, lovely col. little chap, true Britisher, fine tans and buttons, wins well; 2, 3, W. Wilson, pair of nice ones, neither of them quite up in col. yet; 4, Berry, nice one, but soft when we were taking notes. GREENFINCH: 1, 3, W. Wilson, 1st buff, but a large one, tight, and as fit as a fiddle; 2, Berry, grand yell., must have pressed hard; 3, another really grand one, well placed; 4, J. Wilson. BRIT. HEN: 1, J. Wilson, real topping Bullie hen, large dark cap, well defined bars, wins nicely; 2, 4, W. Wilson, 2nd good Bullie, tight race for first place; 3, Hannah, nice Greenie hen, 4th another good bullie hen. A.O.S. BRIT.: 1, W. Wilson, white Goldfinch, really taking exhibit, put down in the best of trim, wins well; 2, 4, Linnon, 2nd fine Yellowhammer, steady, good in size, well defined markings, 4th finely spotted Thrush, steady as a rock, deserves place; 3, J. Wilson, good Bramblefinch, fine col., well spangled, and well placed. A.O.V.: 1, J. Wilson, varieg. Mule, really nice one; 2, Barry, Java Sparrow, fine little chap, put down in creditable condition, some preferred; 3, J. Wilson, another very nice varieg. Mule. GIFT: 1, Hannah; 2, Smith; 3, White; 4, McGarvie. This class was interesting, inasmuch as it contained quite a number of singing cocks, the gifts of members and friends.

BRIGHOUSE AND DIST. C.B.S.

Third members' show, held Nov. 1, Wellington Inn. Entries turned up very poorly. Mr. T. Bentley (Cleckheaton) judged to the satisfaction of all. Afterwards he gave members some timely hints on Canary management. Some good birds were on view. Mr. C. Morrison won points for best bird, also lead-ing for points special, with Mr. H. Sinke and Mr. J. Tattersall second and third.

CL., ETC., YELL. YORKS.: 1, Morrison; 2, Bailey; 3, Ellis. BUFF: 1, Morrison; 2, Tattersall; 3, Ellis. YELLOW HEN: 1, 3, Tattersall; 2, Morrison. BUFF: 1, Morrison; 2, Tattersall; 3, Blake. CINN. MED. YELL. HEN: 1, Ellis; 2, Kaye. BRIT.: 1, Sinke; 2, Kaye. F. MITCHELL, Sec.

TUNSTALL.

First open show of Tunstall and Dist. C.B.S. held November 3rd, Crown and Anchor Hotel. The room is cosy and free from draughts. Entries numbered upwards of 240—a very fair number for one judge to go over; but as there were so many members' and novice classes scheduled well-filled classes proved an exception. Some grand birds were staged in all sections, and some recent winners had to be relegated to minor positions. Although new to the work, Mr. H. Evans got through his duties as secretary very satisfactorily indeed, and the experience gained will stand him in good stead on a future occasion. He had the willing assistance of a hard-working committee, comprising F. Johnson, J. Hancock, G. Hughes, G. Howell, H. Jephson, J. Jones, W. Potts, H. Liversage, J. Parr, A. Parr, R. Dunning, T. Moseley, L. James, G. Averill, J. Furnival, C. Follows, T. Evans, and A. Lovatt. There was a good number of visitors present during the day, and we trust the venture will turn out successfully. Mr. J. H. Roe made the awards.

AIRDRIE & COATBRIDGE

Annual show, held McLellands Hall, Stirling Street, Airdrie, 5th November. Entries were about same as last year, and quality about the average in the Scotch Fancy Section. Norwich were of a decidedly superior lot, and the competition was keen. The hall is commodious and comfortable, lighted by the roof. The birds were staged on either side. Mr. Kirkwood, the secretary, is a gentleman well adapted for the position, and he had everything well arranged. Cups: Best Young Scotch Fancy Cock, Mr. Hutchison; Hen, Mr. Smith; Crest or Crest-bred, Mr. Shanks;—Plainhead, Mr. Simpson. Judges. For Scotch Fancies, Messrs. Hailstones, and Todd; for other sections, Mr. Watson (Kilmarnock).

ROCHDALE.

Rochdale "Good Intent" C.B.S. 14th annual exhibition, held Parish Church Schools, Lower Tweedale Street, November 5th. The school provides a magnificent room for the purpose. Entries came up well, totalling 464, in 38 classes, and the quality throughout was of a very high order. Lancashires, as is usual at Rochdale, opened the ball, and made a magnificent show, some of the best specimens living being on view. Lizards also made a good display, competition being very keen. The Yorkshire classes were well filled, and many noted winners were amongst them. Norwich were under the patronage of the O.N.P.C., and turned up well, giving the judge no easy task to sort them out. The secretary, Mr. W. Adams, thoroughly understands his duty as a show manager; he was ably supported by the president, Mr. T. H. Collinge; the vice-president, Mr. W. T. Banks; and Messrs. J. T. Cheetham, H. Woodhead, G. Adams, and others, who all worked hard to make the show a success. Judging was over in good time, cards up, and catalogues on sale very early in the afternoon; and the good wives of the members had teas provided in an ante-room; so we can confidently say that for once bird fanciers had everything they could desire. Messrs. W. Hardy (Oldham) and J. H. Roe judged.

STONEHOUSE, N.B.

Third annual show, held 5th November. The entry, taken all over, was a good one, some grand birds being staged. The Scotch Fancies were a shade down, but the quality was good. Norwich were a capital all-round collection, and Crests and Crest-breds were also well up to those of former years. Mules were good, the dark class containing a few hot birds. The members' classes contained some real high-class specimens. Border Fancies were the pick of the day, some extra good ones being staged, while the numbers forward created a record. The classes were all keenly contested, with specimens from the East and West, and honours were equally divided, the West securing the B.F.C. medal with a good yellow marven, the property of Mr. Walker (Lesmahagow). Britishers were a shade down on last year's, but the quality was extra good, many noted winners being forward. Mr. J. F. Dewar judged all varieties of Canaries, Mules, members', and the first four British bird classes, while Mr. J. W. Bruce did the Borders and the remaining Britishers. Taken all round the awards were well received, very little grumbling being heard. The show was held in a very comfortable hall, the light being good, and the hall in every way suitable for an exhibition. The society are fortunate in having as leading members such a splendid committee, the guiding star of whom was the worthy secretary, Mr. Hamilton, who had everything well in hand. The show passed off without a hitch under his management. He was ably assisted by his energetic assistant, Mr. Melvin, who made a good second. Mr. Sorbie had charge of the financial department, and discharged his duties in an efficient manner. The committee of stewards deserve a word of cheer, as we have seldom met a better class of fanciers and exhibitors.

YORK.

York C.B.S. fifth annual show, held Exhibition buildings, November 4 and 5. The Lady Mayoress, who was accompanied by the Lord Mayor (Alderman J. Birch) opened the show. Mr. A. Richardson, the chairman, introduced the Lady Mayoress, and accompanied her round the room. Her ladyship made a charming speech, and expressed the hope that the City of York would become the centre of the Yorkshires. Norwich were a fine lot, and the Yorkshires, though not so good in numbers, were grand in style and quality. The British birds were a capital lot; Goldfinches, Bullfinches, and Linnets were big classes, and some real toppers were benched. Mr. Waud, the hon. sec., and Mr. T. Boyle, the assistant sec., had the birds nicely staged, and the committee, Messrs. Richardson (chairman), Campling, Chittenden, Humphries, Pickering, Shorney, Sissons, Smeson, White and Wright looked well after the wants of the birds. The Exhibition Buildings are one of the finest in the Kingdom in which to hold a show; it is free from draughts, and is lighted from the roof, so that the whole of the birds could be seen to full advantage. Messrs. J. H. Roe and W. Mundell (Bradford) judged.

WEYBRIDGE.

This show, which was held in the beautiful Holstein Hall on November 8 and 9, was hardly so successful as usual, a number of classes being cancelled and others being poorly supported. The quality, however, was very good, and the competition keen. The birds were nicely staged, and their needs well looked after by Messrs. Robbins and Parrott, whilst Messrs. Hodges and Keene, the secretaries, had all the general arrangements well under control. Mr. C. A. House judged.

GREAT YARMOUTH.

Great Yarmouth F.S. twenty-second annual show, held Corn Hall, Nov. 3rd and 4th. The entries were small as compared with those of other years, which was accounted for by the committee confining show to members only. We hope another year they will again open it to a wider radius. Amongst the exhibits were some nice birds. Great praise is due to Mr. Hammond for taking the secretaryship; he acquitted himself admirably. Also the committee did very well indeed. We hope they will make it a success, which we were informed has not been the case financially this last year or two. Mr. W. E. Greeves made the awards.

BRECHIN.

Forty-seventh annual show of the Brechin C.B.S. held Temperance Hall, 5th November. The hall is a very suitable place for such a show, being well lighted, and free from draught. Everything possible was done for the comfort of the exhibits. Entries came up well, there being an increase of about 30 over last year. The exhibits were nicely staged, and had every attention from a band of experienced fanciers. Mr. G. Mitchell makes an ideal secretary. He had everything well in hand. He was ably assisted by Mr. G. Davidson. One of the features of their work was the early issue of the marked catalogue, it being on sale a little after midday. They were supported by an able and willing committee. The Norwich Plainheads made a grand display, and keen competition was the order of the day. Substance and type, quality and colour were prominent. So close in merit were many of the specimens that the judge must have had some difficulty in placing the tickets. This task was in the able hands of Mr. J. Smeaton (Musselburgh). There was a good entry for Borders. Mr. A. Gilchrist (Coldstream) had charge of this section. The British, etc., were a choice lot, and included some splendid examples of the art of breeding two species together. Mr. R. Bald (Bathgate) judged this section. The judges had a very difficult task in many of the classes, but on the whole their awards seemed to give satisfaction.

MANNINGHAM.

Manningham C.B.S. annual show held November 5th, Drummond Road Council School. All previous records in regard to entries were broken, there being the magnificent total of 497 in the 26 classes—an average of over 19 per class. The officials are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts. The room is an ideal one, and even with this good entry there was plenty of room for visitors; the light is really excellent, and every bird could be seen to the best advantage. In Messrs. Grange (the indefatigable secretary), Kemp (assist-secretary), and Huddleston (president), Lunn, Ackroyd, Dennison (vice-presidents), and Dent (treasurer), and Robinson, Smith, Gale, T. Robinson, and Dyer as stewards, the society have a body of workers hard to beat; everything passed off well. Messrs. Ogden Bros. annexed special for most points in the open classes, and Mr. Wallbank that in selling classes. Mr. J. Broadley was the senior judge, and he officiated in the open section, his assistant, Mr. M. Broadley, taking the novice classes.

TIME FLIES

And with it carries away your chance of acquiring knowledge. Knowledge is Power, and the Fund of Practical Knowledge to be gathered from any one of the books I publish is not to be obtained in any other way. Each handbook is written by an acknowledged expert—skilled in the particular subject he writes about, and when you sit down to read his work you feel as if you were listening to the voice of a valued and dear friend.

"OUR CANARIES."

The Greatest Work on Canaries ever published or ever likely to be published. A simply colossal work, forming a veritable encyclopædia of canary lore.

• By CLAUD ST. JOHN, General Canary Expert to "Cage Birds," assisted by over 100 of our present day Leading Breeders and Authorities. Associate Editors, C. A. HOUSE and G. E. WESTON.

To be completed in 16 Monthly Parts, Seven of which are now ready.

Each part contains 2 coloured and 2 art plates, by the foremost canary artist of the day, Mr. H. NORMAN, and 24 pages of most practical and instructive matter to read for keepers of every variety of canary.

PART VII., NOVEMBER ISSUE, INCLUDES BEAUTIFUL COLOURED PLATES OF CREST-BRED AND CRESTED CANARIES AND A YELLOW SELF-GREEN YORKSHIRE CANARY. Two Art Plates of equal merit, and a mass of information about breeding in general, fixing and balancing points, etc. Dr. Bowes contributes a specially helpful and absorbing article to this number. 6d. per Part from your newsagent. 7d., post free, from us carefully packed.

OUR SPECIAL OFFER.

Parts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 supplied together, for 3s. 10d., post free, or for 9s. we will supply the complete work in 16 monthly parts, as published.

When a book goes through five Editions you may be certain that it is worth buying.

HOUSE'S CANARY MANUAL

has gone well into its Fifth Edition, and is still selling every day like hot coffee on a cold December night. This is a handy book, at a handy price. It is a thorough and practical guide to the general management and breeding of Canaries, written by a well-known expert and judge. It contains chapters dealing fully with the breeding, etc. of every member of the Canary family, including the German (or Roller) Canary. Illustrated by Mr. H. Norman, in the finest art style. There are also exhaustive chapters on Aviaries and Cages, breeding procedure, moulting, exhibiting, diseases add seeds—a compendium of knowledge approached by no other book of its kind at the price.

Foreign Birds for Beginners.

By W. T. PAGE, F.Z.S., etc., Foreign Bird Expert to "Cage Birds."

Price 1/-, post free 1/1½d.

A manual of infinite use to all keepers of Foreign Finches, Parrakeets, etc. Contains a coloured plate, and many other illustrations. The information it contains is of a thoroughly practical and highly instructive character, especially useful to beginners.

Aviaries, Bird-Rooms and Cages.

Price 2/-, post free 2/3 (bound in cloth, gilt).

A Special Handbook, 116 pages, size 9 inches by 5½, written by that well-known fancier, Mr. H. NORMAN ("Cage Birds" Artist-in-chief) who has illustrated it with a wealth of helpful drawings. It also contains Ten Lovely Full-page Photographic Plates. It is a practical guide for every bird-lover who desires to thoroughly understand the proper Building, Fitting, and Management of Aviaries, and Bird-rooms, and the making of Cages.

PART 7 OF "CAGE BIRD HYBRIDS"

is selling splendidly. As usual the part comprises Two Coloured Plates, Two Art Plates, and other illustrations. This superb standard work which will be completed in eight parts, has been written by the greatest living authority on Mules and Hybrids, Mr. Charles Houlton. It represents his greatest life work. From his vast stores of knowledge and twenty-five years' experience and study, he gives you all you want to know of the subject. There is no more difficult, but fascinating section of the cage bird hobby than breeding Hybrids. Mr. Houlton gives full directions how to select, breed, exhibit, and manage every variety of canary, mule, and British Bird Hybrid. Send us a P.O. for 7d. and we will post you Part 7 by return. It will delight you. The Coloured Plates are exquisite. They represent the Redpoll-Goldfinch Hybrid and the Goldfinch-Siskin Hybrid. They have been beautifully painted by the greatest living hybrid artist of the day, Mr. H. Norman. The letterpress deals with Washing the Birds for Exhibition, Exhibiting, Show Cages, Classification, Marking, Varigation, etc. The first of the appendices deal with Insectivorous Birds for Hybrid Breeding—Don't miss this Great Part!

OUR SPECIAL OFFER.

Parts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7, can now be supplied for 3/10 post paid; or for 4/6 prepaid we will take orders to supply the complete work in parts as published. Send your order at once, direct to us, with remittance.

ALWAYS USE OUR

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers in all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insisted upon.

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or, if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

IMPORTANT NOTE.—Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertiser, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

Headlines or Footlines 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/6 according to size.

Small prepaid advertisements of a general nature and not connected in any way with the Cage Bird Trade are inserted at the rate of ½d. per word throughout. Minimum 12 words 6d.

Advertisements must in all cases bear the bona fide name and address of the advertiser, and no advertisement will be inserted if addressed to a receiving office, or similar place of call.

PREPAID ADVERTISEMENTS

UNDISPLAYED.—6d. for the first eighteen words. One Halfpenny per Word for each word over eighteen. MINIMUM, 18 words 6d.

Postal Orders must be sent as far as possible. All moneys should be made payable to F. CARL.

The Proprietor reserves the right to refuse any advertisement, or to cancel any advertisement ordered for a series, at any time, without assigning any reason for so doing.

Advertisements close Tuesdays first post in each week, and should be sent to the Advertisement Manager, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London. Terms for Display Advertisements on application.

THERE'S ONE THING

you don't get with any of my appliances; that is the "bump." All are made by practical men, who thoroughly understand their business, and no expense is spared to make every article thoroughly up-to-date and durable. I have repeatedly said that my goods are far better than any others on the market, but I should like you to test the truth of this statement by having goods from me on approval similar articles from elsewhere, and if mine are not much better value, smash them up and I will refund money in full. A practical test such as this is worth more than pages of idle boastings. Clapnets, made from genuine ½in. mesh thread netting, very fine but strong, 3 yards long, 5½ft. deep, 4 feet fly, 4/- pair; ditto, 4 yards, 5/-, 5 yards 0/-, 6 yds. 7/-, 7 yds. 8/-, 8 yds. 9/-, 9 yds. 10/-, 10 yds. 11/- per pair. All have two nets to the pair, and each net is guaranteed full measurement as above, and all fitted complete with improved fittings consisting of stavepoles, pegs, lines, etc., ready for immediate use. Please note the improved fittings sent with my clap nets makes them work far better than the old-fashioned sockets, iron trash. Loose netting made from 6/0 s/s cord thread, ½in. mesh, same as used in above clap nets, 7 feet deep, 3d. yard; 9 feet deep, 4d. yard; 12 feet deep, 5d. yard, all post free. Real Japanese bird lime, absolutely strongest lime made, guaranteed to hold in rain, ½lb. 6d., ¼lb. 10d., 1lb. 1/6, sample 3d., all packed in airtight lever lid cannisters and sent post free. Self-acting spring net traps, 24inc. by 18ins., 1/- each; ditto, 18ins. by 14ins., 9d. each. These net traps are different to all others, as they can be baited for hard and softbills at same time, and can be used with call bird inside if desired. Single trap cages, 6d. each; double ditto, 1/-; treble ditto, 1/3, all with separate compartment for call bird. Patent self-setting and self-acting trap cages, guaranteed to automatically reset immediately each bird is caught, 1/6 each. Round or square-topped calling cages, all wire tops and wood bottoms, 4d. each, 3/- dozen. Specially spun Italian hemp pull lines, free from snarl, and strong as boat lines, 68 yards long, 1/4 each, carriage paid. Improved But folding Sparrow nets, fitted on 17 feet bamboo poles, 5/6; ditto, on 17 feet poles, 6/-; ditto, on 19 feet poles, 6/6 pair. These Sparrow nets are a vast improvement on the old-fashioned idea, being a better shape, much more effective and more portable. Lark nets, flirt pegs, poles and lines, and hundreds of other articles in stock. Send stamp for full list of catcher's appliances, which also gives hints on net making. Please note, all the leading catchers of the day are using appliances supplied by me throughout England, Canada, Africa, America, India, and other places abroad. They have recognised that the day is past for the old-fashioned appliances, and so use those that are bang up to date as supplied by me. See last issue for few testimonials; or, better still, send a furniture van, and I will fill it with unsolicited testimonials received from delighted users of my nets, etc.

My Self-Acting Net Traps

catch birds of every description without attention, price 1/0, larger size 2/-, carriage paid. I have received hundreds of testimonials stating they are A1 for catchers. Read two, and beware of imitations that are not worth the carriage.—"Sir,—Net trap to hand; it is honestly worth dozens of some nets advertised. I tried it this afternoon and caught more birds in two hours than I caught in other traps in two months."—George Matthews, 2, Lucas Street, Stockport. "Sir,—Trap arrived; it is far superior to all others. I have to-day caught fifteen Linnets, six Redpolls, four Chaffinches, three Greenfinches."—J. Scragg, Old Brewery, Armitage Road, Rugeley. Entirely self-acting and self setting trap cages, warranted to catch birds and reset without attention, 1s. 6d.; loose netting, strongest and finest obtainable, ½in. mesh, 7ft. deep, 5d. yard; ¾ mesh, 7ft. deep, 3d.; 10ft. deep, 4d. yard, post free; clap nets, ¾ or ½in. mesh netting, geared all round and sent complete for catching; write for prices before buying elsewhere: Morris, 112, Cape Hill, Birmingham.

THE HUMAN LINNET. ARRIVED: SIBERIAN COCK

Goldfiuches, with deep square-cut blaze, broad heads, richly tanned, extraordinary size, 8/6 and 7/6 each; everybody delighted; not one bird returned. A gentleman friend brings these gems over for me privately; he picks me the best he can find and the rest go to the other dealers. Place your order with me and you get the cream. Cock Siskins arrive Friday, November 18th; all specially picked, 1/6, 2/- each; a few toppers 2/6; no dealer can have any of these until I have picked what I want. British cock Goldfinches, beautiful deep, square-cut blaze, broad heads, richly tanned, Norwich type, 3/6 to 4/-; ready for the bench and can win; others right for muling and catching, 2/6 and 3/- each. Look, Linnets taught under my well-known champion, singing lovely, 2/- each, with contest cage and my book, etc., only 3/6 lot. See singing results. A few cock Linnets on full song, 1/- and 1/6; real Norwich type cock Linnets, well pencilled, steady as rocks, same class as the numerous winners I have already supplied, 2/- each; these gems are winning all over. All kinds of high-class British and Foreign kept in stock. State wants. Please note: I give 7 days' approval; cash or deposit: Fred Allen, The Bird Specialist, Hull.

IF YOU ARE

a customer once a customer always, simple because my birds are the same as advertised, and all caged at the least one month and in perfect health. That is why I am so willing to send them to any part of the world on approval, entirely at my own risk on receipt of cash or deposit system, on the understanding that the whole of your money is returned in full if birds should fail to give satisfaction. I have a large stock of Worcestershire cock Goldfinches in perfect health and feather, 1/6, 3 4/-, 6 7/6, 12/- dozen; specially selected larger, full-coloured cocks, in song, 2/-, 2/6 each, 3 5/-, 6 9/6, 17/- dozen. I also have few extra larger cocks, with clear cut square blaze, very steady, in song, and fit to show at once, impossible to get better, 3/-, 4/-, 5/- each. Hen Goldfinch 9d., 3 2/-, 6 3/6, 6/- dozen; selected, 1/-, 1/6 each. Grand stock of cock Bullfinches, 1/-, 1/6 each; specially picked for showing, 3/- each; hen Bullfinches, 1/-, and 1/6 each; few extra large hen Bullfinches, been flying in aviary since September 1st, 2/- each. Grand lot cock Linnets, with nut brown wings and back, rose-red breast, 8d., 3 1/6, 6 2/6, 4/- dozen; specially selected larger cocks, all caged off in separate cages, in full song, 1/-, 3 2/6, 6 3/6, 5/0 dozen. Few extra large cock Linnets, finger tame, for showing, muling, or contest singing, in full song by day and gaslight, 1/6, 2/-, 2/6 each. No man can supply you with any better quality. Large cock Lark, cock Chaffinch, and Redpolls, 6d., 3 1/3, 3/6 dozen. Few cock Larks and Chaffinches, in song, 1/-, 1/6, 2/- each. Cock Greenfinches, 6d., 3 1/-; exhibition specimens, 1/- each. Few large Mealy Redpolls, 1/0, 2/- each; extra large, 3/-, 4/- each. Cock Yellowhammers and cock Bramblefinches, 9d. each, 3 2/6; exhibition specimens 1/6, 2/- each. Cages for the above birds, 6d., 9d., 1/- each. Single trap cages, 6d., 9d. each; double ditto, 10d., 1/- each; round or square topped calling cages, all wires soldered, 6d., 3 1/3, 3/- dozen; large tin drinkers, 6d. dozen; extra strong bird lime, best on the market, sample boxes 3d., ½lb. 6d., ¼lb. 10d. (all post free). Bear in mind, when you deal with me you are dealing with the most reliable man in the trade, though I don't boast about it, I stock no rubbish, and you get best value for your money. I have hundreds of testimonials, open any time for inspection, and if I care to publish them I could fill this column every week; but instead of going to that expense I give my customers better value for their money. Plenty of the above birds in stock; no waiting: Thomas Hughes, 65, Saltley rd., Birmingham.

HARRY ALLEN, THE ORIGINAL.

Siberian cock Goldfinches, the largest in the world, with deep square-cut scarlet blaze, ready at once for the bench, sure prize winners, 6/6, 7/6, and 8 that no one can beat 10/6; Siberian Mealy Redpolls, very large birds, 2/- and 2/6 each; one that can win anywhere, 3/6; English Peartree cock Goldfinches, the largest in England, full colour, these prize winners 4/6; a real monster, 7/6, will take beating with the best out; Goldfinches, singing very hard, with new cage and my book of secrets, 3/6; and one, a gem, 4/-; other grand Goldfinches, right for muling or catching, 2/6 and 3/-; Bullfinches, right for the show bench, sure prize winners, 3/- and 3/0, there is a run on these birds; cock Siskins, 2/- and 2/6; cock Chaffinches and Greenfinches ready for the show bench, 1/- and 1/6; splendid British show cages with any of the above, 2/- extra; picked Linnets for the show bench, sure winners, 2/- each. Look! Linnets from the same place as the champion Linnet of the world, the same as the large winners this week in Leeds, beating all the recognised champions, 1/- and 1/6; all in show condition. Linnets taught by the champion Linnet of the world, singing grand, can sing like Germans, and my book of secrets and a packet of my special, that makes them sing face to face, 2/6 and 3/6. I defy any dealer in the world to supply the same for the money. Larks, singing day, night, and gaslight, as straight as arrows, 1/6, and one cannot beat 2/6; the best Lark food in the world, 0d. lb. I am sending winners out every week. Testimonials every post. Honest dealing done with me. First-class Seifert Rollers 52/6 per stick; 2nd class St. Andreasburg Rollers, 45/0 per stick; 3rd class Hartz Mountain Rollers, 38/6 per stick; Rollers that can win in any contest, 15/-, 2nd 12/6, 3rd 10/-. Try Harry Allen's Rollers. I have supplied more winners than any six dealers in the world put together; postcard before birds, so write to your old friend, Harry Allen, Bird Specialist and Judge, City Aviaries, 40, Beckett-st., Leeds.

British Exhibitors.

Mr. Hedges, Eastbourne, writes, September 13th,—"Send me special selected cock Goldfinch, Linnet, Greenfinch, and hen Bullfinch for enclosed 10/-; Goldfinch I got from you two years ago won six 1sts and specials; the one I had last year won 3rd, but I lost him." Mr. Veitch, Jedburgh, writes: "Send cock Goldfinch, 3/-, two hen Bullfinches, 3/-. Glad to say Goldfinch purchased from you won me two 1sts Hawick, 1st and special Kelso, 5th Edinburgh (class 33), 3rd Galashiels, twice 2nd at our show." W. Jones, Altrincham, December 6th. "Send two cock Linnets and two cock Siskins. Am pleased to say I won 2nd and 4th at Altrincham open class with birds purchased from you." Mr. Ewan, Kirn writes: "Goldfinch arrived safe, and won 1st and special at our show." Mr. Weedall, Wingford, January 30: "Send another good Bullfinch. Glad to say last two have won 1st and 2nd every time shown. Unfortunately best one just died; other won 4th large class at big Crystal Palace Show." Walter Dyke, Longridge: "Send cock Goldfinch and hen Bullfinch. Glad to say Hybrid which I bred from Goldfinch and Bullfinch purchased from you has won 1st Leeds (Class 10), 2nd Halifax, 1st Leek, 2nd Hamilton, 2nd Hinckley, 1st Portsmouth, etc." I have thousands of Goldfinches, Bullfinches, Linnets weekly, and can pick likely exhibition specimens. Cock Goldfinches and Bullfinches, 3/-, 4/-, 5/- each; cock Linnets, 1/-, 1/6 and 2/-. Cock Greenfinches, Chaffinches, Redpolls, 1/-, 1/6, 2/-. Large hen Bullfinches, for showing, Muling, 2/- and 2/6. SIBERIAN GOLDFINCHES.

and not Russians, as other dealers are advertising for Siberians; 500 arrived and on view; these are the best consignment I have received for years; every one of these are giant birds, being nearly as big as Larks, with massive colour and handsome square blazes, and full moons, and well buttoned; I will deposit £100 with the Editor if anyone can prove that these birds are not the real Siberians, or sending hens out for cocks; price 5/- each; special picked birds, for showing or mulling, 7/6 and 10/- each. I received over 2,000 testimonials last season from all the leading exhibitors in England. I have received with this consignment 200 giant Siberians, Redpolls, in handsome condition, being blood-red-breasted, at 1/6 each, or 8/6 stick of seven; 100 giant Siskins, in grand condition, splendid yellow birds, with handsome black cap and bib, fit for showing, 3/- each, or 18/6 stick of seven; 100 giant cock Greenfinches, handsome deep yellow birds, in massive condition, 1/6 each, or 8/6 stick of seven; 100 giant Siberian Linnets, fit for showing, 1/6 each, or 8/6 stick of seven. Notice to intending purchasers.—All Goldfinches are sent out on 48 hours' approval, by depositing cash with "Cage Birds." Birds sent away with the midnight mail in the best of health and condition: Note the address, Enoch Powers, the original and sole importer of Siberian birds.

HERE'S THE TRUTH

about Siberian Goldfinches. Not one of the genuine Siberian Goldies reached England this season until Monday, November 14. I now hold a stock of 420 of these birds, and guarantee every one a cock imported from Siberia. Previous to the arrivnl of the Siberian birds there were a big lot of Russian Finches on sale in Antwerp, but I never buy Russian Goldfinches; and to prove this, I offer £10 to any man that can prove I have bought a Russian Goldfinch this season, and another £10 to any English dealer that can prove he has had the pick of my Siberians, either before or since I received them. I have no middlemen's profits to pay, therefore can sell at same price as most dealers buy at and offer guaranteed cock Siberian Goldfinches, in full song, at 5/- and 6/- each, seven for 28/-. Exhibition specimens, 7/6 and 10/- each. Now, you Scotchmen, who want real decksweepers, send your orders to the direct importer; but let me tell you I have none as big as Thrushes, because such birds exist in imagination only; but everybody that sends to me for an exhibition bird may rely upon getting one really fit to win; otherwise I shall not send it. All sent on approval at my risk, and money refunded in full if every satisfaction not given, so place your orders with a reputable man.

See following letters, which were not written when Adam was a lad, but all received last few days:—"Rhodes Farm, Seeling, Nov. 13th.—Sir,—Goldfinches to hand, quite safe, and straight as can be, and very steady, well worth the price, and better than can be got in Kent at the money.—Yours, W. Wraight." "23, Tresham-street, Kettering, Nov. 10th.—Sir,—Received bird quite safe, and am very pleased with it.—Yours, W. Partridge." "Shotton Colliery, Nov. 10th.—Sir,—Linnets arrived all right, and are first-class. I thank you for them; they are beauties.—Yours, P. Appleby." "17, Stamford Park-road, Altrincham, Nov. 10th.—Sir,—Birds arrived safe, and I am very pleased with them. I thank yon for sending three such nice birds, as they are the best I have seen, and I do a lot of catching myself.—Yours, G. Spilsbury." "Nailsworth, Glos., Nov. 9th.—Sir,—Birds arrived in first-rate condition, and quite up to standard of your advt. The Mealy Redpoll is a beauty, and the German hen Bullie finger-tame, and fed from my hand at once. Am more than satisfied with all birds received from you.—Yours, C. Dauncey." "21, Penypeel-road, Canton, Cardiff, Nov. 6th.—Sir,—Goldfinches arrived safe, and am quite satisfied with them. Thanking you for prompt delivery.—Yours, C. Crocker." "66, Nevill-street, Llanelly, Nov. 10th.—Sir,—Received Goldfinch, and am delighted with it. Could have sold it for double price same day. Please send following.—Yours, J. Moremon." Kindly note all birds sold by me are guaranteed properly netted in County of Worcester by practical catchers employed solely by myself, and are thoroughly on hard seed before sent out. A signed guarantee is sent with every bird that birds have not been recently caught, so they may be kept in any part of British Isles without fear or favour, and a signed declaration is also sent agreeing to indemnify all purchasers against any costs arising from any prosecution for keeping the birds in protected counties. At present I am the only dealer giving this signed warranty and indemnity form, so send your orders to

WANTED.

Those in want of a good singing Roller to have one of mine on week's approval; grand singing Hartz Rollers, 6/-, 6/6, 7/-. These Rollers have been specially selected by myself from one of the largest wholesale dealers in England, and I guarantee to give you satisfaction; and I do not say that I have hundreds in stock, but what I have are the best: A. D. Welch, Bengeo, Hertford.

Preston Contest Rollers.

statement of fact. If you are desirous of purchasing a Roller Canary, but in doubt as to where to get the best value from, the following statement may help you. For many years past I have publicly stated in this and other papers that the Leipzig Rollers, as sold by me, are better songsters than can be obtained elsewhere, and to prove this I have asked all intending purchasers to have a Roller from me on a week's trial, and one from elsewhere on same conditions, test them side by side for a week, and then if mine is not far better value return it to me and I will refund every penny of your money. Scores upon scores of people have taken me at my word, and done this, but never yet have I been told that my Leipzig Roller came out of the test second best, but on other hand, I have received and published in this paper many letters saying that birds supplied by me have beaten birds costing twice and even thrice the money from elsewhere. Remember, I don't ask anyone to take my word, I want you to put the bird to any reasonable test you like, and to enable you to do this, I send all on a full week's trial at my own risk, either on receipt of cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and refund money in full if every satisfaction not given. I now have a tremendous stock of genuine Weber's Leipzig Rollers, all in full song day and gaslight, with long, hollow, and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, soft roulades, waterbubble runs, piccolo trills, jugging of Nightingale, bell, harp, and flute notes, etc., etc., and guaranteed entirely free from any harsh notes whatever, price 6/6 and 7/6 each; special bandmasters, which excel in the deep bass and hollow bell rolls, and are like a cascade of everflowing melody, 10/- and 12/6 each; Roller hens, 2/- each, 3/6 couple. I also have a grand lot of loud free singing Hartz cocks, in full, free, vigorous song, at 4/6 each; these Hartz cocks are not so musical as the Leipzig Rollers, but just the thing where plenty of loud noisy song is required: special Roller song cabinet cages with folding doors, 2/6 each. Remember, my birds are trained to sing in any light, day or artificial, and that they do so the following letters will prove:—"43, Wood-st., Gt. Grimsby, Oct. 29.—Sir, Roller arrived safely. It is a beauty; sings beautifully, and highly satisfactory. I now know where to send.—Yours, C. Brocklesby." On Oct. 31, Mr. Brocklesby writes:—"Sir, please send another Leipzig Roller. I am so much taken up with the one I got last week, I must have another. P.O. enclosed for another beauty this time." On Nov. 4th Mr. Brocklesby again writes:—"Sir, bird arrived safe; I am highly satisfied with it; it's a beauty; started singing soon as unpacked." "Oakleigh, Maghull, near Liverpool, Oct. 29.—Sir, please accept my thanks for Leipzig Rollers; they are extra for the money. I am more than pleased at your selection; their song and condition is all that can be desired. —Yours, P. Culshaw." "Station Road, Fordinghridge, Oct. 28.—Sir, Roller arrived safely; am very pleased with him, started singing soon as unpacked.—Yours, E. Hawkins." "Glenageary, Co. Dublin, Oct. 27.—Sir, bird arrived safely, and I must say came up to my expectations in every way.—Yours, J. Kennedy." "1, Hornby Street, Barnsley, Nov. 2.—Sir, received Roller safe, and pleased with it. He is a beauty and singing grand. Thanking you for so good a bird at the price.—Yours, H. Wright." "New Road, Brynteg, Broughton, Nov. 3.—Sir, Roller arrived safe and commenced singing soon as unpacked. It gives every satisfaction, wonderful value at the price.—Yours, J. Williams." "2, Duke Street, Retford, Notts, Nov. 5.—Sir, received Roller and very pleased. Please send another; p.o. enclosed. Shall be giving you a large order shortly.—Yours, W. Littlewood." "Merchants' Hall, Metal Bridge, Dublin, Nov. 5th.—Sir, I am greatly pleased with Hartz cock. I have in your bird a cage of music. Please send another.—Yours, J. Mahony." Hundreds of similar letters already received this season. Please note, all birds safely and warmly packed free of extra charge, and sent on full week's approval at my risk during the whole time; cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system, and all your money back if bird fails to prove entirely satisfactory. (See British bird columns.)
